PRESIDENT VETOES LATE MEASURE TO ESTABLISH BUDGET

Wilson Objects to Features Given Congress Control Over Comptroller
THINKS ACTION WOULD BE UNCONSTITUTIONAL
Declares He is In Sympathy With the General Purpose of the System.

Washington, June 4.—President Wilson tonight vetoed the bill establishing a national budget system and an unsuccessful attempt was made in the House to pass the measure over his veto. The vote was 178 to 193, or nine less than the required two-thirds majority. Thirty-five Democrats joined with the Republicans in voting to pass the measure.

The president said that under the bill congress would have authority to remove the comptroller general from office and that this authority should be reserved to the executive department.

Notifying congress that he was returning the bill without his signature, President Wilson in his veto message said:

"I do this with the greatest regret. I am in entire sympathy with the objects of this bill and would gladly approve it but for the fact that I regard one of the provisions contained in section 303 as unconstitutional. This is the provision to the effect that the comptroller general and the assistant comptroller general, who are to be appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate, may be removed at any time by a concurrent resolution of congress after notice and hearing, when in their judgment, the comptroller general or assistant comptroller general is incapacitated or in efficient or has been guilty of neglect of duty, or of malfeasance of office or a felony or conduct involving moral turpitude, and for no other cause except either by impeachment.

"The effect of this is to prevent the removal of these officers for any cause except either by impeachment or a concurrent resolution of congress. It has, I think, always been the accepted construction of the constitution that the power to appoint officers of this kind carries with it, as an incident, the power to remove.

"I am convinced that the congress is without constitutional power to limit the appointing power and its incident power of removal derived from the constitution.

"The section referred to not only forbids the executive to remove these officers but undertakes to empower the congress by concurrent resolution to remove an officer appointed by the president with the advice and consent of the senate. I can find in the constitution no warrant for the exercise of this power by the congress. There is certainly no expressed authority conferred and I am unable to see that authority for the exercise of this power is implied in any expressed grant of power.

SENATE PROBE TO BE CONCLUDED IN EXTRA SHORT WAY

Committee Investigating Expenditures Cleaning up Dangling Ends.

Washington, June 4.—While the Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures completed its prepared program tonight with the examination of Warren Gregory, manager of the campaign made for Herbert Hoover in the California presidential primary, Chairman Kenyon announced that it would continue to function until it had cleaned up some loose ends in the evidence already submitted. Col. E. H. R. Green, son of the late Mrs. Hetty Green, has been summoned for examination about the selection of delegates to the Republican National convention from Texas.

A subpoena also had been issued for William Loeb, Jr., secretary of the late President Roosevelt, who, it has been testified, collected $225,000, from New York men to help finance Major General Wood's campaign. The committee has been told that Mr. Loeb started on a trip several days ago before his name came into the inquiry.

The books of Senator Johnson's campaign organization in California also are being awaited.

The question of extending the authority of the committee to inquire into expenditures in the presidential and congressional campaign ending in November is expected to come before the Senate tomorrow. Senator Pomerene's resolution authorizing this inquiry is before the contingent expense committee with the understanding that it will be reported out at that time for a vote.

LOWDEN FACTIONS IN JUBILANT MOOD IN CHICAGO PROBE

Twenty-five Delegates Are Added to String, While Wood Forces Lose.
NO DIVIDED DECISIONS MADE BY COMMITTEES

Johnson, Atlanta Negro, Gets His Delegation Seated in Convention.

Chicago, June 4.—Lowden forces counted twenty-eight additional delegates into their column as the result of today's decisions by the Republican national committee. In deciding the Georgia contest the Wood forces succeeded in having the committee accept only one delegate pledged to the general when work was stopped for the night.

All attempts at split decisions were lost. While various committeemen professed to see behind the arguments for party harmony which were advocated a reflection of personal views as they might be favorable to Governor Lowden and General Wood, the committee in repeated roll calls refused to make compromises and proceeded to make decisions on the evidence of party regularity in the local and district machinery.

Lowden forces started off on a winning streak by winning the contests in the eight congressional districts of Mississippi. They claim all these delegates. They won a half vote in the second congressional district of Oklahoma where the Wood forces won a half vote also by seating of Dr. Hugh Scott, of Holdenville, and Albert Kelly, of Bristol, respectively. Then the Lowden chiefs claimed another addition of support when the committee voted to seat the regularly reported delegates from South Carolina led by National Committeeman Tolbert. The tenth District of Tennessee, went to the regularly reported delegate Robert (Continued on page four.)

CHICAGO BECOMES POLITICAL MECCA FOR REPUBLICANS

Candidates for President Vie With Each Other in Getting Public Ear.

Chicago, Ill., June 4.—Presidential booms of General Wood, Senator Johnson and Governor Lowden today held the spotlight of convention city and shadows of potential "dark horses" were reported with growing frequency.

Lowden forces were jubilant over national committee decisions in delegate contest which they claimed to add 23 delegates to the Lowden column with a like loss to General Wood's.

General Wood also gave out a statement declaring Col. William Cooper Procter and Frank H. Hitchcock, his managers, were working in complete harmony and loyalty. The General vigorously denied reports that Colonel Procter was being subordinated to Mr. Hitchcock.

From other quarters of the Republican paddock came increased talk of "dark horse" entries. It came with the arrival of more national leaders and also many delegates.

Presidential row also got another tenant in arrival today of Senator Poindexter, of Washington, and word was received that Senator Harding, of Ohio, and Senator Sutherland, of West Virginia, would reach here next Sunday. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, of New York, is due tomorrow.

In the "dark horse" discussions names figuring prominently included Governors Coolidge, of Massachusetts; Allen, of Kansas, and Sproul, of Pennsylvania.

COMMITTEE ABOUT READY FOR ENDING ITS INVESTIGATION

Inquiry Into Presidential Campaign Brings Out Nothing Interesting.
SCOPE AND PURPOSE OF INQUIRY ARE DEFERRED

Senator Lodge Delays Action of Congressional and Presidential Side.

Washington, June 4.—Senate committee investigation of pre-convention presidential campaign activities had approached a new phase, if not virtual conclusion, tonight, future developments being in doubt pending action in the senate on Senator Pomerene's proposal to change radically the scope and purpose of the inquiry and carry it beyond the November elections.

Action on the resolution, which would bring congressional as well as presidential campaigns within the committee's jurisdiction was delayed at the request of Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, Republican leader. It will come up tomorrow and the committee, pending any alteration of its charter powers, begin winding up the hearing of witnesses already summoned.

The day's sessions were considerably interrupted by Senate votes on adjournment, which drew members to the floor. Three witnesses were heard, however, two of them throwing additional light on the financing of Major General Wood's campaign for the Republican nomination, while the third brought additional information as to activities of Senator Harding and Governor Lowden in Missouri.

From C. H. Duell, of New York, formerly connected with the Wood financial arrangements, the committee got the statement that General Wood was present at a discussion at the home of Ambrose E. Monell, in New York last fall where ways and means (Continued on page two.)

STATE DEMOCRATS SHOWING SPIRIT IN TODAY'S PRIMARY

Nominees for Governor and Other State Offices Are to be Selected.
MUCH INTEREST EVIDENT IN GUBERNATORIAL FIGHT

Contest Between Gardner, Page and Morrison Attracts Attention.

Raleigh, N. C., June 5.—North Carolina Democrats were voting in a statewide primary today to select nominees for Governor, two associate justices of the Supreme Court and a majority of state officers, as well as a short term United States Senator and in the congressional districts to nominate members of the House of Representatives.

Republican participation in today's primary was confined to expression of a presidential preference between Senator Hiram Johnson and Major General Leonard Wood, the only candidates who filed in this state.

Republican nominees for Governor, Senator and state offices were selected recently at the Republican state convention which also selected North Carolina's four delegates-at-large to the Republican National Convention and instructed them to vote for Judge Jeter C. Pritchard, of Asheville, for the presidential nomination at Chicago, as did a number of district conventions in selecting their delegates.

Senator F. M. Simmons having been the only candidate entered in the primary for the Democratic presidential nomination, his name has been certified by the State board of elections and will receive the vote of North Carolina's 24 delegates in the Democratic National convention.

Much interest has been displayed throughout the State in the Democratic gubernatorial nomination and the contest for other state offices and a large vote is expected to be cast during the (Continued on page three.)

LOVE APPEALS FOR HIGHER EDUCATION BEFORE STUDENTS

Pres. Louisburg College Tells Graduates of Demands of the Future.
SEVERAL STUDENTS IN GRADUATING EXERCISES

Prof. Swanson Says Years Has Been Best in History of the School.

A plea for profound appreciation of the value of education was presented in a forceful, convincing manner to the graduating class of the Greenville high school in the school auditorium last night by Rev. F. S. Love, president of Louisburg college. The speaker, in the course of his address, clearly defined the essential of education, declaring that the key to the great question of life must be handed to the young life of today principally through the public school teacher, and that in this fact every school is faced by one of the greatest problems of the day. He declared that chaos is abroad in every territory, and it will be settled no man can answer, but that it must eventually be settled by the young manhood and manhood of this age.

The speaker of the evening was introduced by Prof. Swanson, superintendent of the city schools, who said that he could not have selected a more appropriate speaker to deliver the commencement address than Mr. Love as he is a recognized orator of ability and always has a great message wherever he may go. He paid a splendid tribute to his great work in one of the leading colleges of the state, and declared him a powerful leader in state education.

The high school glee club sang "The Spring Song" in the opening exercises and closed with an appropriate selection. The graduating class composed of 26 young men and women was seated directly in front of the rostrum and listened attentively to the great plea for a greater development of education.

Dr. Love spoke on the "Power and Challenge of a Liberated Life," prefacing his remarks by a reference of the inner man in every person and his liberation through education, saying that the world is made up of people with a different appreciation of life, who see things from various angles and with different interpretations. He declared that life, after all, is a thing of discovery, and that if we realized what life really is we will have answered the question of this great period.

In defining the meaning of education, he said that it was a liberated spirit releasing the unlimited and untold life in search for truth. He explained that this is a great age without a distinctive leader, and right at this point he paid a great tribute to President Wilson as one of the greatest men of his age as to him was revealed the most wonderful vision ever revealed to man. If this dream could have materialized it would have released the brotherhood of man forever. But the American people, who should have stood by the president, have played with the dream. Chaos is abroad, and how it will be settled no man knows, but it must be settled by the young manhood and manhood of today.

The tragedy of life, Dr. Love said, is missing the plain of life; that it is easier to follow the materialistic side of life than the spiritual. The trouble with the young women of today is that they are having the wrong influence over men, and that instead of releasing the beautiful things of life, the things worth while and things that counted in the ages gone by, they are listening to the gilded with gold calls of the world and following paths, treacherous and dangerous.

Right at this age, he said, there are a thousand and one things to do; there are no great writers being born; there is no triumphant minds to conceive the true things of life; that business awaits the youth, and that the greatest tragedy of the age is that average of 20,000 boys go through high school and stop, and right here (Continued on page three.)

ROYAL IDEAS MEET WITH HARD DEATH THRUOUT GERMANY

Imperial Followers Find Ideas Hard to Forget in New State Affairs.

Berlin, June 4.—Many Germans apparently still find some difficulty in realizing that the imperial and royal regime is a thing of the past. There are indeed extremists, on the other hand, who object to the eagle on the Prussian escutcheon looking towards the right instead of the left, "as a republican eagle ought to," but sign boards in the Tiergarten, for instance, still bear the inscription, "Royal Forestry Department," and there are shopkeepers who display signs that they are "purveyors to H. M. the emperor and king," or "Court" photographers. It is rather pathetic nowadays to behold small boys in sailors' suits wearing caps with ribbons "H. M. submarine flotilla," or "H. M. Air forces."

What to do with the marble statues of William Hohenzollern's forefathers in the Siegesallee—the famous avenue of victory in the Tiergarten—has become a public question. They were erected under the former emperor's supervision between 1808 and 1901. The haughty Joachim, Albrechts and Ottos in their armor, mailed fists grasp huge sabers, look singularly out of place under a socialistic regime. One writer suggests that they should be shipped, freight prepaid, to Wilhelm's residence in Holland.

Messrs. C. D. Culpepper and W. E. Batts, of Wilson, were in Greenville on business Friday.

SEVERAL UNUSUAL INCIDENTS LINKED IN MEXICAN UNREST

Escape of Obregon Leader One of Principal Features of Big Revolt.

Mexico City, June 5.—One of the exciting incidents preceding the revolt against President Carranza was the escape of General Benjamin Hill, Chief Lieutenant of General Alvaro Obregon, who fled from the Capital hidden in a pile of sacks in a milk wagon.

General Hill vanished from the capital on the same night as did General Obregon April 13. The wagon in which Hill was hidden was stopped by the police in the suburbs of the capital because it did not carry a light. While the driver was bribing the policeman to pass the lightless vehicle, General Hill dropped out of the back of the wagon and hid in the shadow of a building until the policeman was mollified. Then the General crawled back into the wagon and continued his flight.

Mystery surrounding the fate of Roberto Cejudo, to testify in whose trial General Obregon was summoned to the capital, furnished one of the tragic high lights of the Carranza evacuation. With General Arnulfo Gonzales, captured by Carranza government agents near Nuevo Laredo on April 30, and the aged rebel General Gaudencio De la Llave, Cejudo was taken from the military prison of Santiago Tlateloco here the night of May 6 when the Carranza adherents fired.

Whether he was taken on the Carranza trains the next day and escaped or whether he was executed, together with the two others, remains a mystery (Continued on page three.)

SATURDAY, JUNE 5, 1920.

It's a pity that so many candidates are to meet defeat throughout the primary today, but its the same in politics as in all other things, the winner is the man of the day and is able to hold his position until the people get the idea there's someone else who could fill the job better. It's human nature, but it's fair and advisable in the long run.

It is certainly pleasing to note that the city aldermen have seen the advisability paving the street leading to the river bridge, for this should have been done long ago on account of the inability of road forces to get the street in a passable condition. The thoroughfare, at its best, is probably one of the most disagreeable in the city, considering the amount of traffic, and for that reason it should have received attention long ago instead of being deferred from time to time with repairs. The aldermen are to be congratulated and it is certain people who are forced to traverse the street will be glad indeed that the work will be completed by the time the river bridge is opened to traffic again.

Minority members of the sugar investigating committee have just come to the conclusion that Attorney-General Palmer was perfectly right in fixing a definite price for the country's supply, and in this single instance an investigation has proven a success. Mr. Palmer has probably had greater opportunity for studying the situation in this country than people imagine, and in setting sugar prices at a fixed figure people may be sure that he did what he thought was best, and which, as we see it, has had its direct result. If investigations are going to prove as favorable in other cases of the kind it might be advisable to continue them without interruption until the country is in normal condition for one more time.

ONE CHANGE MADE IN TOWN PRIMARY
HERE LAST NIGHT

Gompers says recommendations of the sub-committee investigating the Mexican situation would call for an immediate war if they should be promptly executed, and while of course there is no one who desires to disagree with the gentleman, we are at a loss to see how he reaches such conclusions so quickly. It is certain that American property deserves to be carefully protected by the Mexican government, and that this should be done even if its constitution should have to be re-written. The government as it stands now means absolutely nothing, and if the United States should bring it to a realization of what a real government should be, though its constitution should be changed in meeting the demand, it would be bringing about something for which the entire country will eventually be glad. Mexico is hardly accountable for its own actions. The past has proven this, and if it cannot respect the rights and privileges of other nations it is up to these nations to bring it to life sufficiently so that the problems of government may be more fully comprehended.

BETTER HIGHWAYS.

No problem confronting our State in this generation involves a reconciliation of such diversity of interests; the expenditure of such large sums of money; or promises greater returns on the amount invested (provided it is well spent and the investment properly protected) than the acquirement of that portion of our transportation system included in a State System of Highways. It will mean that every small political unit of the State must surrender some of its time worn "rights" for the good of the State as a whole; it will mean an expenditure during the next twenty years of something like two hundred million dollars for construction and an annual expenditure of from a million to two million dollars for maintenance; it will mean the building up of a state department of such great strength and efficiency as has not yet been attempted in the State for the solution of any other one problem. By enabling our people to visit among each other, establish trade relations with each other, from one town to another, from one county to another, from one section of the state to another, it will cement us as a state, will help us to overcome some of our provincialism and conservatism, some of our petty sectional jealousies and rivalries; and will enable us to develop a great state, with greater solidarity of purpose and spirit.

Greenville is to be congratulated upon the splendid showing made by its schools during the session just past, for if there is one thing any town should be proud of it's a large class of graduates from its schools every year. These graduates are to compose the government in the future, and if they are giving educational advantages certainly they will be able to enter into vital issues of their day with a clear comprehension for the right. Education is being more directly appreciated through North Carolina today than ever before, and whatever is done to encourage this will be done in the interest of a higher class of civilization.

Congress will bring the present session to final conclusion today, so we are told, because President Wilson informed the members that an extra session would not be called this summer unless the most accentuated conditions demanded their attention. This statement from the president had its effect, for although official Washington has nothing to brag about for the past year, the members are no doubt ready for a vacation period, away from wrangling and discontent of those who make such a special pleasure.

That advance guard of republicans that has just arrived in Chicago may feel slightly disheartened at this time, but it is safe to say its members will be in the best of spirits after listening to the several mud-slinging contests yet to come. It's strange how leaders of a party can give people false impression, but it's the same way in all things and one must learn the truth through the stern facts of experience.

of financing his campaign were talked over. A formal meeting attended by Duell, Monell and Robert Cassatt, of Philadelphia, had been called, the witness said, and at this meeting Monell proposed that a certain number of men be asked to "underwrite" the Wood campaign expenses to the extent of $500,000. Cassatt finally declined to join the arrangement, Duell said, and his recollection was that General Wood came in later, after the meeting. Discussion of the financial side of the campaign had continued, he added, but he could not recall anything that General Wood might have said in that connection.

Questions by Senator Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, drew from the witness a statement that in view of the general nature of the conversation, General Wood could not have failed to know its purport and the amounts being discussed as necessary to raise.

Moline Mower

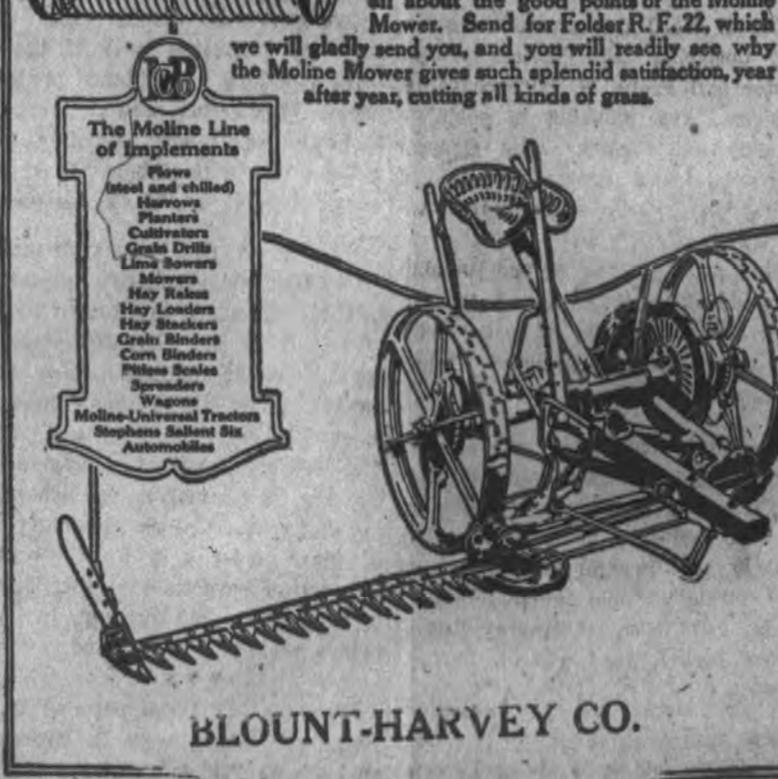

"I have about two acres of soggy land. The sweet clover on this land was as high as the horses, and with the old stalks from last year still on the land. The Moline Mower is the only mower that I was able to cut this clover with, and I have tried them all. I consider the Moline Mower the best that is built. The mower is the lightest draft machine I ever hitched a team to, and certainly do recommend the Moline Mower to any one considering the purchase of a mower." —A. C. Maneman, Payette, Idaho.

This letter shows what service you can expect from a Moline Mower. The Moline gives such satisfaction whenever used and will give you better service than you ever obtained from a mower before.

It will cut any kind of grass; it is unusually light in draft, and it will give you from 25 to 40 years of satisfactory service—many Moline Mowers have been used longer than this.

And remember, the Moline Mower is not a new mower, but has been in use in all parts of the world for the last 60 years.

Space does not permit us to tell you all about the good points of the Moline Mower. Send for Folder R. F. 22, which we will gladly send you, and you will readily see why the Moline Mower gives such splendid satisfaction, year after year, cutting all kinds of grass.

day. Owing to the length of the ballot the returns probably will be late. The polls opened at sun rise and close at sunset. Both Senator Johnson and Major General Wood personally made speeches in the State in their campaign for the Republican presidential nomination. Chief interest of the Democratic voters centered in the three-cornered gubernatorial contest, although Senator Lee Overman and members of the House of Representatives from the 1st, 3rd, 6th and 9th congressional districts are opposed for renomination.

The fight for the nomination for Governor has been one of the most hotly contested in many years. The three candidates are Lieutenant Governor O. Max Gardner, of Shelby, a business man and former congressman from the seventh district, and Cameron Morrison, of Charlotte, a lawyer, who has been a state leader in the Democratic party for years.

The principal fight in the gubernatorial campaign has been made against Mr. Gardner by the organized labor forces because of his refusal to answer a questionnaire submitted by the State Federation of Labor, and the Farmers Union. In declining to reply to the questionnaire Mr. Gardner declared he would not make any pre-election pledge except those contained in the platform adopted by the Democratic state convention. During his campaign the Lieutenant Governor strongly advocated better educational facilities and favor the ratification of the Anthony suffrage amendment, giving women the right to vote.

Mr. Page, a brother of the late United States Ambassador to England, Walter Hines Page, in his campaign emphasized the need of applying business principles to state affairs and advocated improvement of rural conditions, particularly in respect to schools and roads.

Mr. Morrison in his appeal to the voters urged a return to what he described as "old fashioned Democracy" and warned against the dangers of class legislation. Although recognized as one of the leading opponents to woman suffrage by federal amendment, Mr. Morrison did not make woman suffrage an issue in his campaign, declaring he would stand by the party platform if elected.

In the Third congressional district there has been a spirited fight for the nomination between Congressman Samuel M. Brinson and Charles L. Abernethy, the two candidates having met in joint debate on one occasion to discuss the issues of the campaign. R. L. Carr also is seeking the congressional nomination in that district.

Six candidates seeking the nomination to succeed Congressman Clyde R. Hoey who declined to stand for re-election in the Ninth District. They are W. B. Council, A. Lee Bulwinkle, A. L. Patterson, A. L. Quicke and Marvin L. Ritch. Mr. Ritch gained state-wide attention a year or so ago as organizer of textile workers in this state.

More than ordinary interest has been displayed in the fight for the nomination for the short term in the United States Senate. Aubrey L. Brooks, of Greensboro, who is a strong advocate of woman suffrage, opposing Senator Lee State Overman. Mr. Brooks has made a personal campaign while Mr. Overman has made only one speech in North Carolina during the campaign, this being a memorial address at Smithfield.

Seven candidates are in the race for the nomination to fill two places on the Supreme Court bench, but little interest has been displayed in the campaign for these two offices. The candidates are W. A. Hoke, Needham Y. Gulley, O. H. Guion Noah James Rouse B. F. Long, W. J. Adams and W. P. Stancey.

Only passing interest has been paid to the campaign candidates seeking nomination for other state offices. F. C. Harding of Greenville, and W. B. Cooper of Wilmington are the candidates for nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

There are five candidates in the race for the nomination for State Auditor. They are Baxter Durham, of Raleigh, D. A. McDonald, of Carthage; D. L. Boyd, of Waynesville, James P. Cooper of Concord and William T. Woodley of New Bern.

Treasurer B. R. Lacy is being opposed by B. F. Renfrew, of Bertie county, for the nomination for State Treasurer.

J. Bryan Grimes is unopposed for the nomination for Secretary of State.

Two candidates, the present commissioner, Major W. A. Graham and H. E. Thompson are seeking the nomination for Commissioner of Agriculture.

David P. Dellinger of Gastonia is opposing M. L. Shipman, present incumbent for the nomination for Commissioner of Labor and Printing.

Stancy W. Wade, C. T. McLenaghan and John Underwood are the candidates for Insurance Commissioner to succeed J. R. Young, who declined to ask for renomination.

As it will require several days to canvas the vote the Election Board may not be able to certify the candidate who receives the largest number of votes for the Republican presidential nomination in time for the Republican national convention, which begins at Chicago next Tuesday.

Dr. King's New Discovery has relieved colds and coughs for fifty years

It was an unusually high quality cold, cough, grippe, and croup remedy when introduced half a century ago. Not once in all the years since then has the quality been allowed to deteriorate. Its effectiveness in combating colds and coughs has been proved thousands of times in thousands of families.

Taken by grownups and given to the little ones for the safe, sure treatment of colds and grippe, coughs and croup, it leaves absolutely no disagreeable after-effects.

You Can't disguise a last summer Straw with a cleaning any more than you could cover up a last Summer's breath with a Clove.

For a work hat—a cleaning is all right but for church going and such—it's almost like dropping a button in the basket.

The men who clean hats in Greenville are second to none at their trade—but style changes cannot be interpreted by extracting with extracts.

If you have a good hat from last Summer, have it cleaned today and wear it with your madras shirts. But when you put on silk and slick up—tip a new Straw.

Only the newest 1920 models are here. We fed our 1919 left overs to the cows.

that they are lost in the beginning of life.

The past five years have shown greater changes in this country than the previous 500 years. Today the country is faced by social unrest, conflicts between capital and labor, socialism, and many other "isms" that are retarding the way to progress more than any one thing. These things are bringing about disorganization in social and business circles and the country is faced by demoralization unless conditions undergo an early change.

In summing up his address, Dr. Love said that American womanhood and manhood must bring America out of its chaos. From American shores words of healing must go out to the entire world. The answer of the great problems the world is facing must be answered by American people, for the entire world is looking to it to restore the lost. The shortage of school teachers, he said, is another great challenge. Schools are being closed because American people do not realize the greatness of education sufficiently to give teachers good wages, and this too must be remedied before the world can realize a restoration of the great principles of life.

The discourse was closed by an admonition to the graduating class to forget environment and go out into the world and fight the battles of life determinedly and resolutely. The open door of the world is unlocked, he said, and can be revealed only through service and duty. The challenge of the world awaits you.

Immediately following the conclusion of the address Professor Swanson said that this year had been one of the most successful in the history of the school, and that wonderful progress had been made. He said this year's graduating class leaves $100 to create an athletic fund. He stated that Miss Kathleen Spain had won $5.00 for perfecting the most well-balanced menu for an entire week. There were two graduates in the music class Misses Argent Quinerly and Pattie Jenkins.

Diplomas were awarded to the following: Misses Ruby Evans, Margaret Fleming, Alice M. Fulford, Mary Louise Harding, Ada James, Lillian Joyner, Mary Louise Langley, Almeta Mullison, Emma Mullison, Margaret Moore, Emily Moye, Argent Quinerly, Josephine Skinner, Pattie Smith, Thelma V. Shamhart, Susie Turner, Maggie Whichard, Messrs. Dewey

Brooks, Reid Gaskins, Charles Lewis, Joseph Parkerson, William Tyson, McGregor Brown, William H. White, James Thomas Corey.

LOWDEN FACTIONS

Church, a negro, of Memphis, but that was claimed by none of the various managers.

The spectacular decision of the day was the hard fought and long delayed contest from Georgia where the delegates headed by Henry Lincoln Johnson, an Atlanta negro, who, it was testified before the Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures, received $9,000 for the Lowden campaign fund, were resisting the attacks of a set of contesting delegates evidently organized by Frank H. Hatchcock and counted for the candidacy of General Wood.

Before the Committee adjourned to continue in a night session Johnson's big four—the delegates at large—had been seated, on the ground of organization regularity in their convention proceedings and the first and second Georgia congressional districts also had been voted the same way. The evidence in the six districts remaining in contest was said to be much of the same nature.

South Carolina and Georgia contests brought the race issue and the color line into the deliberation of the committee despite all efforts to keep them out. The contest over the Tolbert delegates from South Carolina brought up the much discussed question of whether the Republican party in the Southern States would do better without association with the negro.

The contesting delegates in the South Carolina case stirred up a row in which the lie was frequently passed, charges of "machine rule" to perpetuate "an office-holders trust," and further charges that conditions were such that the Republican vote had been reduced by the alleged methods to a minimum, were made.
