Ettor and Giovanitti Labor Leaders of Lawrence Strike Fame Are Let Free By A Jury

FOREIGNERS TRIED ON A CHARGE OF MURDER FOR INCITING THE RIOTS WHICH ULTIMATED IN THE DEATH OF A WOMAN WORKER IN THE TEXTILE STRIKES IN MASSACHUSETTS. TRIAL HAD BEEN A LENGTHY ONE, JURY KEPT SIX WEEKS

CROWD OF LABORERS CHEERS THE JURY

SALEM, Mass., Nov. 26.—"Not guilty" was the verdict of the jury in the case of Joseph J. Ettor, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso for the murder of Anna Lopizzo, who was killed in a Lawrence textile strike riot last winter.

They were brought to the court house from the Salem jail at 8:05 o'clock this morning to hear the verdict of the jury which tried them for the murder of Anna Lopizzo during the Lawrence textile strike last winter.

When the three men had heard the words freeing them from the charge they embraced and kissed each other in the prisoners' cage Giovannitti then sprang to his feet.

"Gentlemen of the jury," he said, his face beaming with joy, "in the name of justice, truth and civilization, I thank you".

As he sat down the court interpreter, Alfred Sacco, rose for Carusco and said:

"Mr. Carusco desires me to say that he wants, to thank you all and now that he is a free man, he says that he was innocent of the crime."

Ettor, the leader of the strike at Lawrence and chief center of interest that has aroused world-wide attention, addressed the jury:

"May it please the court," he said, "I thank you not only for myself, but in the names of my companions. I also feel impelled to thank the court for the fair manner this trial has been conducted. The thanks we offer are not only for us but thanks in the name of the working class."

The jury entered the court room at 8:20 o'clock. Immediately thereafter the prisoners, each wearing a red carnation, were brought to the cage in the center of the room. All were smiling. Judge Quinn asked if the jury had agreed upon a verdict.

"We have," said the foreman, as he handed it to the court bailiff.

"Joseph Caruso, stand up," commanded Clerk George.

As Caruso obeyed the clerk called: look at the prisoner. Gentlemen of the jury is Joseph Caruso guilty or not guilty?"

"Not guilty," was the unanimous reply.

Ettor and Giovannitti were likewise commended to rise and again the jury chroused a verdict of "not guilty", for each defendant. The jury, which for more than six weeks had listened to the evidence in this notable trial, was then excused from further service with the thanks of the court. The jurors hastened from the building and were cheered by the crowds of mill workers in the streets.

When the jurors had left, the court announced to Caruso that there was another indictment against him, charging him with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill and that the court would release him on his own recognizance.

When the prisoner had taken oath to appear in court when summoned, he was released from the cage. His wife, waiting at the rail behind the prisoners cage, fell into his arms and a dozen of his male companions rushed forward and kissed him.

Ettor and Giovannitti also were held on another indictment charging them together with Wm. D. Haywood, of the Industrial Workers of the World, and others with conspiracy to incite riot in the Lawrence strike.

On this they were released in bond of $500 each, which were furnished by Helen S. Dudley, of Boston. The Lawrence strike leaders were then freed from the prisoners cage and besieged by a crowd of men and women in the court room. For several minutes they were the recipients of kisses from the men and congratulations from the women.

"I have no immediate plans," said west.

Ettor, "but I am going as soon as possible to my home in Tacoma, Wash., where I have a paralyzed father. He was paralyzed since my arrest."

Caruso and his wife who had been sitting near him outside the cage, for many weeks, danced about like children.

Nothing was anticipated of her intentions, but the account of her marriage in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot gave the secret away. She was married in Norfolk Sunday evening to Mr. Louis J. GIBSON'S TRIAL A DISAGREEMENT

After Fourteen Hours Jury Finds No Verdict

NO DATE SET FOR RE-TRIAL

Defense Elated Over The Success In This Trial Looks For Acquittal In The Next

GOSHEN, N. Y., Nov. 26.—After deliberating for more than fourteen hours the jury in the case of Burton W. Gibson, charged with the murder of his client, Mrs. Rosa Menschik Szabo, reported to Justice Tompkins shortly after 11 o'clock this morning that they could not agree on a verdict.

They were accordingly discharged. Jacob J. Singer, of Gibson's counsel announced shortly after the jury had been discharged that the District Attorney had offered not to place Gibson on trial again on the charge of murdering Mrs. Szabo provided Gibson would plead guilty to one of the several charges against him in New York county.

A detective, armed with a warrant based on an indictment found yesterday in New York, was prepared to arrest Gibson today in the event of his acquittal on the murder charge. The warrant charges the larceny of $17,000 from Hugh Trainer, a former client of Gibson's in 1910. Other charges are pending in New York county against Gibson, some of them in connection with his administration of the Szabo estate.

Isador Wasservogel, Assistant District Attorney of New York county, who has been assisting the Orange county authorities at the trial, declared that no offer of any sort had been made to Gibson on behalf of the state.

Several times while Judge Tompkins was dismissing the jury Gibson broke in with requests that he be permitted to make a statement or that the court request the jury to go back and try to agree upon a verdict. The court refused and was finally obliged to order the prisoner to stop.

In dismissing the jurors the court cautioned them to say nothing about their deliberations "in view of the fact that the case will have to be tried again in Orange county."

It was reported in the courtroom that the jury had stood 11 to 1 for acquittal on the final ballot. Another report was that the jury had stood 7 to 5 for conviction.

BASE-BALL MAGNATE HAS PASSED AWAY

JOHN T. BRUSH, OWNER OF THE GIANTS COMES TO THE END OF A MOST SUCCESSFUL CAREER.

WAS GOING WEST FOR HIS HEALTH

St. Louis, Nov. 26.—The body of John T. Brush, owner of the New York National League baseball club, who died early today in his private car near Seeburg, Mo., arrived here this morning.

In the car accompanying the body were two nurses, a valet and a railroad man.

The body will be forwarded to Indianapolis and may be transported to New York, but definite arrangements now await the approval of Mr. Brush's daughter, who resides in Indianapolis.

Mr. Brush, who was seriously ill with locomotor ataxia when he left New York Sunday, failed rapidly on the trip. At Indianapolis yesterday railroad official considered detaching the baseball magnate's private car because of his serious condition, but decided to attempt to rush him to the Pacific Coast.

The car was here two hours last night and a tank of oxygen was placed in it for emergency use.

Philadelphia Mogul, Horace Fogel Quits the Ownership Game

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Horace Fogel, president of the Philadelphia National League baseball club, tendered his resignation to the national league magnates in session here this afternoon. He took this action suddenly and without explanation before the assembled magnates had had time to consider the charges against him of having made statements reflecting on the integrity of National League umpires.

It was also announced that Alfred B. Wyler, of Philadelphia, had been elected president of the Philadelphia National League club at a meeting held in Nov. 22d. Mr. Wyler will represent the club at the session today.

Mr. Wyler is a lawyer and a stockholder in the local club.

Notwithstanding Fogel's resignation, it is understood the investigation into the charges against him will go on and will be cleared up.

Baseball magnates heard this afternoon that Christy Mathewson, the star pitcher of the New York Giants, had obtained sufficient backing to purchase the Philadelphia club.

VANDERBILT ESTATE VISITED BY A FIRE

VAST WOODLANDS OF MILLION-AIRE VICTIM OF FLAMES WHICH ARE RAPIDLY EXTENDING OVER ALL.

THE FIRE-FIGHTERS ARE POWERLESS

ASHEVILLE, Nov. 26.—Fire is devastating the Pink Beds, one of the vast timber tracts of the Geo. W. Vanderbilt estate at Biltmore, and an extra force of over a hundred men has been employed to fight the flames which are sweeping through this choice piece of timber land.

The fire has been in progress for the past three days, but has not been made public, the managers of the estate preferring to fight it out alone without any publicity. The fire started on the Asheville side of the Pink Beds, and since that time has eaten steadily into the forest. The dry autumn, and the large number of dead leaves that have fallen make the task of lighting the flames a difficult one, and the fighters are making little progress.

The fire fighters have at last resorted to the old-time method of fighting fire with fire, and are building fresh fires to combat the flames now raging. This method is ordinarily effective, but so fierce are the flames in this tract that the fires burn up the countre-fires and leaps the boundaries burned over, starting afresh in the timber beyond.

The tract in question is part of the land on which the timber rights were recently sold to Louis Carr, and consists mostly of virgin timber, so that the loss is very great.

Actual Slayers of Herman Rosenthal, All Sentenced to Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—"Gyp the Blood," "Whitey" Lewis, "Lefty Louie," and "Dago" Frank, the gunmen convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, were sentenced by Justice Goff today to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing during the week of January 6th.

Each of the prisoners were sentenced separately, and in each case, Chas. G. F. Wahle, their counsel, moved that the verdict be set aside and the judgment arrested. Each motion Justice Goff successively denied. One of the grounds for Mr. Wahle's motion was that the verdict was the result of "passion, prejudice and other influences."

None of the condemned men gave any visible sign of his feelings. All looked stolidly ahead and each shook the hand of Mr. Wahle as he was led away. Accompanied by Sheriff Harburger and 12 deputies, the four were forced through big, silent crowd, outside the Criminal Court Building, thrust into the prison van and taken to the Grand Central station to take a train for Sing Sing where with Lieut. Charles Becker, former police and condemned as instigator of the crime, will await execution.

TURKS REFUSE THE PEACE TERMS

Will Not Pay Big Indemnity to Allies

MUST REMAIN IN ADRIANOPLE

European Powers Are Still Fearful Of Complications Which May Precipitate Them Into A War

LONDON, Nov. 26.—No change for the worse in the international political situation brought about by the war in the Balkans is visible today except insofar as the continued tension decreases the ability of diplomacy to resist a rupture.

Great Britain, France and Germany all are giving counsels of moderation both at Vienna and St. Petersburg. There also is reason to believe that Great Britain has given Serbia as well as Russia and France to understand that she has no interest in Serbia's demand for a port on the Adriatic Sea. She has also told them she has no intention of supporting Serbia's claim by force of arms nor of aiding any other power to do so.

The fact that the Austro-Hungarian consul at Prizrend has arrived at Uskup, thus disposing of the reports of his murder, ought to be helpful in the opinion of the diplomats, in bringing about a general improvement of the situation.

The progress of the negotiations between the delegates of Turkey and of the Balkan allies at Tehtatalja is still a sealed book. In diplomatic circles in London, it is stated that Turkey has presented the following as an acceptable basis for an agreement:

First. No war indemnity.
Second. The retention by Turkey of the territory bounded by the Maritza river, the fortress of Adrianople to be included.

Third. The maintenance of the sovereignty of the Sultan of Turkey in Albania.

To Establish Lines Between Hostile Armies

SOFIA, November 26.—The lines of demarcation between the Bulgarians and Turkish forces will be established today by commissioners appointed by the peace plenipotentiaries of the Balkan allies and Turkey to establish formally the existing position of the opposing armies.

The troops are to be confined to these positions pending the result of the negotiations. Negotiations will be resumed tomorrow.

Disturbances at Turkish Port

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 26.—Disturbances are reported to have broken out at the Turkish seaport of De-deaghatch, on the Aegean Sea. The French cruiser Jurien de La Graviere has left here with orders to proceed to the scene.

Constantinople Quiet

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—A dispatch received at the State Department today from the American embassy at Constantinople reported that the city remained quiet.

And Still Poultry is High

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 27.—A mammoth incubator, capable of hatching 20,000 eggs at a time is on display at the annual St. Louis poultry show, which opened in the Coliseum today. In its various departments the show embraces an elaborate exhibition of fancy bred chicken, geese, turkeys, ducks, pigeons and pet stock from all sections of the Mississippi Valley.

Prompt Answer to Alarm Averts Serious Fire in "Little Washington"

About ten o'clock this morning the fire alarm operated from the Water and Light Plant let it be known that somewhere in the community a fire was taking place. Hope Fire Company hurried to the scene, which proved to be R. L. Kearney's house in that part of town familiarly known as "Little Washington" and quickly extinguished the flames which originated from sparks emitted by a chimney on the roof of the house. Little damage was done, only a very small part of the roof being burnt.

THANKSGIVING

Again is the Thanksgiving season with us, the day set apart by national and state proclamation to recognize God as the "Giver of all good," and to render thanks and praise to Him for His mercies and blessings. There is much that we should be thankful for at all times and not once a year, but every day our hearts should be lifted up in gratitude. Yet it is fitting and a beautiful custom that one day in the year be designated on which all people with one accord make public acknowledgement for His preservation and goodness. Especially on this Thanksgiving Day have the people abundant cause for gratitude. The year has brought a bountiful harvest, the husbandman and manufacturer has received good prices for his produce and wares, and there is more prosperity more contentment than the country has ever known before. Country and town have prospered, science and education have advanced, philanthropy has broadened, peace has prevailed, pestilence has been stayed and the Kingdom of Christ has gone forward. God be praised for all these blessings. And remember that the highest mark of gratitude we can show is in service to others, especially those less fortunate. Let the orphans be recipients of our generosity. Christ said "Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these, ye did it unto me." Open your hearts and your purses to these and let their little hearts also swell in praise to God for His care. "Freely ye have received, freely give."

There is a call for a more equal assessment of property for taxation and the next legislature could well afford to consume a good part of its sixty days in considering this important matter and bringing something out of it. When money is taxed at its full value, dollar for dollar, and real estate at seldom more than half value, it is no wonder there are people with the disposition to hide their money when listing time comes.

As long as the banks are unable to get new money that has not been used, the old kind will have to continue current. We stand ready to swap subscription receipts for any sort that comes along, from brownies to Greenbacks or gold.

It strikes us the ex-presidents will be able to take care of themselves without having to pass around the hat for them. The talk of pensioning them at public expense with doing nothing jobs at big salaries is all bosh.

Carolina Club is looking for the right man for secretary. The secretary can do much toward making or unmaking the club, hence every member should feel interested in who is elected.

The furniture manufacturers say you must hereafter pay more for your chairs and bedsteads. They have made a ten per cent advance.

Many editors are writing of "the future of Turkey". There will be no future after Thursday.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Mistaken again. There will be a future for Turkey after Thanksgiving. It is hash Friday.

The days are too short and time too valuable to waste in running from store to store looking for what you want. Take a look at what the advertisers say and be posted on where to go.

A scientist says a man partakes of the nature of what he eats. Maybe that accounts for some of us resembling the thickness of a buck-wheat cake.

That Indianapolis dynamite trial is disclosing plots to blow up nearly everything between the Panama canal and the North Pole.

Evidences multiply that in this age when the people read newspapers, advertisements and all, it pays the business man to advertise.

Some men work harder trying to swindle another out of a dollar than they would have to work to earn one.

Eggs have climbed about as high as they have any business to climb, if they expect to be eaten.

This is My Birthday

Earl Mount Cashell
Earl Mount Cashell, who is one of only three dozen members of the House of Lords who have passed the allotted span of three-score and ten by a decade or more, was born Nov. 27, 1829. His father was the Rev. E. G. Moore, Canon of Windsor, and in his youth the son had seemingly small prospects of succeeding to the high title he now bears. After graduating from Cambridge in 1854 he was called to the bar and for many years thereafter was engaged in the practice of law. About fifteen years ago the death of a distant cousin resulted in his succession to the peerage under the title of Earl Mount Cashell, which was created in 1781.
