Hon. S. H. Dent In Support of Alabamian

Congressman From Underwood's
Adopted State Makes Speech
For His Candidacy

MR. A. T. MOORE INTRODUCES THE SPEAKER

Whatever interest the people of Pitt county have shown on behalf of Mr. Oscar W. Underwood and his chances for the nomination, a good crowd attended last night's public speaking at the court house. Mr. Dent, a congressman from the 2nd Alabama district was introduced to the audience last night by Mr. A. T. Moore, an ardent supporter of the majority leader. Mr. Moore referred to 1912 as a Democratic year and predicted a Democratic victory if the proper support were to be tendered a Democrat of the caliber of Underwood.

It would be hard to tell whether Mr. Dent made any votes for the gentleman he is supporting. His speech was good in many ways. Chief amongst them being the absence of mud slinging so common in politics today. The speaker denied the rumors that Mr. Underwood was against anybody in particular. He was a candidate because he believed he had earned the support of the Democrats and he was making an honest fight for his nomination. Mr. Dent read some passages of a sketch of Mr. Underwood written for the Cosmopolitan by Alfred Henry Lewis. He said this was a true outline of the man he was supporting and related several incidents of the life of the adopted Alabamian.

Rep. Party Wipes Self Out In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La., May 17.—As a party the Republicans no longer exists in Louisiana today. Its franchise was lost when the official returns of the April election were read in the joint session of the General Assembly today and the result formally promulgated. Only 4,961 votes were cast for the Republican candidates and as this is less than the ten per cent required by the state law, the organization no longer exists and the only way the names of the nominees can be placed on the ticket in the future is by petition, as has been the case with independent candidates. The forfeit of the franchise also prevents the party from availing itself of the provisions of the state primary law.

Lands Seriously Hurt.

LENOIR.—The county commissioners held a special meeting this week to consider the matter of rebuilding bridges washed away by the heavy rains which fell last Saturday. Several temporary bridges were ordered built, which will likely be replaced later by iron ones. The damage done by this veritable flood throughout the county is just now being ascertained.

The two colored men and colored women are recovering rapidly and will soon be able to be taken to their homes in a few days.

Beaufort Mayor May Not Be Eligible
For The Office

BEAUFORT.—Beaufort is in the rather unusual position of having elected mayor without knowing whether he is eligible to hold office. The attorney general has been asked to hand down an opinion as to whether Seth Gibbs, victorious in the contest for the mayoralty decided last week after a close fight, can act as a member of the board of county commissioners and sit as chief executive at the city hall at one and the same time.

Venue of 500 Summoned in the Hawkins
Murder Trial.

HENDERSONVILLE.—Officers are summoning a venire of 500 drawn today from which to select jurors for the trial of those held in the Hawkins murder mysteries. Durham Man Faces Serious Charge

DURHAM, May 17.—The superior court has spent the whole day in the trial of the case of alleged criminal assault against Luther Williams, the alleged victim being Bettie Tindell, a 13-year old girl, whose father has since moved from Durham to Wilson. Tindell, father of the girl told of finding the pane broken from one of the windows several days after it happened the first part of February. After several inquiries as to the cause of the window being broken the little girl told of the assault of Williams, of his breaking the window and climbing into her bedroom. Tindell further testified that he found the prints of a box under the window through which Williams is alleged to have come into the sleeping room. Tindell was himself night watchman at one of the mills of the city, and left the children at home by themselves, as their mother was dead.

Buckeye State Is In Political Tornado

Four Aspirants to Presidential Honors Storm Ohio, Commoner
Supporting Wilson

MAKE OR BREAK FOR PRESIDENT TAFT OR TEDDY

COLUMBUS, O., May 18.—The storm of politics which has been sweeping back and forth over the Buckeye state for nearly two weeks became a veritable tempest today and there is every indication that it will continue up to Monday night a few hours before the polls open for the presidential primaries. Today four aspirants for the presidency are trailing one another over the state. Tonight a vast army of stump-speakers, representing the choicest oratorical talent of both parties, will hold forth in every city, town and cross-roads hamlet, from the Pennsylvania to the Indiana lines and from Lake Erie to Ohio river. The early prediction that the campaign would be the most vigorous ever waged within Ohio's boundaries has been amply fulfilled.

Ohio has no presidential preference primary law, but the primaries to be held next Tuesday are expected nevertheless to make it plain who is favored by the voters of this state for the presidential nominations. The Republican voters will vote for two candidates for delegates to the national convention from their district. The ballots will not bear the names of the presidential candidates. The voters therefore, may be somewhat in the dark as to whom the candidates for delegates favor for the presidential nomination, but the workers at the polls no doubt will find a way to indicate to the voters how the candidates stand. In a few places there will be LaFollette candidates for the national delegates, but as a rule there will be only Taft and Roosevelt lists. Delegates will be named in the 21 congressional districts. The six delegates at large completing Ohio's 48 in the national convention will be named by the state convention here next month.

Virginia Outlaw is Found Guilty of Murder

Jury Deliberates Many Hours
Before Returning to Court Room and Saying "Guilty"

SPEEDY TRIAL PROMISED FOR OTHER OUTLAWS

WYTHEVILLE, Va., May 17.—Floyd Allen was today declared guilty of first degree murder by the jury which tried him for the murder of Prosecutor William M. Foster at Hillsville last march. Allen will pay the penalty for his crime in the electric chair at Richmond. The jury was out all night and it was after 10 o'clock this morning when they agreed.

When the court opened the jury was called in and the foreman questioned by Judge Staples. The foreman declared there were a number points of difference existing in the panel and it was doubtful whether a verdict could be reached.

The judge stated that the case was of such magnitude that he felt he must send the jury back with a few words of caution and advice. The judge declared that the jury was sworn to reach only one conclusion—the defendant's guilt or innocence. He said if the jurors lost sight of that issue in the private, individual opinion they would do wrong to themselves and unintended violence to their solemn obligations and a grave injustice either to the accused or the commonwealth.

The jury again retired and it was but a short time before the announcement that an agreement had been reached. When the court reassembled the foreman announced the verdict.

Besides the murder indictments against Floyd Allen similar indictments stand against Victor and Claude Allen, his sons; Sidna Allen, Freel Allen, Wesley and Sidney Edwards, Floyd's nephews; and Byrd Marion. All are in jail except Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards.

The other prisoners will be tried immediately.

Submarine Grounded Pays Penalty In The Electric Chair

Brad Bagley Who Killed Williamston's
Chief of Police is Given Two Shocks and Life is Pronounced Extinct by Doctors.

RALEIGH, May 17.—Brad Bagley, the biggest man ever electrocuted in this state, paid the death penalty this morning at 10:41 without making a complete confession of his crime. Bagley was the twelfth man to meet death in the state electric chair and his death was taken as calmly as any man ever faced his last moments. With a calm steady step he came from the death chamber at 10:36 and with a sickly smile on his face he spoke to his friends and the people whom he had known when he was a free man. He greeted them all with a kind word and a request that they pray for him. His last words before the straps were put over his face were: "I am going to rest and take it as easy as I can. Mr. Yerby, good-bye and good luck to you."

All the time the straps were over his mouth he was talking the best he could and among his last words were: "Oh, Lord Jesus Christ, have mercy on my soul and please forgive me, I am a guilty man and am prepared to meet my God." He was about to say more, but the electric current cut his speech short and silenced him forever.

Players of Detroit Team Strike in Sympathy

Eighteen Tigers Sign Agreement
Not to Play Ball Until Ty Cobb
Is Reinstated

TYRUS COBB DID EXACTLY RIGHT THEY DECLARE

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., May 17.—18 of the Detroit American League players met in secret conference here today and signed an agreement to stand together and refuse to play after today unless Ty Cobb, the star outfielder of the Detroit team, who was indefinitely suspended yesterday for his battle with a spectator at a recent New York game is reinstated. A telegram to that effect and signed by all the players, was today sent to President Ban Johnson. The text of the telegram follows:

"Feeling Mr. Cobb is being done an injustice by your action in suspending him we, the undersigned, refuse to play another game until such action is adjusted to our satisfaction. He was fully justified in his action, as no one could stand such personal abuse from any one. We want him reinstated for tomorrow's game, May 18, or there will be no game. If players cannot have protection, we must protect ourselves."

Manager Hugh Jennings who corroborated the story about the threat this afternoon just as the game started: "The suspension was not warranted. I am in the hands of my friends. If they refuse to play I will finish away down in the league race. I expect Mr. Johnson to reconsider the matter, fine Cobb or announce definitely the length of Cobb's suspension."

Work of Colored Students.

In front of The Reflector office today was an exhibit of chairs from the industrial department of the colored graded school. The chairs show the skill of the students in caning and varnishing and their work is highly creditable, especially for boys ranging from 12 to 15 years of age.

This school under the direction of C. M. Epps, principal, is doing much for the advancement of the colored youth of the community. Beside the regular text book courses, there is instruction along industrial lines for both the boys and girls and they are taught how to do many useful things. At the closing exercises of the school Friday night the girls in the graduating class wore dresses made by themselves for the occasion.

Such a school as this is entitled to the encouragement of all our people.

SATURDAY, MAY 18, 1912.

CONSUMPTION RATE FALLS TWICE AS FAST AS GENERAL DEATH RATE.

In the decade from 1901 to 1910, the death rate from tuberculosis in the United States declined from 196.9 for each 100,000 persons living to 160.3, a decrease of 18.7 per cent, while the general death rate, including all causes of death, declined only one-half as fast, or at the rate of 9.7 per cent, from 1655.0 to 1495.8.

These figures were given out in a statement issued today by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. They are based on data abstracted from the reports of the United States Bureau of the Census and cover the registration area in this country. According to the statement, the tuberculosis death rate has declined steadily since 1904 when it was 201.6. On the other hand the general death rate shows a fluctuation downward in general trend, but not as steadily as the tuberculosis rate. The decline in the tuberculosis death rate in the last ten years means a saving of 27,000 lives at the present time.

In certain cities, such as New York, Boston, Cleveland and Chicago and in states like Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, the decline in the tuberculosis death rate is much more marked than in the country at large.

The National Association says that there are many factors working together to cause the decline in the tuberculosis death rate, such factors as the change in the character of our urban population, increased sanitation and better housing, but probably as potent a factor as any has been the nation wide anti-tuberculosis campaign. "It may be foretold with considerable certainty," the statement concludes, "that when the effects of the present rapidly increasing provision for the care of tuberculosis patients shall have become evident, the decline in the death rate from consumption in the coming decade will be even more marked than that in the last one."

We hope the little interest so far shown in candidates for aldermen to be voted for on the first Monday in June, does not mean that the people feel no concern about it. There are no places of more importance to the people of the town, and the best men should be selected for them.

At Ayden Friday we heard a citizen say there were not enough hammers in town to do the work on new buildings going up and they had to send off after more. We like to hear a man hammer that way for his home town.

WITH OTHER EDITORS

The Underwood Current.

"A gentleman who has been prominent in Virginia politics for many years," wrote The Danville Register several days ago that in his opinion "Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, would be the choice of the National Democratic Convention for the Presidency." The gentleman added that he was a Wilson man originally and still thinks that he would make a strong nominee, but he added that in his judgment the fight made by Clark and Underwood and Harmon had stemmed the tide that was setting toward the New Jersey Governor and that the indications now were that, despairing of victory, either Wilson or Clark would eventually throw their following to the support of Underwood and thus insure his nomination. The same gentleman expressed the belief that any one of these four Democrats would make a good president and "believed that no matter which was nominated the prospect for the Democratic victory in November was propitious." The Register advises that this feeling is growing in Virginia and it believes that it is also extending over the South and East. Underwood already has the support of the Gulf states and has the prospect for Democratic victory in factor in the nomination grow brighter, more and more the people of the South are beginning to rally to the Alabamian. The Register says further:

"One of the greatest factors in Underwood's strength in his demonstrated capacity for leadership, his discretion, his tact and his domination of his party associates in the House. He it was who welded the heretofore divided Democracy together into a powerful and aggressive mass and led to victory in the battle for a revised tariff. The tariff will inevitably be the dominant issue of the Presidential campaign. The man who pointed and then led the way for the Democracy in this fight for a reduced tariff and a lower cost of living without loss of revenue to the government is the logical man to lead the hosts of Democracy in their onslaught upon a divided and demoralized opposition." Mr. Underwood's campaign has been admirably managed. He is a candidate for President on his own merits and because of his invaluable services to the party and the country. His long and active legislative experience, his loyalty to true Democratic principles, his refusal to go after strange gods, richly fit him for the high office to which he aspires and commend him to the favor of the people of the country. "It is Oscar W. Underwood," said The New York World the other day, "who is peculiarly identified with the issue of tariff reform. It is Oscar W. Underwood who has made the Democratic party record in Congress for tariff reform. If that issue belongs to anybody, it belongs not to the Speaker, but to the Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means."

On the features of Mr. Underwood's campaign for the nomination that must appeal to thoughtful people who have more regard for party success than for the triumph of their own personal preferences, is that he has not sought to build himself up by pulling others down. He has himself said nothing about his competitors which he will have to explain or apologize for when the nominations are made. He has insisted that those who represent him shall not attack the other candidates. He stands for Democratic principles and the hopes for Democratic success.—Charlotte Observer.

Why Not a Local Coinage.

The mayors of Cleveland and Toledo, in their arguments for the coinage of three-cent pieces, represent that a coin of that denomination "will be of incalculable immediate advantage to the communities wherein prices, fares, etc., of various commodities and service are on a three-cent basis or a multiple thereof—viz., three-cent fares in Cleveland, Toledo and elsewhere on street railways."

The mayor of Detroit, with equal reason, might argue for the coinage of a 3 1-8 cent piece because street railway fares in that city are on a basis of 3 1-8 cents under the arrangement of selling eight tickets for a quarter. Why, indeed, on the same grounds, should not any community apply for the minting of coins of a special denomination adapted to local need? An eight-cent piece would prove of "incalculable advantage" in paying transfer fares in New York, while a seven-cent piece would facilitate the payment of fares on the McAdoo tubes under the Hudson.

As a matter of fact, the simpler and less confusing a national coinage is the better it serves the public convenience. Farthings in England, like centimes in France, have become merely a monetary figure of speech. They have gone out of circulation as the two and three cent pieces have with us, and for the same reason—that there is no demand for them.—New York World.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM MEXICO

Guadalajara, Mex., May 9, 1912.

Editor The Reuctor: While at leisure again this evening I will write you on further subjects which might be of interest to you. The people in this section have been very restless for two days. The quakes have continued today and have damaged many buildings, though most of the buildings are supposed to be earthquake prof. Through investigation of the best scientists here the trouble has been located about 50 miles from this city, where they expect at any time an opening of a new volcano, or some think this mountain was alive in the time of Aztec Indians. An old doctor I was talking with this p. m. says that 30 years ago they had similar trouble from this special location. The volcano Colima is a beautiful sight to see. I have taken some kodak pictures of some and will send you one if good.

You would possibly be interested to know the difference in classes of people in this country in cities so close together. Here most of the people speak some English and the poorer class of natives are very much more civilized than around Mexico City. This is a very prosperous section of the country and the state has a very good governor. No trouble, robbers or rebels, in any section of the state. Everything is lovely, but dull on account of trade cut off from many of the other states. These people take no part whatever in the revolution, nor assist the government, but they have organized and preparing for war in case of intervention. Well, in case there is intervention the United States had just as well prepare for a good fight. Many of the women say they will shoulder a gun.

I shall leave for the city tomorrow and if anything exciting there happens I shall write you about same. Very truly, HEBER B. TRIPP.

Social and Personal

"H."
If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing their's and blaming it on you;
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you;
But make allowance for their doubting, too;
If you can wait and not be tired of waiting,
Or being led about, don't deal in lies.
Or, being hated, don't give away to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise;

If you can dream—and not make dreams your master;
If you can dream—and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet with triumph and disaster
And treat those two impostors just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted and knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to the broken,
And stop and build 'em up with worn-out tools;

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on the truth of pitch and toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve and turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the will which says to them: "Hold on!"

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue
Or talk with kings—nor lose the common touch;
If either foes nor loving friends can hurt you;
If all men count with you but none much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,—
Yours is the earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a man, my son!

—Rudyard Kipling.
