MINERS STRIKE MONDAY

NEGOTIATIONS TO AVERT COAL STRIKE FAIL

NO UNDERSTANDING ARRIVED

500,000 Men Will Walk on Monday and a Loss of $1,000,000 a Day in Wages Starts

CLEVELAND O., March 29.—Little prospect of settling the bituminous coal miner's wage dispute to prevent a strike next Monday and the shutting down of practically all mines operated by union men was seen by the operators and union officials today and after they had conferred for hours and had failed to agree. The lack of any steps toward immediate settlement and the fact that only three more days intervene before both the anthracite and bituminous wage scales expire were said to make it almost certain that a widespread stoppage of coal production will begin next week for an uncertain period and a strike, involving about 500,000 men, may ensue. The situation tonight was:

Contracts Expire Sunday.
The miners in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania will quit Sunday midnight because their agreements with the operators expire at that time and no new agreement, even if it were being considered, could be put into effect in time to prevent the suspension. The union officials declare the suspension virtually will be a strike.

The contracts of the miners in the bituminous regions also expire Sunday midnight and they probably will suspend because they have no new agreement upon which to continue.

Officials of the union assert if a strike in both classes of miners is called it will entail a loss in pay to the men of approximately $1,000,000 a day.

A conference held in the hope that a strike or even suspension in the bituminous mines might still be averted was without result up to tonight. The operators and miners of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, who are trying to fix a wage and working scale not only for their own districts but also as the basis for all other unionized bituminous districts, then adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

To Try Murderer This Afternoon

Oscar Oneal Will be Tried Before Judge Webb This Afternoon For The Killing of Patrick Hall. Defense's Plan to Contradict Spot Where Shooting Took Place.

RALEIGH, N. C., March 29.—The Oscar Oneal case will come to trial today in Wake superior court, Judge Webb yesterday afternoon ordering the sheriff to summon a special venire of 75 men for jury duty.

The controversy that was precipitated earlier in the day over the continuance of Silas Erward's case was continued when the question of conciliator Norris wanted to continue this timing the Oneal case came up. So case because of the absence of important witnesses for the state. One of the controversies in the case will be the spot where Patrick Hall, the deceased, was shot. The defense will claim Mr. Norris said, that it was within a few feet of Oneal's home, while the state will attempt to show that the shooting occurred in the middle of the public highway. To get all the evidence necessary to prove this contention would consume time and he did not want to go to trial at this term.

CONDENSED NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE OLD NORTH STATE

Sold Booze in Court House.
SHELBY.—The boldest piece of blind tigerism was practiced here this week at court when Will Jamerson bet another negro one dollar he could sell whiskey in the court house without being caught. He proceeded to make the transfer in the basement while the court house was crowded with people attending court and it was not long before policeman Bob Kendrick had him under arrest. In a few hours the wheels of justice were put in motion and the negro was given a sentence of 4 months on the roads of No. 6 township.

Damage From Freshet.
SCOTLAND NECK.—It has just been learned that Mr. Frank P. Shields one of the largest farmers in this community, whose farms are located on Roanoke river, lost between $8,000 and $10,000 during the freshet last week.

Many other river farmers were heavy losers and several hundred bales of seed cotton were ruined, besides large quantities of feed stuff, such as fodder, pea vines and hay.

Moonshiners Active.
MORGANTON.—Burke county has gained an unenviable reputation within the past few months on account of the illicit making of whiskey. A revenue officer gives out the startling information that there are more than 40 people bound over to the next term of the federal court at Salisbury charged with this illicit practice. Not a week passes but what a force of officers are here from the internal revenue department ferreting out these law breakers in which they are ably assisted by the county officers.

Roller Mill Destroyed.
RUTHERFORDTON.—Fire at 5 o'clock yesterday morning destroyed the Rutherfordton roller mills. The property belonged to Messrs. R. P. Scruggs and Dr. J. F. Hamrick. The loss will aggregate $4,000 with $2,500 insurance. The Rutherfordton veneering plant adjoining the burned structure was only saved by heroic work of the citizens.

TIGER BEFORE THE BAR

CASE AGAINST SILAS EDWARDS

BLIND TIGERS AND FRIENDS PACK COURT HOUSE IN EDWARDS' TRIAL

RALEIGH, N. C., March 29.—Declaring frankly that because of bias on the part of some jurors the state could not get a fair trial in the liquor selling case against Silas Edwards, an appeal from the police court, Solicitor Herbert E. Norris precipitated a spirited colloquy in Wake superior court today, gained his point and had the Edwards case continued. This was not accomplished until after Judge Webb had listened to extensive arguments on the part of Messrs. Armistead Jones and Son, counsel for Edwards and the solicitor. In continuing the case Judge Webb said he could hardly believe that blind tigers and their sympathizers would pack the court house in the hope of being drawn as jurors for the purpose of acquitting a man. And if the judge could get hold of such a man he would mete out punishment severe enough for the offense. A good deal of factionalism was in fact in the arguments by the lawyers.

J. G. Anderson Writes to Cotton Growers

Rings Bell of Warning for Last Time and Urges Growers Who Have Not Signed Pledge to Adopt His Plan

"DON'T COUNT ON LATE SPRING TO DO YOUR WORK"

To the Cotton Growers of the South:
I feel it proper and advisable in me as the man who should be best informed as to probable results to be expected under the "Rock Hill Plan" movement for reduction of cotton acreage, to sound a final warning to everyone who has signed the "Rock Hill Plan" pledge to adhere strictly to it not only as a matter of personal honor, but for the sake of his own direct gain and protection.

With equal emphasis I would urge all, in their own interest, who have been reached by Rock Hill Plan canvassers, or who have declined to sign the pledge to cut the acreage and cut it deep. My opinion of the judgment of the man who will increase his acreage this year is not flattering.

Planting time is almost on throughout the belt and the Rock Hill Plan work is being closed up in the several states, with an unusually late spring prevailing generally over the belt. The movement of fertilizer has gotten a tardy start, but has put on a mighty gait recently.

Those who look to a late spring, the noise of fertilizer reduction, or to the other fellow doing the reducing—to any combination of these—to protect them against low prices—are apt to be the ones to suffer.

The only safe course in the recent crises is to cut the acreage and cut it deep. The spring of 1897 is said to be the latest on record. The number of acres planted that year exceeded 1896 by 1,046,375 and the number of bales produced exceeded 1896 by 2,400,000 with the result that prices were low during the fall of 1897 as an example, it will not do to depend on the bad weather doing the work.

We have a four million bale surplus hanging over our heads. Important foreign spinners who bought at last fall's low prices for three years ahead, will not be in the market at living prices this fall. Mill labor unrest and world-wide coal troubles militate against us. To play the game properly we should not make more than 12,000,000 bales this year. The courage of those who flirt with this condition is wonderful, but their judgment would not do to describe for publication.

Let the cry be "cut the acreage and cut it deep". Corn can be planted as late as July 1st and the farmer will be a great deal better off if he raises less cotton and more corn for in the end he will get as much for a small crop as he would if he raised a large one AND HAVE ALL HIS CORN CLEAR.

J. G. ANDERSON,

Originator "Rock Hill Plan".

DO YOUR HOUSECLEANING

MONDAY, AND IF THROUGH BEFORE THE 4th;

"HELP THY NEIGHBOR"

Next Monday the four day cleaning season will begin and for the next four days, that is up to the fourth included, the broom, pail and mop are to play a strong part. Papers, cans, empty bottles and rubbish in general are to be exiled and kept in exile and from the fourth on we expect to keep up a standard of tidiness that should have been ours long ago. If you have not made up your mind to join in the fight against "demon germ" make up your mind and let us see you route it from your premises and help its banishment from this community.

The Ladies of the Civic League have offered the following prizes in connection with this general "clean up":
$1.00 to the white boy having the largest number of tin cans.
$1.00 to the colored boy having the largest number of tin cans.

MURDER IN FARMVILLE

SECOND HOMICIDE IN TWO MONTHS

COLORED MEN AND WOMAN LODGED IN LOCAL JAIL ACCUSED OF MURDER

Will Smith and his wife, Cora, together with Will Harper, all of them colored were brought to the local jail by Chief of Police Smith of Farmville. They are accused of the brutal murder in that town of another colored person, an old man, Linwood Smith.

The parties had a misunderstanding last Saturday night, but serious harm had been prevented at the time. On the following Monday, the trouble still brewing, Will Smith, his wife, Cora, and Harper, went over to the home of Linwood Smith and murdered him, cutting his throat and then dragging him to the A. C. L. tracks. However, his body was discovered the following morning and the murderers apprehended by the police.

Apparently the plan of concealing the murder by having one of the trains run over the body did not work. The Farmville police is to be commended for their quick in bringing the murderers to bay.

CLAUDES ALLEN SPEAKS

INDIFFERENT AS TO EFFECT OF HIS STATEMENT

"I ONLY SHOT FOUR TIMES"

Outlaws Have Been Isolated Since Shooting Contrary to Theory That Friends Helped Them

HILLSVILLE, Va., March 29.—This entire section today anxiously awaited news from the North Carolina border, expecting to hear any moment that what is left of the Allen gang has been taken. The capture of Claude Swanson Allen, Floyd's son, has revived hope that all the outlaws soon will be safely behind the bars. Young Allen's starved, wretched condition when he walked out of the house and gave himself up, exploded the idea that the outlawed mountaineers were in communication with friends who supplied them with food. Claude declared he had been living on bread and water and he looks it.

Sidna and Friel Allen and Wesley Allen are supposedly in the immediate vicinity of where Claude was captured, despite Claude's story that he has been for days separated from the rest of the gang. The section is surrounded by detectives. "They cannot escape," said Tom Felts, leader of the detectives' posse. His men will endeavor to capture the trio without bloodshed, surprising them by maneuvers which have already caused Claude and Sidna Edwards to give themselves up.

Only a few detectives guarded Claude today, preparatory to his removal to Roanoke, where he will be lodged in jail with his father Floyd. Ignorant of the meaning of the law or indifferent to all that might ensue from his blunt statements, Claude reiterated in an interview today his participation in the court-house tragedy. He admitted firing four shots in the court room and one outside at Clerk Goad. He said he aimed to hit every time and did not know if he was successful.

Cyclone Damages Wayne County

One Child Was Killed and Another One Dangerously Wounded. Great Deal of Damage Done to Property in the Area of the Cyclone.

GOLDSBORO, N. C., March 29.—A cyclone storm passed over the city this morning doing little damage here, but wrought great damage throughout the Patetown section of the county, blowing up trees from their roots, demolishing houses, barns and rendering destruction to everything in its path. Many horses, mules and cattle were killed.

Two little boys, 14 and 11 years old, respectively, brothers, and the sons of Mrs. Fanny Wooten, a widow living with her father, Mr. Cuthrell, near Patetown, in Stony Creek township, this county, took shelter in their grandfather's barn to play, while the storm was on and while there, a sudden cyclone wind passed, demolishing the barn and killing the older boy and seriously injuring the younger, breaking one of his legs in two places. Other great property damage was done in the wake of this wind, but full particulars cannot be had at this hour.

COMING TO IT.

Next Monday, or rather day after tomorrow, everybody who thinks well of cleanliness and it is a pity such a distinction should be made, will feel right in his or her place for the prescribed four days of general cleaning will start then.

That period set aside by our mayor should be a profitable one, if as he invited some time ago everybody gets to it willingly enough. And just here it is more than timely to mention for our vindication, that we are not alone to realize in the Old North State the value of a clean town.

Tarboro, New Bern and Charlotte, through their civic leagues have urged the same measures as our ladies of the Greenville Civic League have.

We have said so much of late about the value of cleanliness through sanitation to our healths, that it does seem like repeating. And even if it is repeating, we all realize that this is one method yielding the best results when a purpose is sought.

Some days ago we were talking to somebody who was on the committee towards raising the new hotel stock. He told us that through the live campaign instituted by this paper, a great deal was accomplished towards getting the people interested in the proposition. We only mention this not as a pat-in-the-back matter of fact, but because it will serve to illustrate the old saying about "keeping everlastingly at it."

Greenville seems to have struck a good thing lately, in the way of business in general picking up and new enterprises and public buildings to be erected and the present campaign to beautify the town is just right.

We do not want to feel like the lady who did not know how to keep house. During one of her absences from home a lady friend called on her. Expecting her mistress back very soon the maid urged the visiting lady to wait a little in the parlor. She did, and having nothing to do but wait, she passed a review of the objects in the room. They all denoted the want of care strange in a house well kept. Especially did the piano bear evidence of this carelessness; a rich covering of dust dulling its surface. The caller tired of waiting and left before her friend returned, but before going, with a gloved finger she inscribed her name in the rich layer of dust on that piano.

Don't let us have our friends leave their names in our homes in such a manner. And even if we do not have friends calling on us, let us keep things about us clean and bright.

OUT WITH A VENGEANCE.

The very first thing the "Beef Barons" did when freed by that jury in the Windy City, was to tender their liberators a sumptuous dinner. Nothing "stingy" about it either.

The next thing in order was to book up the different items of their trial and add them into a grand total. Right after they decided that it would be sort of foolish to stand the grand total out of their pockets. Result: a revision upward of all their products. Just enough to defray all expenses. The dinner included, we presume.

1 MORE DAY -TO- CLEANING DAY

The "embalmers" really have a great deal more humor than they are credited with. They certainly must be having a hearty laugh on poor Mr. Consumer. Isn't it bad that we can't join them in their merriment?

The Reflector man appreciates an invitation to attend a social meeting of the Ben Franklin Club in Charlotte, Wednesday evening, but regrets it is so he cannot get away just now to attend.

This is going to be Greenville's big improvement year.

"O, wad some power the gifter gie us." To get the money the fellows owe us.

WITH OTHER EDITORS

The Tariff Board

It begins to look like the Aldrich tariff board must go. The Democrats in Congress will simply stop the pay of its members and that will put the board out of commission. The Danville Register falls into line with the Chronicle on the practical uselessness of the work of this board. It says this board is not a strong body. Furthermore the facts and statistics compiled by it are capable of several different interpretations and that they may be and actually are being alleged to be the basis upon which high tariff bills as well as low tariff measures have been framed. The Register recalls that president Taft voted the wool bill, popularly known as schedule K, which the Democrats had drawn and enacted during the extra session, basing his refusal chiefly upon the assertion that he deemed it advisable to legislate upon this subject before the report of the tariff board had been received. Soon after the extra session adjourned the dilatory tariff board did submit its report, and it sustained practically in every feature the contention of the Democrats as embodied in their bill which was vetoed. Since the regular session began, Mr. Underwood, the Democratic floor leader, has reintroduced identically the same measure which the president vetoed and the House will almost certainly again pass the bill. Then it will again go to the president for his approval, and the test of the sincerity of his tariff reform professions will be made. Having based his opposition to the bill almost solely upon the fact that it anticipated the report of the tariff board, he is practically estopped from offering any other subject now that the board's report sustains the recommendations of the bill.—Charlotte Evening Chronicle.

The Business Like Way.

It is learned that a few fellows in this state, who are so narrow between the eyes that they think nobody but their candidate has any right to run for office, has been poking fun at Mr. Underwood and his campaign managers for running paid supplements in the newspapers, similar to the one the Gold Leaf carried last week. They seem to regard this as a "cheap" method and think it can only hurt whatever chances Mr. Underwood might have.

Quite to the contrary, we believe it is decidedly to the credit of Mr. Underwood's candidacy and to his campaign managers that they are willing to pay for the newspaper advertising they wish to give their man and not try to "beat" it out of already overburdened newspaper publishers. It is understood by everybody who has even a fair degree of intelligence to be purely advertising matter and therefore does not have the effect of compromising newspaper publishers in any way.

Candidates for office have only too long regarded newspapers as so many free horses to be ridden at will and many such candidates would ride them to death if they were allowed to do so. It is the privilege of every free-born American citizen to run for office if he so desires. But having once decided to make the race, he should not have the gall to ask the publishers of newspapers to bear the expenses of his campaign. It costs good money and lots of it to set type and print newspapers and besides this fact newspaper space is worth something. If advertising in newspapers is worth anything to a candidate, he certainly ought to be willing to pay for it; and if it is not worth paying for then it is not worth the asking.

A candidate as just as much right to advertise his candidacy in the newspapers and solicit votes thereby as a merchant or tradesman has to advertise in the same medium and solicit patronage. One is just as legitimate as the other and the time is already at hand when candidates for office are going to resort more and more to the means of soliciting support. And it is much better and more commendable than to flood newspaper offices with ready prepared editorials, long winded speeches and boosting articles, begging for their publication on the charity basis. Every newspaper office in the country is even now being flooded daily with this latter sort of stuff and some of Mr. Underwood's rival for the presidential nomination are among the most guilty parties.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

The Republicans Split

It may be true as often asserted, that North Carolina does not figure in the national election machinery of the Republican party, but as a factor in the political news columns of the day we find her always in the limelight. The Republicans machine of North Carolina, whether in the hands of the "old" or "new" crowd has always been a subject for interesting and, sometimes, amused comment from the rest of the country. It has been so because those who by turns took charge of the machine cared very little about the party or its welfare. The spoils of office constituted, and still constitute the highest goal of the warring partisans, and thus it happened that President Taft, although not a politician, was not slow in acquainting himself with the true condition of affairs in this state. He saw, as every other man can see, that Republicanism in North Carolina as a party was very much demoralized; he learned that for the lure of the dollar or for political honors party interests were kicked out of the shop.

We find as a result that the so-called Republican party in North Carolina is a split up beyond the hope of reunion, a jelly-like prey for the Democratic hosts now marching on to victory, held together by one purpose. The present state of affairs among the Republicans of the Old North State has brought about a state of utter helplessness, to say nothing of the bitter animosities it is engineering in "family circles," so to speak the most bitter factional fights of Democracy in this state could never equal the cat-like tactics of our Republican friends who are scratching each other's faces and tearing each other's hair. In some instances the fight has reached a stage of personal vituperation and individual motives are challenged. In one way, of course it is not the citizen's business to discuss the family squabbles of a party to which it does not belong, but we cannot but deplore the short-sightedness of a policy which sacrifices party welfare for personal gain.—Asheville Citizen.

Discontent

Let me do something perfect, before death;
Some least thing, so it be whole, and free
From any faltering touch; that none may see
One faintless flaw; that not one slightest breath
May dim the grace my sure hand fashioneth.
I know there is not any strength in me
To work this dead, oh, may thy power be Fulfilled in weakness, as they scripture saith!

My soul is sick of half accomplishment,
Of deeds that are no deeds, of victories
Uncrowned by triumph; stranger to content
Until thou work in me some existence,
That my heart may have rest ere I go hence;
Blind voyager across the bitter seas.
—Edmund Barss, in the February Atlantic.

They Keep Coming.

Grifton and Winterville have both joined substantially with coupons and subscriptions to keep The Reflector man in the News and Observer automobile contest. In fact Friday was a good vote getting day for us both at home and elsewhere, some friends coming in person to bring them and others sending them by mail. The number keeps growing in a way that looks mighty good. We want all our friends to give us every voting coupon and subscription that they can.

TWO PITT COUNTY BOYS

Who Are Making Their Mark Elsewhere.

The Reflector is always glad to keep track of the dispersed sons of Pitt county and while we had rather see them using their talents and expending their energies for the advancement of the place of their nativity, we are none the glad to note that they make good and rise to prominence wherever they go. Two papers from other states have recently fallen into our hands that bring gratifying information of records Pitt county boys are making.

Mr. C. H. King.
In Portland, Oregon, Mr. C. H. King is sales manager for an automobile company and the Oregonian in a very complimentary notice tells of his having won the distinctive honor of closing the largest retail order ever negotiated in the history of motor car business. The deal involved an outlay of more than $20,000.

In commenting on this the Oregonian said, "In the keen competition that has sprung up in Portland's field of motor trucks, King found many obstacles. That he succeeded in gaining all orders for himself reflects great credit on his ability as a business getter. No deal that has ever been turned in the Portland automobile business has caused so much talk as King's. He is given credit for his sterling ability by his competitors, who are frank in their admiration and were surprised when the news spread that he had cinched the deal."

Mr. J. P. Quinerly.

This young man, who is a son of County Commissioner J. P. Quinerly, after graduating with distinction at the A. and M. College went to Annapolis to superintend the government dairy there. His knowledge of dairying led to his being employed a few months ago by the Southern railway as a demonstrator on a dairy instruction car sent out over that road through the Southern states. The Lynchburg News in telling of the recent visit of the dairy instruction car to that city, paid Mr. Quinerly a high compliment. He made a practical talk showing the use of machinery and vessels that made up a dairy equipment and how to get the best results. The News says, "As a matter of fact his address was a gem, and one who has made a hundred pounds of butter a week and who heard him, felt like exclaiming every few minutes, 'Amen, brother, that's so, amen.'"

To the Democratic voters of Pitt county, Greeting—As I cannot see you all I take this method to say to my many friends throughout the county, that I am a candidate for the nomination for the office of Register of Deeds for Pitt county at a primary to be held later on for the various offices of the county.
I have been a hard, earnest worker for the party for 34 years, never missed an election nor scratched a ticket and most earnestly ask the Democrats of the county for their support for this position. Should some one else be elected, then you will find me at the same old work, shoulder at wheel for the ticket. With many thanks for any support you can give me, I beg to remain,

PLEASE KILL THAT FLY.

When? How? Why?
When? Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, April 1, 2, 3.
How? By depriving the flies of their breeding places—piles of filth. If during these first three days of April we could remove every pile of filth from our streets, stables, back yards and give all of our houses a thorough cleaning we would almost eliminate the fly pest in Greenville.
Why? Because flies are man's worst enemy. If we don't kill them they'll kill us. They are born in filth, live in filth and carry filth around with them. A fly develops from its egg in about 8 days. One female fly's possible progeny in a season is 1,096,181,249,320,720,000,000,000,000 flies. Think of it! "The house fly with a capacity for carrying 6,000,000 bacteria at once from putrifying matter to the food on the table, destroy every year more people than are killed in battle."
Let us wage war on their breeding places before they get here. So cleaning week has been set aside for the purpose of doing away with all the trash and filth of our town. Sprinkle chloride of lime or kerosene over places subject to filth, garbage boxes and the ground around these boxes. Pour kerosene into drains, clean cuspidors every day and don't allow dirty water to stand or be thrown into yards. As far as it is within our power let us remove all unsightly and menacing objects from our town and get Greenville clean and keep it so.

Second Opening.

We will have a second millinery opening on Tuesday, April 2nd. A new line of pattern hats received since Thursday will be on display.

In announcing the dissolution of the above-named firm, I desire to express to each and all of the many customers, who have favored us with their very liberal patronage, the very kindest expression of my appreciation.
