PLAN TO PUT STOP TO SECRET TRADING IN GERMAN CIRCLES

Both Germany and Holland Waging Campaign Against Clandestine Promoters

The Hague, Aug. 10.—Troops have been sent by both the German and the Dutch governments, to the little village of Dinxperloo, which is situated partly on Dutch and partly on German territory, in order to put an end to the clandestine trade thriving there which, in the past few weeks, had assumed such proportions that the local authorities were unable to prevent violation of the import and export duty regulations.

No less than 300,000 Germans—men, women and children—had come to Dinxperloo with the view of buying there food and other articles which they could only get at home at higher prices than the exorbitant ones charged by the Dutch sellers.

The principal street of Dinxperloo, which is about three miles long, and of which one side is Dutch while the other is German, was crowded. Soon the throngs got beyond control of the custom house officers.

As soon as the troops arrived, however, order was restored and the Dutch commander issued a manifesto saying that nobody at Dinxperloo

ITALY CLAIMS TO BE AS WET AS ANY SECTION IN EUROPE

Country Can No Longer be Called "European Desert" Because of Saloons.

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES SERVED EXTENSIVELY

Over 186,000 Places Open for Sale of Wines and Whiskies of All Brands.

Rome, Aug. 10.—Italy cannot be called the "desert of Europe" because for her 40,000,000 inhabitants she provides 186,000 places where wine and alcoholic beverages may be consumed, according to the Italian Statistical Annual which has just been published.

Lombardy with a population of about 5,000,000 leads the way with 32,442 drinking places, the figures show. Piedmont follows her closely while the province of Rome, which in 1911 had a population of less than 1,500,000, has no less than 8,127 drinking places.

Many other interesting features of Italian life are revealed by the Annual. The death-rate of illegitimate children, for instance, is shown to be 40 percent greater than that of those born legitimately. Tuberculosis is said to have shown an increase, 50,000 of the 720,000 deaths in one year being attributed to that malady.

GOV. COX PRAISES ROOSEVELT SPEECH TO PARTY MONDAY

Gov. Cox Praises Roosevelt Speech to Party Monday

Dayton, Ohio, Aug. 9.—Interest of Governor Cox in the notification ceremonies of his running mate, Franklin D. Roosevelt, was manifested in a statement issued tonight by the Democratic presidential candidate commenting on Mr. Roosevelt's personality and acceptance address.

"Mr. Roosevelt's speech is characteristic of the man," said Governor Cox. "It is a wholesome, sensible view of conditions, full of hope as to our future and radiant of the happiness of the individual. The western country will like this splendid type of progressive statesman."

Governor Cox reserved comment until his future speeches at least on the statement of Senator Harding's headquarters criticizing his acceptance address. The governor's friends said that it was not expected that his address would meet with approval of the Harding camp.

NEW YORK SUBWAY TRAFFIC METHODS ADOPTED ON SEAS

Principles of "Follow the Green Line" Adopted Along Harbor Fronts.

TO GUIDE VESSELS TO SAFETY ON ROUGH SEAS

New York, Aug. 10.—The principle of "follow the green line" used successfully by the management of New York's subway system in handling crowds at congested transfer points has been adapted in a measure to insure safety to ships at sea around crowded harbors.

In the outer reaches of New York harbor where deep water meets shoals there begins a marine passage way known as Ambrose channel. This channel leads up through the narrows into the inner harbor and to the docks and in this channel the guiding cable has been laid.

The device consists of a cable 16 miles long laid in the center of the channel. It is energized with an alternating current from the shore. Ships to take advantage of it must be equipped with audiphones or listening devices attached to the hull. Approaching the channel the sound waves emitted by the cable can be heard for some distance, and the increasing or decreasing strength of the sound enables the ship to be steered until it is right over the source.

COX SENDS MESSAGE TO SUFFRAGE FORCES IN TENNESSEE FIGHT

Nashville, Aug. 10.—Suffrage forces were encouraged here today by a message from Cox to Miss Charl Williams, Democratic National committee vice-chairman, saying he hoped that the legislature would ratify the suffrage amendment at once.

ASKS LEGISLATURE TO GIVE SUFFRAGE FAVORABLE ACTION

Governor Roberts Calls on Legislature to Ratify National Amendment.

SAYS PARTY'S PLEDGE SHOULD BE REGARDED AS DECIDELY SACRED

Tennessee Executive Declares Platform Principles Should be Sustained.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 9.—Prompt ratification of the Federal woman suffrage amendment in order that the women of the country might "share in shaping the destiny of the republic" was urged by Governor Roberts today in his message to the Tennessee legislature, which met in extraordinary session to act upon the measure.

The Governor, stating that "government by political parties is the best, safest and most responsive to the will of the people," and quoting platform declarations of the Republican and Democratic parties on the suffrage issue, declared that "party platforms have been accepted as party law, and are so regarded as sacred pledges by members of those parties elected upon such platforms."

Platform declarations of the Republican and Democratic State conventions, both of which favored suffrage, also were quoted. "It thus appears," he said, "that both political parties have clearly and unequivocally declared for the ratification of this amendment, and hence no party man is without party law to support his action in voting favorably upon this amendment."

"Therefore, in the sincere hope and confident belief that you will at an early date ratify this amendment and follow up this action with proper legislation placing women upon an equal footing with men at the ballot box," concluded the message, "I submit this issue to you as perhaps the most far-reaching and momentous one on which any body of men has been called to pass since the establishment of our government."

The Senate and House both adjourned until tomorrow after an hour's session and without the introduction of the ratification resolutions. Leaders said these probably would be offered tomorrow and would be referred to the judiciary committees which, if inclined to do so, would conduct hearings. A vote in either house was not regarded as probable before the end of the week at the earliest.

Republican members of the Senate and House held a caucus at which leaders were said to have told the caucus that political expediency demanded that the Republicans support ratification.

STATE LEGISLATURE IN SPECIAL SESSION AT RALEIGH TODAY

Raleigh, Aug. 10.—The North Carolina legislature met in special session today to consider taxation and woman suffrage. The suffrage question, it is believed will come up for consideration about Thursday. Governor Bickett will recommend a reduction in tax limitation for state and county purposes from 66 2/3 to a hundred dollars to fifteen cents, not including school tax. It has been announced that the governor will submit the suffrage amendment with special message urging ratification.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 10, 1920

The public expectantly awaits Senator Harding's criticisms of Franklin Roosevelt's acceptance address.

It is believed that the state legislature will be able to complete its business within the next twelve days, but since woman suffrage is to be considered during that time it is hardly advisable to figure under that number at the least.

Senator Harding says that Governor Cox's address of acceptance was a "curious mixture of errors and mis-statements," but as the Republican candidate for the presidency is hardly capable of comprehending the real meaning of the Democrat's address it is hardly probable that the public will be greatly impressed with his remarks.

That good roads talk from many sections of the state is pleasing indeed for if there is anything that denotes progress, it is good road talk. There are many sections that could realize wonderful advantages if good roads were available, and the sooner such localities make provisions for such improvements the sooner they will be on a direct road to prosperity. Commerce and industry demand excellent highways and the community without them cannot measure up to those with them. The day for improved roads is here, and the sooner country officials realize this fact the better off the entire state will be.

Democrats of the country regard Governor Cox's address as a great victory for the ideals of President Wilson, for it embraces the most popular thought of the Wilson ideals and shows in a plain kind of way that the future kind of government will be conducted along the president's way of thinking. It is possible that no greater tribute could be paid to the greatness of the candidate than expressed by himself in supporting Mr. Wilson's principles for it is recognized fact that the president is one of the greatest statesmen of his day, fully capable of guiding the nation's destinies and formulating plans for its future prosperity. The position which he has taken on practically every public question of the past proved conclusively that he always looks to the constructive side of life, and that when he acts he considers the interests of the people first, last and always. Nothing better could be said of Governor Cox, and if he continues to support the Wilson ideals his record will be irreproachable.

Now that the Polish government has evacuated Warsaw it is believable that the Bolsheviks will have his own merry time in destroying the city, if they should gain entrance before the Allies render assistance. The situation is truly serious, but should the greater powers interfere Poland will be saved from an awful defeat at the hands of the merciless "Red" troops. Russia may be forced to retrace its steps over conquered ground leaving dead and wounded behind before the conflict concludes, and Poland will be saved the awful tragedy awaiting her in the case of "red" supremacy. England and France desire to take action, but up to this time the kind of action has been a matter of more than ordinary consideration. The Bolsheviks was requested to grant a truce of several days, but declined so firmly that England became slightly nettled. It is certain, however, that something will be done, and that soon, for procrastination will mean Poland's ultimate defeat and destruction. The little country is in a pitiable plight, and if it should fall into the hands of the ruthless invaders, its future will be too horrible for description.

PROVE YOUR RIGHT TO VOTE?

The right to vote is only one of many important rights which may be difficult to prove without legal evidence. Because a birth record is the best evidence of age, parentage and citizenship, and because of the importance to the individual and to society of careful birth records, the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor in a pamphlet recently issued recommends better birth registration as the first measure in a Children's Year follow-up program.

Only 23 states and the District of Columbia now keep birth records with sufficient accuracy and completeness to admit them to the U. S. birth registration area. These States are California, Connecticut, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, and Wisconsin. They represented, in 1919, 58.4 per cent of the population of the country.

Children now being born in the remaining 25 states representing almost half of the population may be seriously embarrassed in not possessing a birth certificate when the time comes to prove that they are old enough to go to school, to go to work, to vote, to marry. They may have trouble in proving their title to inherited property in the absence of proof of parentage, and their right to hold public office or receive passports for foreign travel may be questioned if evidence of citizenship furnished by a birth certificate is lacking.

The community also is handicapped in undertaking measures for the protection of life and health if it does not have vital statistics based on satisfactory birth and death records. Important welfare work for mothers and babies is impossible without careful birth registration. The phenomenal growth in "health visiting" of babies in England during the last five years is attributed to the notification of births act of 1915, which made notification within 3 days compulsory throughout the Kingdom.

It is encouraging to note that two hundred members of the state federation of labor in session in Charlotte will go in favor of woman suffrage, for this gives additional assurance that the legislature will be impressed with a general desire of the people that the issue receive ratification. This new influence, will probably mean much more in the interest of woman's enfranchisement than most people think, for labor in itself molds much of the sentiment in many districts and legislators will feel it their duty to vote according to the way people in their separate localities think. The state is becoming more and more in favor of suffrage, and while there is still severe opposition in many territories, it is not believed this will counteract the pleasing sentiment gaining ascendancy in regions at one time offering unusual opposition. Suffrage is inevitable, and the sooner woman's right to vote is recognized the better off the entire country will be, morally and otherwise. It is up to the thinking people to act, for with one more state suffrage will become a permanency.

Tobacco farmers of Pitt county are down at hard work now getting their product in readiness for marketing, and they are doing it in a way that is highly satisfactory and pleasing to those who will have to handle it after it reaches the warehouse floors. Handling the leaf after it leaves the barn is one of the principal features of the industry, for when it goes to the market carefully assorted and neatly tied, it is safe to say it will attract the attention much quicker than that which has not received careful grading. Good tobacco is going to be in demand at good prices, so it is up to the farmer to carefully prepare his offering before marketing. This fact means more this year than ever before, for with demand centering entirely upon better grades it is highly important that careful preparation be one of the first considerations of the planters, for it assures quicker disposition from the wagon to the warehouse floors and from the warehouses to the factories.

Alabama women demand that every man of the South refrain from voting in the coming presidential election because of their strong opposition to women suffrage, but as the men of the South generally are capable of forming their own conclusion it is hardly probable that such a request will meet the slightest attention. To slight Democracy simply because a few set of anti-suffragists desire it would certainly be a greater dishonor than the ladies evidently could imagine at the time of their request, but there is plenty of time for them to realize the great mistake they have made. People of the South fortunately vote according to their way of thinking, and since they think right much of Governor Cox's position on the woman suffrage question it is quite probable the vote will be considerably larger than ever.

WALLACE REID IN NEW SCREEN

COMEDY

"The Dancin' Fool" Offers Star, a Breezy, Congenial Role.

If you think jugs have gone out of style since prohibition came in, see Wallace Reid in his latest screen comedy, "The Dancin' Fool," at White's Theatre, tonight.

The handsome star has the role of "Yes" Tibble, who invades Broadway fresh from the sod to work for his Uncle Enoch, owner of a dilapidated jug business. By chance "Yes" proves to Junie Budd, a cabaret dancer, that he has a pair of jazzical feet. They secure a job as dancer in New York's gayest restaurant. But "Yes" is "sold" on the jug game and puts over a startling campaign that turns Enoch's tottering concern into a fine money-maker. But he doesn't forget his pretty dancing partner.

Bebe Daniels is the girl, and Tully Marshall, Raymond Hatton, and Lillian Leighton are also in the cast. The picture was adapted from a popular magazine story by Henry Payson Dowst. Sam Wood directed, and it is a Paramount Artcraft photoplay.

WASHINGTON WINS FROM GREENVILLE IN MONDAY'S GAME

By Hitting Hard at Opportune Moments Washington Won Out by the Score of 7 to 2.

A large delegation of Greenville people went to Washington yesterday to see Greenville increase its hold on the honors of the last half of the series, but instead they were afforded the pleasure of seeing Washington take the local club completely in tow, winning the contest by the score of 7 to 2. The game was in no ways similar to the splendid exhibitions put by the Greenville club during the earlier part of the last half, for Washington showed its superiority both in the field and at the bat, and consequently found the visitors more easy than expected.

Greenville probably showed less of its old time form than any game with in the last several days, for chances that would have usually been easy proved most difficult in the field, and Washington as a result failed to experience the determined, insistent spirit of the visitors, who played from inning to inning, completely unable to vie with the local club. Washington probably handled the ball in better form than any other game of the season, and particularly at the bat. The club's stick work was intensified in the third inning when the score stood two to two by a rally which proved entirely disastrous to Greenville. A series of hits sent two runners across the rubber, then Stewart lined the sphere out for a home run, scoring one man who happened to be on bases at the time.

Greenville scored two runs in the first inning, but after that time every effort to send a runner around the circuit proved futile. Washington handled the ball fast and consistently in the field, pulling off a number of doubles at first and second that gave them a decided advantage over the visitors. Quite a number of times runners failed to get any further than first and second bases, but luck happened to break to the advantage of Washington at intervals, particularly in the first, third and fifth innings when the total scoring was accomplished. Orr started off on the mound for Greenville, but he proved decidedly easy for Washington, being relieved in the third inning by Thompson, who succeeded in stemming Washington's tide of victory to such an extent that only one more runner was sent across the rubber during the game.

Greenville really had a splendid chance to score during the last half of the game, but inability to hit opportunely prevented runners from reaching the cherished rubber after getting on bases. The most effective hitting was done in the first inning, and after that time a timely hit proved absolutely impossible. Runners were gotten on bases several times, but getting them to the third corner proved probably as difficult as getting them clean around the circuit. The club worked hard and played spiritedly but the off day with the willow resulted in only four hits of the entire game. Ellis being credited with three of those, Berhle one. Washington secured twelve hits throughout the entire game, getting six off Orr and six off Thompson.

Greenville plays at Washington today and Wednesday, and those who attended yesterday may be assured that they will be given an opportunity of seeing the club present an entirely different exhibition from that yesterday. Every club has its days off, and the first game in Washington happened to catch the locals completely out of form. These last two games are expected to feature in fast and interesting playing for they mean that Greenville either continues to lead the league or possibly have another club vying for honors with the same percentage. For that reason it is assured something good is in store for those who go to Washington, believing in the club's ability to win at all times.

WILLIAMSTON WINS FROM TARBORO CLUB

Williamston, Aug. 9.—Williamston defeated Tarboro here this afternoon by the score of 4 to 1. The game was fast and interesting in every part, but the visitors inability to hit opportunely was chiefly responsible for the loss of the game.

ITALY CLAIMS TO BE AS WET AS ANY SECTION IN EUROPE

Law, some of its 28,974 charitable institutions, with a capital of about $435,000,000 date from the Middle Ages and provide for more than 1,000 hospitals 17 lunatic asylums, 82 orphanages, 21 night refuges, 14 food kitchens and about 100 refuges for deserted children. The statistics say that in Italy annually 200,000 children are abandoned by their parents. Italy has more than 120,000 elementary schools, with 75,000 teachers and about 4,000,000 students although about 46 percent of the Italian people, especially in the South, are reported illiterate. Piedmont, in the north, has only 17 percent, the smallest number of illiterates. School enrollment shows 70,000 normal and complementary students; 62,500 in the gymnasiums, 15,000 in the lyceums; 130,000 in technical schools; 29,000 in technical institutes; about 8,000 in nautical institutes; 32,000 in schools of mineralogy; 12,000 in industrial and commercial schools; about 1,000 in art schools; 4,200 in musical schools and institutes; 4,000 in boarding schools and 40,000 in the universities. OHIO'S PRIMARIES PROMISE TO BE OF UNUSUAL INTEREST

Elvira.
In the Democratic senatorial contest, the two entrants are W. A. Julian, a Cincinnati business man, and A. F. O'Neil, a judge of the Akron municipal court and overseas veteran. A. V. Donahy, of New Philadelphia, state auditor, is opposed for the Democratic nomination for governor. The Republican gubernatorial contest, however, is a spirited one with four candidates entered. They are Colonel Ralph D. Cole, of Finlay, former Mayor Harry L. Davis, of Cleveland, Representative Roscoe C. McCulloch, of Canton and David Wesley Wood, of Ohio Soldiers and Sailors' Home at Sandusky. Colonel Cole, a former Congressman, served with the 37th (Ohio National Guard) division in France. He was a candidate for the senatorial nomination in 1916.

Davis was three times elected mayor of Cleveland, resigning when he became a candidate for the nomination for governor. Wood, a Civil War veteran, is an inmate of the soldiers' home at Sandusky. He never has been in a political contest before. All of the 14 Republican congressmen are up for renomination and only two, John G. Cooper, of Youngstown, and Henry I. Emerson, of Cleveland, have opposition in the primary. Representative Emerson is opposed by former Senator Theodore E. Burton. Mr. Burton did not seek renomination in 1916 being Ohio's candidate for the presidential nomination. For some years he has been associated with a New York bank and his re-entrance into Ohio politics is looked upon with much interest.

THE DOT DRAWING CLASS
"Yes," insisted the Dot Drawing teacher, "it is quite possible to put some dots around the dummy letter E and make it look like something."
"I don't see it," said Ethel. "It looks more like a half a dollar."
"But," explained the Dot Drawing teacher, "you haven't collected the dots yet. Why, I know that your mother is a very careful woman and that whenever she lets you take your little brother out on his sled she always sees that he has on a..."
