JUDGE BIGGS SAYS MORRISON WINS BY DECIDED MAJORITY

Gardner's Manager Concedes Victory to Charlotte Man by 8,000 Lead.

JUDGE STACY LEADING LONG BY 2 TO 1 VOTE

Beriot Clarkson Closes Office and Returns to Charlotte, Assured.

Raleigh, July 5.—Judge J. Crawford Biggs, manager for O. Max Gardner in the Democratic gubernatorial campaign last night conceded the nomination of Cameron Morrison in Saturday's primary "by an substantial majority."

Returns, complete and incomplete, from ninety-five counties in the State, compiled by the News and Observer, give Morrison 68,938 and Gardner 54,833. The indications are that Morrison's majority will be well over the 8,175 shown in these figures.

The five counties from which no returns have been received are Avery, Camden, Granville, Macon and Tyrrell. In these Gardner's majority over Morrison in the first primary was 275. In the ninety-five counties heard from Morrison led in the first primary by 384.

In fifty-five counties, Judge W. P. Stacy, of Wilmington, has received 46,171 votes to the 27,251 for his opponent, Judge B. F. Long, of Statesville, for associate justice of the Supreme court. The same give Baxter Durham, of Raleigh, a lead over J. P. Cook, of Concord, for State auditor, by a vote of 37,821 to 29,808.

Mr. Beriot Clarkson, manager for Morrison, closed his headquarters yesterday assured of victory, and last night left for his home in Charlotte.

Clarkson Makes Statement.

Before leaving he issued the following statement:

"The battle of ballots between Democrats is over, and it is now the duty of us all to forget differences; buckle on our armor; unfurl our flag and go forward a united party against a common foe, the Republican party. The Democrats have nominated its standard-bearer by the people, the Republicans by a coterie, a favored few—one represents the people, the other a political oligarchy. We must maintain the great principles of the great Democratic party—equal and exact justice to all; equal rights to all, special privileges to none, equality of opportunity for all—these principles are immortal as the stars of the Golden Rule—'Do unto you.' These principles have unto others as you would have them be illustrated in practice in recent years by the Democratic party by enfranchising the monetary system, by establishing all over the nation twelve regional banks, thus destroying the monopoly of the few in controlling the money of our country; by the Farm Loan Bank, giving the farmers an opportunity of home ownership and by many other beneficial laws in the interest of the people. We have had no class trouble in our beloved Southland, and we want none. The time has come when, in a spirit of fairness, we must look into the needs of the toiler and bread-winner and see that righteous laws are enacted in his favor.

"I appreciate sincerely the courtesies shown me by the people of Raleigh and the Raleigh reporters and the press of the State. I desire to express my hearty appreciation of the courtesies shown me by Mr. Chas. Ross, manager of the campaign of that Christian gentleman and statesman, Hon. Robert N. Page, I desire heartily to thank Mr. Thad S. Page, a worthy son of a noble sire, for many kindnesses and courtesies shown me.

DR. TURNER WOULD STOP GAMBLING ON LOCAL BALL GAMES

That Permissious Betting be Stopped.

THINKS PUBLIC BETS SHOULD BE TABOOED

People Should Co-Operate in Effort to Prevent Public Nuisance.

By grace of one of the members I was a guest at the Rotary club banquet Monday evening. The fellowship was fine, the discussions entered into heartily, and everyone, visitor and member, came away with the idea that our city has an organization in Rotary that has an eye single to the behoof of the whole community.

One thing in particular came before the body that I want to say a word to the public about. I believe the citizens of our splendid city will concur with the Rotarians that the practice should be stopped and will vote with the members that they will do what they can to put it on the toboggan. I refer to the permissious and flagrant gambling going on at the ball games. Gambling is bad any place and any time, but in public, and at an innocent amusement.

CITY ROTARY CLUB GIVES BANQUET TO NUMBER VISITORS

Washington Rotarians and Baseball Players Also Present at Event.

The Greenville Rotary club entertained the Washington Rotary club, the Greenville and Washington baseball clubs and officers of the Eastern Carolina Baseball association in the basement of the Christian church in this city last night, the occasion being a supper, at which several matters of public interest were discussed by men well acquainted with conditions through out this section of the country.

The origin and growth of Rotary clubs of the county was discussed in an interesting way by members of the Washington and Greenville clubs, showing in a particularly interesting way the splendid spirit of co-operation existing in practically every locality where Rotary clubs are in existence. Particular mention was made concerning the erection of the Rotary club building in this city within the near future, in which it was shown that the second story of the building in this city within the near future, in which it was shown that the second story of the building would be fitted up as a gymnasium to be used by young men of the city. Reference was also made concerning the development of local work and the great interest exhibited by members in both Washington and Greenville.

The baseball situation in this section of the state was discussed in an interesting way by members of the league and officials of the association showing that everything is being done to make the game clean and unoffensive in every way. The permissious gambling that has been in evidence from time to time was referred to, and it was unanimously determined that active effort be made to prevent such, especially in grandstands where women and children are compelled to witness exchange of money by persons having little regard for their surroundings.

The speeches while short were presented in a vigorous, interesting way, and the wide range of subjects caused them all to be of direct benefit to those present. Applause was frequent and unrestrained, appetites were keen, doing full justice to the bountiful supper in every way, in fact, the entire affair was pleasing and profitable in every way.

FAVORS AMERICAN SCHOOL WORK FOR YOUNG ARGENTINES

La Presna, Buenos Aires Paper, Says Thousands Should Attend College.

DESIRES ASSIMILATION OF AMERICAN METHODS

Character of Argentine Energy Not Equal to That of the American.

Buenos Aires, July 6.—Young Argentines by the thousands ought to be sent to North American universities, says La Presna, "in order to assimilate the manners of work, the methods of scientific investigation, the rapidity of execution and above all the vigor and eagerness that characterizes North American life."

Out of 4,636 foreign students now enrolled in the larger universities of the United States, only 14 are Argentines, says the newspaper. Argentines have been called the "Yankees of South America" by other countries of the continent but these figures go to disprove the statement that "the vital Yankee one" with which the Argentine people are credited has been transmitted by Argentine youths who have returned.

SHARP CONTRASTS NOTED IN WORK OF LATE CONVENTIONS

Great Change Has Occurred in form of Oratory Featuring Occasions.

Chicago, June July 6.—The nomination oratory which marks the two great political conventions this year is in sharp contrast to the nominating speeches of the early days of the parties. This has been brought out afresh by inquiry at the Chicago Historical Society and the Newberry Library here.

In the first great Republican convention Abraham Lincoln was nominated for the first time, by Mr. Judd of Illinois, in these words:

"I desire on behalf of the delegation from Illinois to put in nomination as a candidate for President of the United States Abraham Lincoln of Illinois."

The first national nominating convention of the Democratic party was held 25 years earlier, in Baltimore, May 21, 23, 1832. It was at this gathering that Andrew Jackson was endorsed for his second term. Jackson had been nominated previously in a number of states by the methods which were then passing away and according to the Newberry Library it is doubtful if there was any speech at all placing him in nomination at the first Democratic national convention. The business of this convention was principally to nominate for the vice-presidency.

The convention adopted a resolution concurring in Jackson's "re-elected nominations." The resolution was drawn in 60 words.

Previous to that time from 1800 to 1801 nominations for the presidency and vice-presidency, the well-known reference library says, were by congressional nominating caucus, consisting of party members of both Houses of congress. The last congressional caucus was held in 1824. Jackson opposing the "King Caucus" as it was termed, as undemocratic. In 1828 he was nominated by state legislative caucuses and convention held in various grew up and out of them came the national convention.

SENATOR REED BRANDS LEAGUE OF NATIONS AS A LEAGUE OF TREASON

Kansas City, July 5.—The League of Nations was denounced as a "league of treason and covenant of national death" by Senator Jas. A. Reed, who returned here today from San Francisco, where he was refused a seat as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention. Senator Reed, addressing a mass meeting in a convention hall here declared that he was privately assured "by grape-vine messages" while his case was being heard, that the credentials committee of the convention would seat him if he would agree to keep silent in regard to the league of nations on the convention floor. His refusal to make such an agreement was responsible for his being denied a seat, he said.

"If there is one lesson that this country needs to learn," Senator Reed said in his speech, "it is that this is not a one-man country. It is a 110,000,000 men country. If you would keep this republic safe you must do your own thinking. Yes, the people, are the source of all power. The sooner you exercise it, the better it will be for you and for the country." Senator Reed denounced the Democratic convention at San Francisco as a "convention afflicted with international blind staggers."

Without direct personal reference to anyone, Senator Reed declared that there was a difference between the doctrine of the Divine Right of Kings "and the modern doctrine that a man elected to office becomes thereby a leader, and that all who differ with him are excommunicated and outcast."

Robert Lansing, former Secretary of State, described as a man whom the President took to France with him, who knew anything about international law "and about the only one who had ordinary common sense;" and he asserted that Lansing's removal from office was the result of his "insistence upon warning the people of the true meaning of this league with treason, this covenant of national death."

DUBLIN TERRITORY LATELY DISTURBED BY BIG ELECTIONS

County Elections Causes Hostile Feelings Against Central Faction.

Dublin, July 6.—The net result of the recent county council elections is that now both in the cities and in the counties in 28 out of the 32 counties the local government is in direct hostility to the central government.

The first conflict between them will arise out of the question of paying compensation for outrage. Every day the judges are awarding to the relatives of murdered policemen, to injured policemen, and to the owners of burned police premises large sums as compensation chargeable on the local rates. The total already runs up close to $750,000.

The local authorities have refused to collect taxes for these payments. In the case of some of them the government can secure money by deductions from the sums payable to the local authorities by the imperial exchequer in relief of local taxes.

In the majority of cases the parties awarded compensation have only acquired a right to sue the local authorities in the courts for the money. It is believed that even after judgment is given, the local authorities will refuse to pay. Many of them have passed resolutions saying they will recognize no authority save that of Dall Eileann. The government has decided to introduce a bill in Parliament to enforce payment of this compensation money.

SPLENDID CROWDS PRESENT AT RACES IN CITY YESTERDAY

5,000 People from Many Parts of State Attend Fourth of July Event.

CLASS RACES PROVE OF GREAT INTEREST

Fastest Horses of Section Provided Amusement from 1 to 6 O'clock.

It is estimated that some over five thousand people attended the Fourth of July horse races conducted at the fair grounds in this city yesterday afternoon, and all reports indicate that the crowd was the most orderly for its size in many years. The races began at one o'clock with the final heats being concluded shortly before six o'clock. The event consisted of four classes with from six to eight of the fastest horses in this section of the state participating in each race.

The fair grounds was completely thronged with people as early as one o'clock, with every seat in the large grandstand being occupied. The grandstand in the ball park was also completely packed at two o'clock, while throngs gathered on the inside of the track and around the track rails to witness the occurrence. Each mile heat was closely contested, and interest was intense until the last horse passed under the wire in the final heat. The ball game slightly augmented the crowd at five o'clock, and there was so much interest manifested in the game that the field would hardly accommodate the crowds. The outfield and side lines were literally swarming with spectators, and playing at times became rather difficult on account of the crowd unintentionally pushing too near the outfield lines.

More than general interest was manifested.

PREMIERS GATHER FOR CONFERENCES ON PEACE TREATY

Allied and German Delegates to Confer in Meeting at Spa, Belgium.

Spa, Belgium, July 5.—There was a brief meeting today of the allied and German delegates, who during the next few days will discuss matters relating to the peace treaty.

The session was held in the drawing room of the Villa Fraimuse and the German delegates, Chancellor Fehrenbach, Dr. Walter Simons, the foreign minister, and Herr Wirth, minister of finance, were seated at the left end of the long horse shoe table next to the Japanese. There were no introductions or shaking of hands.

The president of the conference, M. Delacroix, the Belgian premier, arose and immediately opened what is considered to be the most important international event since the armistice by announcing the order of business, which included disarmament, reparations, coal supply, the trial of Germans accused of atrocities and the situation at Danzig.

M. Delacroix inquired of Herr Fehrenbach if he desired to make any observations. The chancellor, speaking in German, which was translated by an official interpreter, said: "I desire to say in behalf of the German government and of the German people that we have come here to take part loyally in the discussion of how the treaty of peace can be executed."

Mr. Lloyd George, as senior premier, thereupon expressed the gratification of the allied delegates, and Herr Fehrenbach continued: "I note that the military questions are to be first discussed."

Mr. C. T. Moore, of Winston, was in Greenville yesterday afternoon.

COX WINS BATTLE FOR PRESIDENT ON THE 44TH BALLOT

Nomination of Ohio Man Occurs After Hard Fight by All Factions.

PALMER RELEASES ALL OPPOSING DELEGATES

Much Joy Riding of Candidates Features Final Season of Balloting.

Auditorium, July 6.—James M. Cox, governor of Ohio, was nominated for President of the United States in the Democratic National Convention, at 1:40 o'clock this morning. The nomination came at the conclusion of a forty-four ballot struggle, in which he had steadily beaten down the forces of William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury and President Wilson's son-in-law.

Attorney General Palmer, at 9:45 o'clock, at the close of the thirty-eighth ballot, released his delegates, and left the Democratic National Convention free to move out of its deadlock and nominate a presidential candidate.

At the end of the second ballot after the recess, when the Palmer vote had touched 211, and it was apparent it could be driven no higher, former Representative C. C. Carlin, of Virginia Mr. Palmer's manager, took the platform and announced the withdrawal of the attorney-general from the race. Chairman Robinson, in presenting him, told the convention significantly he was presenting a man who had a statement to make which he was confident the convention would want to hear.

Expectation was in the air and the convention, which only a moment before had been in the height of disorder in a rackety demonstration quieted down like magic until a pin might almost have been heard to drop in the great auditorium as Carlin took the speaker's place and said in substance:

"I am about to make an announcement of greatest importance to this convention, at the conclusion of which I shall move a recess for 20 minutes to give the convention opportunity to decide what course it shall take. A Mitchell Palmer asks me to express his sincere thanks and appreciation to every delegate who had voted for his nomination, but he is unwilling to delay the proceedings further and authorized me to finally, positively and absolutely release every delegate pledged to him that the convention may proceed to nominate the next President of the United States."

There was a roar of "Hurrah for Palmer," as the lines broke and the convention went into a recess.

The entire Palmer vote added to McAdoo's total on the 38th ballot would give him 616 1-2.

The Palmer vote added to the Cox total on the same ballot would give the Ohio governor 594 1-2. Both leading candidates would fall short of the two-thirds which is seven hundred and twenty-nine.

The consensus of opinion seemed to be that Cox would gain in Massachusetts, Michigan and Maine, while McAdoo would gain heavily in Georgia and that Pennsylvania would split between Davis, McAdoo and Cox. There was speculation as to how long Davis votes would be held. Delegations voting solidly under the unit rule, but at heart divided between McAdoo and other candidates, have developed ill-feeling, so much so that the caucus, which took place on the floor during the recess gave evidence of the feeling.

Don't forget to attend the big dance of the season at Vanceboro, N. C., July 7th. A good jazz evening. Tickets $1.50 per couple including dancers.

WILSON CONGRATULATES COX ON HIS NOMINATION

Washington, July 6.—President Wilson received news of Governor Cox's nomination at eight o'clock this morning and immediately wrote a letter of congratulation on an office scratch pad with a pencil. "Please accept my hearty congratulations and cordial best wishes."

TUESDAY, JULY 6, 1920.

For folks who are good at balloting, you have but to look to the Democratic convention in San Francisco.

The Democratic National convention has certainly given San Francisco the worth of the money.

It did not take any fire works to pull off a big fourth of July day for Greenville.

The good folks who want the real Pitt county home product newspaper, are coming right along with subscriptions to The Reflector. More names are getting on the list every day, and they come voluntarily.

If people would be a little patient and not all try to rush their cars out of the fair grounds when races or games are over, such traffic congestion as occurred yesterday evening would be avoided. There is plenty of time for everybody to get out of public places if they will wait their turn, and a bit of waiting makes less liability to accident.

MONEY MARKET.

Increased discount rates can hardly be expected to do more than check further borrowing, according to the National Bank of Commerce in New York, until the railroad situation improves so as to permit prompt liquidation of commercial and agricultural credits. In its money market discussion in the July number of its magazine, Commerce Monthly, the bank declares that the present partial breakdown of transportation, by interfering with the movement of products, has prevented the liquidation of a tremendous volume of credits such as is normally effected at the season of the year.

"During the period from May 16 to June 15," the bank points out, "the money market has experienced continued tension which, largely as a consequence of the traffic situation, had become pronounced during the preceding month. The strain on credit facilities has been reflected in a further general advance in money rates. While some improvement of the traffic situation, mainly potential rather than actual, has been accomplished, it has not proceeded sufficiently to release lease any considerable part of the credit which had been looked up, and traffic conditions can be expected to improve only slowly. Meanwhile, the credit requirements of a new crop season will become pressing in the not distant future.

"Until the railroad situation improves sufficiently to afford an adequate physical basis for the prompt liquidation of commercial and agricultural credits, the increased discount rates adopted by many of the Federal reserve banks can hardly be expected to do more than check further borrowing; thereafter, they should be a strong influence in effecting a curtailment of outstanding credit, in preparation for the heavy autumn requirements."

THE 1919 COTTON CROP

A pamphlet entitled "Cotton Production in the United States—1919" will shortly be issued by the Bureau of the Census. The revised figures of cotton from the crop of 1919 are 11,324,541 running bales, counting round as half bales. The equivalent in 500-pound bales, gross weight, is 11,419,707, and in 500-pound bales, net weight, 10,923,512. This is the fifth successive short crop, all of those from 1915 to 1919, inclusive, ranging between eleven million and twelve million bales. Compared with the crop of 1918, all of the states, with the exception of Arizona, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Texas show a reduction, the greatest loss being for Georgia from 2,117,890 bales to 1,678,765 bales, a loss of 439,125 bales. Florida showed the largest proportional loss, dropping from 34,951 bales to 17,317 bales. The loss in this state was due to decreased acreage and to the ravages of the boll weevil. Oklahoma almost doubled the production of 1918, increasing from 585,149 bales to 1,011,187 bales. Texas also showed an increase of 350,000 bales.

During the ten-month period ending May 31, 1919, the production of linters amounted to 605,872 bales. This is the smallest production of linters since before the European War, which stimulated the demand for use in the manufacture of gun cotton and smokeless powder and resulted in a large increase in the cut of linters per ton of seed. The cut per ton during the present season averages a little over 75 pounds whereas in 1918 the mills were required to cut about 150 pounds. As a result the grade of linters being produced is better than during the war.

The sea-island crop of 1919 was only 6,916 bales, which compares with the 1916 crop of 117,559 bales. This practical abandonment of the growing of sea-island cotton is due to the infestation of the boll weevil throughout the entire sea-island belt.

While cotton is grown to a greater or less extent in seventeen states, the combined production of Georgia, Oklahoma, South Carolina and Texas, all of which returned more than one million bales, was 7,102,557 bales or 62.3 per cent of the total crop for the year. Texas alone produced 2,960,335 bales, or 25 per cent; Georgia, 1,678,758 bales, or 14.7 per cent; South Carolina, 1,462,277 bales, or 12.8 per cent, and Oklahoma, 1,001,187 bales, or 8.8 per cent.

Only one county produced more than 100,000 bales from the crop of 1919, namely Bolivar, Mississippi, with 106,308 bales.

WOULD DISCOURAGE BETS ON BASEBALL CONTESTS

The lovers of good sport and wholesome recreation have made it possible to have a local base-ball team and to provide clean base-ball as a means of diversion and the development of community spirit. But a very serious danger of bringing this sport into disrepute has gradually developed by betting on the games. This form of enthusiasm is demoralizing to our youth.

We, therefore, representatives of the undersigned organizations do hereby protest against betting on the base-ball games and urge all true lovers of our national game to discourage this practice.

from North American centers of learning.

"The character of Argentine energy is not a consequence," continues La Prensa, "of an imitation of the pushing North American life. Our progress is due to our own effort, the effort of Argentines and assimilated foreigners who reside among us. And until now, when happily the North Americans are beginning to direct their action toward this country, the influence of capital has been European, especially English.

"But there is no doubt that it would be beyond measure advantageous to found in the spirit of our people some of that vigor and speed which North Americans know how to put in all their activities. Even 'progressive and agile France,' learned a lesson in celerity of initiative from the United States during the war, says the paper, adding the initiative of Argentines 'suffers from that slowness, that excess of criticism, those discouragements and vacillations peculiar to the Latin race."

where the ladies and gentlemen, boys and girls, of our city are present in large numbers, it is especially offensive to see wads of money held up to public gaze and takers sought for it. Every one who cares to may see and hear this very thing almost every afternoon at the games. It is wrong in the first place, demoralizing to the grand old past time, and disconcerting to our players, and should be stopped.

How are we going to stop it? Well, I should like to see every vestige of the practice tabooed, but this is interfering with a personal privilege which I believe will be difficult to uproot; but the officers of the law and the moral weight of public censure can stop public gambling. Such weight should be, and I believe is, unnecessary. Those who are responsible for the bad state of things, if they will stop just a minute, and think, will see the evils effects of the practice and will of their mind cease wagering their money on an amusement in which every one of us is enthusiastically interested.

The boys on the team request that the supporters of the game play fair with them. Do by them as generously and as sportsmanlike as they are doing by us and we will stop making and losing money on their play.

J. B. TURNER.

COX RECEIVES INFORMATION OF NOMINATION AT OFFICE

Dayton, O., July 6.—Governor Cox declined to make any statement until after he receives notification of his nomination from the convention. The governor received news of his nomination in his newspaper office, the Dayton News, surrounded by fellow newspaper workers, a few relatives and intimate friends. When the Associated Press wire flashed the nomination his first act was to cross the room and kiss his wife. During the morning the Dayton Chamber of Commerce decided on a huge jollification meeting late today or tonight.

PASTOR GIVES NOTICE OF CONTEMPLATED RESIGNATION

Rev. W. H. Moore, pastor of Memorial Baptist church, which he has served most acceptably for some over three years, brought surprise to his congregation Sunday by announcing his contemplated resignation. Under a rule of the church three months notice is required for the severance of pastoral relation, and Mr. Moore stated that the notice was given now in anticipation of presenting his resignation to become effective the first of October.

WHAT INTERESTING AMUSEMENT WILL DO FOR A TOWN

Talk about big crowds, Greenville had one yesterday in observance of the 4th of July holiday. It was estimated that eight thousand to ten thousand people visited Greenville during the day and the admissions to the fair grounds for the races and ball game reached fully six thousand. Amuzu Park also had a record breaking attendance and the most in White's theatre had its full share. With all the great crowd here no disorder nor accidents were reported. The day proved conclusively what the providing of interesting entertainment will do for a town. People saw Greenville yesterday who perhaps had never been here before, and they were convinced that we have a good town.

AUTOMATIC FIRE ALARM CAUSES SOME EXCITEMENT

A bit of excitement was caused late Sunday afternoon by the ringing of the alarm to the fire extinguishing system in the factory of the John Flanagan Buggy Company. When the gong sounded a crowd hurried to the factory looking for fire, but none was found. An inspection of the system disclosed that unusually low water pressure just at that time had caused the gong to ring. It was a good test of the excellence of the system installed in the big plant.

Messrs. D. T. Morrow and C. T. Robbins, were in Greenville yesterday, attending the races.

if you dilly-dally around until train time.

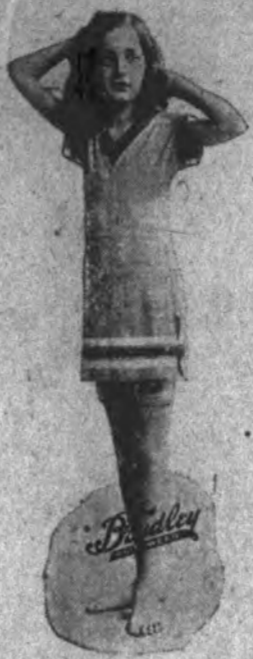

You may never have had it put up to you just like this before but the longer you put off the buying of your Summer suit the more more trouble you may have getting aboard.

Left overs, you don't want at any price—but they are what you are going to choose from if you stand around talking to the freight agent all day while your friends are checking and packing their baggage.

The Summer's young yet. But the best selections turn gray about August 1st. Today's the day.

WASHINGTON WINS TWO GAMES FROM GREENVILLE CLUB

Fourth of July Double-Header Captured by Washington in Unusually Easy Manner.

Washington observed the Fourth of July in a profitable way yesterday by taking both games of a double-header from Greenville, the first game being played in Washington by the score of 15 to 2, the second in the Greenville by the score of 6 to 2. Both contests were largely attended, in fact, it is estimated that five thousand people witnessed the Greenville game, while it is believed that from 1600 to 2,000 saw the exhibition in Washington. The day was ideal for splendid playing, but Greenville possibly never showed up to greater disadvantage and Washington found the club and easy victim in both games.

The first game at Washington was nothing more than a complete walk-over for Washington, for from the first inning until the termination of the game in the seventh the locals met with little opposition and romped down the home circuit as if they were out on a holiday sprint. Wilkins, for the visitors, pitched in splendid form, but 13 errors coupled with a series of wild throws by his team mates lost the game entirely. Even the slow simple grounders hit to the infield resulted in runs for Washington, for the ball couldn't be handled consistently and went wild practically every time there was something at stake.

Washington had only one error credited to it for the entire game, playing fast and favorably at every stage. Persons and Spencer landed for home runs, while Banks, for Greenville managed to place one over the fence in fourth inning, with one man on bases, scoring Greenville's only two tallies. Both clubs hit frequently, but the Greenville club found it impossible to hit when hits meant runs, and failed to accept other opportune chances for scoring. Washington made good every chance and had gained such a definite lead by the seventh frame that further playing would have meant very little to the visitors.

The evening game was merely a repetition of the morning exhibition for Greenville failed to handle the ball at critical stages. Seven errors were credited to the club for the entire game, while, Washington played an errorless game. Smith pitched ball for the local allowing eight hits, but lack of support also was responsible for the defeat. Manning pitched both games for Washington, and prevented hits when they would have resulted in runs. He pitched effectively in both contests, tightening up particularly at critical stages.

The loss of both games might have been hard luck on Greenville's part, as old followers of the club claim, but it is certain that both contests would have been more profitable if errors would have been avoided. Costly errors and inopportune hitting were chiefly responsible for Washington's victory, for the game couldn't have terminated otherwise under such circumstances.

THE DOT RED CROSS
By Clifford Leon Sherman

It was Bob. Of course it was. As Mildred said later it could not possibly have been anybody else. She and Bob just held on to each other in silence and the rest of the world was simply blotted out. Words were entirely unnecessary. Mildred's nurse friend settled herself comfortably to wait until they should come back to earth again. Finally she whispered that somebody was coming. Then she spoke loudly but they paid no attention and probably under the circumstances they would not have heard an approaching
