Stubborn and Successful Defense of Tchatalja Encourages the Turks

ALLIES ARE MORE THAN LIKELY GOING TO MODIFY TERMS OF PEACE AND APPOINT OTHER EMISSARIES. EUROPEAN POWERS HOURLY ANXIOUS TO EFFECT A RECONCILIATION

SERVIAS' PLIGHT NOW WITH AUSTRIA HUNGARY

LONDON, Nov. 22.—"Come and take them," the defiant reply of the Turks to the demand made by the allied Balkan nations for the evacuation of the line of fortifications at Tchatalja, in front of Constantinople, is not believed in diplomatic circles necessarily to mean the end of the negotiations for an armistice even though fighting has been resumed.

From Sofia comes word today that the victorious invaders are likely to modify their conditions.

The European powers at the same time are exerting themselves to induce the nations composing the Balkan league to bring their terms more in line with the facts of the situation and to arrange a treaty which will give them all they have conquered, but will leave out that which has not been conquered.

Compared with its earlier disastrous experiences the Turkish army evidently now considers itself in a favorable position. Military experts here see in the at least temporary failure of the projected rush into Constantinople signs of a reaction among the invaders after their sustained efforts of the past month.

In view of the fact that the Ottoman capital even if captured must ultimately be evacuated in accordance with the decree of the great powers, it appears that the allies have nothing to gain by insisting on the surrender of the lines which form virtually the gates of the city. Hence the hope expressed by diplomats that this demand will be withdrawn, in which case it is thought that Turkey, recognizing that she has no prospect of taking the offense for the recovery of her lost territory has nothing to gain by continuing the conflict.

She would perhaps agree to enter into negotiations on the basis of a surrender of all but a reasonable strip of territory at the back of Constantinople, the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus.

Fighting continues today along the entire line of fortifications at Tchatalja according to dispatches from Constantinople. The Bulgarians are continuing their efforts to break through the Turkish lines, but have hitherto been prevented from doing so by the fire of the Turkish warships.

The announcement from Sofia this afternoon of the appointment of Bulgarian plenipotentiaries to discuss the armistice with the Turkish envoys tends to confirm the contention of diplomats that the Ottoman rejection of the first terms proposed by Bulgaria has not barred the door to further negotiations.

Even the Ottoman embassy here agrees that if the "exorbitant" demand for the evacuation of the famous Tchatalja line of fortifications is dropped the principal obstacle to the discussion of terms will be removed.

Bulgaria May Modify Demands
SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 22.—The indications this morning are that Bulgaria will adopt a conciliatory attitude and will modify the conditions originally offered to the Turkish government.

A special meeting of the Bulgarian cabinet was held today to consider the rejection by Turkey of the terms of the proposed armistice.

At its conclusion it was declared in well-informed quarters that an immediate resumption of hostilities was improbable.

Now that peace delegates have been appointed, it is expected here that formal negotiations between the Bulgarians and the Turks will begin within twenty-four hours. The rejection of the preliminary conditions by the Turks caused little surprise here. The Bulgarians expected to encounter the Turkish propensity for bargaining and therefore demanded more than they expected to obtain.

The Balkan allies are prepared to grant reasonable modifications of their terms and are confident that Turkey will finally agree to them.

As they do not fear delay will cause them any serious disadvantage, the Bulgarians are all the more ready to make concessions because they are anxious to settle affairs with Turkey without the intervention of the powers.

It is asserted that the Bulgarian cabinet has given the European powers the assurance that the Bulgarian troops will not enter Constantinople and that this will obviate interference from Europe.

WOMAN'S MARATHON SLEEP

AKRON, Ohio, Nov. 22.—Mrs. Jessie Limric awoke from a six and one-half day's sleep at the City Hospital today.

Although very weak from the lack of nourishment hospital officials say she will gain strength rapidly and will be able to talk again within a day or two.

Mrs. Limric sank into the long slumber after she had taken an overdose of sleeping potion.

Gibson's Defense Scores A Point When Expert Testifies

GOSHEN, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Medical experts for the defense were the chief witnesses to take the stand today in Burton W. Gibson's trial on the charge of murdering his client, Mrs. Rosa M. Szabo, on Greenwood Lake, July 16, last.

Dr. Arthur S. Moore, assistant physician of the state hospital for the insane at Middleton, testified that experimenting with a fluid of the same formula as that used in embalming Mrs. Szabo's body he had demonstrated that it was easy to produce in almost any dead body, the conditions found in Mrs. Szabo's throat and which the prosecution has claimed as evidence that death was caused by strangulation.

Young Farmer From Near Ayden Commits Suicide

Shortly after 8 o'clock this morning O. Humbles, a young farmer living about three miles from Ayden in the direction of Ridge Springs, committed suicide. A little before he attempted his life, he entered the room where his wife was and after speaking some matter of way words with her, took a gun with him as he left the room. His young wife suspected nothing, merely thinking that her husband was going out hunting. Instead Humbles went into another room, propped the barrel of the gun against his head and with the help of a broom handle acted on the trigger.

Humbles lived with his wife and mother and the only motive for his rash act, as far as could be ascertained this morning, finds source in family misunderstanding, over which the young farmer had been brooding.

MEETING IN BAPTIST CHURCH

Four Services Will Be Held On Sunday

One of the best sermons Rev. C. E. Maddy has delivered since the meeting began in the Baptist church was Friday night from the text, "Without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sin". The congregation was larger than on previous nights and he was listened to with marked attention.

Mr. Maddy will speak four times tomorrow—to the Sunday school in place of the lesson at 9:45 a. m., to the congregation at 11 o'clock a. m., to a mass meeting of men at 3 p. m., and again at 7:30 p. m.

Indianapolis Inquiry Brings Out Facts

STOLE 1-2 TON OF DYNAMITE

McManigal Tells The Jury How Easy It Was To Transport Dynamite On The Railroad Cars

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 22.—Stealing 1,200 pounds of dynamite, hiding it in a shed at Tiffin, O., and then in suit cases, transporting it on passenger trains to Indianapolis, was an experience related by Ortie E. McManigal at the dynamite conspiracy trial today.

It was the explosive used by McManigal and the McNamara's after the Los Angeles Times explosion and by which ten non-union jobs were blown up in spite of the fact, the witness said, that detectives for two months had been on the trail of dynamiters.

Confident that the agitation over the Los Angeles explosions would "blow over" and that J. B. McNamara would be free to do more jobs McManigal added, plans were begun in January, 1911, to carry on the dynamite campaign with zest.

"When I reported to J. J. McNamara how easy it had been to steal the dynamite from a stone quarry at Bloomville, O., and store it in my father's shed at Tiffin, he was pleased," said McManigal.

I brought him several suit cases of dynamite as a sample and he locked it up in a vault at the office of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, J. J. said he would send Jas. B. over to help me carry it. We brought it in such quantities that J. J. said he couldn't store it all at the ironworker's office. We had about 1,200 pounds.

The job of causing an explosion in a $1,000,000 iron and steel plant in construction at South Chicago, Ill., on February 24, 1911, McManigal said "was knocked down to the lowest bidder".

"On February 29, J. B. came to my home in Chicago and said we had a job to do," McManigal testified. "He said Herbert S. Hockin had been talking to the executive board of Local No. 1 in Chicago and Local No. 1 wanted to have a job done and was willing to pay a big fee for it. He said a man named Ed. Francis had told the executive board he had two Cleveland men who would do the South Chicago job for $500, but the executive board had asked Hockin whether it would be done cheaper, perhaps for $200 or $300.

"J. B. and I looked over the South Chicago plant and decided to do it. We went to Indianapolis and got four packages, each containing 20 pounds of dynamite. John J. McNamara instructed us he wanted four explosions on the plant, saying if we did a good job he would pay us $100 extra. He said he would have to wait until Local No. 1 in Chicago paid the money, but Patty Ryan had called up and said he wanted the job done.

"When we reached Chicago the dynamite was frozen. We thawed it out by setting the suitcase on a radiator in a kitchen in my home in South Sanagamon street."

The Costumes for the Mikado.

Georgous Japanese costumes such as are worn in professional performances of the Mikado, will be furnished by a professional costumer for the opera to be given at the Teachers Training School.

In the background of the play will be seen cherry blossoms, wistaria, wedding lanterns, parasols, a tea-house—whatever will help to create an illusion that will make the audience feel they are in the fairy kingdom of Japan. Colored lights will increase the charm of the scenes.

The fitting coquettish airs of the little maid of Japan and the lofty pompous manner of the exalted officials will be clearly presented. 143p.

EX-PRESIDENTS TO BE TAKEN CARE OF

PLAN A FOOT TO PENSION WHITE HOUSE BOARDERS—TO GET YEARLY SUM OF $25,000

WIDOWS OF PRESIDENTS MENTIONED

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Future ex-presidents of the United States are to be pensioned in the sum of $25,000 each annually by action of the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

The grant is provided for with the idea of enabling former executives of the nation to devote their unique knowledge gained in public affairs to the public good, free from pecuniary care. A similar amount is to be paid widows of ex presidents as long as they remained unmarried.

The pensions are to be promptly offered to the ex presidents, or their widows, so that no application will be required from them. Payment is to be continued so long as the recipients "remain unprovided for by the government".

Congress May Pension Ex-Presidents

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—As a result of the announcement by the Carnegie Corporation that a pension of $25,000 would be offered each ex-president of the United States, a strong movement is expected in the coming session to induce Congress to provide a pension. Senator Culberson, of Texas, long Democratic leader of the senate, declared it would be "undemocratic" to have former presidents pensioned from a private fund.

Several other members of the House and Senate today expressed their opinion to a private pension and suggested means by which Congress could provide for the retirement of men who had held the chief office of the nation

ALWAYS AFRAID OF WATER, GIRL DROWNS

DAUGHTER OF EX-GOVERNOR OF RHODE ISLAND PERSECUTED BY THE FEAR OF ELEMENT

"CAN'T GET WATER OFF MY MIND"

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 22.—The body of Miss Norma Garvin, daughter of former Governor L. F. C. Garvin, was found in New River today. Miss Garvin disappeared Wednesday evening.

The body was in deep water, not far from the shore. Members of Miss Garvin's family said that she had been unusually reticent during the past few weeks and had taken many evening walks.

She had complained of trouble with her head and had expressed a fear that she would meet death in the water. A note found after she left home read:

"I can't get the water off my mind," and this led to the dragging of the river, which is near the Garvin home in Lonsdale.

Miss Garvin was 36 years old.

Surgery Laughs at Limitations—Grafts Dog Skin On Woman

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 22.—Announcement was made at the Woman's Rhodes Avenue Hospital of the successful outcome of a case of skin grafting in which a large flap of the skin of a Skye terrier was placed over a wound on the arm of Mrs. H. W. Johnson, of Menominee, Wis., caused by an operation for tubercular ulcer.

The operation, a rare one, took place several days ago and Mrs. Johnson has returned to her home, taking with her the dog which had contributed to her convalescence.

"We had to keep the skin and flesh alive while we transferred it from the dog to our patient," Dr. Carl Anderson, who performed the operation, said today. "So we sewed two-thirds of the skin on the arm and left the remaining third on the dog. Then we bound the dog and patient together in a plaster cast and kept them in this position for seven days, after which the remaining one-third of skin could be removed from the dog without harm.

"The dog was nourished largely with milk. It was a difficult task to keep him quiet."

In Honor of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Cox.

WINTERVILLE, Nov. 23.—On Friday evening from 8:30 to ten, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cox entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Cox, who have recently returned from their bridal trip. Quite a number of invited guests called and were welcomed at the front door by Prof. and Mrs. Nye, who showed them to the parlor, where they were received by Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Cox, Miss Dora Cox and Miss Hennie Ragsdale of Greenville. In this room were the many wedding presents displayed. Then the guests were invited to the hall where Misses Carroll and Liles served sandwiches, after which the guests were invited into the dining room by Mrs. Robert Wyatt and Mrs. Frank James. Here the guests were served with delicious ices. These being in yellow and white, the color scheme of the house.

The hospitable home was tastefully decorated throughout with a profusion of chrysanthemums and ferns, many candles with the chrysanthemum shades being used. The dining room was especially attractive, with its decorations of yellow chrysanthemums, the table with its handsome cherry cloth over yellow, with the maline festooned to the corners, with large bunches of chrysanthemums, a large cut glass vase filled with choicest chrysanthemums and lace ferns formed the centerpiece. Both the instrumental and vocal music by Mrs. Roy Cox added much to the pleasure of the evening. The presents were too numerous and handsome to mention them all, but among them were several checks, a deed to house and lot, china, silver and cut glass. It was indeed a most delightful evening.

SECOND DEGREE VERDICT

Sidna Allen Is To Be Sentenced To Fifteen Years In Prison. No Has Been Filed As Yet

WYTHEVILLE, Va., Nov. 22.—The jury which has been trying the case of Sidna Allen, head of the Carroll county clan, accused of murdering the officials of the county court at Hillsville, Va., several months ago, this afternoon returned a verdict finding the prisoner guilty and fixing punishment at fifteen years in the penitentiary.

The jury was out over nineteen hours.

Floyd and Claude Allen May Not Appeal

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 22.—Judge N. H. Hairston, chief counsel for the Allens, went to Roanoke on the 9:20 o'clock train last night without having obtained the necessary papers for an appeal to the United States Supreme Court from Clerk H. Stewart Jones, of the Virginia Court of Appeals.

He has not made formal application for them or left instruction that he would positively ask for them. His failure to secure either a writ of error or a supersedeas, which would automatically act as a stay of sentence until the case was decided by the United States Supreme Court, is responsible for the growing belief around the capitol that the Allen case may never go higher than the governor of Virginia.

Judge Hairston called on Mr. Jones yesterday and after remarking that he was leaving the city in the evening, said that he would either return about this time next week or write for those portions of the record which he would need for an appeal of the case to the United States Supreme Court. Before the case can be heard by the court of last resort, one of the judges of the Virginia Court of Appeals must grant a writ of error. No such writ was secured by Judge Hairston before his departure.

We understand that Mrs. E. M. Hoyle, wife of the pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, has been nominated in the contest for the automobile at Basingh's Pharmacy and quite a number of friends are giving her their votes. The people of the community are aware of the condition of Mrs. Hoyle's health, and know that an automobile would be a blessing to her in providing a means to keep her out more in the fresh air. While not an act of charity to give her the votes, it is a thoughtful kindness to do so, and a kindness most worthily bestowed.

THE PROPOSED NEW BRIDGE

Citizens Express Views Why It Should Not be Located at Boyd's Ferry

Mr. Editor:
Much to our surprise we learn that the Board of County Commissioners at an unadvertised meeting held on the 14th of this month, passed an order that a bridge be built across Tar river at Boyd's Ferry and that bids be advertised for within the next thirty days. Things have certainly got a move on them.

This question of building a bridge across Tar river between Greenville and Washington has been under discussion for many years and many arguments have been made for and against it. The lack of money has kept it solved until the present. In view of the above referred to, we are wondering if the money has been found, or has the spirit of borrowing gotten into the blood of the county fathers.

The matter has been thrashed out at least before two different Boards prior to the present one and on both occasions it was the opinion of the Commissioners that if a bridge was to be built that Yankee Hall was the proper location. The reasons for that view were based upon the fact that it was the half-way ground between Greenville and Washington, and more centrally located for the convenience of Pitt county citizens. On the north side no less than five roads meet in the vicinity of Yankee Hall and it affords the most convenient point for the traveling public coming from the river road, from the Stokes road, from the Robersonville road, from the Creek road and from the Washington road, to cross the river for the Black Jack, Simpson, Galloway and even the Grimesland communities. On the other hand a bridge at Boyd's Ferry would necessitate a half-moon route between points on the opposite sides of the river and would be more to the benefit of the Beaufort county people and a few Pitt county folks living in Grimesland and owning land across the river. In fact should the bridge be built at Boyd's Ferry the public will land in Mr. Proctor's field unless he dedicates his cart path and his bridge across Grindle Creek to the county. Unless the county can get Mr. Proctor's bridge, it will be compelled to build two bridges instead of one, and in either event it will have the burden of two bridges to keep in repair. So far as the cost is concerned, there can be but little difference in the building of a bridge across the river at either point. Pitt county has just recently contracted to pay half the cost for a bridge down in the same section which, to say the least, looks as if Pitt county people are willing to pay a price to help out Beaufort county citizens. Shall we now borrow more money to build another bridge to put out Pitt county shoppers and traders within a very attractive distance to Beaufort county business? Of course a man who wants to go to Washington from Grimesland may have a good route by this proposed new bridge, but we ought to be interested more in the man who is traveling from the Carolina and Pictolus sections into the sections of Pitt county across the river and vice versa. Taking these people into consideration there is no choice for a crossing but Yankee Hall, and if a bridge is ever built, public good and civic righteousness will demand and put it there.

Possibly we should have stated in the out-set that we were opposed to the order made by the Board at its special session on the 14th. We do not think the county is able with its bonded indebtedness and other expense to look after, to borrow money to build a bridge at Boyd's Ferry for the benefit of such a few people even though some of them are pretty big fellows. There are several things more urgent than the convenience of these few to which the county should lend its attention. There is no spontaneous demand for such a bridge; the public has not asked for it; it is only the craving of individual benefit that desires it. The county cannot afford the expenditure of public money to develop private property; the treasury must be used for urgent county needs and our money spent always with an eye single to the public good. The passage of the order at the special session violated the spirit of these salient truths and should be rescinded.

A majority of the present Board will retire in December and they have no right or business to attempt to tie the hands or set a policy for the new Board. If the present Board desires to proceed under a snap judgment they should not have waited so long. To be sure if a bridge is really to be built, it will be carried out in an orderly manner. Why should bids be invited when no plans and specifications have been drawn? Why all this unnecessary haste?

The whole matter is one of no little moment to the whole people of the county and while some few will receive practically the whole benefit of a bridge at the proposed location, still every tax payer in the county will be compelled to pay his share. Such a question as this should receive the opinion of the whole people and bridges across Tar river should be decided upon in regular meetings or at meetings properly and legally advertised. The time has come. It should seem from lessons of the past, that public matters of this nature should not smack of the star chamber variety.

We indulge the hope that the fact that the bids have not been advertised for is an indication that the policy of the Board has received a more mature consideration and that the matter will be allowed to go over for the solution or disposal of the incoming Board. To do otherwise would be unfair to the new board, and an apparent attempt to fasten upon them shackles which the old Board did not care to wear until the eleventh hour.
