SATURDAY, SEPT. 6TH, 1919

It is certainly pleasing to note that the school authorities of the city are taking such active interest in the opening of the approaching session, and it is also very gratifying to learn that the attendance has experienced such a growth in the past four years that the present high school will prove inadequate for next year. It is said that when the building was constructed people were of the opinion it would accommodate the attendance for many years to come, and while of course, the conclusion would have been absolutely all right had it not been for the great growth of the city, we do not believe there is a single person who can possible regret that the school has outgrown its building. The faculty in almost all of the schools this session has been changed, in fact, the growth since last year had necessitated an increase in number of teachers. Greenville people should feel proud of their excellent schools, and parents should do everything in their power to assist Superintendent Swanson in making the year one of the most brilliant in the history of the city.

These speech-making tours that are now in progress to enlighten the people of the nation as to the principal points of interest of the league of nations are going to prove rather expensive to the country, if the Republicans carry out their plans for providing $15,000 to pay the expenses of the men who are to tour behind the president offering arguments opposing the league. While, of course, the proposition may sound all right, it is not necessary for the country to be forced to pay the expenses of more than one person, for there is certainly some little distinction between presidents and senatorial aspirants. American people are not so ignorant but what they can comprehend the purpose of the league after hearing so much about it, therefore, why present an argument against anything when people are capable of drawing their own conclusions.

President Wilson has certainly given some of the league of nations' opponents something to think over for quite awhile. In fact, if we can see the matter in the right light, he has placed them in a position where they will either have to put up or shut up, the alternative being unconditionally in their power. In his speech at St. Louis yesterday president told the people that the objectors should either quite condemning the league of nations or find a better substitute. Of course now, it may be possible that Senator Lodge or some of his admiring adherents may endeavor to supply a substitute, but if they intend to work along the same line of argument as that which they have advanced in the past, it would assuredly be to their advantage to forget their troubles right where they are.

There are no doubt hundreds of the people throughout this country who will be glad to hear that George Gaston Quinn, betrayer of Edith Cavell, has been condemned to death by court martial. Ever since the awful death of the young English nurse, practically the entire world has been looking for the final outcome of the hearing accorded Quinn, and while, of course, the trial was along time in being completed, it will be very gratifying to learn that he has paid the penalty for his insincerity of purpose, although higher sources of jurisdiction hold him entirely exonerated of overstepping the bounds of civilized warfare.

General Dickman, commanding the southern department of the United States army, has informed the war department that the two aviators fired upon by Mexicans were over on this side of the border at the time of the occurrence. The Mexican government already has sent in its regrets to the department, but, sooner or later, with the continuance of such offences, regrets will no longer be acceptable, and more direct steps will be necessary to bring about better conditions.

We are still hoping that some good citizen of the city will eventually realize the necessity of more residences and release some of the surplus money buried away for hard times. There was never a better time for such investments, for the city is growing by leaps and bounds, therefore, such an investor cannot do more than directly realize a handsome return for his investment.

The chamber of deputies in Italy have passed the woman suffrage bill which has been pending action for some little time, and while they are very slow in bringing the matter to such an auspicious conclusion it is pleasing to note that women of that part of the world are to be accorded the same prerogatives of the women in America. It's about time other countries were taking the step, for then, the entire world will be one quality.

It is certainly pleasing to note that the Presbyterian New Era conference now in session at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, has seen it advisable of going on record as favoring the immediate ratification of the peace treaty. If just a few more similar organizations would take the same step, it is possible that the treaty might receive more recognition in help part of the country, particularly among the people who are not so well informed as to the necessity of such.

Farmers of the section continue to wear the happy smile brought to their faces on the opening day of the Greenville tobacco market. Prices have been excellent ever since the opening of the market, and with warehouses predicting still higher prices, no wonder the smile has not vanished. We are all glad to see the money rolling into the pockets of the tobacco grower, for when he gets his share, old Pitt county is a prosperous region all the year around.

The event of most interest now is President Wilson's speaking tour in the interest of the League of Nations. The people will get more information from his speeches than could be had in a year of decision in the senate.

Many a married man is afraid to go home the morning after the night before, but that is not quite as bad as the man who is afraid to go home at all. If you don't believe—experiment.

The State Insurance Commissioner has called for a clean-up week October 6-11. Everybody should get ready to lend a hand.

SHERIFF BRINGS IN DARK MEMBERS OF WHISKEY TRAFFIC

would be in charge of two colored men who would leave for this section about ten o'clock. Figuring just a little bit in advance, Sheriff Dudley and Caton left this city about nine o'clock, by automobile, and espied the negroes a short distance from the village. Seeing the approaching car, the two darkeys drove from the roadway into the woods for a short distance, but divining their intention, Deputy Caton dropped from the car and slipped out into the woods, the sheriff speeding on by. The trip was perfect as a short time later the party vanished from the woods, and were in the custody of the law before they realized just what really had transpired.

Both the darkeys profess their ignorance as to the presence of the whiskey in the buggy, and while of course, the two officers believed the story, anyhow, they brought mule and buggy, liquor, colored men and all back to the city so they may be given a chance of exonerating themselves.

LOST—SOMEWHERE BETWEEN D. D. Haskett's residence and A. C. L. Depot or on road to Farmville a dark blue short coat with Persian lining. Reward for return to Mrs. J. K. Spivey.

MUCH TOBACCO IS SOLD IN THIS CITY SINCE FIRST SALE

With the closing of the market yesterday afternoon, warehousemen have necessarily been forced to change their sales schedules for the approaching week owing to the inability of two sets of buyers to cover the seven warehouses and while, of course, every effort has been made to clear the floors during the week, the constant flow of the leaf on the various floors has been so great that the seven warehouses have not been covered by the buying interests more than two times throughout the week. Several thousand pounds still remain on the floors to be taken up at the opening Monday morning, and while the delay is unusually great, planters are not troubled over the fact realizing that every effort has been made in their behalf on one of the largest and best equipped markets in this section of the state. The prospect of good prices, also, helps relieve the delay of its monotony, therefore, the occurrence which under ordinary circumstances would have proven unsatisfactory, is not troubling the farmer in the slightest.

It is rather difficult to fully determine the exact amount of the bright leaf on the market this week and the averages paid for same, but authorities appear to be confident that the fifty cent average will continue for some little time, in fact, it is generally conceded among the tobacconists that it will go over this amount if it has not done so already. The remainder of the season, therefore, will be of more than general interest, placing the planter in a position where recent losses by flood and rain will not be felt so keenly.

WHAT IS YOUR HOBBY?

Disabled Soldiers Show Variety of Interests in Selection of Occupations.

Washington, Sept. 5.—What is your hobby? How do you spend your leisure hours? The answers to such questions have in a number of instances led vocational advisers of the Federal Board for Vocational Education to suggest new occupations for soldiers whose disabilities prevent their return to old jobs. A New York chauffeur holding tennis championships and baseball records was disabled in France, and is now training for physical director in a Y. M. C. A. An unskilled laborer, with his leg injured by shrapnel, because of his love for flowers has chosen horticulture as a life work. A druggist lost his leg, and as there is a lot of walking to be done by a drug clerk, some new vocation was necessary. He came to the Federal Board for help. The adviser found that he had always been very deft with his fingers and liked to work with his hands. He is now making good in a course for watch making and repairing. Many such cases could be cited in which the recreation of the disabled man has been a deciding factor in the choice of a new vocation.

The lists of occupations in which disabled men are training bear testimony to the variety of interests among them. Agriculture, business courses and motor mechanics have been selected by hundreds, but other trades and professions have appealed to a number of the returned men. Three disabled men are preparing for X-Ray operators, one for optician, two for playground supervisors. Three are taking dramatic art. Two are taking courses in subjects relating to hygiene and public health, while one is learning all about hog raising. Four are training for cooks, one expects to be a milk inspector. Paper making and wicker work, photo engraving and glove making have each been chosen by a disabled soldier.

MAYOR URGES FOR EARLY ATTENTION SANITATION LAWS

berately endanger the lives of his own loved ones and the lives of his neighbors by failing to take the means provided and advised for safety.

"Unfortunately every home can't be connected with the water sewerage system. But every home can, and must have a sanitary privy. Self-preservation is the first law of nature. In providing a sanitary privy this natural law, as well as the State law, will be fulfilled.

"Full information of the various types of sanitary privies that will be approved by the State Board of Health, which is charged with the duty of enforcing this act of the legislature, may be obtained from my office, or a special bulletin will be mailed direct to the interested person upon application to the State Board of Health, Raleigh. Sanitary inspectors representing the State Board of Health will begin their duties the first of October, and it is time for those of our people who have not already taken action to get busy.

"The necessity for full compliance with the law is a double one. Both a moral and legal duty rests upon the head of each home. I believe that all our citizens will see the matter in this light, and will act accordingly. It will be a splendid record to have this town rated as one hundred percent sanitary by the State Board of Health and it is a record that we may easily attain."

The Market Sold This Week 1,750,000 Pounds

The sales blocked and what was left over will be sold Monday. There has not been enough tobacco here this week to cause the Block Sales. The Blocks have been caused by the loss of time (not selling the required piles each hour.) This has caused loss of enough hours to make a whole day.

The Board of Trade met last night and instructed the sales committee to have each sale stopped when the house selling had consumed the time it should have sold its share in. The required number of piles is 300 an hour. This in our opinion will obviate the Block Sales. Gormans sold this week 363,366 pounds for $147,207.70, making an average of $40.51. This includes scrap and damaged. We had lots of large piles of black scalded tobacco also.
