two hour session in the fight adopted a resolution providing that they should participate in the regular convention until it became apparent that they could no longer take part in the proceedings.

The caucus of Roosevelt leaders also determined that between sessions a caucus should be held to determine upon action of each session as it may affect their position.

Former Governor Franklin Fort, of New Jersey, presided at the conference of delegates and leaders.

Mr. Roosevelt after reentering the caucus with Governor Hadley remained until the close of the conference when most of the delegates left for the convention hall.

Colonel Roosevelt returned to the conference at 9:30 p. m., walking arm in arm with Governor Hadley of Missouri to the meeting room.

Following is the full text of the statement by Mr. Roosevelt this afternoon:

"The time has come when I feel that I must make certain statements, not merely to the honestly elected members of the Republican national convention, but to the rank and file of the Republican party and to the honest people of the entire nation. I went to this fight for certain principles. At the moment I can only serve these principles by continuing to bear the personal responsibility which their advocacy has brought me.

"On behalf of these principles I made my appeal straight to the people themselves. I went before them, I made my argument in full and every move I made was in the open with-

The opposition to me was extraordinary bitter, for I was opposed by the practically solid phalanx of the big, conscienceless political bosses, with back of them the big, conscienceless beneficiaries of special privilege in every form, and of course, the many big newspapers which are controlled by or in the interest of the bosses and special privilege.

"I appealed to the people; I won.

A Fatal Aeroplane Accident On a Western Flying Course

IN trying to avoid injuring a man who ran before his aeroplane just before it left the ground, J. Clifford Turpin drove the machine into the grand stand at Seattle, Wash., and killed a man and a child and injured fifteen other persons. Turpin was so much affected by the accident, although public opinion exonerates him from blame, that he has announced his intention of giving up flying. His partner, Phil Parmalee, who was engaged to Turpin's sister, was killed two days after Turpin's accident while flying at North Yakima, Wash. The picture shows Turpin's machine just as it swerved from its course and crashed into the grand stand. The aviator was badly bruised, but his injuries were not fatal.

Long Standing Dispute Between Two Families Culminates in Fight When Woman Slays Man Before Killed.

SHERMAN, Tex., June 20.—In a feud battle between the Sharp and Waldrop families at S. Perry's ranch here this afternoon four persons were killed and two wounded. Before she was slain, Miss Georgia Sharp killed a man and wounded another man and his wife.

The battle began when the Sharp family, consisting of Miss Georgia Sharp, her father, L. W. Sharp and her brother, Walter, passed the home of the Waldrops.

Apparently both sides began firing simultaneously.

Henry Waldrop killed Walter Sharp and his father. As they fell Miss Georgia Sharp seized her father's smoking magazine rifle and took up the battle. She killed Russell Waldrop, then shot his parents. Prone on the ground, Henry Waldrop returned the fire and shot Miss Sharp.

Today's battle was the culminating of a long standing dispute between the two families.

The Inevitable Happens to Blind Tiger

Leon Patrick, one of the colored institutions of Greenville's colored population, was led before Mayor Wooten this morning on a charge of peddling liquor. In the hearing his guilt was so far proven that he was placed under a $200 bond for his appearance before the superior court.

Patrick is a business man that carries his plant, show room, and book-keeping in his hip pocket. He was trying to boost sales around the carnival yesterday, when Policeman Clark caught him in the act and led him away to Dudley's hotel.

Million Words Telegraphed.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Figures compiled by the telegraph companies here today show that all records for outgoing dispatches were broken Tuesday, the opening day of the Republican national convention.

It was said that approximately 1,000,000 words were handled.

Hon. Locke Craig Has Accepted invitation of Management to Speak at Celebration.

Remembering what a fine celebration was had at East Carolina Teachers Training School last year, commemorating the third anniversary of the breaking of ground for the buildings, the reporter of The Reflector asked Governor Jarvis if it was the purpose of the school authorities to have a celebration this year and if so what, if anything, had been done looking to this.

The governor informed the reporter that it is the purpose of the school authorities to have a celebration and that the arrangements therefore have progressed considerably and in fact they are about up to that point where the school authorities can appeal to the liberal citizens of Greenville and Pitt county to join them in making it a great day.

The first ground was broken on the second day of July, 1908, and the fourth anniversary will come on Tuesday, the second day of July, 1912, and this is the day that it is proposed to celebrate. And as the summer school which is now in session is by far the greatest in the short history of the institution, the school authorities desire to make this celebration the greatest. There are now in attendance at the summer school about three hundred students engaged in honest, faithful work. It is really an inspiration to visit the school and see these noble young ladies seeking to better fit themselves for teaching when they take up their work in the fall in the school room. The number in attendance has far exceeded the dormitory capacity of the school buildings and about a hundred young ladies have found homes in the town. The school authorities feel very grateful to the citizens for the kind and liberal manner in which they opened their homes and responded to the call of the institution and they are encouraged to appeal to the citizens to join the authorities in making the second of July, 1912, a memorable day and they hope to see large numbers of the friends of the school from the country and other towns present on that occasion.

The school management is pleased to announce that on Locke Craig, Hon. E. L. Daughtridge and Hon. B. R. Lacy have accepted invitations to be present and make educational

BRYAN LOSES HIS FIRST FIGHT

Busy Writing Chicago Convention For New York World

Four Opponents Defeated by Former Judge Alton Parker of New York For The Temporary Chairmanship at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, June 20.—Former Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York, was selected today as the temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention. The choice of Judge Parker was made against the protest of William J. Bryan whose friends on the arrangement committee submitted the names of four other candidates. Eight of the 16 votes of the committee went to the New York jurist while Representative Henry of Texas received three votes; Senator Elect Ollie James of Kentucky three; Senator Kern, of Indiana, one and Senator O'Gorman, of New York, one.

With Judge Parker the committee chose Urey Woodson of Kentucky, as temporary secretary and John I. Martin, of Missouri, as temporary sergeant at arms. The selection of the arrangement committee is no sense final and must be passed upon next Monday at a full meeting of the national committee.

Report had it tonight that a telegram had been dispatched to Chicago to William J. Bryan asking that he come at once to Baltimore. Several national committeemen said after today's meeting that they expected a fight would be made by Mr. Bryan and his friends on the floor of the convention against Judge Parker's selection.

The vote taken today on the temporary chairmanship was unofficially made known as follows:

For Judge Parker: Norman E. Mack, of New York; Clark owell of Georgia; R. M. Johnson of Texas; Edwin O. Wood of Michigan; Roger Sullivan of Illinois; Thomas Taggart of Indiana; Thomas H. Brown of Vermont; and J. Fred C. Talbot of Maryland.

For Representative Henry: Josephus Daniels of North Carolina; Robert Ewing of Louisiana and John E. Osborne of Wyoming.

For Senator Elect Ollie James: P. L. Hall of Nebraska; Urey Woodson of Kentucky and Martin Wade of Iowa.

For Senator O'Gorman of New York: John T. McGraw of West Virginia.

For Senator Kern of Indiana: Robert S. Hudspeth of New Jersey.

Teddy Will Not Bolt Till the Very Last Minute

CHICAGO, Ill., June 21.—Despite persistent rumors that Col. Roosevelt will lose no time in bolting the convention, it is not at all likely that he will do so until no other means to gain a nomination have been exhausted. Several statements were given out today from Roosevelt's headquarters to the effect that his friends will sit quietly at the convention today whilst the president's friends will try to nominate Taft. When this has been done the Roosevelt forces will rise in a body and nominate their man. No definite word as to what will follow has been said. Roosevelt repeatedly told his friends that he is in to fight to a finish.

Gov. Hadley's popularity in the Coliseum is hourly growing and the belief is gaining strength that he is the logical compromise candidate.

Spencer Man Killed by a Traction Engine

LEXINGTON, June 20.—This evening about 6 o'clock, Jno. S. Harkey, of Spencer, was instantly killed and H. S. Williams of Spencer, a fireman on the Southern, was badly hurt when a big Geiser Traction engine turned over with them four miles from this place on the road to Salisbury. W. H. Crawford, agent of the Geiser Co., and the two men came to Lexington today to take the engine to Spencer. They were all experienced in handling traction engines and the accident is hard to understand.

At the point where the engine topped over, there is a small ditch running diagonally across the road and it appears that when the front wheel struck this ditch the man at the wheel lost control. The engine turned over and rolled down a 12-foot embankment. Harkey's head was crushed and he is still under the engine. Williams right shoulder was crushed and his right hand smashed up. He is badly hurt but will recover. Crawford jumped and escaped without serious injury.

Mr. Josephus Daniels Meets Accident in Baltimore

BALTIMORE, June 20.—Josephus Daniels, Democratic National Committeeman from North Carolina, was painfully injured today by slipping in a bath tub. He bore his pain silently throughout the meeting of the committee on arrangements for the convention and then called in a physician. Examination showed that his side was badly bruised, but by the aid of bandages the committeeman was able to continue his consultations with Democratic leaders.

Much Enjoyed Recital At Baptist Church

Lovers of the real in music seldom experienced so delightful a feast as came to the people of Greenville Thursday night, in the pipe organ recital in Memorial Baptist church by Prof. Wade R. Brown, of Raleigh. Mr. Brown is indeed an artistic master of the pipe organ, handling it with most perfect ease and in a manner to develop the range of its good qualities and as an interpreter of the best composers he has few equals.

His program occupied nearly an hour and a half and was so thoroughly enjoyed by the audience that some expressed themselves as feeling like it had been but a few minutes. There were capable music artists in the audience and they gave high praise both to the program and the splendid qualities of the organ. The church has been generously congratulated upon the possession of such an excellent instrument.

Besides the twelve organ numbers by Mr. Brown in this recital, there were three songs that received a full share of praise, Miss Undine Futrell, of Scotland Neck, playing the accompaniment to two of them. The solos by Mr. Clinton B. Rowlett and Miss Arlene Joyner did full credit to each of these popular local singers and the quartet by Messrs. Lancaster, James, Whichard and Rowlett gave much pleasure to all. The entire recital was a marked success.

SPECIAL LETTER FROM THE NATIONS CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Much favorable comment is heard here concerning the action of the House of Representatives and the United States senate in legislating Major General Lenard Wood, Chief of Staff of the United States army out of office after March 4, 1915.

The action of the Senate is the latest development in the feud between Major General Wood and Major General Fred C. Ainsworth, who was recently forced to resign as adjutant general by Secretary of War Stimson on account of insubordination.

Involved in this legislative attack upon General Wood, it is charged, a piece of clever logrolling on the part of Senator Warren of Wyoming, chairman of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs. As a result of this manipulation Senator Warren has been able to save to his state the military reservation of Fort Russell, at Cheyenne. This was one of the expensive army posts marked for the abandonment under the War Department's present plan for concentrating the army establishments bringing about economy of administration.

Senator Warren accomplished this over the protest of many senators and by reason of the fact that the appropriation bill carried a rider providing for a limit of tenure of office of the chief of staff which, if defeated, would have left the army without an appropriation of any kind. The vote on the measure in conference, however, was close and success came to Senator Warren and a few of his followers only after a spirited debate in which Senator Root of New York and Senator Lodge of Massachusetts denounced the legislative provision inserted in the army appropriation bill as aimed solely at General Wood.

The provision legislating General Wood out of office first hatched in the house by Representative Hay of Virginia, chairman of the military affairs committee of the house. He always has accompanied General Ainsworth's side of the controversy, upholding him in the attitude he assumed both against Secretary Stimson and General Wood.

In commenting on the action of the state conferences, Senator Root said: "The provision approved of could not better accomplish its purpose if it read that after March 5, no man whose initials are L. W. shall be Chief of Staff."

The provision affecting General Wood states that after March 4, 1913, no officer shall be eligible to hold office of Chief of Staff who has not served ten years in the line of the army with rank below that of Brigadier General. This is the qualification that bars General Wood, whose term will not expire until 1914. It is customary for the Chief of Staff to hand in his resignation to the president at the end of the administration. This was what General Bell did when President Taft came into office and President Taft allowed him to serve his full term before appointing General Wood.

General Wood's friends say this is the course that probably would be followed by the next occupant of the White House that the legislation passed by Congress will not only bar General Wood from ever holding office again but still, if it becomes law, deprive him of one year of his term.

President Taft who has stated upon several occasions that General Wood is one of the most capable officers that has ever acted as Chief of Staff, feels very keenly the thrust that is being made at General Wood. Officers of the War Department who have begun to realize that General Wood has brought the army into a high state of efficiency and has dared to tell the truth concerning its efficiency, believe that if the measure finally becomes a law that a great mistake will have been made. They have strong hopes that President Taft will decline to sign the measure even though it should cause congress to again consider appropriations for maintaining the army the coming year.

American Champion Hopeful,

LONDON, June 21.—The tournament for the open championship of Great Britain, the premier event of the year in the glorifying world, has attracted a small army of followers of the sport to Muirfield, where the tournament takes place. Today the elimination events started and will continue until the end of the week. On Monday the competitions for the title will commence. The tournament this year will possess special interest for Americans, owing to the fact that Jack McDermott, the national open champion of America, is among the entrants. He is the first American bred champion to compete for the British open championship. McDermott expresses considerable confidence in his ability to finish well up among the leaders at Muirfield next week. His confidence is shared by many experts who have watched his practice work at Walton Heath and elsewhere since he arrived in England several weeks ago.

The Northfield Conferences.

EAST NORTFIELD, Mass., June 21.—The thirtieth annual session of the students conference, the first of the annual religious gatherings established here by the late Dwight L. Moody, opened today with college men present from many parts of the United States and Canada. It is expected that the conference this year will be attended by at least 1,000 visitors.

Vienna's Musical Festival.

VIENNA, June 21.—Music lovers from many parts of Europe are here to attend the great festival of music, which had its formal opening today under brilliant auspices. The festival will last two weeks. During that time some of the most important symphonic creations of Beethoven, Mayden, Bruckner and Mahler, all of whom lived in Vienna, will be performed under the direction of Nikisch, Weingartner, Bruno, Walter and Sehalik. A special concert will be devoted to Austrian folksongs and the classical dance music of Janner and Strauss will also be represented.

AN EXPOSITION IN THE PHILIPPINES

An epoch in American colonial history was marked by the opening of the first Philippine Exposition, held in its own grounds and buildings on the outskirts of Manila, during the first weeks of the present year.

The exposition, under the general presidency of the Hon. C. E. Elliott, secretary of commerce and police of the islands, was the medium through which the four chief Philippine agricultural products, hemp, sugar, coconut and tobacco, were exploited.

Under the management and through the hard work of Mr. W. W. Barclay, the director general, the exposition indicated what the native Philippines can and will do under American direction, education and encouragement.

Some new decorative in color of native woods and vegetable products marked the buildings and their beauty was noted by the western visitors. It would be difficult to describe to those not familiar with the tropical East the color effects produced by the combination of the cream tints of the hemp fiber, the pale green of the sugar cane, the gray of the coconut and the dark brown of the tobacco, particularly when used as coverings for the pillars and other structural work of the buildings.

The chief exhibits were from the Pangasinan and Morro provinces. Pangasinan is known as the granary of the Philippines and its wheat exhibit was remarkable. Among the industries from this province were represented the famous Calasio hat. Morro Province exhibit won many first prizes, chiefly for rubber, hemp, corn and tobacco.

The exposition, which was a surprise even to many of the Manillans themselves, apparently justified itself. It seems probable that the easy success of this exhibition will encourage and stand as a model for the working out of the Philippine native section at the coming Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco, to mark the opening of the canal.

We are glad to publish today an interview with Governor T. J. Jarvis, one of the trustees of East Carolina Teachers Training school, in which our readers are advised that the celebration of the fourth anniversary of the breaking of ground for the buildings will be held on the second day of July. The mention of the names of the distinguished men of the state who will be present to take part in the celebration gives promise to it being a great day for the school, for Greenville and for Pitt county.

They are drawing fire at Chicago. Teddy is certainly mad some.

This is My Birthday

Andrew S. Draper.

Dr. Andrew S. Draper, who for many years occupied a foremost place in American educational circles, was born in Westford, N. Y., June 21, 1848. He received an academic education and afterward took a course of law at Union College. For nine years after being admitted to the bar he practiced law in Albany. The next three years were spent in Washington, where he served as a member of a committee appointed by President Arthur to investigate the Alabama claims. When his work was completed he returned to the practice of his profession in Albany. In 1886 he was elected state superintendent of public instructions of New York. He continued in this position for eight years and during the next two years he was superintendent of public schools in Cleveland. In 1894 Dr. Draper was elected president of the University of Illinois. He remained at the head of the University ten years when he resigned to accept his present position as commissioner of education of the state of New York.

Congratulations to:

Mohammed-Ali-Mirza, the former Shah of Persia, 40 years old today. Dr. A. H. F. Lefroy, noted authority on law and professor at the university of Toronto, 60 years old today.

A Little Book.

A little book with here and there a leaf Turned at some tender passage; how it steems To speak to me—to fill my soul with dreams, Sweet as first love and beautiful, though brief— Here was her glory; and on this page her grief— For tears have stained it; here the sunlight streams, And there the stars withheld from her their beams And sorrow sought her white soul like a thief! And here her name, and as I breathe the sweet Soft syllables, a presence in the room Sheds a rare radiance; but I may not look; The yellowed leaves are fluttering at my feet; The gloom is gone, and I—lost in the gloom, Weep like a woman o'er this little book. —Frank L. Stanton.

Editorial of Human Interest

By Arthur Brisbane

The Three Best Things in the World.

If you had a choice of all qualities which man can possess, which three would you declare most important?

This question is submitted as interesting every man. We give our answer; if yours is different, send it here.

- Self-control. Justice. Imagination.

Those we think the most important elements in the human character. A man fully and evenly equipped with all three would be greater than any the world has known.

Self-control you must start with. It makes life worth while. It frees you from the danger of remorse, the wasted time of self-reproach. It sees opportunities as they come; saves you from damaging temptation. It is as important to a brain as is physical equilibrium to a work of masonry.

A man without self-control, a building out of plumb, cannot endure. Justice. It is the foundation of all reputation worth the having. It is to man as necessary as the compass to a ship. It is the compass. Justice will give reputation for greatness though you create nothing great. It will win affectionate reverence in life and a gratifying gravestone at life's end.

Imagination. Greatest gift to man. It finds him grovelling here a pitheoid littleness. The rough hair is gone from his body. His thumb has lost its monkey smallness; he walks flat on his feet. But beyond that he has naught else to thank material nature for. All the rest comes to him from imagination. Marvelous work she performs. She takes naked man with his low forehead, with his gruntings and whistling through his teeth and makes of him what man was meant to be.

Very slowly she works but ceaselessly. Her task is not nearly ended. At her first glimmerings man's real life begins. He learns from her to add wood to a fire. No monkey ever did it. That stamps him a man.

Soon, with her help, he leaves the earth and travels off ten thousand million miles into space. He counts the stars in the Milky Way; travels in the air, under the water; harness lightning, controls nature. By imagination he is made captain of this earthen ship on which he travels through space.

Imagination separates Archimedes, working at his problems in the sunlight, from the vile soldier that slaughtered him.

Shakespeare rattling his ale pot and Johanna, the ape, shaking her ears at the Zoo are alike, save for difference of imagination.

Self-control to balance you. Justice to guide you. Imagination to lend creative power. "Equilibrium, Direction, Creation." The Trinity ardently to be desired. Long Plato announced that apparent differences are deceptive; that all things existing come from one casting—the mind of God—which he names "idea."

Similarly today the solemn-thinking German tells you that matter and force are identical, that the interchangeable character of forces—heat, light, magnetism, etc.—is part of the a, b, c of proved phenomena.

Haeckel stops digging up old bones and classifying microscopic organisms long enough to write "Monism," expressing his belief that God is anything and everything from Orion to a tumble-bug.

It is quite easy to show that the selected three—self-control, justice and imagination—are in reality one. Each exists as part of the other two. Each is made up of the other two.

But this column is not devoted to any save simple things.

The question is this once more: What are man's three most useful qualities—which three would you possess?

Do not call this question idle or believe that we cannot change ourselves. We can.

Napoleon said: "Never believe that a man ever changed his temperament." But Napoleon often said what was foolish.

It ought to delight you to know that you can change yourself if you want to, as you can change the arrangement of your back parlor.

Try it. It is hard work, but good exercise.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

By Howard L. Rann.

GALILEO

ON the 21st of June, 1633, the Italian astronomer Galileo was made a martyr to the truth and obliged to back up some distance on the proposition that the earth do move. Galileo lived at a time when everybody who possessed a few cubic feet of brain expansion believed that the earth was as flat as a checker board. They also entertained the notion that if a man were to walk for some time he would be liable to step off the rim and fall in a perpendicular direction for several feet. Galileo did not believe this, for he had read up quite a little and had whittled out a telescope which enabled him to tell Jupiter from Venus by their costumes, particularly Venus and he insured against the astronomical bosses in a series of essays full of rugged eloquence and mis-spelled words. Galileo made a good many of his observations from the Leaning Tower of Pisa, an interesting natural curiosity which was laid by a cross-eyed mason with a weakness for the intoxicating cup. Those who were present at the time say that Galileo did not get on the first page for several weeks after he showed up the the Italian school of astronomy. The authorities were not pleased with Galileo's deductions and requested him to recant. Up to this time Galileo had not done much of any recanting as his training had been on the La Lellette order, so he replied in a pamphlet in which he called Copernicus and several other estimable people some of the hardest names he could think of at the time. This incensed every college professor in the country who had been teaching the flat top theory, and Galileo was snared while engaged in naming a new hatching of stars and given his choice between recanting or having all of his bones that were within him broken on the wheel. Galileo was then past seventy years of age, feeble in body and weakened in spirit and he decided to recant, but history relates that as he rose to his feet after taking the vow with his fingers crossed, he murmured the immortal and inspiring words, "It do move".

GOV. WOODROW WILSON

"The Most Available Democrat."

Wilson for President

Almost daily leading the influential papers which had hitherto occupied neutral position on the presidential question have come out for Wilson for president.

The impression is rapidly gaining ground that Wilson, above all candidates named, stands the best chance of carrying the debatable territory which is necessary to democratic victory.

The Richmond Times Dispatch, one of the most influential newspapers of the south, comes out strongly for Wilson today, and we are reproducing a portion of its somewhat lengthy, but wholly logical and firmly editorial in support of the New Jerseyan:

"The split in the Republican party seems imminent and inevitable. Even though a house divided against itself cannot stand, it is alike the opportunity and the duty of the democrats to nominate a man who can meet the objection which will be directed against both Taft and Roosevelt in case each heads a wing of disrupted republican party. The Democratic nominee, in order to fulfill the requirements of the situation must appeal to the same desire for progress under law that is found in both parties. He must carry the traditionally debatable states, and in order to do that he must capture the great independent vote, without which democratic success is impossible.

"The east is the battleground upon which the democratic fight must be won. In 1904, when Roosevelt went before the country for the first and only time so far, every western state voted for him. He carried everything but the solid south. His sweeping majorities in the presidential primaries in the western states this year indicate that he would not fall far short this year of his former strength. The fairest hope of the democrats is, therefore, in the east, where Roosevelt is strong. The democratic problem is, then, to select a candidate who can appeal to the east, and especially to the independent vote in the east.

"The leading democratic candidates in the presidential preference primaries is Clark. But where is his strength? The solid south will go for any democrat, and with fairness to all its votes may be eliminated in a practical analysis. It is, therefore, necessary to find the man who can secure enough votes outside the south to win. Can Clark hold this? Investigate the results of the presidential preference primaries in the light of the presidential elections from 1884 up to 1908, and what do we find?

"Five southern states are for Underwood, but they would go to any democrat. Outside of Ohio, Harmon has only a few scattering votes.

"What do the results of the presidential preference primaries mean? They mean that in a majority of non-southern states a varying percentage of democratic voters, rarely representing more than 60 per cent of the normal democrat vote, have expressed their choice. They mean by such a vote that their choice is simply personal, and is not their choice of the man who would be most likely to carry their state. The fact that the Massachusetts democrats vote for Clark, for instance, proves little as to the way the electoral vote of the state will go. This is generally true, with a few possible exceptions.

have many points of strength, simplicity, and convenience found in no other presses. They are equipped with a compound lever and a toggle joint plunger, which gives them great compressing power. A 500 pound pull on the sweep of a 16x18 I C H C press gives 76,800 pounds pressure in the bale chamber.

The bed reach is only 4 inches high and very narrow. The bale chamber is very low—easy to reach over to tie the bale.

"HOME OF THE BEST PRINTING"

We take this means of thanking all of our friends who have been thoughtful enough to compliment us on our "LARGER AND BETTER" DAILY REFLECTOR. The Raleigh Daily Times comments in part: "A paper which shows improvement reflects the development of the country over which it circulates. Every word of which is true. The Greenville Tobacco market will probably sell 14,000,000 pounds of tobacco this year, or 5,000,000 pounds more than last year. This meant a strenuous planting campaign by our farmers. Mr. Merchant, why not begin your selling campaign now? Join THE REFLECTOR'S advertisers. Know that your ad will be read by 4,500 people, with this number increasing daily.

This is a state school pre-eminently and must depend upon the appropriation made by the legislature for its support. It is doing a great work in supporting better equipped teachers for the public schools, which is likewise dependent upon the legislature and public sentiment. It is fairly certain that the Hon. Locke Craig, Hon. E. L. Daughtridg, Hon. J. Y. Joyner and Hon. B. R. Lacy will have much to do in speaking the policy of the school for the next four years in reference to these institutions. We are therefore, glad to have them visit the institution and see for themselves and we trust the citizens of the county and town will give them a rousing reception.

"Nevertheless, in the appeal to the people, I won. In many of the Republican states and of the Democratic states where there is a large and real Republican party, primaries of different kinds were held and a substantial expression of the will of the people was obtained. In these primary states one of three million voters, the rank and file of the Republican party, cast their votes; I beat Mr. Taft considerably over 2 to 1. In these states I obtained about six delegates to Mr. Taft's one.

POLK NAMED BY DEMOCRATS AT BALTIMORE

Native of Pineville, Mecklenburg County, North Carolina Named for Presidency When Democrats Last Convention in Maryland.

When the Democratic party last held its national convention in the city of Baltimore they nominated a winner, a native of Pineville, Mecklenburg county, North Carolina, for the Presidency in the person of James Knox Polk, who in later years removed from North Carolina to Tennessee to which state he is credited.

That convention was held in the summer of 1844, just 68 years ago, and George M. Dallas of Pennsylvania, was named as vice president, while the Whigs that year nominated no less a celebrity than Henry Clay, of Kentucky, for the presidency and T. Frelinghouse of New Jersey, for vice president.

A third man, James C. Birne, of New York was nominated for the presidency of the liberal party out in today's politics there is hardly a man who knows the name of the third man for of the third party.

Poly was elected following these nominations, polling a total of 170 electoral votes, representing a popular vote of 1,377,246, while Henry Clay polled 105 electoral votes representing a general vote of 1,299,068. Birney polled 62,800 popular votes which did not give him a full electoral vote in the college.

The method of campaigning in those days more than two-third or a century gone, differs materially from the present day method. There were no railroads and no telegraph and the newspapers then in existence were not worthy of the name. The speeches of Henry Clay were made for the most part in the congress of the United States while delegations visited the home of Polk in Tennessee to hear the candidate discuss the issues of the day.

Polk was the only president ever nominated by any party at Baltimore, according to the records in the case. Polk was born November 2, 1795, and graduated from the University of North Carolina in the class of 1818.—Charlotte News.
