TAFT WANTS THE VOTE OF FARMERS

Fights for Farmers Co-operative Banks

EUROPEAN SYSTEM WORKING

In Germany One Bank to Every 1000 People Can do Business at Lower Rates Than in the U. S. A.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—President Taft continued his campaign for farmers cooperative banks and agricultural credits today by making reply to letters that have reached the White House intimating that the plan would benefit only the big farmers. The president quoted from the report of Ambassador Herrick statistics showing business done by the Raiffeisen banks in Germany.

The size of the average deposit for these institutions is around $370, said the president. The average loan they make amounts to only $150 and the membership of the Raiffeisen banks average 95 members. It is plainly evident from these figures that this is not a big farmers plan. In my letter to the governors the first recommendation which I made for the adoption of a cooperative credit in this county will be of great advantage to the small farmer. It was in the interest of the peasant farmer of Europe that this plan was established.

Massachusetts already has a law permitting the establishment of cooperative societies of this type. Under this law the Myrick Credit union of Springfield, Mass., was organized, I think, in 1900 and in 12 months it had 105 members, a capital of $3,000 and $10,000 of outstanding loans.

The result obtained by the adoption of this form of cooperative credit in Germany speaks plainly enough for usefulness. There is one bank for every 1,600 population in Germany. The rates of interest charged is frequently a point or two lower than in commercial circles, yet the banks make a profit which in the case of the Raiffeisen banks is all carried over as a reserve fund so that each year these banks are strengthening their position and becoming a more important factor in the empire. The total business done is astounding, it is in the neighborhood of $5,000,000.

The principle upon which these banks is conducted is unknown in the United States. Our mutual life insurance societies, fraternal societies and building and loan associations have met with good success. Four-fifths of the people today are depositing in mutual savings banks which are organized for much the same purposes as the small cooperative societies of Europe. Inly in the United States the operation of those institutions are engaged largely to the cities. The cooperative society which I recommend affords a mutual savings institution devised particularly to give banking facilities to farmers for small loans on personal credit and for short time. The farmers themselves would control the management of these societies.

Democratic Nominee Does Not Intend to Lose Sleep November 5th

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 26—Governor Woodrow Wilson would rather go to bed at 9 o'clock election night to take a long sleep and find out next morning whether or not he is elected president of the United States than to sit up and watch the returns. The governor watched a workman install a telegraph instrument in his home today by courtesy of a telegraph company.

The nominee wondered if the noise would not prove distracting would not prove distracting. Really, he told the correspondents, I'd rather go to bed at nine o'clock than to sit up and follow the early returns which are unusually fragmentary and fatiguing. The correspondent looked surprised at the remark and thought he was not in earnest.

S. C. MINISTER MAKES CONFESSION

GREENVILLE SHOCKED AT DISCLOSURES MADE IN CONFESSION OF ACCUSED REV. T. U. VAUGHN

TEMPTED BY THE DEVIL AND FELL

GREENVILLE, S. C., Oct. 26—Charged with mistreating three little girl inmates of the South Carolina Odd Fellows Home, while he was superintendent last May, Rev. T. U. Vaughn on trial here today confessed that the accusations were true.

Vaughn's confession brought his trial to a sensational close. There had been no intimations that the former clergyman would confess. His attorneys had fought stubbornly since the beginning of the case to break the strong prosecution of the child's witnesses.

The attorneys for both sides agreed to permit Vaughn to plead guilty in an effort to save his life after the proceedings.

"I have acted devilishly, I have acted shamelessly. The devil tempted me and I have fallen," he exclaimed in his plea to the jury while judge, jurors and spectators wept.

After the jury had been out four minutes a verdict of guilty was returned, but without recommendation of clemency. The penalty is the electric chair.

ITS' YOUR CAMPAIGN; IT NEEDS YOUR HELP

If the Democratic campaign fund were being drawn from multimillionaire contributors anxious to purchase legislative favors at the expense of the people there would be no need to appeal to the voters at large for the means to finance the campaign. The sinews of war in a contest between the victims and the beneficiaries of tariff extortion and trust monopoly, however, must be furnished in the main by persons of comparatively small means, and the contributors to the Democratic campaign fund must make up by strength of numbers what they individually lack in length of purse.

The recent statement of the chairman of the Democratic general finance committee showed that 17,116 individuals have contributed in the aggregate about $300,000, and that about $750,000 more is needed for the legitimate expenses of the campaign. That would be a small sum to a candidate who could pass around the hat among four trust magnates and get it back with $450,000, but it is a large sum to the supporters of Woodrow Wilson's candidacy, and everybody should chip in according to his means without waiting to see what his neighbor is going to do about it.

First Smelter Plant in North Carolina to be Installed Near Charlotte

CHARLOTTE, Oct. 26—According to a statement made yesterday by Dr. G. S. Pettit who is vice president of the newly organized Surface Hill Mining and Milling Company there will be a smelter installed on the property of the company due east of Charlotte in Clear Creek township. When set up this will be the first smelter to ever be used in this state, one of the nearest being in Johnson City, Tenn.

The smelter is merely a furnace that is capable of supplying intense heat which is used in reducing refractory ores after they have passed through the mills. Heretofore all of the gold that has been mined in North Carolina has been shipped away to be smelted thereby adding greatly to the expense and cutting down profits on tons of rock mined. The smelter is only a part of the machinery that has been ordered for the company recently. There will be a total of $50,000 in the latest and most improved machinery for the mines of the company. When all of the machinery has been installed the company will be able to take the quartz rock from the ground and when it has been finished nothing but a bar of the pure gold will be had.

Bulgarians Defeat Turks in Battle, Kill and Wound 50,000 Men

Combined Bulgarian and Servian Armies Win Sweeping Battle From Ottoman Troops, Capturing 1,800 Prisoners and Many Supplies

Stubborn Defense of Bakup Fortress Centre of Battle Lasting Over a Day

TURKS ARE STILL BEING DRIVEN SOUTHWARD

VRYANYA, Servia, Oct. 26.—The Turkish troops are reported to have abandoned their stronghold at Uskup in order to concentrate further to the south. The Servian troops captured 55 field guns and 6 mountain guns when they took the city of Kumano-va from the Turks.

At Seinitza they took 13 field guns and nine mortars. Safa, Bulgaria, Oct. 26, 4:30 p. m.—A portion of the town of Adrianople has been set on fire by the Bulgarian artillery, according to private dispatches received here from the vicinity.

The Bulgarian troops have taken the outlying forts of Maras, Havaras and Sulliar, lying to the north and northeast of the city and also have captured a railroad station in the extreme outskirts of the town. Eighteen hundred prisoners have fallen into their hands.

As soon as they came into touch with the Servian outposts heavy fighting began and lasted throughout the afternoon. Both armies suffered severe losses but the Servians succeeded in staying the Turkish onslaught.

The battle was resumed at one o'clock on Thursday morning, the Servians this time taking the offensive and attacking the Turkish troops who had entrenched themselves during the lull in the fighting.

After an artillery duel, a general advance was ordered by the Servian commander at 6 o'clock, under cover of the artillery to which the Turkish field guns replied vigorously.

The ground over which the Servian troops had to advance was open and the infantrymen were exposed to a sweeping fire.

Nevertheless they stormed the Turkish trenches again and again until finally at the point of bayonets, they drove out the Ottoman troops.

It took the Servians four hours to clear the valley but it was then found necessary before occupying Kumanova to take the heights on the right bank of the river, to which the Turkish troops had retired in disorder.

At one period during the fire the Turkish artillery annihilated three squadrons of Turkish cavalry and the Turkish losses are said to have numbered 5,000 killed and wounded while

ALLEN CLANSMEN IN DEATH CHAMBER

FAMOUS VIRGINIA OUTLAWS APPARENTLY DO NOT REALIZE HOW SHORT HOURS OF LIFE ARE TO THEM

TAKEN TO AWAIT DEATH IN CHAIR

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 16—Floyd Allen and Claude Allen, his son, have been brought from Roanoke jail to the state penitentiary here arriving early this morning to suffer electrocution November 23 for their part in the murder of the court officers at Hillsville last March.

They marched spiritedly to the death cages, ate a hearty breakfast and talked animatedly with their guards.

Floyd Allen's wife, mother of Claude this morning issued a public appeal for funds to aid her in an effort to save the men from death.

She states that the family resources have been exhausted by the trial.

Floyd Allen was on crutches, the result of injury to his leg in the general shooting. Claude Swanson Allen broadshouldered, clean cut features head erect, smiling and pleasant, walked with a firm tread and helped his uncle enter the carriage which had been brought to convey them to the prison.

Did you sleep on the way to this city? Claude was asked.

Why no. I enjoyed chatting with these gentlemen, referring to the two guards who went after them.

Claude Allen was handcuffed to his father's right side and was as handsome a man as a day's travel could disclose. He wore a neat suit of black cloth with hear neatly combed white turndown collar and black tie.

The men gave absolutely no trouble to the guards the officers saying the Allens had talked of many things while coming to this city and were pleasant in every way.

The fact that the prisoners were coming was not known but many of those who came from points between Roanoke and this city gathered at the carriage to get a last look at the condemned men.

Congressman Claude Kitchin, Governor's Brother, On Simmon's Record

Congressman Claude Kitchin, of the second district, spoke to about two hundred people in the court house here Saturday afternoon. He was introduced by Prof. W. H. Ragsdale and in acknowledging the introduction Mr. Kitchin said much of his success in life was due to instructions Prof. Ragsdale had given him while a teacher in Scotland Neck.

Congressman Kitchin said he had not come primarily to make a political speech as the existing divisions in the Republican ranks made such a speech unnecessary. While primarily he held no admiration for either Taft or Roosevelt, he was going to feel very kindly toward both for the way they were helping to elect Wilson by fighting each other. As to state politics he was feeling much the same way toward both Settle and Moorsers for the way they were fighting each other and helping to elect the Democratic ticket.

He came, he said, to make a speech in behalf of the campaign of his brother, Governor W. K. Kitchin, for the United States senate. Some had questioned the propriety of his making such speeches, but the fact of the governor being his brother had really deterred him from entering the campaign a month sooner than he did, for knowing Senator Simmons' record as he did made him feel that he should speak against his re-election regardless of his brother's being a candidate for the position Senator Simmons held.

Then for something like an hour and a half Congressman Kitchin spoke on the record of Senator Simmons, bringing out practically the same points and charges made during the campaign by the governor himself and other speakers in his behalf.

CO. CANDIDATES SPEAK IN BETHEL

Hon. F. C. Harding Accompanies them

SMALL AUDIENCE REINFORCED

Presidential Elector Makes Strong Plea For Democracy And Is Listened To Attentively

As previously announced and according to schedule arranged by the committee, the Democratic county candidates journeyed to Bethel Saturday morning and in the early afternoon held the Democratic rally in the steps of the A. C. L. depot. The crowd, at first disappointing because of its small number, was gradually increased as the different candidates spoke and when Hon. F. C. Harding, the presidential elector for the first district, began his discussion of national affairs and the bearing upon them of the coming election, a large number had assembled to hear the speaker.

Mr. C. T. Carson, one of Bethel's staunchest Democrats acted as introducer and acquitted himself fittingly. Mr. Brascoe Bell, the nominee for Register of Deeds office, was the first speaker and in a few words thanked the people of Bethel township for their generous support in his behalf in the last primary and promised to give them his best service if successful in the coming election. Mr. Wilson and Dr. Cox, nominees for county treasurer and for the house, respectively, followed Mr. Bell with modestly short speeches of the nature of Mr. Bell's and then Mr. D. M. Clark, also a nominee for the house was presented. Mr. Clark unlike his speaking predecessors did not stop with thanking the good people for their support but went into a clear discussion of county affairs, emphasizing the need of a progressive Democracy; a Democracy that would represent the people wherever and however the people wanted to be represented. He made his stand clear in what touches such questions as the fence law, etc., advocating the policy of always submitting to a vote of the people of such questions as directly effect the people and unquestionably submitting to the issue of their vote. In several occasions Mr. Clark introduced a few stories that went a long way to place him in a familiar footing with the audience. The speaker went beyond county and state politics and touched on the border of national issues, taking stock of the unseemly struggle between the leaders of the two other parties. Mr. Clark was loudly applauded.

Mr. Harding was the next and last speaker and although by the time he began his speech there were probably 150 to 200 people in the audience it is to be regretted that all the voters of Bethel township found it impossible to be there, as our distinguished townsman delivered one of the greatest speeches he ever made and he has a just reputation as a strong orator.

Mr. Harding took advantage of the opportunity to explain a few phases of county politics, although he said he was there to discuss national issues. In a perfectly clear manner he explained the phalacy of the idea that Pitt county was "bossed" or that ring-rule had ever existed in the county. He told that the Democratic committee of the county had always respected the people and had ever made it possible for the people to express their choice and elect whoever the people thought were best fitted for the contested offices. He cited facts to prove his statements and his journey into county politics must have cleared many a mind in Bethel township.

In his discussion of national affairs Mr. Harding was most eloquent and making for a basis of his speech a few quotations from that part of history that so affects the South, he showed the opposing party to a shameful disadvantage. Roosevelt's position after the Chicago convention which refused to return him the victor; his next step to again battle for elusive victory. All pointed out that the country or its welfare had nothing to do with it.

THE NATIONAL TICKET

WOODROW WILSON

In Woodrow Wilson the Democratic party has a nominee for the presidency whom it presents to the country in full assurance that he is, in a peculiar manner, the choice not only of the party but also of thousands who have heretofore voted another ticket. Mr. Wilson's nomination was the result of a popular demand such as never before swept a national convention—a demand spontaneous and country wide, which it was impossible to resist.

Yet Governor Wilson is a new man in public life. It is less than two years ago that he made his first campaign speech as a candidate. He is unique, as a political leader, in the fact that he comes into the public view only in middle life, with his philosophy fully formed; it has been formed in the privacy of forty years of constant study and investigation. From the first, constantly and deliberately that investigation had busied itself with existing facts, not with theories, and it is a mere statement of the truth to say that no man has ever mastered the subject of government on its practical side and especially of the government of the United States in connection with the particular political and social problem of the United States more thoroughly than Woodrow Wilson mastered it before he was called from his study to a political office, the governorship of New Jersey. His first acts in the governor's chair aroused the surprise of the whole country and as his administration progressed, swiftly awakened the realization that a new type of man and leader had appeared on the political stage. Within eighteen months after he had taken the oath of his first public office, he was named by acclamation for the chief magistracy of the land.

Some candidates might be looking around with a view of engaging a trained nurse for the morning after the election.

The statement of expenses of the senatorial candidates shows that the campaign is costing them something.

Let this also be a campaign week for shares in the new series of the Home Building and Loan Association which opens next Saturday.

The campaign is on its last lap.

Oyster Bay dispatches state that other cranks are trying to reach the ex-president.

Democratic success is certain. The question now is how large to make the majority.

Fallacies of His Argument Dissected in Counter Appeal to Merchants.

FREE TRADE NOT PROPOSED

Panics Occur Without Regard to Tariff Revision—Business men Directing the Wilson Campaign.

To the Merchants and Business Men of the United States:
Mr. John Wanamaker has issued a "note of warning" against the "destruction of industries" which he says will follow the election of Woodrow Wilson.

To hark back twenty years in American industry is to deal with ancient history. During this score of years American industries have advanced so far in competing power that a comparison even with 1890 is ridiculous. In that year our exports of manufactures were less than two hundred millions in annual value; today they are at the rate of twelve hundred millions, a gain of 600 per cent.

How is disaster to come from the competition on our ground of those manufacturers with whom we are successfully competing on their ground? It is a poor time to cry distress when we are exporting steel manufactures at the rate of a million dollars daily.

During Mr. Cleveland's first administration, 1885 to 1889, there was no panic—there was only prosperity. But Mr. Wanamaker forgets this. Mr. Harrison, a Republican, succeeded in 1889, serving till 1893. During this time Mr. Wanamaker himself was in President Harrison's cabinet, and it was then the conditions matured which resulted in the panic of 1893, four months after Mr. Cleveland took office the second time.

Mr. Wanamaker quotes from various sources certain records of distress, but neglects to say that every one of them bears a date not less than six months before the tariff bill of 1894 became a law and, as a matter of fact, before its terms were known.

The truth is that neither a Republican administration nor a high tariff is any protection against panics, and they occur, as everybody knows, except Mr. Wanamaker, quite without regard to tariff changes. Our very worst panics have occurred under Republican administrations.

In 1908 the Republican party in its platform declared "unequivocally for the revision of the tariff," but this promise, soon so recklessly broken, had no deterrent effect upon improvement in business conditions. It cannot therefore be said that the mere threat of tariff revision causes distress, for there was no doubt in 1908 not only that the tariff was to be revised, but that it was to be revised downward.

Ignoring the Present.
Most important, however, in Mr. Wanamaker's letter is his failure to refer to existing conditions. He promises "all sorts of disaster in a very general way, but has nothing to say about current facts of industry." For example, it has been well known since 1910 that the public demanded the downward revision of the tariff which Mr. Taft promised and later denied. A Democratic house of representatives was elected in 1910 on that special issue. That house passed a series of tariff measures, some of them over the president's veto. On each of these measures a number of Progressive Republicans voted with the Democrats. One of these bills reduced the duty on steel. Yet although a revision of the steel schedule was and is pending, the steel industry has revived, prices are advancing and, strangest of all, from Mr. Wanamaker's point of view, large investments are now being made in new steel plants.

If the danger that Mr. Wanamaker foresees is real, how is it that these investments proceed? How is it that manufacturers all over the country are increasing their plants?

Mr. Wanamaker seems ignorant also of the actual labor conditions. High wages are not necessarily a sign of prosperity. As Professor Fisher points out, a century and a half ago laborers in Rhode Island received a wage of $10 daily, but it took four days' work to buy a pair of shoes. Nor are high wages the result of the protective tariff. The Lawrence strike brought out this fact vividly. There the textile manufacturers have a very high protective tariff to favor them, but the wages of their employees were shown to be indefensibly low. A fair comparison is that between England and Germany, both thickly populated, one having no protection and the other high protection. How do wages stand in these countries today? Those in Germany are 17 per cent lower than English wages, and not only so, but the cost of living in Germany is 17 per cent higher, so that the protected German workman earns the smaller wage and pays the higher cost.

Free Trade Bogy.

Is it not truly ridiculous for Mr. Wanamaker to raise the bogy of free trade? No party advocates that. Mr. Wanamaker must know that the Democratic cotton and woolen bills are not free trade measures in any sense. The fact is that the Republican plating to do with his anxiety to win. Nothing but personal greed prompting him on. Taft's inability to "cop" with such issues as importantly and directly affects the people of this nation; his apathy when the welfare of the people was concerned. The shameful treatment of the south, back half a century ago, when a Republican government sent a Republican military dictator to change our laws and make us submit to a life of drudgery. Everything meant that the south had only one point to turn and that was the point where Democracy made its headquarters.

Mr. Harding's speech lasted over an hour and a half and was often applauded. In several instances the speaker promised to explain 1 more point and release his audience, several voices were heard "Go on, give us some more!" If there were any Republicans present they failed to answer the many questions hurled at them by the speaker. Or perhaps they were there but could not for their lives answer the indictments.

In the morning when I got up, there was lameness across my loins and I also suffered from backache. Doan's Kidney Pills which were procured from the John L. ### Local Briefs.

Halloween comes this week.

Greenville will be represented at Ringling's circus in Rocky Mount Wednesday.

The hour for evening services in the churches is now 7:30 o'clock.

Sharon Masonic lodge meets tonight. Members requested to be present and visitors invited.

I don't know what I am doing, but I am doing it.—Operator.

The Missionary Society of the Methodist church will entertain at a silver tea Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the homes of Mrs. H. A. Austin, Mrs. H. L. Carr and Mrs. F. R. Stretch. All friends of the Missionary cause are cordially invited to attend which ever of these social meetings is most conveniently located.

Rev. E. M. Hoyle at the E. C. T. T. S. The Sunday evening services of the Y. W. C. A. of the Teachers Training School were conducted by Rev. E. M. Hoyle, pastor of the Methodist church. Mr. Hoyle made a forcible talk on responsibility according to opportunity, using the parable of the fig tree as the Scripture lesson.

On Friday morning at assembly exercises Mr. Hoyle made a practical talk to the students.

Both of these talks were greatly enjoyed by the school.

County Canvass

The Democratic county candidates have been met by fair sized crowds at their appointments and have been putting in some good work. Next week they will speak at Farmville Tuesday, Grifton Tuesday night, Stokes Wednesday, Gardeners X Roads Friday, Shelmerdine Friday night and will close the campaign at Black Jack Saturday. The people should turn out to hear the speakers at all these places.

The Mikado to be Given at the Training School

The Mikado, the beautiful Japanese opera by Arthur Sullivan, will be given sometime in the midwinter by the Literary Societies of the Teachers Training School. The parts were assigned and practice began as soon as the school was organized this fall.

The opera is full of beautiful choruses and fun. The Japanese costumes and scenery will produce charming spectacular effects.

Fortunes in Faces

There's often much truth in the saying "her face is her fortune," but its never said where pimples, skin eruptions, blotches, or other blemishes disfigure it. Impure blood is back of them all and shows the need of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They promote health and beauty. Try them. 25 cents at all druggists.

Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows Meet in Greenville

The Grand Lodge of North Carolina I. O. O. F. will convene in Greenville on Thanksgiving day at 10 a. m. in the hall of Covenant Lodge. The district convention of the second district will convene at 3 p. m. of the same day and place. All Past Grands in good standing are eligible to sit in the Grand Lodge.

All members of covenant lodge are requested to attend the regular meeting of the lodge tomorrow night. Business of importance will come before the lodge.

E. H. EVANS, Noble Grand.
L. H. PENDER, Secretary.

Do And Say

Two brothers once lived down this way
And one was Do and the other was Say.
If streets were dirty, taxes high,
Or schools too crowded, Say would cry:
"Oh what a town!" but Brother Do
Would set to work to make things new.
And while Do worked, Say would cry:
"He does it wrong. I know that I Could do it right." So all the day
Was heard the clack of Brother Say.
But this one fact from none was hid,
Say always talked, Do always did.

We don't want to disturb the industry of the country, but to destroy the control over the industry of other people which these men have established and which makes it impossible that we should give ourselves a free field of service.

SORDID TALE OF T. R.'S FUND

Treasurer Sheldon and J. P. Morgan Tell of Millions Subscribed in 1904.

BIG FAVORS IN RETURN

Frick, Gould and Morgan Gave $100,000 Each—Corporations Gave 73 1/2 Per Cent. of Entire Amount Received.

John D. Archbold's statement that the Standard Oil company contributed $100,000 to Mr. Roosevelt's campaign fund in 1904 was confirmed by George R. Sheldon, who succeeded Cornelius N. Bliss as treasurer of the Republican national committee.

Not only did the Standard Oil company give $100,000 to elect Mr. Roosevelt president, but J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. gave $100,000, H. C. Frick gave $100,000 and George Gould gave another $100,000. Mr. Sheldon testified that 73 1/2 per cent of Mr. Roosevelt's total campaign fund was contributed by corporations.

Naturally these people gave their money freely to the Roosevelt campaign fund.

Testifying that he had contributed $150,000 to the Roosevelt campaign fund in 1904 because he was "especially interested," Mr. J. P. Morgan added, "The only interest we had was in the welfare of the public."

Mr. Morgan emphasized his devotion to Mr. Roosevelt's political fortunes by the further statement that J. P. Morgan & Co.'s usual contribution to Republican campaign funds was only $100,000; that he never heard of any donation by his firm to the Democrats; that when Mr. Taft was a candidate in 1908 the sum subscribed was $30,000 and that this year neither he nor his banking house had subscribed a dollar.

How It Was All Done.

To grasp these pregnant facts we have only to recall a little modern history. In 1904 Mr. Roosevelt had his bureau of corporations in working order. Mr. Cortelyou, lately in control of it as secretary of commerce and labor, had been made chairman of the national Republican committee. He and Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer, were collecting money. As George R. Sheldon, Mr. Bliss' successor, says, 73 1/2 per cent of the funds received came from the menaced corporations.

If we do not find in these disclosures a sufficient explanation of J. P. Morgan & Co.'s "special interest" in Mr. Roosevelt's election, it is possible that later events may reveal it.

Mr. Roosevelt never prosecuted J. P. Morgan & Co.'s steel trust. He emphatically stopped the proceedings instituted by others against J. P. Morgan & Co.'s harvest trust. When the panic of 1907 was at its height he turned the resources of the treasury over to J. P. Morgan & Co., who used them and made money and reputation by the process. He met Gary and Frick, representing J. P. Morgan & Co.'s steel trust, before breakfast one morning and licensed them, in violation of law, to absorb the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, thus giving J. P. Morgan & Co.'s steel trust a monopoly of high grade iron ore. He put Mr. Bacon, a partner of J. P. Morgan & Co., into the state department and the diplomatic service. He made Herbert Satterlee, J. P. Morgan's son-in-law, assistant secretary of the navy. In a letter to Attorney General Bonaparte he testified feelingly to the virtues of the "Morgan interests which have been so friendly to us." Never before was the "public welfare" so cheaply protected.

Extent of Morgan's Interests.

The "Morgan interests" are not confined to J. P. Morgan & Co. by any means. The Morgan interests comprehend life insurance companies, banks and trust companies, railroads and manufacturing enterprises. If the parent house increased its regular Republican contribution in 1904 because of its "special interest" we may easily imagine that the policy was widely imitated by affiliated corporations and individuals. Perhaps in this almost unexampled favor by the Morgan interests we shall find an explanation of the Roosevelt administration hostility to the Standard Oil interests, which have not always agreed with J. P. Morgan & Co. concerning "the welfare of the public."

It may be that the senate committee will be able to throw more light on this point, but it can hardly add anything to the scandal of the Morgan-Roosevelt alliance. It was Mr. Roosevelt who opened up to J. P. Morgan & Co. the possibilities of government by big business. It was Mr. Roosevelt who persuaded J. P. Morgan & Co. to plunge deeply into politics. It was Mr. Roosevelt who, consulting "the public welfare," registered the decrees of J. P. Morgan & Co. in the White House. Not until Mr. Roosevelt had lost control of the Republican machinery and the law providing for publicity of campaign contributions had gone into effect did J. P. Morgan & Co. disappear from the list of regular contributors to the colossal corruption funds of the Republican party. Are J. P. Morgan & Co. now operating politically under cover of their recent partner, George W. Perkins?—New York World.

YOUR BANK IS YOUR MOST CONFIDENTIAL FRIEND

—The relation of a Bank to its depositors is most confidential and based upon implicit confidence. When you are thinking of a banking connection consider the prominent character and clientele of this Bank, with its history of six and one half years of practically the same management.

—Then think a little further and consider the standing directorate and its assets of $450,000, and the fact that this is the only National Bank in Pitt County.

—Then think of its various kinds of Savings Accounts—its Trust Department—its Safe Deposit Department—and you are bound to realize that its equipment to serve is complete in every detail.

—Then the Conclusion: It is the Bank for you, the institution in which you are justified in placing your funds with the satisfaction that every confidence sacredly safeguarded.

—We have not mentioned our service. You will have to be personally acquainted with this to appreciate it.
