SEARCH FOR FUNDS GIVES GREAT TASK TO THE DEMOCRATS

Davison, Rockefellers and Garys Haven't Contributed Directly to Funds

Washington, Sept. 2.—A Democrat high in the administration circles gave an outline of the situation in the campaign as he sees it at this stage.

What will not be shown but what is well known is that men like Gary, Davison, Wood, Rockefeller and others will through their own agents put immense sums in this campaign.

When the war came on the government was compelled to call to its assistance some of the forces of "invisible government," masters of finance, Republicans.

Professor Goldziner Thinks Learned World Lost Great Chance in Refusal.

Budapest, Sept. 3.—"I as a scholar regret deeply the refusal of the United States to accept the mandate over Constantinople because the learned world lost a unique chance to have an American library in Turkey which would have brought out the still hidden treasures of mediæval Turkish literature.

"Either old Turkey must be reestablished, or else the nationalist must totally modernize it which would be a pity," continued professor Goldziner.

DODSON RESIGNS AS DIRECTOR OF LOCAL FARM DEPARTMENT

Popular Farm Demonstrator Agent to Enter Private Business in Charlotte

RESIGNATION BECAME EFFECTIVE ON FIRST DAY OF THIS MONTH

Has Been Potent Factor in Development of Agricultural Districts.

Mr. J. E. Dodson, who for the past two and a-half years has been in charge of farm demonstration work in his county, several weeks ago extended his resignation to the county commissioners, to become effective September 1st.

Mr. Dodson has probably been one of the most successful agents which the department has ever had, for he was thoroughly familiar with the work and had remained in the county long enough to become familiar with people in every section.

The demonstration department has thrived in an interesting way for the past several months, for Mr. Dodson distilled great spirit and enthusiasm in every endeavor, and had managed to bring the planter to realization of the real greatness of his soil and the possibilities underlying proper cultivation.

LARGE PRODUCTION IS EXPECTED FROM MANY TERRITORIES

Fifty Per Cent Increase in Factory Facilities to Expedite Sales.

TRIPLE SALES WILL BE IN PROGRESS ON EVERY HOUSE FLOOR

Drying Capacity Capable of Handling 500,000 Pounds of Tobacco a Day.

The opening of the Greenville tobacco market Tuesday, September 7th, promises to be one of the most eventful and auspicious in a number of years, for with increased facilities along virtually every line of industry tobaccoists are looking forward optimistically to probably greater developments than ever in the interest of the planter.

The delay in the opening date has given the planter more time in which to prepare his production for marketing, and it is expected that all seven mammoth warehouses will be crowded completely on the opening day and several days following.

Greenville will easily maintain its position as the third largest tobacco market in the South this year, for with triple sales in progress, and practically every buying interest represented, it is generally considered that sales throughout the entire season will be unusually lively.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 3, 1920.

That league of nations proposed by Senator Harding may meet the approval of Senators Lodge and Borah, but as to the rest of the world it is doubtful if it has even been considered.

The only chance for saving is to provide better conditions in a economic way, declares a prominent authority on European affairs. But as America sees it, the best way is to go to work and produce. This fact will apply to virtually every nation, and bring about a general improvement in every line of trade.

Judging by the number of residences under erection in various parts of the city it is plainly evident that the house shortage will not retard development much longer. The demand for homes has been pressing and quite out of the ordinary for several months, and it is pleasing indeed to note the number of homes now being constructed. No city or town can develop rapidly unless adequate houses are provided, and this fact has handicapped Greenville's growth probably to a greater extent than any other one thing. The situation will undoubtedly undergo a decided change in the near future, and when the reaction comes Greenville will expand noticeably in an industrial and commercial way. In fact, considerably more than in the past few months which have been considered exceptionally pleasing from every point of view.

The fact that favorable reports on the cotton situation are coming in from different communities suggests the probability of an unusually successful year for the farmer in this state, although reports emanating from other sections are more discouraging than they have been in sometime. The lack of sufficient rainfall is one of the principal reasons presented for the poor crops in many sections, while insects and poor development on account of sunshine is attributed for the shortage in a majority of the cotton growing states. In the event the planter is able to have his crop picked in time in North Carolina it may be safely said that the situation will be probably as good as could be expected, and that production will be decreased only to a very slight extent from that of last year, if any. The farmers in this immediate vicinity apparently are anticipating fairly fine crops, and if the weather continues good it is highly probable the season will be prosperous and pleasing in every way.

PROTECTING THE ILLEGITIMATE.

That children born out of wedlock may receive the protection of uniform laws, the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws at its annual meeting held in St. Louis August 19th adopted a resolution to include this subject in its program. The matter was brought up at the request of the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, and favorably reported upon by a committee of which John B. Sanborn, of Madison, Wis., was chairman.

The National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws is composed of representatives appointed by executive or legislative authority in the several States. It was organized to draft legislation relating to subjects on which uniformity is considered desirable, and has given considerable attention to legislation relating to domestic relations.

At the present time Minnesota affords a greater amount of protection to children born out of wedlock than does any other American State. In most of the other States, according to Ernst Freund, Professor of Jurisprudence and Public Law, University of Chicago Law School, legislation for the support and care of children of illegitimate birth is archaic.

Substantial progress in the movement for better protection of children born out of wedlock has been made recently. Following regional conferences held last February in Chicago and New York to consider standards which should govern legislation in the interest of such children, a committee representing both conference was appointed by the Children's Bureau to draft a memorandum embodying the principles agreed upon in the resolution of the two conferences, and to act in an advisory capacity to the Bureau on this subject. The membership of the committee was as follows: Ernst Freund, Chairman; Homer Folks, Secretary of the New York Charities Aid Association; William W. Hodson, Director of the Children's Bureau, Minnesota State Board of Control; Rev. William J. Kerby, Secretary of the National Conference of Catholic Charities; Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch, chairman of the Committee on Uniform Laws, National League of Women Voters; Mrs. Ada Elliot Sheffield, director of the Boston Bureau on Illegitimacy. A "Syllabus of Propositions to Serve as a Basis of Program for Illegitimacy Legislation" was drafted by Professor Freund and approved, with certain amendments, by the committee. This syllabus is included in a publication of the Bureau now in press.

With the explanation that the resolution had been taken out of its hands, and therefore, out of its jurisdiction, the Tennessee senate has returned the suffrage ratification resolution in which former action of the legislature had been expunged completely. The senate members merely explained that they considered the matter closed entirely, and while not desiring to show the House any discourtesy, reiterated the opinion expressed when the issue passed by a slight majority. The action has created considerable surprise in many sections of the country, although it was not unexpected, and shows conclusively that the senate really looked at the action from a standpoint of principle instead of a narrowed political point of view. Woman's enfranchisement is now an indisputable fact, for anything the House may do or say is without the slightest effect unless receiving recognition by the senate. The only alternative now is for each state to perfect its machinery for the woman vote, and the sooner this is done the better. The enfranchisement of seven million women will have telling effect in the coming election, and it is quite probable that as a moral issue it will mean much more than anticipated.

Republicans would discredit Governor Cox's charges of an enormous slush fund by calling off the senatorial investigation, and it is probably well they did so for they have saved themselves embarrassment which would certainly have come if the investigation had continued. As it is, however, the public will be compelled to accept the Democrat's statement in its original significance for the simple reason that nothing was proved, beyond the fact that the campaign would certainly have cost considerably more than presented by Chairman Hays in the first day of the inquiry. It is, of course, quite natural that the public should not give the Republican statements much credence, for the simple reason that anything which the leaders might have desired could be presented without anyone being the wiser. Governor Cox might state the truth, but probing by the special committee will never bring to light more than has already been presented. Republicans are too wily and vulpine for that, for what has transpired thus far has been considerably humiliating, particularly to those who have been campaigning so hard since Senator Harding's nomination. The Democrats have the country with them, that is, the majority of people believe that Governor Cox's charges are based upon facts, which if proven in a public investigation would do the Republican party greater harm than many people suppose. The situation is one of the most unusual in many years, and will probably bring about greater carefulness in raising campaign funds in the future.

Persons interested in the Pitt county fair should not forget that everything placed on exhibition will be instrumental in making the attraction one of the best in the state. The premium list contains a number of interesting premiums for those desirous of competing for prizes, and the greater the exhibits the more interesting every department will be. Promoters are doing everything possible to make the event an auspicious occasion, and if they should receive the necessary co-operation it is safe to say Pitt county will have the pleasure of witnessing one of the best fairs to be conducted by any county in this part of the country.

Chairman Hays of the Republican party told the senate investigating committee that quotas were used only for goals. But since Governor's Cox's goal is way ahead of the chairman's it is easily supposed that one goal is more acceptable than the other, particularly that claimed by the Republicans.

RED CROSS NURSE FOR PITT COUNTY.

Through the co-operation of the state board of health and the Red Cross Society Miss Irene Covington, a registered nurse of Bennettsville, S. C., has been appointed to do health work in Pitt county. Miss Covington has had experience in community work in South Carolina and comes here highly recommended.

By courtesy of the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants Association the Red Cross office will be located in rest room over the offices of the Greenville Daily News on Evans street. Miss Covington plans to remain in her office each Saturday to consult with all who desire her services. She is anxious that mothers with babies will come to see her and consult about the care and food for babies. Scales will be provided so that the babies may be weighed and their growth determined. There will be no charge for this service as it is given for the cause of strong and healthy babies and children.

COX BEGINS SWING WESTWARD TODAY IN SPEECH AT TOLEDO

En Route with Cox, Sept. 3.—The western swing of the Democratic candidate for the presidency opened with a breakfast on the platform, and an address in Toledo. He said he was in the fight to win and featured the League of Nations. The governor said that the Hague tribunal failed to prevent war, and that the League is a modern idea of bringing the nearest guarantee of peace. He reiterated the charge that the Republicans are receiving contributions from persons who would substitute neither bayonet or golden rule under the reactionary national administration.

CHEER UP, PAL!

Come, cheer up pal, for life is short, Let's tough it out as best we may; Let trouble pass with careless laugh, For death must claim us all one day.

Live while you can, with cheerful heart; Blot out those lines upon your face, Don't always sigh and wish to die For all too soon you'll run your race.

I know your life is none too sweet, And luck sometimes seems awful tough, But set your face to win the race And climb life's path, although 'tis rough.

Your chance is good, don't let it slip, But fight your way with upturned face; This world of ours, with thorns and flowers Owes, all of us some cherished place.

You know, old pal, that others too, Beside yourself, have had some pain; But did they sigh and wish to die, And lose their heart beneath the strain?

No, pal, they each have tried anew To climb the ladder in the last; A few have failed but more prevailed Ere from old earth their souls have passed.

Half the Work
Time and Cost of Mowing

HERE is the only successful wide-cut mower. It saves 50% of your mowing cost by cutting twice as much in the same time. Compensating lever and spring carries the cutter bar on the drive wheels instead of dragging it on the ground. This increases traction, does away with side draft and weight on horses' necks—greatly lengthens life of machine.

E-B Standard Mower

This mower is as easy on your horses as plowing corn, and will cut two acres of hay in every mile the horses travel. Come in and see it. Bring your boy along.

SMITH and SUGG,

Owners and Proprietors

Season may be practically passed over without experiencing the blocks that have caused constant worry and uncertainty on all markets of the state for a number of years.

The introduction of triple sales this season, including three buyers from both foreign and domestic concerns and independent buyers, will clear the warehouse floors with considerably greater rapidity than ever before, and the general improvements that have taken place in drying plants and stemmeries will have a tendency of producing greater activity both at the warehouses and among the farmers who have watched developments here with interest from season to season, believing that the market was destined to become one of the greatest bright leaf centers in the world trade. The elimination of scraps also will open up greater possibilities for the planter and tobaccoist, for it is conceded in many sections that prices will be better, and that the grower will be inspired by a desire to intensify the cultivation of better grades.

EXTENDS MESSAGE FROM AMERICA TO PEOPLE OF ITALY

which he lived.
"To the citizens of Genoa and all the citizens of the great nation of Italy we bring a greeting and message of friendship from the citizens of the great republic of America.

We come here as representatives of a society that proudly bears the name of the great Columbus to pay our tribute of respect to the place made sacred by his birth. We represent 7000,000 citizens of the continent which he discovered. Among our membership are many thousands who proudly turn to Italy as the home of their ancestors.

The bond of friendship and amity between the two great nations, Italy and the United States have never been strained or impaired, but have grown stronger through the years. Representing the citizenship of every part of our beloved nation we bring to the citizenship of the proud and glorious nation of Italy sentiments of deepest regard and assurance that it is our desire that the ties of friendship which now firmly unite us may grow stronger through the years to come. The sentiment which inspired the Great Columbus to dedicate his life to the welfare and advancement of his fellow men and the extension of God's Kingdom to all people and the remotest corners of the earth must no less in our day inspire to the consummation of the same high purpose.

His suggestions in such cases have been helpful and profitable to many farmers co-operating with him, and as a result many pieces of land have been reclaimed from almost complete isolation in remote communities. He has taken an active interest in advertising the agricultural features of the county and in the preservation of forests.

Mr. Dodson's resignation will be received with regret in many localities where his efforts have been a source of helpfulness, and the entire county joins in extending best wishes to him in his endeavors in the "Queen City."

double gallows, so it is probable, according to George F. Lee, the jailer that the men will be executed in pairs. The hangings will cost the state approximately $3,000, including a $100 fee for the sheriff for each man hung.

Those to be hanged October 14 are Sam Cardinella, leader of a black hand gang whose members confessed several have been decidedly successful, but issues have arisen several times during the week requiring more than ordinary consideration, bringing about delay and retarding progress regardless of efforts to keep the wheel of justice turning. Judgments in many actions has been tempered with clemency by the presiding official, in fact, punishment has been slight in many instances where it would otherwise have been severe. Evidence produced, however, was accountable for the kindly disposition towards the defendants, being insufficient to justify stringent action.

The following cases were continued in yesterday's session. Catherine Jackson and Hattie Edwards, larceny; Washington Edwards, assault with deadly weapon; John Cox, trespassing; B. F. Tyson, mal practice in office; William Morris, assault with deadly weapon; Handy Pitt, larceny; Lis Hines, larceny; Pat Vines, larceny; Fernando Stancill, murder; Baker Best and Adam Daniels, selling liquor; Baker Best and Adam Daniel, manufacturing liquor; Claude Simmons and Jack Best, larceny; Rev. W. H. McLean, embezzlement; Rev. W. H. McLean, false pretense; Will Green and Bruce Cox, larceny; Lula Baker, vagrancy; Noah Williams exceeding speed limit.

CREW OF SUBMARINE RESCUED FOLLOWING TRIP BENEATH SEA

Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—Officers and crew of submarine S-5 were rescued early today after spending nearly two days locked in the disabled vessel beneath the Atlantic ocean at mouth of Cape Henlopen. They were taken aboard the steamer Alanthus, which proceeded toward the Delaware breakwater with submarine in tow. A small buoy, developed during the war, with buzzer device which was released and floated above the disabled craft, by ringing a gong, attracted attention to the spot.
