MILITIA MUST ANSWER CHARGE

Will Investigate Killing of Citizen by Soldiers

TO BE COURT MARTIALED

Those in Command of the Troops and the Soldiers Who Fired the Fatal Shots Will Have to Explain

AUGUSTA, Sept. 30.—Investigation of the killing of three citizens by members of the state militia—an outgrowth of the strike of Augusta street railway employes—was started today.

The three men killed trespassed on the "dead line" territory established by the militia to protect the railway company's power plant.

Captain Jewitt and Captain Henderson, together with every man who guarded the "dead line" will face trial by a military court. It is expected the hearings will take place this week.

Governor Brown ordered a thorough investigation of the shooting. All were business men and their friends assert that they were ignorant of the line established by the soldiers.

The city continued quiet yesterday and late last night the military force was reduced to forty men.

Negotiations looking to a settlement of the strike proved fruitless.

Sun Brothers Circus Here For Two Performances Today

The first circus of the season is here and Young America in consequence is happy. The big outfit of the famous Sun Brothers' Shows arrived in Greenville at an early hour this morning, arriving via the Norfolk Southern road and coming from Plymouth where the circus exhibited yesterday and reported big business.

The whole of the equipment of the show looks fine and they carry the finest horses seen in Greenville with a circus in a long time. The big animals, such as the elephants, sacred cattle, zebras, camels and dromedaries and not forgetting the unique bearded Wanderboos all look fat and sleek and have the appearance of having received gilt edged treatment at the hands of the animal keepers this summer on their travels.

The wild beast section of the show is an important adjunct and the show exhibits many rare specimens of the far away lands. The big lion act, handled by Captain John Cardona, in a mammoth steel arena, is heavily featured.

There is a good sized crowd in town to take in the attendant sights and the circus grounds in Munford's Park have been filled with people all the morning long taking in the different free sights and watching the circus men putting up their tents and the different other features.

The doors for the big show opened promptly at one o'clock this afternoon and a big crowd surged through the turnstiles and at two o'clock the tent was comfortably filled. The circus performance started at two o'clock and a fine two hours program was presented, introducing many novel acts never before shown in Greenville.

The equestrian acts, the Japanese acrobats, the "man betterflys", the wonderfully trained elephants, the clown college, the Mexican aerial troupe, the infamy lady trapezists and acrobats; in fact, all of the presented numbers are of the highest class.

A noticeable thing around this show is the entire absence of petty larceny fakirs, ticket scalpers and immoral issues. In fact the only way that you can spend your money is through legitimate channels.

The assurance is made that the circus performance tonight will be given complete and no curtailment of any kind. Tomorrow the circus will appear at New Bern.

DEATH LIST OF AIRMEN INCREASES

Conquest of the Air Has Cost 183 Lives

THOUSANDS INJURED SINCE 1908

Two Airmen and a Passenger Killed Since Saturday, Fatalities in the American Army Now Total Six

- September, 1908—Lieut. Thomas Selfridge, at Fort Myer.
- 1911—Lieut. G. E. M. Kelly, at San Antonio, Texas.
- June 11, 1912—Lieut. Leighton W. Hazlehurst, at College Park.
- September 28, 1912—Lieut. Louis C. Rockwell, at College Park.
- September 28, 1912—Corporal Frank Scott, of the Signal Corps, at College Park.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 30.—Three aviators were killed Saturday, two in Washington and the other at Hempstead, L. I., in almost an identical manner, within the same hour.

Lieut. Lewis C. Rockwell, guiding a Wright biplane and carrying Corporal Frank Scott as passenger, lost control of the machine and both plunged with it to the ground. Scott was killed outright and Rockwell died two hours later.

John L. Longstaff, a British aviator, was killed at Hempstead and his mechanic, Pierre Chevalier, was badly hurt when their craft fell fifty feet. Since the start of aviation in 1908 183 deaths have resulted from accidents. The number of injured runs into thousands. Two Italian aviators were killed last week. The British army has lost four officers and the United States army a like number. The French army has been the worst sufferer.

Army Board Investigates Accident

Washington, Sept. 30.—Lieutenant Louis C. Rockwell and Corporal Frank S. Scott, the army aviators who were dashed to death at the army aviation school, College Park, Md., will be buried tomorrow in Arlington cemetery.

The army board investigating the accident are still at work.

Widow of A Noted Virginia Author Dies in Hanover County

RICHMOND, Va., September 30.—Mrs. Elizabeth Burrell Page, 92 years old, only surviving grandchild of Thomas Nelson, Jr., governor of Virginia and commander of Virginia militia forces at the battle of Yorktown, died yesterday in her home, "Oakland," near Montpelier, Hanover county.

Mrs. Page was the widow of Major John Page, a noted Virginian. She lived and died in the place where she was born, on land granted by the English crown to her grandfathers in the early part of the eighteenth century.

Mrs. Page is survived by three sons—Roswell Page, Second Auditor of Virginia; the Rev. Dr. Frank Page, formerly of Brooklyn, N. Y., but now of Fairfax Court House, Va.; and Dr. Thomas Nelson Page, of Washington, D. C., the author.

Steel Hearings Resumed

Military Surgeons Meet

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 1.—The annual meeting of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States began in this city today with an attendance of physicians and surgeons from the U. S. army and navy and marine hospital service, and the national guard organization of numerous states.

Roosevelt Uses His Hammer on Democratic Ticket

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 30.—Governor Marshall, of Indiana, was characterized as a "representative of the Taggart machine" here today by Colonel Roosevelt, who criticized Governor Wilson for "assuming a lofty position of mortality" in connection with the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in New York when he had not objected to the nomination of Governor Marshall as his running mate.

Colonel Roosevelt also assailed Governor Hooper and Senator Sanders, of Tennessee.

Colonel Roosevelt reached Chattanooga last night from Atlanta and spent several hours here before going to Knoxville.

He spoke to the crowd which filled the auditorium and then addressed an overflow meeting on the street.

Several people from Greenville will hear Roosevelt in Raleigh tonight.

Passing of Mexican Army in Texas Too Much Risk

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 30.—Governor Colquitt has withdrawn permission for Mexican Federal troops to march from Marathon, Tex., to another point on the border over Texas soil. He announced today he does not care to take the risk.

The governor sent this message to the Secretary of State at Washington:

"Concerning the moving of Mexican troops through Texas from Eagle Pass to Del Rio and Marathon my adjutant general calls attention to the fact that it will be a seventy-mile march over rough territory from Marathon. I desire to withdraw my consent for the passage of these troops through Texas until I am advised more fully with reference to their movement. This march of 70 miles through the territory referred to will invite difficulties which I do not want to occur in Texas."

Good Roads Movement To Keep the Young Men on the Farms

MORE HIGHWAYS IMPROVED DURING THE PAST YEAR THAN IN 2,000 YEARS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 30.—President Logan Waller Page opened the American Road Congress here today with the declaration that "more had been accomplished in road improvement during the past two decades than has been done for two thousand years previous". Three hundred delegates applauded.

N. P. Pull, of the National Grange executive committee, contended that good roads would solve the problem of keeping the young men on the farm by breaking his isolation.

Cold weather drove the congress to small quarters to hear the speech of Governor Wilson this afternoon.

Florida Lawmakers in Extra Session

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 1.—Pursuant to the call of Governor Gilchrist the members of the Florida legislature assembled for a special session today to consider and act upon a proposal to amend the charter of the city of Jacksonville so as to enable that city to own and operate docks and terminals.

ATTORNEY GIBSON AGAIN FACE MURDER CHARGE

QUIET INVESTIGATIONS RECENTLY MADE BROUGHT ABOUT REOPENING OF CASE

THE ACCUSED THREATENS PHYSICIAN

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—A quiet investigation conducted since the charge of murder was lodged against Attorney Burton W. Gibson in connection with the death of Countess Szabo has resulted in a decision to reopen the charge made against him when Mrs. Alice C. O. Kinnan was murdered in 1907. Gibson was charged with her death, but obtained his release on a writ of habeas corpus.

Mrs. Kinnan was killed on the porch of her home in the Bronx and Gibson was held by the coroner, a witness at the coroner's hearing having

THE FARMERS' UNION PLATFORM

Twenty Reforms Which the National Farmers' Union Endorsed at the Chattanooga Meeting.

At the recent meeting of the National Farmers' Union in Chattanooga, Dr. H. Q. Alexander, president of the North Carolina Farmers' Union, was made chairman of the committee on legislation and drafted a notable platform which the convention enthusiastically approved. Here is the platform in full:

1. The election of United States president by direct vote of the people.
2. The election of supreme court judges by the people.
3. The election of United States Senators by vote of the people.
4. We endorse the income and inheritance taxes as a method of raising revenue.
5. That the rules of the lower house of Congress be amended so as to make it impossible for the Speaker and chairmen of committees to block or control legislation.
6. That the banking laws be made in the interest of borrower as well as the lender.
7. That Congress shall not delegate to individuals or corporations the right to regulate the circulating medium as it now delegated to the national banks.
8. That the natural resources, iron, coal, petroleum, phosphate beds and water powers be reclaimed from corporate monopoly and be held for the benefit of the people.
9. That the initiative, referendum and recall be adopted by the national government to the end that the government may be responsive to the will of the people.

10. That the policy of the Government should encourage home ownership of land and to that end alien ownership of land should be prohibited.

11. That corporations should not be permitted to own more land than is needed for the conduct of their business and not at all for farming purposes.

12. That individual ownership of land should be restricted by graduated taxes and absentee taxes.

13. That immigration should be effectually restricted.

14. That legalized primaries shall take place of political conventions.

15. That stringent corrupt practices act should be enacted by the national government and all the states making it a felony with heavy penalty for offering or receiving bribes.

16. That a parcels express be conducted by the government for the benefit of the people.

17. That public schools shall be conducted not less than six months each year and elementary agriculture and domestic science shall be taught.

18. That county agricultural high schools should be established in every county where practicable.

19. That our agriculture and mechanical college shall provide a course in marketing and distribution.

20. That we heartily endorse all legislation pending in Congress to promote vocational education.

Raleigh, Oct. 1.—T. Roosevelt, twice or once president of the United States, makes the sweep through North Carolina today, long designed to transfer the vote of the state to him and at 8:20 o'clock will speak in the Raleigh auditorium.

And Colonel Roosevelt will be treated well. Gentlemen who can't be talked into voting for him and thinking seriously upon his leadership of a new party, are going to do him honor. In the purely social feature of the visit there will be known but little politics. The crowd will be inter-denominational. The Democrats will make up the audience, sixty-five per cent of it.

He could not wish a better one; for he will talk to the men who are going to vote for his real opponent, Woodrow Wilson, though there will be present a few Taft men in Raleigh. Hundreds of ladies not interested in one of the colonel's planks will beautify his congregation and the Christian Soldiers are going to feel good tonight.

At this instant the local setting isn't to be had. Nobody knows who is going to present the man, who, in public life disputes the primacy in American citizenship with William Jennings Bryan and Ty Cobb. The successor of President Roosevelt has long since conceded Cobb's greater fame. And in referring to Mr. Taft there is no concert of purpose to make Mr. Roosevelt mad.

In Raleigh, the stay is from 5:30 o'clock until the course of the former president is changed to the North. The march through Carolina is stopped here. It was originally planned for the east to west direction, ending at Greensboro or Asheville. The calls upon Mr. Roosevelt are too many and these demands put him today in North Carolina, tomorrow in Boston, perhaps.

MORE THAN SATISFIED

Man Made So Happy That He Had To Tell It

It is not often that a man gets more of a thing that he wants, especially if it is something good, and in the shape of cold cash. But that seems to be the experience of Mr. John W. Martin, who lives across the river in the Staton Mill section. He brought in a lot of tobacco Monday, about a thousand pounds and sold it with O. L. Joyner at the New Gum warehouse. He naturally expected a good price, but when he got his check and found it had averaged just a small fraction under 25 cents a pound, he almost shouted "Why, that is more money than I wanted."

It goes without saying that Mr. Martin went home singing the praises of Joyner and the New Gum, and his experience will be repeated among his neighbors.

Mrs. Kinnan was killed with a piece of pipe. After several hearings Gibson was released.

Dr. McDonald, who was coroner of the Bronx at the time of Mrs. Kinnan's death and who has been investigating the case, revealed for the first time the fact that Gibson is alleged to have threatened him with violence.

FACULTY RULING MUST STAND

Expelling of Twelve Students at University Investigated

PRES. VENABLE MAKES REPORT

Executive Committee Refuses to Interfere in the Matter. Incidents of Last Year and This Referred to RALEIGH, Sept. 30.—After hearing the report of President Venable on the result of the faculty investigation of hazing at the university last spring, the executive committee this afternoon declined to go over the head of the faculty and therefore took no action in the 12 juniors who were suspended for participation in hazing last year. The committee took the position that the faculty were able to do it. It is said that some of the juniors may ask for a reopening of their cases.

The only appeal that was heard today was that of D. L. McQuarter, of Rocky Mount, the committee declining to take action. The other students did not press the matter.

In his report President Venable said that the investigation of the Rand affair made it easy to secure evidence to implicate those who were guilty last year. He cited three instances of hazing this session before the night of the Rand tragedy and in his report went fully into the whole matter. His report is as follows:

After the coroner's inquest and the meeting of the executive committee of the trustees the faculty made as thorough an investigation as possible not merely of the Rand hazing but of all hazing of this session and of the hazing of last spring. In the latter case all efforts on the part of members of the faculty, the student council and town authorities to find out the guilty parties had proved futile, but the recent fatality made it much easier to get information.

The faculty committee devoted eight meetings and many hours to the investigation, making use of every clue and scrap of information available. They examined altogether more than 50 students. While they believe that most of the facts are known to them, it is improbable that all of those guilty have been found out. This is especially true of the affair of last spring though several of these have been punished.

The laws of the university forbidding hazing in any form. They also forbidding aiding and abetting by presence. Under those laws the trustees have expelled four students. As the result of their investigation into all of these affairs the faculty have dismissed four others for active participation, besides suspending twelve for one year for aiding and abetting and reprimanded two.

Of those dismissed last fall some were guilty of lending their presence, and in September, 1910, some were suspended for entering a house with intent to haze, though they did not get any freshmen.

The faculty will continue to use such means as are in their power for the suppression of this evil, having found that no line can be safely drawn in degree, as it may quickly grow from comparatively mild forms to those of greater brutality. It is harmful in any form.

It is not the custom of the university to make public the names of students who have been punished for breach of the laws unless they have been expelled by the trustees and the publication of these names of the offenders in these recent instances was without the confirmation of the authorities and against their earnest protest. No list of names was given to the papers.

A Clever Press Agent

Mr. Clinton Newton, press agent of the Sun Brothers Shows, is an old newspaper man and knows how to make himself agreeable to his brethren. He dropped in this morning for a brief chat with The Reflector bunch and was found most interesting. He has been with Sun Brothers eight years and they find him indispensable. The show winters at Macon, Ga., which is the home of Mr. Newton and he is satisfied with being with one of the finest shows on the road.

THE CORPORATIONS AS CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTORS

The remedy for this bad condition (corporation money in politics) is not to be found chiefly in passing laws requiring that campaign contributions be made public and that corporations must not contribute. Such laws can always and everywhere be violated with ease. The chief remedy must be found in the direction of removing the temptation. The laws regulating corporations ought to be so just and fair that such a situation as we have seen this year, in which the great corporate interests are all lined up behind the scenes for one candidate, could not be possible. The corporations will be in politics as long as we have the present kind of administration of the present kind of laws. In 1896 a Democrat of as high reputation for private and public honor as Mr. Abram S. Hewitt exerted himself to collect money from insurance companies, banks, and other corporations, to help the McKinley campaign against Bryan. His motive was to save the people interested in these institutions from the impairment of their property by a sudden shifting from the gold standard to the silver standard. He afterward regretted his part in inducing corporations to provide campaign funds and predicted that great evil would in due time result from such practices. The fundamental remedy, however, was not in the direction of forbidding corporations to contribute, but in that of making it virtually impossible for the basis of values and prices to be violently distributed as the result of a political election. If the solvency of banks and insurance companies depends upon selecting one man rather than another, it is certain that they will find means to influence the elections. If the status of great industrial monopolies under the federal laws is to be happy and comfortable with Taft re-elected and is to be more circumscribed if one of the other candidates wins, there will be no way to prevent the corporation money from coming to the aid of Mr. Penrose, Mr. Barnes, and the other managers of the Taft campaign. The way to take the corporations out of politics is to put them in a definite and fixed position under the law.

Last season's overcoats are being loosed from the peg in readiness for use.

DEMOCRACY COMING INTO ITS OWN

Universal suffrage is a very important issue in many European countries. It was attained in Sweden only as late as the present year. In Austria-Hungary the question of extending the franchise has been one of the most important problems confronting every ministry of the past two decades. The elections for the fourth Russian Duma were held on September 23 and the new session will be opened on the 28th of the present month. Despite the efforts of the reactionaries, the elections for the session will give wider opportunity than ever before for the expression of the popular will. During the past few years parliaments have been established in Japan, Persia, Turkey and China and insistent demands have been made for self-government in Egypt, India and the Philippines. In most civilized states political power is being readily transferred from the few to the many. Moreover, the most important business of political experts has now come to be the improvement of old machinery or the creation of new, to discover the will of the people. For years Switzerland has found that the initiative and the referendum work well. Australia and New Zealand have adopted these as well as some of our own states, notably Oregon. In the presidential campaign of this year in the United States, the initiative, referendum and recall have become watchwords. Proportional representation has proved its efficiency in Belgium, Denmark, Sweden, Finland and some of the Swiss cantons. Australia, New Zealand, Norway, Finland and six states of the American Union (Wyoming, Colorado, Idaho, Utah, Washington, California) have given the voting right to women. In Belgium and some parts of Switzerland a citizen is fined if he does not go to the polls and Italy and Argentina are reported to be considering the passage of similar legislation. All over the world we find a democracy already in possession of, or coming into its own.

Be careful that this year's high prices for tobacco does not lead to over production next year. Better raise too little than too much for the demand is good prices are wanted.

The old cry that hard times will come if a Democrat is elected president, does not seem to be frightening anybody this year.

North Carolina is not going back to the booze joint just because Tom Settle says so.

Some of them listen to a political speech for three hours, but complain if a sermon exceeds thirty minutes.

The best book is the Bible and the next best is the bank book.

Some straw hats are working overtime.

Zanfretta Family With Howe's Great London Shows

There are many novel acts with the Great London Shows which are certain to be well received in every city big enough to secure a visit from the consolidated enterprises. There are acts which were never seen in America until this show opened its season of 1912 for the reason that there was no amusement enterprise great enough to afford the large salaries which the artists demand and no institution with sufficient prestige to attract the attention of such celebrated performers.

The Zanfretta Family of acrobats, for instance, perform feats which have never been seen in other shows. The Great London Circus will exhibit in Greenville, Friday, October 4th.

Automatic Tank Filler
Mr. Tom Dupree has installed an automatic gasoline tank and pump for supplying automobiles. It is conveniently located near the office of Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse. A tank of about 200 gallons capacity is buried in the lot and connected with a pump on the edge of the sidewalk. Automobiles can run up to the pump and the tank is quickly filled with filtered gasoline. It is proving a great convenience to owners of cars.

TRUTH ABOUT THE TRUST

"Expected Economies from Combination" Do Not Materialize.

(Louis D. Brandeis in Collier's.)
Leaders of the new (Third Term) party argue that industrial monopolies should be legalized, lest we lose the efficiency of large-scale production and distribution. No argument could be more misleading.
It may be safely asserted that in America there is no line of business in which all or most concerns or plants must be concentrated in order to attain the size of greatest efficiency. For while a business may be too small to be efficient, efficiency does not grow indefinitely with increasing size. What the most efficient size is can be learned definitely only by experience. The unit of greatest efficiency is reached when the disadvantages of size counterbalance the advantages. The unit of greatest efficiency is exceeded when the disadvantages of size outweigh the advantages. The history of American trusts makes this clear. That history shows:

First—No conspicuous American trust owes its existence to the desire for increased efficiency. "Expected economies from combination" figure largely in promoters' prospectuses; but they have never been a compelling motive in the formation of any trust. On the contrary, the purpose of combining has often been to curb efficiency or even to preserve inefficiency, thus frustrating the natural law of the survival of the fittest.

Second—No conspicuously profitable trust owes its profits largely to superior efficiency. Some trusts have been very efficient, as have some independent concerns; but conspicuous profits have been secured mainly through control of the market—through the power of monopoly to fix prices—through this exercise of the taxing power.

Third—No conspicuous trust has been efficient enough to maintain long as against the independents its proportion of the business of the country without continuing to buy up, from time to time, its successful competitors.

There is plenty of peace about the Taft candidacy, but nobody claims "it passeth understanding."

Woodrow Wilson says to the long-suffering farmer who buys in a trust-controlled, highly protected market and sells his wares in a free market: "Walk into your own house and take possession."

HAVE THE RAILROADS AND SIMMONS' FRIENDS COMBINER AGAINST JUDGE CLARK?

For some time, the friends of Senator Simmons, rendered desperate at the certainty of his defeat have been quietly using against Judge Clark the same attack, the Southern Railway and American Tobacco Company made on him in 1902. Mr. J. O. Carr, one of Simmons leaders, has come out into the open and publicly made the charge over his signature.

The Charge of the Railroads and Simmons' Friends

"It is also known that in 1896 Judge Clark accepted the nomination from the Republicans and was elected to the Supreme Court bench while Connor and other Democrats refused to accept such nomination and that the distinguished Judge wrote many intimate letters to Gov. Russell during his administration, commonly known as "The Please Burn Letters".

Read the Facts

Judge Clark was nominated for office in 1896. The reference must be to his nomination in 1894. If you recall the facts or will look up the news paper files, you will find that in 1894 Judge Walter Clark was nominated by the Democratic party for supreme court judge. The Populist and Republican parties endorsed him thus making his election certain and unanimous. Before accepting their endorsements, Judge Clark sent for F. M. Simmons, who was state chairman of the Democratic party at that time and asked for his advice. Mr. Simmons told him by all means to accept the endorsements as it absolutely insured his election and that no Democrat should run the risk of being defeated by refusing endorsements.

Judge Clark asked F. M. Simmons to put that in writing and he would accept the endorsements. Mr. Simmons, state chairman of the Democratic party sat down in Judge Clark's office and wrote out with his own hand the statement I have just given. This was written in the presence of Hon. B. R. Lacy, now state treasurer and that statement as witnessed by him is in Judge Clark's possession now and was published in 1902 when he was assailed by the Southern Railway and American Tobacco Company.

Judge Connor was not nominated that year by the Democratic party as Judge Clark was, but was offered the nomination by the Populist and Republican parties against the Regular Democratic Nominee, Judge Burwell, and of course, refused to run against the regular nominee of the Democratic party.

Mr. Simmons' friends have doubtless overlooked the fact that Justice Connor and Justice Walker in 1902 were nominated by the Democratic party and endorsed by the Republican party. Judge Clark was a candidate that year and nominated by the Democratic party and bitterly fought by the Republican party, yet no one questioned the democracy of either Justice Connor or Justice Walker.

In regard to the letters which the railroad attorneys and Simmons' friends charge Judge Clark with writing to Governor Russell, it will be recalled that this whole matter was thoroughly thrashed out in 1902 when Judge Clark was a candidate for Chief Justice. It is sufficient to say that at that time, the Chief Attorney in North Carolina for the Southern Railway, the Chief Attorney for the Seaboard Air Line and the Chief Attorney for the Atlantic Coast Line held a conference one Sunday afternoon and brought forth some letters in their attempt to defeat Judge Clark. The people repudiated this attack by the railroads on Judge Clark by nominating him for Chief Justice in the Democratic state convention of 1902 by a vote of 1160 to 60 and then ratified it by giving him a majority of over 62,000 at the polls in November.

Has There Been Another Conference?

Has there been another conference like that of the Chief Attorneys of the railroads in 1902 and is this attack the result of it? Have the leaders of F. M. Simmons become so desperate at his defeat that they have decided to aid the railroads in their attack on Judge Clark? If so, the people will undoubtedly again repudiate this attack at the polls this November by giving Judge Clark another majority of over 62,000.
