No Settlement of N.-S. Differences Until President's Chosen

Action Taken by Engineers of the System WILL ABIDE BOARD'S DECISION

No Definite Settlement of the N. S. Dispute is Looked For Until New Head of Co., Has Been Appointed

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 22.—The Norfolk Southern Railway engineers and electrical motormen who had been threatening to strike because of the company's failure to deal with contending wage questions today placed the case for their part in the hands of the government for mediation and adjustment and agreed that action should be postponed until a new authoritative head of the Norfolk Southern is named providing the company agrees that the matters in issue shall be adjusted at that time.

M. W. Cradle of Cleveland, Ohio, Grand Assitant Chief Engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers who has been here in connection with the wage question, leaves tomorrow for Richmond for adjustment of pending organization matters there. From Richmond he goes to Cleveland for a board meeting Monday. The following letter was today addressed to the engineers and motormen of the Norfolk Southern by Mr. Cradle and the local adjustment committee:

To Officers and Members of Brotherhood Locomotive Engineers employed in steam and electric service of Norfolk Southern System as engineers and motormen: Dear Sirs and Brothers:—We take this opportunity of advising you as to the present condition of the controversy between the company and the engineers and motormen concerning our request for recognition and an agreement for motormen and also a revised agreement for engineers in steam service showing same rates as are being paid by competitive lines.

As you are aware a ballot was sent out to our members to get an expression as to whether they would support the organization to the extent of withdrawing from the service, provided a satisfactory settlement could not otherwise be obtained. The canvas of the vote showed the required majority and as the officers of the company refused to accede to our request an arrangement was made to withdraw from the service at 5 o'clock a. m., August 19th.

On Saturday morning, August 18th, we received a telegram from the Hon. Martin A. Knapp, presiding judge of the Court of Commerce, and Hon. Charles P. Neill, U. S. Commissioner of Labor, invoking article 2 of the Erdman act, they tendering their friendly offices in the way of mediation to bring about a satisfactory settlement of the controversy. After giving their offer due consideration, we have agreed to postpone action to accept their friendly offer, with the understanding that further action is held in abeyance until a new general manager is appointed, when the government officers will take the matter up with him at that time.

We would suggest you be very careful in the performance of your duties and you strictly observe the rules giving the company faithful and efficient service. Keep your own counsel giving the matter as little publicity as possible. We hope that when a final conclusion of this controversy is reached that the benefits of a substantial character may be achieved.

Yours fraternally, J. H. NEAL, HOWARD BOBBITT, E. R. JACKSON, Committee. M. W. CADLE, A. G. C. E.

PAYMASTER SCHEPPS ASSURED IMPUNITY

STORY TOLD BY HIM TO GRAND JURY GREATEST HELP YET GIVEN PROSECUTION

SCHEPPS GETS WRITTEN AGREEMENT

Those Indicted For The Murder of Rosenthal Lieutenant Charles Becker, accused of having plotted to kill Rosenthal. William Shapiro, driver of the gray automobile in which the gangsters went to the Hotel Metropole and killed Rosenthal. Jack Reich, known as Jack Sullivan, accused of having given the signal for the murder. Frank Cirofici, also known as Dago Frank. Frank Muller, known as Whitey Lewis. Harry Horowitz, known as Gyp the Blood. Louis Rosenzweig, known as Lefty Louie, gangman alleged to have been in the automobile.

The four last named are the ones accused of the actual shooting. NEW YORK, August 21.—Sam Schepps has been promised full immunity in the Rosenthal murder case. Before testifying before the grand jury, where he furnished corroboration to the confession of Jack Rose implicating Police Lieutenant Becker in the killing of Rosenthal, Schepps obtained a written agreement from the district attorney's office that he was not to be indicted.

This agreement was signed by Bernard Sandler, counsel for Schepps and an assistant district attorney. When Schepps appeared before the grand jury he did not waive his immunity rights as was done in the cases of Rose, Vallon and Webber. District Attorney Whitman conferred today with Detective Wm. J. Burns, going over plans for the graft investigation which is to be started by the grand jury. The word has gone out that Burns has supplied Whitman with startling information and this report has been verified by a man in touch with the district attorney.

NEW YORK POLICE WANTS A RAISE

Not Enough in It, Under Existing Conditions NEW YORK, August 21.—Police Commissioner Waldo is not letting his closures regarding the conditions in his department interfere with his contention that he and every one else in the department are underpaid.

Mr. Waldo wants his own salary increased from $7,500 to $15,000 a year and he asks for increases right down the line to the lowest grade of patrolmen which would mean the adding of $3,806,719 to the amount granted him by the board of estimate in making up last year's report. These increases are asked for in the estimates which Commissioner Waldo has sent to the Board of Estimates showing the monetary needs of his department for the present year. Last year, Mr. Waldo received $15,533,358. For this year he asks $19,240,177.

Winfield R. Sheehan, the Commissioner's office private secretary, will, if Mr. Waldo's recommendations is adopted, have his salary boosted from $3,500 to $6,000 a year, while the clerks and stenographers in the Commissioner's office are also slated for substantial raises. It is recommended by Commissioner Waldo that the pay of inspectors be increased from $3,500 to $5,000 and that of the captains from $2,750 to $3,500. A raise of $100 a year for each grade of patrolman is proposed, so that new men may start at $1,000 instead of $900 and the top grade patrolmen may draw $1,500 instead of $1,400. The Commissioner also asks that 1,000 additional patrolmen be provided, which would mean an extra outlay of $100,000 in salaries.

The Greenville boys went down to Winterville Wednesday afternoon to play a game of ball with the boys there and came back with nine goose eggs in their basket.

Governor Wilson Officially Notified of His Nomination

Photos copyright, 1912, by American Press Association.

THE "Little White House" grounds at Sea Girt never before were trampled by such a crowd as that which gathered to make a Democratic holiday of the "notification" of Governor Wilson. It is estimated that 5,000 people attended the ceremonies, and it is unofficially reported that the condition of the governor's right hand and arm the next day was such as to make him believe that he had shaken hands with all of them. A committee of fifty-two members, one from each state, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico, waited upon the candidate, and Senator Elect Ollie James, flanked by senators, congressmen and governors, did the talking up to the point when the governor read his speech of acceptance. Mrs. Wilson and her daughters were interested witnesses of the formalities, which were enlivened by the presence of a large number of prominent Democrats, including Governor Marshall, the vice presidential candidate, who, in the photograph, is seen standing at Governor Wilson's left.

The High Cost of Living and Price of Wind

It is very well for editorial writers licitor above referred to has found to give out whole columns of care-out that a trust that has hitherto es fully compiled figures to show just caped the zealous editorial writer had how the dear old trusts are playing a successful try out here in Pitt coun Sam Hill with the meek consumer; ty: To come to the point. He discov ered that a gentleman of this com munity had cornered the wind and was going to make, or at least had a good profit of the first sale. On the very first transaction this new trust handed a man, also of this com munity, $150 worth of perfectly good C. L. Abernethy and starts him on wind. At least so the solicitor told a lecture tour to embrace the length and breadth of these United States. Mr. Abernethy has had time and this is at a premium with him, to make important discoveries along this "high cost of living chatter". The effort had the effect of putting the white covered, hatted and shod so trust out of commission.

TAFT IS TRYING GRAND JURY FOR VETO RECORD MAKES REPORT

Judicial Bill Again Meets Disapproval Some Wise Recommendations Are Made HOUSE HAD PASSED ON IT COUNTY HOME A QUESTION

The Abolishment of the Commerce Court Strongly Objected to by Nation's Chief Executive Grand Jurors Find Everything O. K. In Our Court House Except For Some Minor Recommendations

WASHINGTON, August 21.—President Taft today again vetoed the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill because it still carried an amendment to abolish the Commerce Court, which the House and Senate insisted upon including in the re-framed measure. The provision to limit tenure of office of civil service employes to seven years which was an additional reason for the President's first disapproval had not been included in the bill a second time.

Representative Underwood declared that if the Senate refused again to override the president's veto the House finally would agree to recede from its provision to abolish the Commerce Court, and permit an adjournment probably on Saturday. The president returned the twice vetoed bill with a short message saying he had disapproved it on the same grounds as he had set out at length in his message last week.

The test vote by which the upper house retained the provision to abolish the court against the majority report of the appropriations committee did not command a two thirds vote necessary to pass a bill over a veto. By voting the bill President Taft has held up his own salary, that of the cabinet officers, every member of congress and every judge and employe of the United States courts.

The legislative appropriation bill failed of repassage in the Senate over President Taft's veto. The motion to re-pass the measure received 34 votes to 27 in the negative; but the two thirds necessary to override the veto was 41.

House Expects to Adjourn Saturday

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—In appointing Representative Curley of Massachusetts, as an assistant Democratic whip, with instructions to see that all Democratic members be in their places, Speaker Clark today announced that House leaders expected to adjourn congress Saturday or Sunday morning.

Mr. Curley today sent telegrams to all Democratic absentees, recalling them to Washington. A list of those who fail to respond will be published by the House.

W. F. EVANS ON THE PRIMARY Sends Alex L. Blow a Pressing Invitation

To the Democratic voters of Pitt County: Information has come to me of a charge that should I be defeated for the nomination for the State Senate, that I would become an independent candidate. While not in the least contemplating defeat, I desire to state that this rumor was started for the mere purpose of fooling some friend into voting for another candidate. I registered in the Democratic primary and like all other candidate, pledged myself to abide by its result. I have never yet gone back upon a pledge peopel and same for colored people. Much complaint has been made as conditions exist now and we believe that our county commissioners should remedy the trouble right away.

I maintain that I stand squarely upon true Democratic principles and while I have had criticism to make of men in my party whom I have reason to believe have been untrue to it, I have never made any attack upon the party. I believe that true Democracy demands reform whenever wrong doing has been rife. That my position is the correct one, I have a heart and conscience that prompts me to maintain it. THE NATIONAL TICKET

Wilson Marshall

HAVING FUN WITH MARSE HENRY

The newspaper boys are having fun with Marse Henry. The veteran editor of the Courier-Journal insists that he feels very comfortable and is resting easy, but his hysterical actions belie his words and the boys are unkind enough to remind Marse Henry of the fact.

Referring to one of Mr. Watterson's ill-natured criticisms of Mr. Bryan, the Sioux City (Iowa) Journal, says: "It is true that in 1904 Mr. Bryan missed a cog and failed to get the nomination. His misfortune extended to denial of absolutism in writing the platform. Mr. Bryan did not bolt. He took his medicine, though the faces he made on the stump gave him the reputation of a cartoonist. But he did not bolt. His method of speech suggested the disquietude of his mind. It is true. But he did not bolt. He held to it that the Democratic party had a future and he looked forward to being a part of it. The spirit of prophecy was upon him. He was able to demonstrate in the Democratic national convention of 1908 that in 1904 the Democratic party had made an egregious blunder. Mr. Bryan was rehabilitated and again made the leader of the party. The result of the election in 1908 did not make Mr. Bryan president but it produced the figures to prove that Mr. Bryan was a better man than Judge Parker. Mr. Bryan did not care for himself (if that is the suspicion that is in Colonel Watterson's mind), but he was moved by ambition to save the Democratic party to the people. It is worth while to note with what courage he placed himself in subordination at Baltimore. He hit some of Colonel Watterson's friends hard and lodged his Louisville friend in the hole from whence there was nothing for him to do but to cry out that he would support 'Satan'. The reference, to be sure, was to Governor Woodrow Wilson. If Mr. Bryan did not have his way altogether at Baltimore, he had enough of it to save him from nervous prostration. As the case stands, Mr. Bryan is a national hero. The proof is presented in the rush to use both hands in exchanging greetings. Mr. Bryan is for Wilson this year beyond a doubt. He is enthusiastically so. If the New Jersey governor is elected we can thank Mr. Bryan for it and Mr. Bryan can continue to point with pride to his faithfulness to the Democratic party, at whatever personal sacrifice, all for the uplift, the disenfranchisement and the glory of the common people. 'Till becomes Colonel Watterson to exhibit envy."

There are others. An Associated Press dispatch from Washington says: "One hundred and twenty million dollars was filched from the American people during the last fiscal year by swindlers who operated largely through the United States mails according to a statement just made public in a formal report to Postmaster General Hitchcock. This is an increase of $50,000,000 in the aggregate of the previous year. Of those who are alleged to have operated the fraudulent schemes, 1,063 were arrested by postoffice inspectors. During the year which ended June 30 last, 452 persons were convicted and sentenced and 571 cases are awaiting final disposition. Postmaster General Hitchcock's order to inspectors to collect evidence that would warrant criminal prosecution of the swindlers gradually is building a wall of protection against such frauds around the American people."

This, however, is not a mark compared to the amount filched from the pockets of the people through the trust system and other highly protected Republican policies. If the federal authorities would only prosecute the influential men who conspire against the lives of the people, with half the zeal they employ in the prosecution of the ordinary violators of the law, the results would be immediately noticeable in the cost of living.

The showers and hot weather are what cotton wants. People can lose their heads over politics easier than anything else. Congressman Small is really small in two things—name and stature. But he is every inch a congressman. One wit said he was almost afraid to swat a fly lest he cripple a candidate. If some of this warm weather could be bottled up for January it would lessen the coal bill. A Boston woman willed $50,000 to her dog. But that dog will gnaw a bone just like any other canine if given a chance. Those stobs sticking up in the South Evans street sidewalk are handy things for people to stumble over at night. Greensboro is soon to entertain a deaf and dumb convention. That is one occasion on which the city is looking for a quiet time though none the less interesting. Democratic State Chairman Webb has appointed ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis as the first district member of his advisory committee. The wisest selection of them all. Charlotte is tickled. The old post office building there is to be torn down and a new one erected. And neither senators or congressmen are accused of any graft in getting through the bill for this change. At least two young ladies have put in applications for the next vacancy that may occur in The Reflector shop. They said the record for marriages among the force makes it a good place for the anxious-to-wed to work. Men like Judge Cline add dignity to the Bench. He is painstaking and conscientious in every matter that comes before him. He has taken a wonderful hold on the esteem of the people in Pitt county and comes next to our own Whedbee. If people would put as much interest in improvements as they do in politics, you would see more improvements going on. For politics they will sacrifice their time, their money, their peace of mind, their friendships and in some instances their common sense, but try to interest them in some beneficial improvement and they will not turn a finger.

THE GOOD THAT IS DONE BY THE TRUSTS

The Mammoth Made Our First Paths Through The Forest

Part I

Every big movement in this world in some way or other does solid good in the long run, however, irritating it may be before it is understood.

The saddest period in a child's life is undoubtedly the period of teething. If you saw a baby for the first time and didn't understand that period, you would denounce the cruelty which inflamed its gums, upset its digestion, kept it awake, condemned it to incessant torture. But we all know that a full set of teeth under the control of the child is to reward the suffering of teething and this reconciles us to the teething age. We tell you—and we don't want you to forget this—that all the trust impositions and suffering and thiev-ery now agitating us constitute a teething process through which we must pass. The result will be a full set of industrial teeth owned and controlled by the nation, which now suffers the torments of the teething baby.

You will realize that individuals must at first do that which nations do later.

The despotic, irresponsible rule of the savage chief, of the able individual fighter, was a forerunner of the present system of government.

We have now taken the governing power from the individual, bestowing it on the whole people, but at first we had to have out Attilas, our Napoleons and Alexanders.

As individual control the government has been superseded by collective control, so individual control of industries will be followed by collective control. This is the natural order.

Why does not the government take full charge at once?

Why does not the hen lay a hen all covered with feathers, instead of laying an egg? Everything must have its crude beginning and its perfect ending for on this basis we are organized.

The French government today makes millions from the national control of the match industry. But a solitary individual working in Bavaria, New York state, had to create the match and make his little money bacco industry before the French government could take it and make millions.

That same French government derives millions from its tobacco business, incidentally giving the people good tobacco cheap instead of poisonous tobacco dear. The red Indian dodging bears and using his squaws as slaves had to start that great tobacco industry before the French government could get it.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

By Howard L. Rayn.

THE GREAT AMERICAN DESSERT.

PIE is a three cornered slab of robust dessert, and when eaten in large quantities produces a feeling of satisfaction akin to pain.

This is pacticularly true of green apple pie, a deadly concoction which leaps upon the small boy with the utmost ferocity and causes him to wilt in the despairing accents of the cholera infantum.

Pie is served in triangular form for the accommodation of people who believe that fingers were made before forks or who prefer to attack it with a knife.

Som people have a strong aversion to pie in any form and can seldom be induced to quench their thirst with it. Others will sit down at the breakfast table and subdue a large cream pie without exhibiting any remorse or other serious consequences whatever.

Since the canned prune has taken the place of the succulent dried apple, the old fashioned pie which would melt in your mouth if you waited long enough has become simply a heart burning memory. Pies used to be made by mother out of butter crust and real fruit and were adorned with ornamental fluting and hand tooled monograms on the upper lid. The modern pie springs from the lard pail and the withered apricot, and is made in various stock patterns, ranging from the imitation quince to the counterfeit huckleberry. The crust of one of these pies can be bent back like the top of a sardine can without affecting its hardy and in trepid nature in the slightest.

Another delicacy is the black rasp berry pie, which abounds in elusive seeds and clothes the teeth in dark funeral garb.

Social and Personal

Dawn and Loss

I lack thee in the noonday light,
I want thee in the deep of night,
But most, when sadder than all words,
I hear the voice of waking birds.

Then seem I most of all forlorn,
When I behold the day reborn,
There is no mercy in that ray,
On hopeless fancies comes the day.

Then in the hollow world re-made,
God! but that image will not fade;
That ghostly chorus from the leaves
Reminds, and yet again bereaves.

The widowing beam upon me falls,
And to a gray remembrance calls;
Rebuilt in the dismal loss
And re-erected in the cross.

For in that dimness we had speech,
Simple and prudent each to each;
Slow on my shoulder fell thy head,
I held thee close as skies grew red.

O dear, wert thou in silent dew,
Thrice dear in deepening of the blue;
But now I see from this dark room
Only the glimmer of the tomb.

—Stephen Phillips.

Outlaw, of Greenville, who was brought here by his parents last night critically affected, and while the operation was successful, the little one could not withstand the shock.

The remains were taken back to Greenville this morning for interment.

Mr. and Mrs. Outlaw, young parents, knitted closer by this, their first great sorrow, have the infinite sympathy of all of our people—who are their people and while He who said, "Suffer little children to come unto me for of such is the kingdom of heaven," had need for the child, they will be drawn heavenward themselves by their thoughts of their baby boy—an angel forever awaiting there. —Goldsboro Daily Argus.

In Northern Markets

Mr. B. J. Puley is now on a visit to the Northern Markets principally Baltimore and New York to purchase his early stock and full line of winter goods. He will make a specialty in ladies' wear and they can rest assured that the Puley store will have the very goods, in style and quality, that they want for the coming season. His long experience in selecting ladies' goods enables him to anticipate their wishes and he purchases his stock with that view. It will pay to wait for his new goods and see them as soon as they come in. His stock will not be surpassed by any other store.

Mrs. Ellison at Home to the Younger Set

At her home on Market street, Mrs. James Ellison delightfully entertained the younger set in honor of her guest, Miss Christine Tyson, of Greenville. Miss Tyson and Mr. Ralph Hodges met the guests at the door and punch was served by Mrs. Ellison and Miss Whichard. Heart dice was played for about two hours. Mr. Edmund Buckman made the highest score and was awarded the prize—a box of paper. Miss Tyson received the guest's prize and Miss Ruth Bell of Edenton, won the booby.—Washington Daily victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles just like other people, with like results in loss of appetite, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that T. D. Peebles Henry Tenn., proved. "Six bottle of Electric Bitters" he writes, "did more to give me new strength and good appetite than all other stomach remedies I used." So they help everybody. Its folly to suffer when this great remedy will help you from the first dose. Try it Only 50 cents at all Druggists.

Flying Men Fall

The McCASKEY SYSTEM

The One Writing Method of handling accounts.

With each purchase, our customer receives a sale slip showing the goods purchased, the price of each article and the balance previously owed—all footed up. With the McCaskey System YOU ALWAYS KNOW WHAT YOU OWE.

Your account cannot grow over night. You always have the opportunity of checking each item from your sale slip to see that everything has been delivered and that the price of every item is correct. We furnish a slipholder to each customer. File the slip in this holder, the last slip at a glance will tell you what you owe. By preserving these slips you will have the same record of your account as we.

AND IN THE SAME HAND WRITING We shall be glad to explain The McCaskey System to you.
