Bryan Working Hard To Gain Greater Support For Prohibition

BRYAN WORKING TO SUSTAIN VOLSTEAD LAW IN CONGRESS

Refuses to Say Whether or Not He Will Speak for Governor Cox.

MAKES IT PERFECTLY CLEAR THAT HE STILL SUPPORTS DEMOCRACY

Engaged in Effort to Get Members of Congress to Stand by Prohibition.

Washington, Sept. 6.—William Jennings Bryan came to Washington yesterday and every newspaper man and politician, both Democratic and Republican, went to the Hotel Lafayette to ask him if he was going to take the stump for Cox. Not since Governor Cox was here in July has there been such a jam of politicians in a Washington hotel to talk to a man who said after the San Francisco convention that his "heart was in the grave." And the Commoner is still as silent as the grave on the question that everyone was eager to have him answer. Republicans smiled but Democrats consoled themselves that while Bryan is not working for the ticket he will not say anything to hurt it. He will not rock the boat that he will remain in.

But Mr. Bryan is not an idle man. In fact he is working as hard in this campaign as if he were a candidate himself. He is engaged in the task of pledging candidates for the Senate and Congress, irrespective of politics to uphold the Volstead act. The champion of the "drys" is leading a fight against a nation-wide movement of the "wets" to repeal the Volstead act and the 18th amendment to the Constitution. He pointed out that the battle for prohibition is being fought over and must again be won or all will be lost.

In more than a dozen states, among them New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia a newly organized movement called the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment is enlisting members by the thousands. The movement is using the endless chain method and its slogan is to drive every dry out of Congress. It is reported to have made great headway in Maryland, New Jersey and West Virginia. In Maryland alone it reports the enrollment of members at the rate of 12,000 per month. It has opened offices in the Munsey building in Washington and is using the mails by the endless chain plan to get in touch with persons in sympathy with its aims which are first to repeal the Volstead law.

POLAND APPEALS TO LEAGUE NATIONS FOR MEDIATORY ACTION

London, Sept. 7.—Poland has appealed to the League of Nations for mediation in the Polish and Lithuanian dispute. Unless improvement takes place Poland will be compelled to declare war on Lithuania, it is declared. The league is considering the appeal.

MANY CASES GIVEN FINAL HEARING IN COURT YESTERDAY

Criminal Session of County Court Delved Deeply into Unusually Heavy Docket
SEVERAL UNIMPORTANT MATTERS AMONG THOSE RECEIVING ATTENTION
Defendants in Three Liquor Cases Released Upon Payment of Fines.

The criminal term of Pitt county court which convened in this city yesterday morning for one week's session delved deeply into the heavy docket all day yesterday, and as a result several cases which have been waiting final action for several weeks were disposed of. Work was carried on at a much faster rate than expected, for long drawn out legal controversies were virtually eliminated and routine continued with only occasional interruptions. Practically all cases coming up for hearing during both the morning and evening sessions were of a minor nature and consequently involved only slight work on the part of the court in finally disposing of.

Judge Wooten and Solicitor Hines kept the wheel of justice revolving with unusual regularity, and the great amount of work which had been accomplished during the day was surprising at the evening's adjournment. Every effort was put forward to speed up activity and relieve the docket of as many cases as possible and this was done in an interesting way. The docket is one of the heaviest in a number of sessions, and it is certain that a number of cases will be continued until the next term. The charges so far have proven of a decidedly unimportant nature, but there are many to come which will require much time of the court in finally disposing of.

Jurors selected for this term of court are: Dave Taylor, Marvin Taylor, Exum Dall, K. S. Manning, J. A. Adams, Ivey Smith, Charles McLawhorn, Jessie Mosingo, R. D. Whitehurst, W. H. Taylor, W. H. Porter, J. A. Hudson, J. E. Faucet, S. R. Warren, E. H. Owens, R. F. Keel, M. K. Allen, G. A. Smith, R. Williams, C. A. Tucker, G. (Continued on page six.)

SERIOUS CHARGES ENTERED AGAINST SERBIAN SOLDIERS

Alex Divine Charges Military Forces With Stopping Relief Monenegro.

ALLEGES BELGRADE OFFICIAL ISSUED RESTRAINT ORDERS

Declares Rude Shock Will Meet Country When Well of Conditions Lifted.

London, Sept. 7.—Charges that the Serbian military forces have stopped a British and a Canadian mission from doing relief work in Montenegro are made by Alex Devine of Winchester in a statement he has just issued.

Mr. Devine describes himself as a friend of Montenegro whose "only interest in that country is that it shall have the chance of determining its own fate—a right that has been denied to Montenegrins alone of all the recognized allied nations, owing to the forcible usurpation of their country by Serbian troops." Mr. Devine denies the report that he is a "paid agent" of Nicholas, king of Montenegro.

Mr. Devine alleges that the British relief mission was prevented from entering Montenegro by the Serbian military forces acting on orders from Belgrade and under threats of violence was compelled to retire to a base in Italy.

According to Mr. Devine, the Canadian Medical Mission headed by Colonel Burnham which had been operating in Montenegro for some time also has been stopped. He states that Colonel Burnham has appealed to the British Foreign Secretary for protection informing the secretary that "the seriousness of the situation here, created (Continued on page six.)"

COMMITTEE PLANS TO RESUME PROBE INTO G. O. P. FUND

E. H. Moore May be First Witness When Senate Body Reconvenes Today

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Senatorial investigation of presidential campaign expenditures will be resumed here tomorrow with E. H. Moore, personal representative of Governor James M. Cox, called as the chief witness before the Senate sub-committee when it reconvenes after a four-day recess.

Mr. Moore, manager of Governor Cox's pre-convention campaign, was sent here last Thursday by the Democratic presidential nominee with data which he announced "would prove that Republican leaders had openly boasted that they had devised a fund raising plan which would bring in at least $16,000,000 for the campaign fund."

This plan, Governor Cox declared in campaign speeches, was known as "form 101" and was devised by Harry M. Blair, of the office of Fred W. Upham, Republican national treasurer. Following Governor Cox's statement concerning it, Mr. Upham declared "form 101" never had been put into effect.

Mr. Moore has announced he is prepared to furnish the committee facts, and not merely supply leads, although he said he would also furnish plenty of the latter in the form of names of men who "could give the most minute details concerning the Republican fund raising plans."

SPIRIT OF UNREST ALSO PENETRATES SARDINIA DISTRICT

Strong Party Arises in Section, Producing Unrest and Dissatisfaction.

SELF GOVERNMENT IS BEING PROMOTED THROUGH DETERMINED SOURCES

Peasants Declare That the Moment for Regeneration Has Now Come.

Rome, Sept. 7.—The spirit of unrest has penetrated since the war even to the most remote and out of the way spots as the Island of Sardinia. Among these picturesque peasants, many of whom cannot read or write, though they are often people of dignified manners and strong character, public opinion is diffused by word of mouth and a strong party has arisen lately whose motto is "Sardinia alone," who think that the island, which is the second in the Mediterranean would be more prosperous if it governed itself and had little or nothing to do with Italy.

In ancient days Sardinia was one of the great granaries of the world, supplying first Carthage and later Rome with immense quantities of grain. Now large proportion of the island is uncultivated and about one-fifth is covered with forests, chiefly consisting of holm oaks and cork trees. The most valuable however, are from the mines of lead, zinc, stibionite, copper, silver, ignite and anthracite, which if only thoroughly developed would be a source of great riches.

The Sardinians are a splendid fighting race and not only during the late world-conflict but throughout the Napoleonic wars and the Middle Ages pro-

SILVER TREASURE HUNTERS TO MEET FAILURE IN TEXAS

Historical Writer Declares Disappointment Awaits Seekers at Christi.

Galveston, Texas, Sept. 7.—Searchers for buried silver on the mainland opposite Pete Island, 18 miles south-east of Corpus Christi, Tex., probably are doomed to disappointment, in the opinion of Dr. J. O. Dyer, a local writer on historical and scientific subjects. The rush of treasure seekers began with the discovery recently of 5 skeletons, popularly believed by many to be those of members of the crew of a Spanish treasure ship which is said to have been wrecked on the Texas coast early in the eighteenth century. No record is available of any such wreck.

THE WILSON MARKET WILL NOT CLOSE DOWN

The farmers and tobacco men of Wilson had a mass meeting this afternoon at 1 o'clock, and according to information received by The Reflector, it was decided that the Wilson market would not close, but the farmers agreed not to rush their tobacco on the market, and to sell only their common grades until prices got better. The Farmville market has closed.

TURKISH OFFICIAL MOST FEARED MAN IN NORTH SECTION

Osman Pasha, Newly Designed Governor of Kerrassound Exerts Influence.

Kerrassound, Anatolia, Turkey, Sept. 7.—Osman Agha, the newly designated governor of Kerrassound, is probably the most feared man on the north coast of Anatolia.

When the nationalists selected Osman Agha to impress Greeks, Armenians, Jews and Turks alike into Mustafa Kemal's army, they took into their camp a man who would have been a terrible menace in opposition ranks and who is merciless in executing the orders of the Ankara government.

Osman Agha has been for years the self-constituted boss of Kerrassound. In office or out of office he is master of the local situation. Until recently he was only mayor of the little city. But no provincial governor could give the old bandit chief orders. In fact he always managed to unseat all provincial officials. He transacted deals, metropolitans and bishops. Turks, Greeks, Armenians and Jews fear him alike, but had to obey his orders. He took over property which he wanted without legal right and threw anyone into prison who questioned his authority.

LOW PRICES BRING ABOUT SUSPENSION OF OPENING SALES

Farmers Form in Body and Demand that Sales be Stopped Immediately.

AVERAGE RANGES AROUND HALF OF THOSE HERE ON LAST SEASON

Reports From Other Sections Indicate Prices Similar to Those Here.

One of the most extraordinary situations that has ever developed in the tobacco industry in this section of the state occurred at the opening of the market here today when hundreds of farmers became dissatisfied with prevailing prices, completely mobbed the warehouses and absolutely refused to permit the sales to be continued. The movement developed so suddenly and unexpectedly that sales forces, buyers and warehousemen were momentarily paralyzed and responded to the request without questioning the outcome of the action.

The sales had only continued for a short time when it became evident that prices were about fifty percent lower than on the opening day last year, and as the auctioneer continued down the long rows of bright leaf lining the warehouse floors, discontent became general and spread rapidly until small bands of farmers gathered in various sections of tobacco town indicated that something was in the air. A short while later the storm developed in all its fury and brought about conditions that are without parallel in this section of the state. The bottom to high prices dropped out completely, and throughout the entire sales prices averaged between fifteen and twenty cents per pound, about fifty percent under last year's figures.

It is estimated that there was about 60,000 pounds of bright leaf on the floors of all seven warehouses at the opening of the sales this morning, and while it was not expected that prices would be higher than those last year, it was believed, however, they would be fairly good, and as a consequence indignation became so general among the farmers that it developed into a veritable flame as the sales continued without a change in the low figures in evidence when the first rows were auctioned off at prices that would hardly pay the cost involved in production.

It is believed that action by the farmers here today will in all probability be extended throughout the Eastern section of the state for reports received from this morning shortly after the sales were discontinued stated that prices were similar to those here and that much dissatisfaction was in evidence. The action on this market, however, was the most drastic and decisive of all other markets, and it is confidently believed by those well acquainted with conditions that the sentiment will spread so rapidly it will embrace the entire tobacco growing district. APPEALS IN BEHALF OF LOCAL HOSPITAL

(Contributed.)

However men may differ in their ideas, our lives are largely the outgrowth of our individual experiences. Incidents that come to us in the present often serve to take our thoughts back to experiences of long gone years, even to some that had almost been forgotten in the changes arising through the lapse of time.

If Mr. B. C. Pearce, Mr. John Flanagan, Dr. McG. Erzul, Dr. J. G. James, Mr. J. B. Cherry, Mr. Alfred Forbes, and others who might be mentioned among Greenville's prominent citizens of several decades ago, were living to-day and the name of Mr. Smith N. Brickhouse was mentioned in their presence, it would be the occasion of some very complimentary remarks to be made of that gentleman. In those by gone days Mr. Brickhouse, whose residence was in Norfolk, was a traveling shoe salesman. Eastern North Carolina was in the territory he covered and Greenville one of the towns to which he made regular visits. He was one of the old school affable, genial, courteous gentlemen who made friends wherever he went and held their esteem.

A striking characteristic of Mr. Brickhouse was his religious conviction. He carried his Christianity with him and lived it daily in contact and dealing with his fellow man. Wherever the Sabbath day found him he was sure to attend the house of worship with some of God's people, or even in the week if there was some special religious meeting in progress when he was around he would find time to attend. On such occasions it was not unusual for him to be called upon to take part, and it was seldom that his talks could be surpassed by any that were made.

It was a recent experience of the writer that recalled the memory of this good man. Not being immune to all the ills that beset mankind, a visit to a hospital for treatment became necessary. Good fortune led him to the Norfolk Protestant Hospital in Norfolk, where it was soon learned that Miss Caroline Brickhouse, youngest daughter of Mr. Smith N. Brickhouse, was directress of this large and useful institution. Not being prepared to find a woman occupying a place of such importance and responsibility, some inquiry brought out the fact that Miss Brickhouse had entered this hospital as a student nurse in 1903, having determined to devote her life to ministering to suffering humanity. Her promotions through the various courses of study and nursing to graduation was rapid, and in only a few years her ability became so recognized as to cause her selection as directress and manager of the institution. Busy woman as she is under the multitude of duties her position imposes, seldom a day passes but what she goes through the entire institution, knowing personally and showing interest in the welfare of the many patients under her charge, her charming personality and cheering words being a real comfort to all visited, and giving many who may feel heavy hearted with the burden of suffering the inspiration to take a new grip on life.

While it is a privilege to write the foregoing because of the exceeding worthiness of the subjects, coupled with the hope that it may also prove of some interest to the reader, there is yet the higher motive to benefit humanity by using this to emphasize this community's greatest need. If in giving one's individual experiences to others serves to lead them to see and embrace a real opportunity for helpfulness to their neighbors, then the effort is not in vain. Hence the foremost purpose of this article is to impress the urgent need of a community hospital in Pitt county.

This recent visit to Norfolk was the writer's first personal experience as a hospital patient, and if anything had been lacking to make him an advocate of a local hospital, this experience alone would be sufficient to make him enthusiastic for such an institution.

Some facts for comparison and information may help to impress the point in view. While the Norfolk Protestant Hospital is a community enterprise, it is incorporated and has a governing board. It has a small endowment, the revenue from this being augmented some by receipts from patients who can pay for their care and treatment, but the institution has to depend mainly for support on the contributions of benevolent citizens and enterprises to raise money to help carry on the great work it is doing.

Pitt county has for some time been agitating the establishment of a community hospital, but not until the past year has the effort to secure it seemed hopeful of fruition. Something like half the amount desired for building and equipping the plant has already been subscribed, and the campaign is now about to be renewed for securing the balance so the work of construction may soon begin. We understand those leading in this movement have in mind plans for its maintenance after completion similar to those of the Norfolk institution. This seems ideal, and every citizen of Pitt county should esteem it a privilege to take part in so noble a work and help to make it indeed a community hospital. Think of the blessing it will bring to the people of the county who are deprived of the opportunity of going to a hospital at a distance by placing near them a means of restoration to health and perhaps saving of life.

The value of such a hospital to the county cannot be measured, and it is hoped that every one who shall read this will take it as an earnest appeal to help liberally in giving Pitt county a community hospital. Let the goodness of your heart be a blessing to those in need of your help.

AMERICAN TOBACCO INDUSTRY.

The annual report on the tobacco industry in the United States for 1919 (Census Bulletin No. 143) will shortly be issued by the Director Sam. L. Rogers. The bulletin assembles the quarterly reports of stocks of leaf tobacco as published by the Bureau of the Census. It also contains data regarding the acreage in and production of tobacco by states and by types, the prices paid for tobacco, and sales of tobacco by the growers as compiled by the Bureau of Crop Estimates, Department of Agriculture; the quantity of tobacco consumed, the several tobacco products manufactured, the number of registered factories, and revenue collected on tobacco as published by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Treasury Department; the quantity of tobacco consumed and tobacco products manufactured in bonded manufacturing warehouses as returned by the Customs Division, Treasury Department, and the quantities of leaf tobacco and tobacco products imported, exported, and stored in United States bonded warehouses as published by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce. The object of the bulletin has been to assemble in one publication the statistics for the various phases of the tobacco industry and to present them in convenient form or ready reference.

The Bulletin contains statistics which may be surprising to those not fully conversant with the industry. In 1919, according to the Bureau of Crop Estimates, there were 1,901,200 acres planted in tobacco while the production from the crop of 1918 amounted to 1,439,071,000 pounds. There were imported during 1919 leaf tobacco and tobacco products to the value of $86,485,035, while the exports of leaf tobacco were valued at more than $250,000,000. The combined production of cigars in registered factories and in bonded manufacturing warehouses was 7,629,000,000, of cigarettes approximately 55,000,000,000, and of chewing and smoking tobacco and snuff 427,000,000 pounds. There were 16,211,763,000 cigarette exported during the year, leaving 39,000,000,000 factory made cigarettes for consumption in the United States. The exports of leaf tobacco during 1918 amounted to 705,913,164 pounds greatly exceeding those for any prior year. The revenue collected during the year amounted to $205,000,000. Of this total North Carolina contributed $67,140,000, New York $34,590,000, Virginia $12,665,000, Pennsylvania $12,012,000, Missouri $10,868,000, Ohio $10,850,000, and New Jersey $10,226,000.

ETHEL CLAYTON IN ADVENTURE - ROMANCE "CROOKED STREETS"

China is Scene of Exciting Picture Adapted from a Samuel Merwin Story.

Ethel Clayton's latest photoplay, "Crooked Streets," will be the attraction at White's Theatre tonight. It is an adventure-romance of China and was adapted from an original story by Samuel Merwin. Miss Clayton has the role of Gail Ellis, who, answering an advertisement becomes secretary to an antiquarian on a trip to China in search of rare vases. In Shanghai, Gail becomes suspicious that her employer's errand is not an honest one. Venturing alone into the native section of the city, she is involved in a brawl between some Chinamen and roistering French sailors on leave. An Irish adventurer named O'Dare rescues her with difficulty, but the adventure is not half so startling as the one which follows. Suffice it to say that the picture that the picture ends happily for Gail and her rescuer.

An excellent cast, including Jack Holt and Clyde Filmore, supports Miss Clayton in "Crooked Streets." Paul Powell, who recently directed Mary Pickford in "Pollyanna," was the director. The picture is a Paramount Artcraft.

Messrs. K. A. Pittman and Bruce Ware, of Ayden, were numbered among visitors in Greenville Monday.

SOCIAL - PERSONAL

BOOK FRIENDS.

Good books are "really truly friends,"
They help us in our play,
They teach us how to live and work
And how to pass the day.

Companions they may always be
Whenever we're inclined,
And by the books we like to read
It's fair to judge our mind.

Some books have memories, oh, so long—
They tell us of the time
When knights and ladies walked about
And often talked in rhyme.

They bring us friends we cannot lose,
Who come to be so dear,
That books who introduced such folks
We look for far and near.

So choose the books that help you live
To make your love more deep,
That after you've read them through,
You're glad are yours to keep.

SARDINIA DISTRICT

vided some of the stannest soldiers in Europe. The Sardinians have always considered their island the Cinderella of United Italy. They say that they have been alternately neglected and taken advantage of by the central government, education has been disregarded, the malarious state of the country has been ignored, few roads or railways have been provided in order to develop its resources, while government money has never been forthcoming for its needs.

The peasants of Sardinia declare that this is the moment when Sardinia might start on the road to regeneration and reconstruction, moral, commercial and economic, but if it is, as of old, abandoned to apathy and want of initiative ruin is certain. A deep spirit of discontent and irritation is prevalent. The Sardinians call themselves "the Irish of the Mediterranean" and a large party is being formed of those who desire to work out their own salvation and at least for a certain time to be entirely independent of the mother country, which they accuse of having treated them more like the typical stepmother. They ask to be allowed to take their destiny in their own hands.

"Colonel Burnham says that he has been threatened with assassination and that the mission is spied on to such an extent that even the sick are afraid to come to the hospital for relief. The Colonel adds:

"When the veil is lifted from the Ipek country there will be found a condition of affairs which will come as a rude shock to those who have put their confidence and given their help to Serbia. The reign of terror is complete, there are not many Montenegrins, and in another year there will be none left. The entire country is mourning and it is no longer possible for these people to exist, many have lost their reason and all are in the direct distress, Montenegro is being done to death."

LOW PRICES BRING ABOUT SUSPENSION OF OPENING SALES

situation is without precedent in Eastern Carolina, and the final outcome of the movement at this time is merely problematical.

A meeting of the tobacco growing interests and warehousemen will be conducted here tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock to devise some means of bringing about satisfactory settlement of the rate of affairs, and it is quite probable plans will be governed by action taken in the other markets. The prices so far reported are so low and unsatisfactory that it is highly probable that combination of strength from each district will be brought to bear upon the buying interests. The fact that prices in South Carolina were considerably higher than those here has created widespread provocation and uncertainty for bright leaf produced here is of a superior quality and readily commands a higher figure everywhere. A meeting is being held in Wilson this afternoon to discuss the situation and it is expected that further action will be governed by Wilson's decision and reports emanating from other tobacco selling sources.

THE AMERICAN PRUNE ABROAD.

The American prune evidently gained the permanent friendship of the European during its war experiences. The quantity exported from the United States in the first fiscal year after the war, the year ending June 30, 1920, was double the average of the war period and the value in 1920 two and one-half times as much as in 1919 and five times as much as in 1918.

Most of this big increase in the exportation of prunes, says a statement of The National City Bank of New York, occurs in the movement to Europe from which we adopted the prune a half century ago and have acclimated it and developed its production until the United States now produces not only more than Europe, but, in fact, more than all the world outside of our own country. France, Italy, and the Danubian area were the world's chief producers of prunes until the adaptability of the Pacific coast soil and climate to its production and curing became apparent, and the production of prunes in California, Oregon, and Washington reached 100,000,000 pounds in 1900, 150,000,000 in 1910, 210,000,000 in 1912, and approximately 350,000,000 in 1919, valued at $10,000,000 at the place of production.

All prunes are plums but all plums are not prunes. It is only a certain type of plums which can be dried in the natural state and a sufficient amount of sugar developed by the drying process to render them suitable for food purposes, and it is in the combination of soil and climate of the Pacific coast and especially the state of California that the class of plums designated as prunes have reached their highest perfection. California produces about three-fourths of the product of the United States and more than all the balance of the world put together, Argentina and Australia are beginning their cultivation and with a prospect of success, but thus far the United States commands the prune market of the world, and sent abroad in the fiscal year 1920 114,000,000 pounds against 59,000,000 in 1919 and 33,000,000 in 1918. Normally about three-fourths of the prunes produced in the United States are consumed at home, but with the exceptionally large crop of 1919 a larger quantity became available for use in foreign countries. France, which supplied a half century ago the beginnings of the American prune trees, made the close acquaintance of the American product during the war and took last year 18,000,000 pounds against 9,000,000 in the immediately preceding year and less than 3,000,000 pounds one year earlier, while Great Britain took 35,000,000 pounds against 19,000,000 in the fiscal year 1919, and 5,000,000 in 1918. More than four-fifths of the 114,000,000 pounds exported last year went to Europe, the remainder chiefly to Canada, Australia, and South America.

THE DOT DRAWING CLASS
The dot drawing class is a new method of teaching the children to draw. It is a simple and easy method, and it is the only method that will give the children a good knowledge of the principles of drawing. The children will learn to draw the letters of the alphabet, and they will also learn to draw the figures of the human body. The class is held every week, and it is a very interesting and profitable class for the children.

SPECIAL FAIR EDITION TO BE ISSUED BY DAILY REFLECTOR

A special edition setting forth the advantages to be derived by Pitt county people from the Fair to take place in this city September 21, 22, 23 and 24th, will be issued by The Reflector a few days prior to the opening of the attraction, and as the Fair is the first that has been held in this county in a number of years, every effort will be forwarded to make the edition appropriate for the community which the paper has served so faithfully for the past several years. Advertising patrons throughout the entire county are invited to use the columns of the paper freely in presenting their welcome to the thousands of people to be in attendance during the four days in which the Fair is to be in progress, for the circulation will embrace virtually every section of the country and open up a direct way for commercial intercourse between the business house and county citizenship after the attraction is over. Promoters of the Fair are exerting every effort to make the occasion one of the greatest ever held in this section of the state. Virtually all buildings at the Fair grounds have been completed, and these alone justify the belief that the attraction will measure up to public expectation in every way.
