SATURDAY, AUG. 21, 1920.

Greenville and Scotland Neck claim to have the best ball clubs in Eastern Carolina, and they have, too.

If officials of the Eastern Carolina league ruled the world, this would certainly be a nice place to live in. They are so fair and impartial.

The highest ideal of the Bolsheviks is apparently to raise a disturbance. And they have succeeded admirably in this single instance.

Cox's charges of Republican oligarchy are so authentic that they fit exceptionally well without endeavor to increase their enormity.

North Carolina didn't ratify the suffrage amendment exactly but it came so near that a number of the "ants" have suffered a severe attack of the ague—not argue.

Poland didn't make so much progress against the Russians at first, but the way the little country is fighting now justifies the belief that the Russians have a hard road to travel in the future.

PUT UP AND SHUT UP.

The Tarboro-Southerner continues its endeavors to bring Greenville into disrepute by charges that it has been willingly and intentionally unfair in questions relative to the baseball situation in this section of the state. In fact, the paper has gone so far as to charge the Greenville club with actually stealing the concluding games of the series with both Tarboro and Williamston. To this statement, it can be said without reservation that the writer on the Southerner is either poorly informed regarding the issues or a dangerous equivocator which even his community should be in constant fear of. Practically every statement that has been made about Greenville is a direct perversion and certainty diverges from the truth in a manner that not only causes people to look upon the writer's effort with revulsion, but causes those intelligently informed to regard him as an inexpressibly poor representative of the community which he serves as a supposedly responsible representative of the press.

In referring to the championship game here Tuesday between Greenville and Scotland Neck, the paper declares that the Greenville umpire willfully stole the game from the visitors by unfair decisions in the ninth inning. It was also stated that Sheppard, who umpired the first part of the game was taken out because his decisions were not agreeable to Greenville people. The statement in itself is sufficiently false to give people a pretty good impression of the spirit behind the assertion, for everyone knows that Sheppard stopped umpiring on his own accord, being urged personally by captains of both clubs to continue, and being relieved by Trust upon his refusal. Virtually every statement made by the Tarboro paper so far is as misleading as the above, and shows conclusively that the writer is dominated by a venomous desire to discredit Greenville's really great victory over Tarboro, a victory that will ever be as great a source of joy to Greenville fans as it is discomfiting and disappointing to the people of Tarboro.

It may be easily recalled by those familiar with the last part of the series that Greenville beat Tarboro two games in such a fair way that no person could dispute the fact, and that the sentiment of Tarboro baseball representatives since that time has been absolutely vicious and malicious. The first game with Williamston and those with Washington were won fairly. Washington did not attempt to dispute the fact, but Williamston came and played, considered the game fair and square in every way until they returned home, sending back the statement that they were threatened with violence. This fact is also a direct truth. The Williamston management as guaranteed adequate police protection immediately when Greenville representatives were informed of their reason for not continuing the series. The mayor guaranteed this unreservedly, and Williamston had no reason in the world for not returning, with the exception of orders from the president who has proven himself absolutely partial to Williamston, falling completely to give Greenville the slightest shadow of a hearing.

The action of Tarboro and Williamston too has developed into one of the nastiest farces ever transpiring in this section of the country, and is greeted by intelligent people as such. Tarboro has been instrumental in the culmination of certain surreptitious movements which cheat Greenville out of justly deserved honors, while Williamston has directly forfeited its right of participation in even the best kind of out-of-baseball. Taking the situation as a whole, Greenville has nothing in the world to feel badly about, for Scotland Neck has recognized it as winner of the half of the series, and they are fighting for the pennant. What more can anyone ask for? However, if Tarboro will kindly refrain from meddling with Greenville's affairs it is probable that people here can attend to their own business without further assistance from such undesirable circumstances.

The Tarboro paper has had enough to say about a question that does not concern its people in the slightest. The use of the word, for they have been misled by Greenville regardless of its composition of professional players and insatiable desire to snatch victory from Greenville without regard for principles that bind civilized people to one another. It is up to Tarboro to put up and shut up. The town has done best, and has shown to the world the spirit of barbarism still surging in the veins of its citizenship.

That seventeen million women voters in the United States will come nearer to making the political atmosphere of the country than most people appear to expect. The American woman exerts a peculiarly effective influence for the high ideals of life it matters not where she may be found, and this fact is certainly going to have a desirable influence on the future. She will not be stooping below her level in going to the polls to vote for right and justice any more than going to the business house to perform her regular daily duties, and the facts advanced by opponents to this effect are lost in the greatness of woman's victory in every phase of life. Our women are the greatest creatures on earth, and the person who would limit her chances is truly retarding future progress of the country in an unmistakable way.

MISS MARY CORBETT DIES IN WASHINGTON HOSPITAL

Miss Mary Corbett the fifteen year old daughter of Elder J. S. Corbett, died in the Washington hospital this morning, after an operation for appendicitis. About two weeks ago Miss Corbett was suddenly taken ill and rushed to the hospital. Her condition was so critical at the time that the doctors operated immediately, and even though she has never been out of danger, hopes were expressed for her recovery. Mary was a general favorite with all who knew her. She possessed a sweet disposition and up until the time of her death was trying to take the place of her mother who died only a few weeks ago, and was a great consolation to her aged father and afflicted brother.

She is survived by her father, one brother, Mr. Roy Corbett and one sister, Mrs. Johnnie Cox, of Simpson. The interment will take place tomorrow afternoon at Red Banks. The sympathy of the entire community goes to the grief-stricken relatives.

GREENVILLE LOSES SECOND GAME OF SERIES TO HYPHENS

Scotland Neck Wins Second Championship Game from Greenville
by Score 5 to 4.

The Scotland Neck-Hobgood aggregation won the second game of the championship series of the Eastern Carolina league from Greenville at Hobgood yesterday afternoon by the score of 5 to 4. The game was entirely different from the first game played at Scotland Neck, for Greenville failed to show up in usual form, and was credited with five errors that counted largely in the success of the winners of the first half.

Both clubs played hard and determinedly throughout the entire game, and Greenville really maintained a definite lead until the sixth inning when Scotland Neck succeeded in sending four runners across the rubber. Greenville tied the score in the eighth inning, but in the ninth by a fortunate batting rally, the Hyphens succeeded in sending the winning tally home. The four runs in the sixth were due more to errors of the Greenville club than any other feature connected with the game, for the club played fast and consistently but handled the ball poorly at critical stages.

Smith pitched a pretty good game for Greenville until the sixth inning when he weakened considerably, yielding hits, which combined with successive errors, gave Scotland Neck one of the most direct advantages of the game for scoring. Shields and Crumpler did the mound work for the Hyphens, the former being relieved in the latter part of the third inning. Both were hit freely. Shields yielding six hits, Crumpler three but Greenville failed completely to hit at opportune moments after the fourth inning, with exception of the eighth when the final runner was sent around the circuit. Stringfield, Frazier, Massey, Dennehey, Berhle and Trust featured prominently with the willow for Greenville, Stringfield, Frazier, Massey and Dennehey being credited with two hits each out of four times at bat, Stringfield, Trust, Massey and Frazier lining the sphere out for a double each.

Kuyk, Pitt, Wood, Leftwich, Petway, Minton and Gurley did the stick work for Scotland Neck, and as they succeeded in hitting more advantageously than the visitors, the winning run in the ninth inning was sent home without great trouble. Both clubs at times played unusually fast and interesting, but Greenville merely had a day off and proved unable to handle the ball to an advantage when runners were on bases. Stringfield and Dennehey fielded in an almost spectacular way for Greenville, Dennehey making a long running catch of fly to center field that would otherwise have been good for at least three bases. Stringfield played splendidly at short, fielding at every chance in an exceptionally fine way, which combined with Berhle's work on third prevented the locals from meeting with more decided defeat.

The third game of the series will be played in Greenville this afternoon, and as both clubs are in the finest trim of the year it is quite natural that people are expecting something out of the ordinary. The third game meant much to both clubs for it will give one a decided lead for the pennant race the honor remaining with the club until Monday when activities will be continued. The Hyphens are confident of winning the pennant, but Greenville is also sure of being a stubborn contender for the honor, therefore, it is easily surmised that the game will be well worth seeing.

ILLINOIS FARMERS MAKE FREIGHT CAR SURVEY FOR STATE

tracks the first day of the count.

"At all stations, 9,294 cars were listed the first day and of these cars, 838 out of 9,294 cars had not been removed from the country point for seven consecutive days. This is just a little over 10 percent of the cars at such points.

"No count was made in Chicago. In several other large yards the association enumerators were ejected from the yards by railroad officials.

"Mine operators say they were forced to idleness many days each week leading to the strike of the miners which recently tied up the mines just when the farmers were needing coal for threshing. At this same time before the strike in Christian county, at Clarksdale and at Willeys, two trains of coal cars totaling 53 cars were reported empty at both first and last days of the count.

"If we may take the total number of freight cars of the country on December 31, 1918, as a basis for computation and consider that the percentage of immobility of cars is as great in Chicago, Toledo and New York as in country points like Clarksdale, Fidelity and Low Point, it is very moderate when we say that the total number of new cars which the railroads say they need to meet the transportation requirements of the present moment, is not a patch to the total of immobile cars, now idling by the weeks and months in terminal yards and on side tracks at country points.
