Life Ins. Com'y's Improbable Merger

Stockholders Will Meet to Name Committee to Discuss Action With Policyholders

RUMOR THAT THERE WILL BE NO MERGER

RALEIGH, May 20.—The proposed merger of the Jefferson Standard and Greensboro Life Insurance companies was practically killed this afternoon when the stockholders of the Raleigh company voted by a large majority to appoint a committee to confer with a similar committee from the policyholders as to a basis of agreement. This action followed a long discussion in which the policyholders represented by ex-Judge Winston and the stockholders took part.

Legal difficulties in the way of amalgamation were pointed out by Judge Winston and Judge J. Crawford Biggs and it was apparent that the consent of the policyholders to a reinsurance must first be had before a merger could be effected. Because of serious opposition on the part of these parties, many of whom reside in other towns and cities the question of the merger in the original form was not voted on.

A committee will meet with a committee from the policyholder's association in an effort to reach an agreement. It has been suggested that the stockholders of the Jefferson keep up their capital in the combined companies, but in such an event there would naturally, it is thought, be a protest from the Greensboro end.

The matter came to a head when Joseph Daniels introduced a resolution to rescind the resolution authorizing the Jefferson Standard committee to make arrangements with a similar committee from the Greensboro Life. An amendment was offered to this and the stockholders voted for it by a large majority.

Quarrel Over Fifty Cents Causes Death

Crap Game in the Neighborhood of Smithfield Has Fatal Sequel. One Negro Kills Another over Alleged Debt of Fifty Cents.

SMITHFIELD, May 20.—A crowd of 20 negroes gathered in a woods about half a mile of Selma yesterday in order that they might have a game of crap. About 12 o'clock a dispute arose between one Elliott and George Ross over a debt of fifty cents. Ross started to draw his pistol, it is said, when a brother of Elliott, who was standing by, drew his gun, it is alleged, and shot Ross with fatal effect. The crowd scattered and up to this time the man who did the shooting has not been apprehended. Two of those present have been arrested and placed in the lockup to await the hearing before the coroner. It is said that Ross, the man who was killed, was recently released from the penitentiary where he had been serving a sentence for killing another negro over a debt of 50 cents. From the meagre information at hand, it appears that retribution has overtaken the negro Ross.

Illinois Senator to Continue in Office

Special Committee Appointed to Investigate Charges Reports in His Favor

NO NEW EVIDENCE IN LORIMER CASE

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Why Senator Lorimer should be permitted to retain his seat in the senate was set forth today by the majority of the senate special Lorimer committee in their report to the senate. It was submitted by Chairman Dillingham and had the approval of Senators Gamble and Jones, Republicans and Fletcher and Johnston, of Alabama, Democrats.

The majority took the position that the senate having once "solemnly and deliberately" passed upon the charges against Senator Lorimer he should be permitted to retain his seat unless new and convincing evidence had been procured establishing corruption in his election. Absolutely no "new and substantial evidence" had been procured at the reinvestigation, the majority said, and consequently they declared the rules of justice required the former judgment of the senate, upholding Mr. Lorimer to stand.

The report dealt at length with the evidence in an endeavor to show nothing substantial had been produced against Senator Lorimer. It also reviewed the legal authorities to show that the first investigation of the senate should be taken as final.

The controlling factor in the action of the senate in re-opening the case so the majority said, was reports that a fund of $100,000 was either raised by or through the effort of Edward Hines the Chicago lumber man to secure the election of Senator Lorimer.

Lady Dead in Run-away Accident

NEW BERN, May 20.—Late this afternoon a horse belonging to W. C. Willett, and hitched to a trap in which were Miss Bertha Willett, Miss Lida Davis, Miss Leta Land and Miss Violet Folks, became frightened at some trivial object and made a dash down Craven street. The young ladies screamed for assistance, but owing to the fact that the thundering hoofbeats of the frightened animal drowned the full import of their cries, no one came to their aid. Just after crossing South Front street Miss Davis, who is the daughter of Captain W. H. Davis, arose and prepared to jump from the vehicle. Although highly excited, her companions tried to restrain her, but without success. She leaped from the swaying vehicle, miscalculated the distance and struck the pavement with frightful force. The other young ladies remained in the buggy until the frightened animal turned into a telephone pole a few feet further on. A number of persons rushed to their assistance and succeeded in removing them from the vehicle before either was injured.

Miss Davis was placed in an automobile and rushed to a sanitarium where medical attention was rendered, but died a few minutes before 10 o'clock tonight. Examination showed that her skull was fractured at the base of the brain.

Mr. Carl Rosenbaum, of Tarboro, was in the city today.

The first State-wide primaries in Maine will be held next month, when both parties will nominate candidates for governor and United States senator.

Ohio Has State Primaries Today

Both Taft and Roosevelt Are Satisfied With Their Campaigns in Buckeye State

BATTLE WITHOUT PRECEDENT IN STATES' HISTORY

COLUMBUS, O., May 20.—Ohio tonight rested from the strain of the last two weeks campaign during which four presidential candidates bombarded the state from one end to the other and is ready for tomorrow's primaries.

Three of the Republican candidates for the presidential nomination carried their fights almost up to the hour of balloting and today President Taft, Colonel Roosevelt and Senator LaFollette still are making public addresses, offering their final pleas with the Republican voters for support tomorrow. Governor Judson Harmon ended his fight for the state Saturday night.

The second to the last state to hold presidential preference primaries and the home of two of the candidates, Ohio is considered the crux of an unusual political situation. Activity in the Ohio campaign is said to be without precedent in the present presidential contests. It was in this state that Colonel Roosevelt first presented the platform upon which he is basing his fight. President Taft and his former friend, the ex-President have crossed and recrossed each other's trails in their courses about the state, speaking from the rear of special trains, in open air meetings and in town halls. Woodrow Wilson, Governor Harmon's only opponent, did not enter the state. Harmon's serious antagonist has been Wm. Jennings Bryan, who, speaking for the Ohio Progressive Democratic League, has berated the Governor and urged Wilson's nomination in several campaign tours.

Mrs. Jenkins Dead.
Mrs. Pattie Jenkins, wife of Mr. J. J. Jenkins, Sr., died this afternoon about 2 o'clock in her 55th year, at the home of her son, Mr. J. J. Jenkins, with whom she had been living for some time. She had been sick for several weeks and her death was not unexpected.

She leaves a husband and six children, three boys and three girls. Her remains will be taken to Wilson tomorrow morning on the 7:51 train for interment.

Mrs. Jenkins lived in Greenville several years ago and has many friends here who will be grieved at her death.

Planted 350 Acres in Watermelons.
LUMBERTON.—Possibly one of the largest farmers in this section of the state is state senator Cobb, who was in town this week. Mr. Cobb stated that he has planted this year 350 acres in watermelons, 250 in Irish potatoes, 100 in cantaloupes, 150 in cotton and 50 in wheat and oats.

Pennsylvania I. O. O. F.
READING, Pa., May 21.—Hundreds of members of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows are here from every part of the state for the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania until Thursday. Grand Master W. Oscar Miller of this city is presiding.

CAN SOUTH CAROLINA BE BAMBALOOZLED.

Even in those days when Mark Hanna held the campaign skillet and caught the fat fried out of the greasy beneficiaries of the Republican tariff system, there was no attempt to break the "solid south" by frontal attack. The vast body of southern Democratic voters is unpurchasable and the Republican managers knew it. They saved their money for "blocks of five" in the doubtful states.

But there is a way of letting the south remain solidly Democratic in November and at the same time manipulate the south's primary and convention vote for president to the direct benefit of Republican principles and the Republican machine. This idea was developed before the last presidential campaign when a Republican newspaper in New York, the most consistent spokesman for the money trust, sent representatives into the south to manufacture a following for "favorite sons". They were afraid of Bryan's election if nominated and they were willing to invest a good deal to prevent his nomination. But Bryan's hold in the south was too great for that unorganized flank movement to prevail.

Up to last summer there was but one serious Democratic candidate in the running besides Woodrow Wilson. That was Governor Harmon. It soon became apparent, however, that the progressive spirit of the people everywhere, with the alleged favor shown Harmon by Wall street and Mr. Bryan's opposition to him, made the Ohio governor unavailable.

About that time Mr. Bryan and Mr. Underwood had a passage at arms, Mr. Bryan charging that in handling the steel schedule Mr. Underwood was leaning to the interest of the steel trust. We recall seeing this in an anti-Bryan paper: "If Mr. Bryan does not stop attacking Underwood, the Alabama man will be nominated for president." The first suggestion of Underwood's candidacy came as a rebuke to Bryan. At that time, mark it well, a southern Democrat, who had established himself as a national figure with a national following, had been for months the accepted southern candidate and the foremost candidate.

Then followed the Harvey-Wilson-Watterson episode, which was the outgrowth of "Colonel Harvey's conviction that Governor Wilson is inimical to the interests of his friends and associates." The Wilson opponents from Wall street themselves declared the fight upon him to be "war;" and they planned in their conspiracy that the explosion should come on the eve of the Jackson Day dinner in Washington where Wilson was to speak and where they expected his reception to be cold.

When Colonel Watterson failed to arouse the south against Wilson, the conspirators, backed by tremendous financial resources, took another course, and determined to split the solid south with a golden wedge by concentrating their support on different states. Clark was made the leader of the opposition in Florida, Underwood the leader in Georgia, Harmon their leader in Texas—in each of those states the weight of their money has been with the man against Wilson. They left out South Carolina with Harmon and he was dropped; then there were feelers for Clark, but the people were found unresponsive. Now the Underwood managers have taken hold and they have spent, according to the Anderson Mail, $200 for postage alone in that one county in one week. And they are pouring money into North Carolina!

What is the game, fellow citizens? Simply to abrogate the natural wish of the south; confuse the people unaccustomed to such campaigns and so break into Wilson's forces that Harmon or Clark—there is absolutely no chance of Underwood—may be nominated and then defeated by the Republican nominee. The game is to use the south to defeat the strongest Democratic candidate and so contribute to the success of the Republican ticket.

That plan is twenty times easier and just as potent in the final result as breaking the solid south in the November election.

Tom Watson supported their game in Georgia and Georgia has fallen into the trap; Joe Bailey supported their game in Texas and Texas refused to be led astray and stands, overwhelmingly, by Woodrow Wilson, the great southerner.

TRAINING SCHOOL OVERRUN.

The people of Greenville owe it to the school, to their town and to themselves to open their homes a few weeks for the benefit of East Carolina Teachers Training school. Recently President Wright published a card calling upon the citizens of the town to provide for boarding as many students as possible during the summer term, as the applications from students were far more numerous than the dormitories of the school could possibly accommodate. He informs us that not one-third enough responses came from the people of the town and unless more responses come early it is going to be necessary to turn away a large number of students who are seeking the benefit of the summer course for teachers at this school. Right now there are more than a hundred applications in excess of the number provided for and more applications are coming in every mail. The citizens of the town should gladly come to the aid of the school in such a time as this and provide accommodations for the overflow of students. Those who have a spare room or two, or who can take a few of the pupils to board, should send in their names with particulars to President Wright at once.

And let us all hope that the next legislature will see the needs of this school and make it an appropriation large enough to provide sufficient dormitories to take care of the students who seek admission there. The school is doing the best work of any educational institution of the state, without exception. It is the one school in North Carolina that adheres strictly to its mission, training teachers to teach in the public schools and those desiring to receive its excellent advantages and equip themselves for this great work are making more demand upon it than its present facilities can meet. Until the legislature does its duty and supplies the needs of the school, the people of the town should heed the call for help and come to the rescue in times of emergency.

It is less than two weeks to the town election and one alderman for each ward is to be chosen, yet so far there is little being said as to who they shall be. We hope no talk of the matter does not mean that the people feel little or no interest in who is to conduct the affairs of the town. Greenville is certainly a town of sufficient importance for the people to be interested in this matter.

WILL ROOSEVELT BOLT?

His Utterances in Ohio Are Taken to Mean He May Run Independent.

Is Mr. Roosevelt planning to bolt if he is not nominated at Chicago? Will he have himself nominated by a convention of his own?

His assertion at Dayton that "of the delegates already elected, without counting the contested delegates, I have more than 500," and that he is confident of nomination on the first ballot, would have no more significance than the usual ante-election claims but for the threats he made elsewhere. At Bellevue the same day he said: "I intend to make nothing that is not mine, but if anybody takes what is mine there will be a lively time," and he added that if the people were not for him he would not submit to being cheated out of that support.

In his Chicago speech of March 27 Mr. Roosevelt declared that no Republican should feel obliged to support a candidate nominated by such methods as he charged were being used in Mr. Taft's interest. It was a covert invitation to bolt. As he gains more delegates he is becoming bolder. He make extravagant claims and serves notice in effect that if these claims were not realized there will be "a lively time."

It is no longer merely as a candidate that Mr. Roosevelt appeals to his party. He assumes the tone of a dictator. A month in advance, although over 200 delegates are yet to be chosen, he notifies the convention that he will be nominated on the first ballot and that any other action will be plain fraud. "You'll take me, not Taft, or I'll make trouble for the party," is his latest threat.

Is this terrible fighter bluffing? Dare he bolt?—New York World.

Taft Uses The Ugly Word

"I've gotten tired of being lied about and held up in the country as having violated every rule of conduct, when I am not conscious that I have violated any," said President Taft in his speech at Toledo, Ohio, Friday night. That was strong language for the President to use, but no stronger than the occasion required, and there is no doubt whom the President had in mind when he spoke so plainly. We may expect that he will be on the ground that they kill more birds than the males. About the next step they will be wanting to impose a tax on females of the human race on the ground that more birds are killed to make plumage for their head gear than for the males.

Another of North Carolina's truest and best men passed in the death of Hon. Richard H. Battle, of Raleigh, which occurred Sunday night. He was nearly 77 years of age and had been much in public. The state loses in the death of such a useful man as he had been.

The Democratic state convention in Raleigh on Thursday, June 6th, is going to be a big occasion.

criticised for the vigor of his language; that the godly will express their surprise and disappointment at the vigorous character of the President's discourse in Ohio—the very same godly crew which has been insisting for months that the President should take the stump and "fight" The Colonel. He did not want to do this. He protests that he was not an artist in mud-slinging; that the sort of campaign organized against him was not the sort of campaign in which he could with any heart take part. Then it was said that he was a mollycoddle, a nice man, but without resentment, and the godly crew kept on bating him until finally he yielded to their clamor and went into the field, not for himself alone but for the cause which he represents, and it must be said that he has been making the situation very hard for The Colonel and his allies because he has told the simple truth about him and them and their purposes, and told it so plainly that even the members of the mob which has been following the Colonel have not been able to misconstrue his meaning.

At the same time, however, he has preserved his self-respect, preferring to convict his enemies of lying rather than to use the ugly word. It is so much better to prove that a man is a liar than it is to call him a liar, and this is the policy Mr. Taft has pursued and pursued very effectively, particularly in the red-hot campaign now in progress in Ohio. The President is already assured of renomination. We have no doubt upon his point. There is no way by which he can be deprived of the nomination except by force or fraud. There is not the least doubt that his enemies will resort to the latter method of accomplishing his overthrow. We do not believe when all the country has been heard from that they will have the courage to attempt to control by force the nomination of the candidates who is so worthy of them and their purposes.

It is to be expected, of course, that there will be a lively time at the Convention at Chicago, but the Taft people ought to be determined to "shoot it out," if necessary, with the agents of the Trusts who have been making a great noise and spending oodles of money with fraudulent intent.—Charlotte Observer.

The Reflector remains very anxious to write something about manufacturing enterprises coming Greenville's way along with other good things.

Taft's manager and Roosevelt's manager are both claiming it and the convention will be put to show which one is right.

Jim Brown—Pessimist.

Jim Brown, says he to me; Life ain't what it used to be, Everybody is money mad, Politics is shameful now, As they were when he was young, Even Gospel hymns ain't sung, As they ought to be, says Jim— Least that's how it seems to him.

Jim Brown, says, he, that men All were honest back then; Merchants all were kinder, too, Trusted more than what they do; Women didn't nag the way Most of 'em take on today, Children, he can recollect, Paid their parents more respect, Than it was in eighty-three.

Jim hags around the corner store, Hasn't worked for months or more; From the last job where he hired Out to work he soon was fired, Mrs. Jim, though, sews and sews, Just to keep her kids in clothes; It's about all that she can do To buy shoes and feed 'em, too; Since Jim spends his time in fretting 'Bout how bad the world is getting. —Detroit Free Press.

The strawberry season was a short one this year. They were plentiful for a while, but gave out early.

To Whom It May Concern:

I take this method to give notice to those who buy mattresses that I have just received a Carload of nice, clean wheat straw for making mattresses. Straw is higher now than I have ever known it to be, so much so that most of the mattress men are not using it. I am yet using clean wheat straw. When you come to buy from furniture dealers and want the worth of your money ask for one of L. S. Smith's hand-made mattresses. These soft, flabby mattresses made of excelsior and pine shavings only are not made in my factory. I make all kinds of mattresses. If you want any felt mattresses to fit your baby crib, let me know. Hair mattresses worked over and made good as new. These mattresses can be found in the leading Furniture Stores of Greenville. L. S. Smith, Kinston, N. C.

This is My Birthday

Philmon H. Dudley.

Philmon H. Dudley, who is universally recognized as the father of the modern steel rail, which together with automatic signal, has made the high speed railway operation of today possible, was born in Freedom, O., May 21, 1843. After leaving school he became a civil and metallurgical engineer and speedily rose to prominence in his chosen profession. He is the inventor of the dynamograph and the track indicator and in 1883 he designed the first 5-inch steel rail used in the United States. Several years later he introduced the first 6-inch 100 pound rails. Dr. Dudley invented the stremmatograph for obtaining and registering the strains in rails under moving trains. In 1902 as a result of his investigations with this instrument, he announced the seven fundamental principles which illustrate the American theory and practice of railroads, in reference to conjoint action of the locomotives, rolling stock and permanent way.

A Picture of the Beauties at Nation's Capital.

Springtime in Washington is most delightful; there are so many trees, flowers and parks and consequently birds. Every American should visit the capital of his nation, for it makes him more patriotic and a better citizen. He should see the magnificent buildings, the beautiful grounds and the human wrecks that changes in political fortunes have made.

There is something about the place that attracts like a magnet. Men stay here and virtually starve to death when they could do well back in the states from which they came. Young women, first class stenographers and clerks, will starve in Washington for $30 or $40 a month when they could make three times that much in North Carolina. There is something—something that you cannot see, or describe but feel—that makes you cling. I have felt it. The poor, ragged, wan-faced "has beens" that warm seats in the public parks day after day and sleep in filth night after night and the old and decrepit, shadows and ruins of better times, have felt it. The glitter and the pomp of things must have something to do with it.

At this season the town is full of visitors—tourists, they call themselves—and the hotels reap harvests. New England sends thousands of young men and women here every year to see the attractions. The visit to Washington is part of the New England educational system. Train loads of school boys and girls are emptied at the union station in April and May.

Washington's business men, hotel proprietors, automobile men, and others have learned how to handle big crowds. The cars arrive and the passengers are transferred to large automobiles and distributed to the hotels. I have seen as many as 100 persons in a big automobile, seeing

NEW POTATOES AT S. M. SCHULTZ

Washington and listening to the eloquent speech of the speaker.

Barring the statesmen, the most interesting thing here to me is the park with its wealth of trees and birds. The grounds about the capital are thick with grand oaks, hickories, elms and chestnuts and a great variety of shrubs and flowers. In every three or four there are birds.

Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington, is the most popular place. It is just across the Potomac river from Washington. Arlington, the old home of Robert E. Lee, now the national cemetery, is quite as pretty as Mount Vernon. Every woman wants to see the East room, the social hall of the White house. Every boy would climb the Washington monument.

Visitors as well as residents, find much to entertain and instruct at the following named places: Arlington cemetery, the Botanical Gardens, the Bureau of Fisheries, Government Printing Office, Library of Congress, the Francis Scott Key House, Lincoln Museum, Mount Vernon, Marine Barracks, National Museum, the various departments, Washington monument, the White House, Zoological Park and the Bureau of American Republics. Of the departments, the Treasury, where the money is made, is the most popular.

There are many other things to see.

An educational tour on June 10, at a small expense is being arranged by the Norfolk Southern railroad. You should join this tour and see the most beautiful and interesting American city. Call upon any agent for complete information.
