

CHILE DESIRES TO ESTABLISH PEACE IN OTHER NATIONS

Senator Yanez Tells of Effort to Settle Dispute With Peru and Bolivia. GOVERNMENT MAKING GREAT EFFORTS FOR REACHING AGREEMENT Nation's Leading Statesman Explains Conditions Now in Ascendency.

Santiago, Chile, Oct. 23.—Chile desires peace and tranquility on the South American continent, and has earnestly tried to obtain a friendly solution of her questions with Peru and Bolivia, Senator Elodoro Yanez, one of the nation's leading statesmen, told The Associated Press correspondent today. The dispute between Chile and Peru over Taena and Arica and Bolivia's aspirations for an outlet to the sea has been widely debated by the public and in the press here since the military revolt at La Paz, Bolivia, in July when a political party, said to be hostile to Chile, assumed power. Spreading of the controversy with Peru, Senator Yanez said:

"To push her policy of hostility and repeal of international good faith, Peru has entered into a great program of armaments and believes she can count on the support of the United States and the League of Nations.

"Chile on several occasions has tried to reach an agreement for holding the plebiscite and, with the exception of the unratified agreement of 1912, Peru always has resisted an understanding, proposing clauses or expressing exigencies unacceptable or depressive to Chile."

Referring to the Bolivian question, Senator Yanez said:

"The relations between Chile and Bolivia are regulated by the treaty of 1904 under which the latter ceded definitely to Chile the province of Antofagasta, lost by Bolivia in the Pacific war. Until recent, cordial relations had been maintained between the two countries. In July, a military revolution broke out in La Paz; President Gutierrez Guerra was deposed and banished and a Junta de Gobierno was organized. This new order raised as a slogan the non-recognition of the treaty of 1904 and the reclamation of the territories which by this pact were annexed 40 years ago and a great Chilean population is in them.

GREENVILLE SCOUTS

HAVE A DAY IN TOWN

Thirty-one of Them Came Up Yesterday to Visit The State Fair.

Thirty-one boy scouts from Greenville, the capital of the county of Pitt, came to Raleigh yesterday to spend the day at the fair. Most of the day was spent on the fair grounds, and after supper they paid their annual pilgrimage to the News and Observer, a custom established by the Greenville troop the first time they came to Raleigh.

Boys to the core, they were keenly interested in the mechanical contrivances with which the Old Reliable get out its daily run, but not even the wonders of the big press down in the basement of the building could hold them when they came to a great stack of funny papers, printed early in the week against the needs of the Sunday edition. They fell upon them and forgot all about the press.

FAMINE CONDITION REPORTED IN MANY CHINA TERRITORIES

Light Crops Followed by Failure Produces Accentuated Situation.

Peking, Oct. 23.—Famine conditions in Chihli, Shansi, Shantung and Honan provinces, due to repeated light crops followed by almost complete failure this summer, are reported by investigators to be the worst in years. It is estimated that 20,000,000 people are in peril of death from starvation and disease during the coming winter unless help on a large scale is afforded. Thousands of families are already afoot making their way northward in the hope of finding food and employment. Others are selling their belongings piecemeal to procure food at greatly advanced prices. Farm and draught animals are being disposed of for a song for lack of fodder to keep them and fuel to cook them if slaughtered.

Dr. F. F. Tucker, of Tschow, Shantung province, and Dr. E. J. Pell of Siao-chang, also in Shantung, report that being without food and unable to buy it, people are living on weeds and the leaves of trees, cotton seed and bran. Children, especially girls, are being sold or given away, they say.

John Griffith, of the Canadian Presbyterian Mission, Changtsho, North Honan, writes: "The last fading hope was that at least a crop of quick-maturing buckwheat might be secured after a late rain. But no rain has come and that hope is now entirely gone. Every road northward swarms with the hunger-plinched humanity. The Peking Hankow railway is generously allowing refugees to travel free on all trains bound for South Honan and Hupeh and these are crowded with families having many little children nor old people who cannot face the trek over the mountain roads to Shansi and Shensi.

This evening closes the registration books for the November election. The next thing to do is get every Democrat, man and woman, to go to the polls next Tuesday week and vote.

Cox Sends Second Message To Root Asking Retraction

Democratic Nominee Again Charges Root With Misrepresenting Position On the League of Nations--Asks For Direct Response To His Statement of Several Days Ago.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 22.—Charges that Elihu Root has misrepresented his League of Nations position were reiterated by Governor Cox of Ohio in another telegram sent Mr. Root today during the Democratic presidential candidate's New Jersey campaign.

In this message and in more than a half dozen speeches today in one-day tour of New Jersey Governor Cox reiterated that he would accept "helpful" reservations. Trenton, Camden, Newark and Jersey City tonight were visited by the Governor.

Governor Cox's telegram today to Mr. Root reads:

"I have your telegram of October 21 in reply to mine of October 20, in which I called attention to your misstatement in your address in New York City when you said 'Mr. Cox declared that he will insist upon the treaty just as Mr. Wilson negotiated it.'"

"I respectfully asked of you a retraction of your untrue statement. You have apparently mistaken the purpose of my message, which was to give you the opportunity to correct a possible error or to admit the deliberateness of intent in its presentation. Permit me, therefore, to renew in terms that cannot be misunderstood the request which can be answered with an unequivocal 'yes' or 'no.' Did you or did you not make the statement as quoted, and do you not know that it was false; and do you not recognize that in justice to yourself and in justice to the American people who have honored you, you should publicly acknowledge it?"

"In your reply to me you have entered upon a long dissertation upon the subject of Article Ten, in which again by inference you are endeavoring either deliberately or through misunderstanding or lack of information concerning my speeches to misrepresent my position on the League of Nations. Accepting the fact that your misstatement was based upon lack of information, I referred you to the daily report which I have invariably said that I favored the Hitchcock reservations and also that I would accept reservations from any source offered in sincerely and with a desire to help. Simply that you may be further informed, let me call your attention to the fourth of Hitchcock reservations in reference to Article X: "That the advice mentioned in Article Ten of the covenant of the League of Nations, which the council may give to the member nations as to the employment of their naval and military forces is merely advice which each member nation is free to accept or reject according to the conscience and judgment of its then existing government, and in the United States this advice can only be accepted by action of the congress at the time in being, congress alone under the constitution of the United States having the power to declare war."

"Now, Mr. Root, I have asked you a plain question. We are both assumed to understand the meaning of words. The American people likewise understand the meaning of words. You have been given the opportunity to correct your misstatement and this correction you have failed to make.

"Signed JAMES M. COX."

CYCLONE MACK TO OPEN MEETING IN GREENVILLE SOON

Noted Evangelist to Begin Campaign With Services Sunday, Oct. 31st.

Rev. B. F. McLendon plans to open his meetings in Greenville Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, October 31st. These meetings will be held in his largest tent which will be located on the lot in the rear of the post office.

Meetings will be held each day at 3:00 and at 7:30 P. M. excepting Monday. On Sunday mornings the ministers are expected to hold their regular 11:00 services.

These meetings have been planned not only for the people of Greenville but for the people of Pitt county. The management will try to provide seats for all that come. Special provision will be made to care for young children in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, so that mothers with young children may attend these services.

Service For Colored People. A section of the seats will be set apart for colored people. In addition to this section of seats at the regular services, a special service on Monday nights will be held for them. A wonderful power for the salvation of men is coming to Pitt county.

COOLIDGE BOOSTS HARDING IN SPEECH AT RICHMOND, VA.

Republican Candidate for Vice Presidency Boosts Presidential Candidate.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 23.—Virginians who are "proud of Washington and Jefferson did to establish the nation can trust Warren G. Harding to preserve and maintain it," declared Governor Coolidge, Republican nominee for the vice-presidency in an address here today detailing some historic achievement of the Old Dominion and Massachusetts for the past 300 years. He also spoke sympathetically of President Wilson and expressed the hope of his "speedy and complete recovery."

"Whenever Massachusetts and Virginia have stood together," he said, "they have advanced the welfare of America and the world by their example. Your statesmen have been the guiding influence which we have sought to follow. We shall never forget that it was your greatest son, the first American, George Washington, who came to take command of the colonial troops under the elm still standing in Cambridge and drove the last foreign invader from the soil of Massachusetts.

"We shall never forget that when the war was done he presided over the convention which drafted the constitution of the union and that it was the prestige of his support that secured its ratification by the states. We shall never forget that what he was to the nation as a soldier and an executive, John Marshall was as a lawyer and a judge."

FOUR NATIONS ARE TO BE ENTERED IN BIG BALLOON RACE

United States Has Entrants, Italy and France, One Each.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 23.—Four nations will be represented by the seven balloons entered in the Gordon-Bennett International Trophy race starting tomorrow from this city. The United States has three entrants, Italy two and France and Belgium one each.

It will be the ninth competition for the trophy, and the first since 1913 when the war precluded international aero contests. The trophy, hung up in 1906 by James Gordon-Bennett, came into possession of America that year and has been won three times since by United States pilots. Germany captured the cup twice, while France and Switzerland each were victors once.

Ralph H. Upson, who won the cup in 1913 when he outdistanced all his rivals by crossing the English Channel and landing near the Yorkshire coast in the race from Paris, will compete for it again this month with the balloon "Goodyear II." Two other Americans, Lieutenant Richard E. Thompson in an army bag and H. E. Honeywell in "Kansas City II"—also are entered. These three led all the rest in the elimination races last month.

Flying the colors of European countries will be four other balloons. Captain Hirschauer is to represent France, with Lieutenant Ernest Demyer in the "Belgica" from Belgium. Italian entrants are Major Chevalier Joseph Valle with "Audens" and Major Hugo Mader in the basket of "Triumpale VI."

The race is won by the balloon which travels the farthest distance from the starting point. The record flight was made in 1912 from Stuttgart, Germany, when a French pilot, Maurice Bienaimé, flew 1,361 miles. The only other Gordon-Bennett race which resulted in a trip of more than 1,000 miles was held in 1910 from St. Louis, the victor, Allen R. Hawley of the Aero Club of America, going 1,172 miles. This still stands as the American record.

What direction the bags take after rising off the ground depends on the wind, the balloons being of the "free" type. In 1908 the victor landed in the sea in a slight from Berlin, and was rescued off the coast of Norway by a passing ship.

MORRISON MAKES STRONG APPEAL IN SPEECH IN BETHEL

Candidate for Governor Heard by Several Hundred People of Section.

DELIVERS BROADSIDE AGAINST REPUBLICAN OLIGARCHY IN SENATE

Forceful Explanation of League of Nations and Peace Treaty Given.

The Democracy of Pitt county was aroused to old time enthusiasm by the speech of Hon. Cameron Morrison, candidate for governor, in Bethel Friday afternoon. Enlivened with music by the Kinston band, a large crowd composed of both men and women assembled on the campus fronting Bethel's splendid graded school building, where comfortable seats had been provided, the portico of the building being used as a speaker's stand.

Ex-Judge Harry W. Whedbee opened the occasion by presenting the several county candidates to the voters, calling each candidate to the stand and in a brief, humorous way said something about each whose speeches, he said, he was making for them.

Following this Col. F. G. James in a handsome tribute introduced Mr. Morrison, North Carolina's next governor, who in a speech of nearly two hours gave his hearers more sound Democratic doctrine than they have heard in a long time. He began with a record of the Democratic party and the good government that had come to state and nation through Democratic administration, comparing this with the evil results of Republican rule.

Mr. Morrison told his hearers that 70,000 North Carolinians had selected him as their candidate for governor, while his Republican opponent, Mr. Parker, was the product of one man, and that man was Marion Butler. The people can judge for themselves whether a man selected by 70,000 Democrats or a man selected by Marion Butler, should be the next governor of this great state which under Democratic control had risen from almost ignominy to rank in wealth and progress in the forefront of the states of the nation.

Mr. Morrison gave his hearers the clearest conception of the revaluation law enacted by the last legislature they have listened to in this campaign, pointing out that while under the former rule of tax listing the valuation of all real estate was left to county assessors, now every man, under oath, names a fair value for his own land when listing. Each county has its own board of three numerators to pass upon valuations, one of these being selected by the state and one each from the Democratic and Republican party in the county. It is remarkable that in the first year's listing under the new law—eighty per cent of the valuations were accepted just as given in by the owners, only fifteen per cent were slightly raised, and five per cent were actually reduced because the boards thought the owners had set the valuation too high. The Republican candidate is crying that the Democrats want to tax the people to death under this law, but not a Republican in the legislature that enacted the law voted against it, and a Republican is on the board in each county to pass upon the justness of valuations. It is the best tax law ever enacted in North Carolina, and under this and the income tax it will not be necessary for the state to levy any taxes except for school purposes, and the counties only will levy for what they actually need.

Mr. Morrison also gave a forceful explanation of the peace treaty and League of Nations, and placed the blame for the United States' rejection of the league and delaying the bringing of that peace to the world for which our boys sacrificed their lives in France, on the shoulders of the Republican party. Every mention by the speaker of the name of President Wilson and the heroic fight he has made to establish world peace and safeguard against future wars, was greeted with a burst (Continued on page eight.)

PLAN TO ORGANIZE EXPORT COMPANIES TO MARKET COTTON

Bankers and Farmers Decide on Twelve Million Dollar Main Concern.

MOVEMENT NOT FOR HOLDING CROP BUT FOR SELLING SAME

Capital Subscriptions Will be Based on Dollar Per Bale Assessment.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Plans for the organization of a $12,000,000 cotton export and crop financing corporation were adopted at a meeting here late today of bankers and representatives of cotton interests attending the convention of the American Bankers' Association. The meeting approved suggestions contained in a report of a committee headed by Robert F. Maddox, Atlanta banker, to move at once in the direction of preliminary steps towards organizing the corporation. Tentative arrangements provide for the payment of half of the capital stock or an initial working fund of $5,000,000 capital and $1,000,000 surplus.

Capital subscriptions, the plans suggest, will be based on an assessment of $1 a bale on cotton raised in the respective states thereby making the organization one of far reaching influence throughout all territory which has had difficulty in financing the movement of the cotton crops. The decision to call for the initial payment of only half of the total capital means, therefore, that the subscriptions will be prorated among the purchasers of stock on the basis of 50 cents per bale.

It was made clear by speakers at the meeting that the purposes of the corporation which will be organized under the Edge act amending the Federal Reserve act is not to hold cotton crop but to insure the commodity be moved "at a time when the market is not stagnant."

Under provisions of the Edge act, the corporation is enabled to handle trade acceptances—agreement of the purchasers—to the amount of ten times its capital and surplus or, in the case of the proposed corporation, the ability to handle acceptances of cotton purchasers to the amount of $50,000,000. Although there was no specific mention made, there were indications that formation of the corporation would immediately open the way for the sale of cotton in Europe, where the demand is estimated at three to four million bales.

The committee informed those in attendance at the meeting that it would make "no extravagant promises," but that it hoped that the establishment of such a corporation would be "of tremendous benefit" to the south. The meeting was told also that the corporation would not prove a "remedy for all ills," although it would make possible the provision for markets in time of emergency, such as the cotton producers are now passing through.

Although the corporation may in the future extend its operations to other commodities, those in attendance urged that it devote its resources at first to the handling of this crop alone. The way was left open, however, for such enlargement and suggested extensions can be made as needed, speakers declared.

American Bankers and Farmers Wrought Up Over Recent Action of Officers

Berlin, Oct. 22.—Food Controller Hermes' opposition to the admission into Germany of the 5,000 cows donated by American farmers and against the importation of flour from America said to have been offered by New York bankers has aroused the wrath of some of the Liberal newspapers of Berlin.

They charge the Food Controller with interposing objections which have complicated the negotiations with the American company which is assembling the cows donated by American farmers and declare that the ministerial pedantry which threatened for a time to deprive Germany of the American gift of cows will be made the object of interpellation in the Reichstag.

The Food Controller demurred to accepting the cows on the ground that their transportation across the Atlantic was not feasible and that there was shortage of fodder for them here.

His critics say that if the Americans could send across the ocean 1,500,000 soldiers with fighting equipment and food, they ought to be able to move 5,000 cows across. They add that the cows will only take the place of those delivered to France and Belgium which would have been fed in Germany.

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 22.—America is synonymous with service, declared Governor Coolidge in an address here today brimful of allusions to the honor and dignity of work. He said he spoke of service in the spiritual as the material sense and continued: "That people will fall which devotes itself exclusively to the accumulation of wealth and which makes property the chief end of man. That people will become strong and vigorous whose work is measured by the ideals of right and justice and liberty."

The Republican party, he said, "cherishes no delusions that any scheme of government or any change in the organization of society could relieve the people from the necessity of work. The rules of nature cannot be set aside. Observed they point the way to success and character." Successful democracy, he said, can be achieved only at the price of "constant effort." It is a law to disregard which, he continued, "is to invite destruction and anarchy" and to observe which is to "develop power and government."

The American people, the Governor went on, have always exalted labor, whether of the head or hand. The old Europe, he said, sharply differentiated between its peoples and established their rank and social position by the kind of work performed. "We shall have no such artificial standard here," he said. "To us the tiller of the soil and the skilled mechanic are measured by the same regard as are the doctor or lawyer or banker. We demand that each of us shall do his work and do it with all his skill and might and energy. And we can demand promptly in return that the conditions under which the work is done shall be fair and decent, with adequate reward for accomplishment."

Touching on the alleged need of greater production which he described as "the sure cure of profiteering," he said: "The world is never very far ahead of starvation; bitter experience has shown us the mere shade that exists between fuel and freezing. We, who have fields and the mines and who are blessed with order under law, have a supreme duty to ourselves and to humanity as a whole."

Washington, Oct. 21.—How could they do it? How could the thirty-one eminent Republicans, including Ellihu Root and A. These thirty-one eminent persons said the President insisted on this condition—that Governor Cox agreed with him and that that was their chief reason for asking the country to elect Senator Harding president.

This has become the great mystery of the campaign, that thirty-one honorable, high-minded persons should sign an open, naked falsehood, a falsehood that has been exposed from every stump and in the columns of every respectable newspaper in the land. Governor Cox has dramatically called on Mr. Root to explain and retract, and whether Mr. Root retracts or not, Democrats here believe these thirty-one eminent persons have cast a boomerang for the Republican party.

It is reported here that President Lowell is being deluged with letters of protest from Harvard alumni from all over the country—Republican as well as Democrats.

SATURDAY, OCT. 23, 1920.

"Don't you think Cam Morrison is a handsome enough man for any woman to vote for?" was a question one woman asked another after he spoke in Bethel Friday. Take that as an indication to the size of his majority. They are all for him.

Candidate Harding did not stop with the thirteenth position on the league of nations, but hurried on to the fourteenth. There is yet time enough for him to add a few more before election day. He is a wobbler from wobble town.

Candidate Harding is now accusing the Democrats of trying to "blind" voters. But he cannot show where any Democratic candidates are trying to stand on both sides of a question at one and the same time. The "blindness" is in his own eyes in not being able to see what a straddler he is.

Republican Chairman Hays is putting in his best efforts toward keeping up the courage of his crowd by doing a lot of claiming. That they "hope to carry North Carolina" is a sample of his claims. And this state is going to roll up the largest Democratic majority ever.

Candidate Harding says that his stand on the league of nations "is as clear as daylight." Yet his stand is so befuddled that even ex-President Taft and Senator Johnson cannot see it alike—one saying Harding is for it and the other that he is against it. Not much "clear as daylight" in that.

Something has been said about Candidate Harding that seems to have made the Republican leaders touchy, but they are careful not to say in their notes of warning what that something is, lest even Republicans themselves conclude Harding is not a fit man for president.

The Republican leaders are certainly a queer bunch. Ex-President Taft says Candidate Harding is for the league of nations, and Senator Johnson says Harding is against it. One of them is bound to be wrong, but it seems that the Republicans are willing to make any straddle in the hope of fooling the people and getting votes.

AN ANCIENT AND HISTORIC CITY

The city of Vilna which has been the object of hostilities between the Poles and the Lithuanians is rich in historic associations. Situated on a knot of hills at the confluence of the Vileika with the Vilya rivers, about 330 miles southwest of Petrograd, it boasts of a population of 162,000 persons (1900). The city was first mentioned in history in 1128, although it had probably existed since the 10th century. A temple to the pagan Lithuanian god Perkunus stood on one of its hills until 1387 when it was destroyed by Prince Jagiello after his conversion to Christianity.

Vilna was the capital of the Grand Duchy of Lithuania when the latter was united to Poland in 1386. What had been at first a personal union became after two centuries of a community of interests a definite union, entered into a Lurin in 1569, by representatives of the three peoples. The plague of 1588, a fire in 1610, and still more, the wars between Poland and Russia which began in the seventeenth century checked the growth of the city. The Russians took Vilna in 1655, and in the following year it was ceded to Russia. The Swedes captured it in 1702 and again in 1706. In 1788 it was taken by the Russians and finally annexed when Poland was partitioned in 1795. The inhabitants of the city welcomed Napoleon in 1812 and took a prominent part in the Polish uprising of 1830 and 1863.

Vilna is famous for its medieval places of worship. Cathedrals and churches of the Gothic Romanesque style, elegant and original in their design, adorn the city with their spires. Among the finest is the cathedral of St. Stanislaus built in 1387, restored in 1801, containing the silver sarcophagus of St. Casimir. There is a cathedral of St. Nicholas built in 1506-1604, and several churches dating from the 14th to the 16th centuries. The Ostra Brama chapel contains an image of the Virgin greatly venerated by the Orthodox Greek and Roman Catholic church alike. The ancient castle of the Jagiellones is now a mass of ruins. A few steps from the Christian shrine there is a Mohammedan mosque with its low twin towers suggestive of Mecca. Within sight of the mosque and the shrine the visitor will find several very ancient Jewish synagogues and Talmudic schools which were and still are the seat of Hebrew culture in Europe.

Vilna obtained Magdeburg rights from Jagiello and had a printing press as early as 1519. It is the seat of many scientific societies, geographical, medical, archaeological, and has a good antiquarian museum and a public library. The University of Vilna has been a center of Polish learning since the 16th century. From its halls have come Adam Mickiewicz, the greatest of Polish poets, and in modern times Pilsudski, the first President of the Polish Republic.

OREGON LEADS THE WAY.

For the first time in American history the citizens of a State, directed by a representative of the U. S. Public Health Service, are by voluntary service, with almost no money, carrying out a successful State wide investigation into the numbers and condition of the misfits and down-and-outers of the community. The State is Oregon and the classes investigated are the dependent, delinquent, and mentally deficient. The work is not yet complete, but, according to Surgeon-General Cumming, of the Public Health Service, enough has been done to show that the results will vie with that of similar work done in other States by a trained official force. Dr. Cumming, in fact, thinks that it is amazing that the public could be brought to take such interest in such abstract work and considers that Oregon's example might well be followed by other States where similar work is hanging fire because of lack of money.

About a year ago the legislature of Oregon, at the instance of A. B. Gehhart, secretary of the Public Welfare Board, authorized the University of Oregon to investigate these classes, which as in every other state, were known to be a source of weakness from their inability either to work or fight. The hope was that a good part of them might be reclaimed and the State freed from a constant drain on its finances, health, and morality and from a source of social and political unrest.

The legislature, however, appropriated no money for the work; and the University found that its funds would not be sufficient. So in February last it asked aid of the Surgeon General, who sent Dr. C. L. Carlisle to Oregon as special assistant in the work.

"The task," said the Surgeon General "was not an easy one. As in most States only small percentages of these classes were being cared for in institutions and the rest were scattered and went almost unnoticed, for most of them were quiet and did not call attention to themselves as do the actually insane and criminal classes. Finding them was therefore the first requisite.

"As there was little money to pay trained workers, Dr. Carlisle quickly discovered that the only hope for success lay in enlisting the help of the people. He began by sending about 6,000 form letters (followed later by thousands more) to college professors, University students who were about to go on vacations, editors, lawyers, doctors, ministers, priests, and other prominent citizens, explaining the need for the work and asking if they would help by sending in information in regard to any delinquents, dependents, and mentally defective who might live in their locality.

Every Pitt county, man and woman, who can get to Greenville next Wednesday night, should hear the speech of Senator F. M. Simmons in the court house. No North Carolinian speaks more eloquently than Senator Simmons, and he will tell the people things they want to hear.

Even Elfin Root, when shown that he has made a false statement, is inclined to make an honest retraction. Verify the Republicans are finding themselves in dire straits and are resorting to any dishonest methods in the hope of electing their figure head, Harding as president. The people should rebuke them with overwhelming defeat.

BRIDGE CLUB.

Miss Nell White was hostess to her bridge club Wednesday night. Mrs. W. P. Bryan making the top score was presented an ivory perfume bottle. At the conclusion of the games a salad course was served.

MRS. J. B. SPILMAN ENTERTAINS

Mrs. J. B. Spilman, delightfully entertained at rook at her home on Ninth Street, last evening complimentary to the faculty of the Eastern Carolina Teachers Training School. The spacious rooms were artistically decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. Upon arrival the guests were welcomed Mrs. Jack Kilgo and Miss Birdie McKinney, who showed them into the library where they were received by Ms. Joe South and Mrs. C. L. Porter. The tables for the games were arranged in the library and parlor and many spirited games were enjoyed. Miss Bessie Harding, making the top score was presented a beautiful hand embroidered pillow cover. At the conclusion of the games a salad course was served.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY ENTERTAINS.

Circle No. 3 of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church retained the members of the remaining circles and congregation at a Halloween party at the home of Mrs. H. E. Austin Friday afternoon.

The decorations were all suggestive of the season, the beautiful flowers lending their rich color to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The darkened rooms were lighted by candles which gave a weird aspect, while ghosts crept here and there ushering in the guests and causing much merriment.

Several contests were engaged in the winners of which receiving as prizes witches, brooms, candles, etc., to add more fun to the occasion.

Misses Mary Wright and Elizabeth Austin representing ghosts darted through the rooms frequently handing pea corn, peanuts and molasses candy so as to keep up the Halloween spirit.

We were most delightfully entertained with songs by Miss Jessie Moye, Mrs. Bartholomew and Mrs. Elliott, also instrumental music by Misses Meade and Bartholomew and Mrs. Ada Cherry.

Tea and ginger cakes were served thereby not departing from the festive season in refreshments.

"DON'T EVER MARRY" AT WHITE'S THEATRE MONDAY

Matt Moore advanced his theory in discussing the latest production in which he appears under the direction of Marshall Neilan, "Don't Ever Marry," which will be the attraction at White's Theatre, Monday night, and naturally the talk turned to the unsuccessful marriage of his brothers.

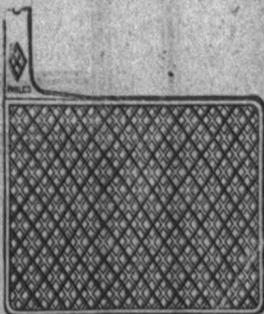

"It may sound queer," said Mr. Moore, "but I really haven't a word of censure for any one of my brothers or any one of my ex-sisters-in-law. That they could not continue to be happy is the fault of the profession and not due to any individual shortcomings. Actresses and actors have married outside the profession and have become ideal husbands and wives. In the profession, however, the chances for happiness are small, for the simple reason that the attraction usually comes through the acting of the individual and therefore it is a false attraction."

"Here is what I mean." An actress working in a studio sees a leading man expounding the high ideals of love. She may be playing opposite him or in some other place in the cast. The idealistic way in which he portrays love attracts her and she falls in love with the actor and not the real man. The actor makes the same mistake by falling in love with the talent of his wife instead of herself. Disillusionment comes, and whether the true characteristics are just as sweet and as lovable as those depicted in the acting, makes no difference, they are not the same.

"Another factor which enters also, and that is enforced separation. Unless one or the other of the couple which marries is willing to accept subordinate roles in productions, the work will take them apart from each other. Unhappiness is bound to result. Happy marriages have occurred but they have been based upon love which is founded some place away from the stage, and therefore it is founded upon real character and not the make-believe."

RUSSIAN BUSINESS OPTIMISTIC ABOUT
TRADE FOR FUTURE

Business Men Outside of Country Prone to Overestimate Prospects.

PRACTICALLY EVERY KIND OF GOODS PUT TO USE BY SOLDIERS
War and Revolution Having Much to Do With Serious Conditions Now.

London, Oct. 22.—Business men outside Russia are prone to be over-optimistic regarding immediate trade prospects in that country, according to a statement made to The Associated Press correspondent who recently crossed Russia, by the only foreign business man who was then in Siberia for the purpose of developing trade relations with the bolsheviki.

This man, Henrick Tornblom, a Swede, who represented American and Swedish concerns in Omsk, Siberia, for eight years previous to the Russian revolution, returned to soviet Siberia during the past summer.

His plan was to arrange for the exchange of Swedish farm machinery for vast supplies of wool, flax and furs which the bolsheviki stated had been gathered for shipment at Omsk. Arriving in Omsk he found the amount of goods available for export far below what he had expected, and that the goods available had been stored for years, many of the bales of hides having become worthless because of improper handling.

Ten thousand tons of raw material, mainly wool and hides, available for export from all Siberia, was Mr. Tornblom's estimate after his investigation at Omsk.

"Raw materials must be the basis of foreign trade in Russia and Siberia," said Tornblom to The Associated Press correspondent, "but the stories sent here at least through Europe and America of the vast supplies of raw material stored along the Trans-Siberian railway all ready to be shipped to foreign countries in return for manufactured goods are myths."

"War, revolution and the resulting chaos of the last three years has resulted in nearly all the products of the country being put to use by the military leaders who have overrun the country from time to time."

"Potentially, of course, Siberia remains one of the world's great sources for raw materials. For mineral wealth, for wool, flax, hides and valuable furs, the country to the east of the Urals cannot be surpassed, but there is little to export at the present time."

POSSES SEARCHING

Cleveland, Oct. 22.—Posses are searching for the remaining bandits who held up and robbed the Cleveland Trust Company and escaped after a battle with bank officials. One bandit was killed in the encounter. Three others were wounded, and the captured four escaped. Four civilians were wounded and fifty thousand dollars of booty was recovered.

FINANCING FARMER
DEMANDS ENTIRELY
NEW CREDIT FORM

Henry Robinson Tells American Bankers of Situation Facing Country.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Financing the farmers of the country in the marketing of their crops demands new methods of extending credit so as to prevent unjust price depreciation, Henry M. Robinson, a banker of Los Angeles, who was chairman of the United States Bituminous Coal Commission, declared today in addressing the convention of the American Bankers' Association. A change in the bankers' point of view and the establishment by producers of co-operative marketing agencies were suggested as means for improving present conditions.

"There are many evidences," declared Mr. Robinson, "of growing dissatisfaction on the part of the producers of many commodities who claim that they are being discriminated against by bankers or those in control of credit facilities, and there is constant agitation by such producers for an extension of the principle of co-operative marketing to remedy or at least relieve the situation."

"Bankers must meet this problem. There must be a modification of the old attitude. Whether this should be done through banking machinery or through proper co-operative marketing remains to be decided. However, some method must be devised for reducing the pressure on the producer which forces him to dispose of his crop, either at the moment the harvest is completed, or while its movement is under way, as this has been too often used as a means for price depreciation. Methods also must be discovered for lowering the cost of financing him."

FOCH PROPOSALS IN POLAND

Dispatches concerning the activities of Polish, Lithuanian and Independent troops along the as yet undefined Polish-Lithuanian boundary have tended to increase the confusion existing in the public mind regarding Poland's rights in the East as defined by the Peace Conference line of December 8, 1919, the Curzon line of July 11, 1920, and the Foch military line of July 18, 1919.

In an effort to clarify the situation, the Polish Foreign Office recently issued the following explanation of the various Allied boundary proposals:

"The Supreme Council in a declaration issued December 8, 1919 made the following recommendation concerning Poland's eastern boundary:

"The Principal Allied and Associated Powers, recognizing that it is important as soon as possible to put a stop to the existing conditions of political uncertainty in which the Polish nation is placed, and without prejudging the provisions which must in the future define the eastern frontiers of Poland, hereby declare that they recognize the right of Poland to proceed, according to the conditions previously provided by the Treaty with Poland of June 28, 1919, to organize a regular administration of the territories of the former Russian Empire situated to the west of the line described below."

Then follows a minute explanation of the line running from the German frontier east to the north of Sunwalki, then south to the east of Bialystok, west of Brest Litovsk and east of the Bug river to the Rumanian frontier.

"The declaration concludes with the important statement: The rights that Poland may be able to establish over the territories situated to the east of the said line are expressly reserved."

Gentry & Gorman

All sales finished Friday. Gormans sold for the week 668,226 lbs. Our Friday's sale of 189,222 pounds was the highest for this season. We averaged $29.78 for the entire sale and had as usual a large per cent of very low grades.

No warehouse can or does get more for any grade than Gormans, we protect each and every lot sold.

Note the sales we attach and compare them with sales made elsewhere, and don't be misled by "Fairy Tales" told by others.

Sell with Gorman and you will go home with the top of the market.

We look for light sales during the coming week, and believe we are safe in promising to get you sold around dinner hour on any sale we will have.
