ST. LOUIS PUBLIC SCHOOLS DOING "BIG BUSINESS" IN WASTE PAPER.

I have recently made several appeals, urging the saving of waste paper and in this connection I wish to call to the attention of the public what one city is doing along these lines, said Secretary of Commerce Alexander today.

"The collection and sale of waste paper in the schools of St. Louis is rapidly assuming the aspect of a 'Big Business' and it is expected that over $15,000.00 will be secured before the close of the schools in June," is a statement I have just read made by Stephen M. Wagner, member of the board of education of St. Louis, Mo.

This movement in St. Louis had its inception in a resolution introduced by Mr. Wagner at a board meeting several years ago. Its purpose as outlined at that time was to have the pupils in the schools bring old papers, books, and magazines to the school to be turned over to firms dealing in waste paper. The proceeds of all sales were to go to the credit of the Teachers Benevolent Annuity Association, a voluntary organization of St. Louis, teachers, formed for the purpose of paying annuities to those of its members who retire after long service and for giving relief to members temporarily in need.

This movement gradually gained impetus as its purpose became better known. Increased interest was given the movement because of the growing scarcity of white paper and the importance of aiding in the conservation of the existing supply.

Over one hundred thousand pupils in 135 schools now participate in this work. They save old newspapers and magazines and once a week bring them to school where they are deposited in proper receptacles, later to be gathered up and carried away.

To stimulate interest on the part of the pupils some of the schools have instituted contests with one room pitted against another. Other contests have been started from time to time, all tending to arouse and keep the interest of the pupils. In some schools a banner is awarded the room having the largest collection for the week, to be retained until some other room makes a better record.

That the schools are not only doing a very important work in raising money for a worthy cause, but are also of material assistance in helping to conserve the constantly lessening supply of white paper, is indicated by some of the figures submitted.

For the year of 1919 the schools collected a total of 901 tons of paper. For the past seven months or since the schools opened last September they have collected 566 tons, of which 513 tons consisted of newspapers and 53 tons consisted of magazines. Prices in effect at the present time are as follows: $1.25 per hundred pounds for newspapers and $2.75 per hundred for magazines. Since the start of the paper saving movement, a grand total of $37,813.24 has been realized from its sale.

An auto truck has been purchased by the Teachers Association in order to facilitate collections of paper and delivery to the firms buying waste paper. Saving paper has become a regular part of a well planned system of education for thrift in the St. Louis public schools and the children are taught that a great many things can be made use of and have a real value which have heretofore been thrown away.

What St. Louis is doing can be done by any other city. Think what it would mean to the paper situation if the majority of our cities would contribute their quota of waste paper and think how much money could be earned for some worthy cause.

Attention is again called to the fact that the department of commerce has on hand a number of two publications on Waste Reclamation which it will be glad to send interested persons.

LETTER FROM MR. SMALL.

Washington, N. C.,
June 7, 1920.

Editor The Daily Reflector, Greenville, N. C.:

I beg through your paper to communicate a message to the people of the First Congressional District. The result of the recent primary indicates the selection of Hon. H. S. Ward as the Democratic nominee for representative in congress. My public duties prevented me from visiting the district except for a brief period before the primary.

I particularly wish the Democratic voters in the district to know that I am neither sour or resentful or embittered in spirit. I accept their verdict cheerfully. The people of the district have been kind and generous to me. At the end of this term I will have served as their representative for 22 years. I have been greatly honored. I am distinctly their debtor. I shall, at the end of my term of office, retire to private life and strive as ever to be a good citizen.

I possess one asset which cannot be taken from me. I retain my self-respect and a clear conscience. I have been diligent in service and I have tried to prove faithful, honest, just and loyal. I shall surrender the commission with clean hands. It is a source of satisfaction to recall that during the primary campaign no one seriously attempted to impeach my public record.

My present term in congress will expire on March 4th next. Until that time I shall remain a public servant and I hope my constituents will continue as formerly to command me.

Of course, I shall support Mr. Ward for election. He shall have no cause to doubt my sincerity in this respect. I hope he may make even a better representative than I have tried to be.

In conclusion, I wish to thank all the devoted friends who have encouraged and supported me in sunshine and in shadow. Among these I include the women. Their approbation has been an inspiration always.

Most sincerely,
JOHN H. SMALL.

ANOTHER DELUGE OF BIDS FOR BIG FIGHT COMING

New York, June 9.—The heavy-weight situation will begin to see the stir if Jack Dempsey is acquitted of the charge of draft evasion. Jack Kearns, the champion's manager, says that within a month after Dempsey is cleared of the charge he will sign for the battle with Georges Carpenter. Evidently there is going to be another siege of bidding for the big battle. Jim Corbett, the California promoter, is going to put in a serious bid for the spot.

GARDNER LEADING MORRISON IN LATE PRIMARY REPORTS

Clarkson is claiming that on returns he has in hand Morrison has a clear lead.

In a statement last night, Mr. Charles Ross conceded the elimination of Mr. Page and declared that the unselfish manner in which Mr. Page's vote was given does much to soften the disappointment of defeat.

The statement follows:

"While the returns from the primary are yet incomplete they are sufficiently full to convince me that Mr. Page has been eliminated from the contest.

"Mr. Page's vote is sufficiently large to be very flattering and the class of citizenship from which this support came and the unselfish manner which it was given does much to soften the disappointment of defeat.

"We have made our appeal to the best thought of the State, and while we have not achieved success, we tried to so conduct our campaign as to do more; that is, to deserve success.

"We quit the field hoping that we have contributed some part to keep the campaign on a high plane, and have done nothing of which we are ashamed.

"I desire to thank the newspapers of the State for the uniform fairness with which they have treated me, and of Mr. Clarkson and Judge Biggs, men to acknowledge the unfailing courtesy of the opposing candidates."

alliance, by which China shall be safeguarded. One of these would bring about the restoration of China's sovereignty over the Liao Tung peninsula, including Port Arthur, and the reversion of the South Manchuria railroad to Chinese control, at the expiration of a definite period. Other conditions proposed are summarized as follows:

"The independence of China today is violated by the presence upon her soil of foreign garrisons other than the troops provided for under the 1901 protocol and the limited number of railway guards permitted for the guarding of the South Manchuria and Chinese Eastern Railways. Great Britain should insist, therefore, as condition precedent to the renewal of the Alliance upon the withdrawal of all Japanese troops on Chinese soil whose

This afternoon the Oxford Company gave a concert, and D. Thomas Curtin lectured on "Behind the Scenes in Germany." This evening the Oxford Company will present the light opera, "The Doll." This is a splendid play and has a country wide reputation of being one of the best numbers on the Chautauqua program. Our city is indeed fortunate in having such artists visit her, and every one should make it a point to attend the Chautauqua and learn something worth while.

Greenville won its opening game of the Eastern Carolina Association yesterday by defeating Washington by a score of 6 to 2. Greenville took the lead in the third when Kittrell walked, Stringfield got on base by error followed by hits by Wrenn, Ellis, Duncan and Sheppard, scoring Kittrell, Stringfield, Wrenn and Ellis. The two final scores were made in the eighth, Ellis hitting safe and scoring on a two-bagger of Duncan followed by Duncan scoring on error.
