COOPER SWORN IN AS NEW JUDGE OF PITT COUNTY COURT

Lewis G. Cooper Takes Oath of Office This Morning in Presence of A Few County Authorities.
SUCCEEDS F. M. WOOTEN WHO SERVED NOTICE OF RETIREMENT THIS YEAR
Change in Office Most Notable Occurrence in Official Circles in Number of Years.

Attorney Lewis G. Cooper was this morning sworn in as judge of Pitt county court, succeeding Judge F. M. Wooten, who gave notice of retirement from office prior to the recent primary in which Mr. Cooper won out over one candidate for the same office. The oath of office was administered by J. F. Harrington, clerk of superior court, in the presence of a few members of the county administration who filed into Mr. Harrington's office a short time prior to and during the ceremony.

The change in office marked one of the most notable events in official circles of the county for several years as Mr. Cooper is the second candidate to be inducted into office since inauguration of the county court plan during April, 1915. Judge Wooten filled the office in an acceptable manner for a period of five years, and assisted in many ways in making the institution a valuable asset between the magistrate and higher source of jurisdiction. The county resources increased considerably through the great number of cases disposed of by the institution and has proved decidedly satisfactory medium in many ways.

Mr. Cooper won out for office after a strenuous campaign against three candidates in the recent primary. The contest was probably the most conspicuous in a number of years and much interest was manifested in the outcome in every section of the county. Supporters of Mr. Cooper rallied behind him in a determined way during the election and his plurality therefore was decidedly gratifying. The new judge has been a member of the Pitt county bar for a number of years, and manifested much interest in politics after his discharge from the army general months ago. He was a candidate for the office of mayor of Greenville at the time Mayor Clark was elected, and sometime later, after learning of Judge Wooten's intended retirement, became a candidate for county judgeship. He is a young man of great ability in legal matters and will serve the county in an efficient and faithful way.

COLORED SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE TO SPEAK IN CITY MONDAY NIGHT, JANUARY 3

Judge William Tarrison, of Chicago, the only colored superior court judge in the United States, will speak at the court house in this city Monday night at 7:30. His address will be confined to discussion of national conditions, in which people of his race will be impressed with the seriousness of their duty as citizens of the country, and should prove an inspiration to all who hear him. Special seats will be reserved for white people, and as the speaker has been highly honored by suffrage in the states of Oklahoma and Illinois it is quite probable a splendid audience of both races will hear him.

AMERICAN TYPHUS EXPEDITION LEAVES POLAND DISTRICTS

Fifty-Five Soldiers and Ten Officers Go to Coblenz at Expiration of Time Limit.

Warsaw, Jan. 1.—Fifty-five soldiers and ten officers of the American typhus expedition to Poland left Warsaw for Coblenz on the Rhine recently in a special train of twelve cars, the mission's time having expired.

The Americans came to Warsaw sixteen months ago and worked with the Polish health authorities in combating typhus, chiefly along the eastern frontiers where refugees were flocking from the interior of Russia under the Bolshevik regime. The Americans worked so near the front lines during the Soviet-Russian-Polish war that frequently the relief trains were under shell fire, and in one instance a soldier was captured by the Bolsheviks.

One care of the special train to Coblenz was reserved exclusively for ten Polish women who had married American soldiers and were taken with their husbands to the headquarters of the American forces in Germany on their way to the United States.

The expedition was under the command of Colonel Harry L. Gilchrist, of Cleveland, O., who is to remain in Warsaw, by permission of the War Department, as adviser to the Polish government.

INCLUDE SUGAR PACKAGES AS HOLIDAY GIFTS

Berlin, Jan. 1.—The American Relief Administration warehouses in Germany have included sugar and cocoa in their food packages which are now being delivered as holiday presents from friends and relatives of Germans in the United States.

The administration, in preparing the packages, made an effort to meet particularly the needs of children, who daily write a large number of letters to the warehouses here and in Hamburg, Dresden and Frankfurt, asking for cocoa, milk and sugar.

M. F. Murphy of the Relief Administration in Berlin said some of these letters looked too good to be true but most of them were genuine. He said they were written from families really in pitiful circumstances and to whom a food package would be the best possible gift. Among many of these families he said white bread is still practically unknown, and sugar and milk, even in prepared forms and most in meager quantities is a rarity.

COMMISSIONERS IN OKLAHOMA SECTION HANDLE MUCH COIN

Funds Aggregating Approximately $40,000,000 Pass Through Land Office of State.

Oklahoma City, Okla. Jan. 7.—Handling funds aggregating approximately $40,000,000, the commissioners of the land office of Oklahoma are in a class of high finance that makes presidents of some large banks and directors of oil companies recede into obscurity as dealers in moneys. The commissioners literally do a land office business.

Notes held by the commissioners on land sold, but not yet paid for, aggregating $22,000,000. Loans on public funds secured by farm lands amount to more than $14,000,000. In addition there are constantly accruing royalties and bonuses on tracts leased for oil and gas development. More than 600,000 acres of farming and grazing land now open for lease and sale.

To administer the public lands and funds derived from them in the task of the commissioners of the land office, more generally known in Oklahoma as the "school land department".

The statehood enabling act, under which the state was created, provided that in each township, consisting of 36 sections, section 16 and 36 would be set aside for school lands, section 13 for the maintenance of the state educational institutions and section 33 for charitable and penal institutions.

THOUSAND WOMEN EMPLOYED BY BIG BANKS AT BOSTON

Large Proportion of Female Members Are Employed Principally As Expert Clerks.

Boston, Jan. 1.—One thousand women are employed in the banks of Boston. This would not be surprising but for the fact that a large proportion are employed as expert clerks—an elastic term—in all departments of the institutions.

The women are employed, in many cases with reluctance, as a war emergency when the boys went marching away, but they are said to have shown adaptability to the banking business.

Miss Caroline P. Stickle, in charge of the woman personnel in an institution employing 318 women, says that last year 200 women bank clerks occupied much of their spare time obtaining added knowledge of the principles and details of banking afforded by the evening courses conducted for the benefit of the Boston Chapter of the American Institute of Banking. Of women in the banking world she says:

"Until within a few years most positions open to women within banking institutions have been largely in the nature of stenographic work. At present you will find women in almost every department and when the department head is consulted he will tell (Continued on Page 4)

VIGOROUS DEBATE IN CONGRESS OVER ALABAMA PROJECT

Great Discussion Occurs Over Proposed Ten Million Dollar Appropriation.

REPUBLICANS BITTERLY ASSAIL PROPOSALS FOR GREAT NITRATE PLANT

Tennessee Congressman Pleads for Funds to Complete Work on Wilson Dam.

Washington, Dec. 31.—The old year closed in the House tonight with a flood of talk on the ups and downs of Muscle Shoals.

Working through to the eve of the New Year discussing a $10,000,000 appropriation for completion of the Wilson dam, part of the government's big war-time nitrate plant, the House adjourned with lines sharply drawn for a fresh fight Monday and a determination on the part of Republicans opposing further aid not to yield, even in the face of a cry of sectionalism.

All day long the dam project was bitterly attacked and warmly defended. It remained, however, for Chairman Graham of the investigating committee, which went over the ground, to turn loose the guns upon the little Alabama settlement, into which he declared there had been dumped with reckless regard for the future enough money to erect half of the public buildings in Washington.

Presented by Representative Garrett, Democrat, of Tennessee, himself a member of the investigating body, who pleaded for funds with which to go ahead with construction of the dam, named for the President, and which he insisted would be a vital cog in the American machinery of war.

The charge by Mr. Garrett that the people of the South could see in the opposition to the measure no ground except sectionalism was vigorously denied by Chairman Graham, who said a dam like that now being constructed in the Tennessee river never had been built in the history of the world and probably never would.

From the proposal advanced by Southern representatives that the House put into the sundry civil bill the $10,000,000 stricken out by the committee, the debate jumped from the dam itself to nitrate plants two miles away involving the policy of the government in selecting Muscle Shoals as a site and building there a project cost upwards of $100,000,000.

Vital Asset In War.
Mr. Garrett declared that to stop work now on the undertaking, 30 per cent complete as for which $17,000,000 had been expended, not only would bring great loss to the government, but would be the height of folly, when nitrate establishments ranked as the most vital assets in time of war. Mr. Graham, on the other hand, contended that Congress "should not go deeper into the hole" until it had decided on a definite policy as to disposal of the plant.

Happy New Year to everybody.

Do not write it 1920 any more, that is a back number.

FIRST PAN-PACIFIC EDUCATIONAL MEET TO BE IN HONOLULU

Great Conference of Educational Bodies Scheduled for August 11 to 21 Inclusive

Honolulu, T. H. Jan. 1.—The first Pan-Pacific Educational conference will be held in Honolulu August 11 to 21 inclusive, according to announcement by official of the Pan-Pacific Union, under auspices of which the conference will be held. Alexander Hume Ford, secretary director of the Union has wired Dr. Frank F. Bunker, Chief of the city school division, bureau of Education, at Washington, fixing the dates in response to a request from Dr. Bunker. Secretary John Barton Payne of the Interior Department is expected to issue formal invitations to Educators from lands touching the Pacific to attend the conference.

According to word received from the Interior Department, about 75 leading Educators are expected to attend. It is expected that Central and South American countries as well as the United States, Canada, the Oriental nations and Australia and New Zealand will be represented.

Mainland book publishers have requested that they be permitted to call a conference of their own number simulating with that of the Educators. Secretary For of the Pan-Pacific Union already has reserved passage for a number of Educators expected from Mainland United States. The arrival and departure of these delegates will be timed so as to permit them to visit points of the interest in the Hawaiian group.

BETTER CONDITIONS

Better money conditions in 1921 should result from the the progressive improvements now operative in certain adverse factors of the country's bank credit situation, according to a statement made today by James S. Alexander, president of the National Bank of Commerce in New York. He expresses the opinion that banking may expect to serve the needs of legitimate business with a lesser degree of credit strain than during the past year. The chief cause of betterment, he says, was a reduction in the volume of war paper and frozen and speculative commercial credits in bank resources impairing their liquidity.

"Business men are justified in feeling confident that the money situation in the United States in 1921 will be a very different matter from what it has been during 1920," Mr. Alexander's statement says. "Certain specific factors are clearly recognizable as the chief adverse forces affecting bank credit during the past year, and there is every reason for believing they will not be so powerfully operative in the year to come."

To illustrate improvement of unfavorable factors in the situation, Mr. Alexander cites figures of 806 banking institutions, reporting weekly to the Federal Reserve Board, with resources estimated at about forty per cent of the resources of all banks. From January to mid-October, he points out, these banks showed a decrease of $500,000,000 in the amount of United States securities owned by them and of $380,000,000 in loans secured by government securities, which for all banks would indicate a reduction in war paper holdings of about two billion dollars. There also was a drop of $200,000,000 in loans secured by stocks and bonds, this item representing in considerable part speculative operations. At the same time loans chiefly for manufacturing, commercial and agricultural purposes showed an increase of $1,510,000,000.

"These figures indicate that while there has been marked contraction in the non-liquid and speculative elements of bank credits, there has been a continued expansion in the accommodation extended to meet business needs," the statement says. "This explains why, although to mid-October contraction was not operative in the total volume of credit, better conditions were in sight in the banking situation. It was because there had been this marked improvement in the quality of credit.

PULVERIZED COAL MEANS FUEL ECONOMY

Necessity for the conservation of coal resources and development of substitute fuels makes the increasing use of pulverized coal one of much economic importance. Experimentation shows that by the use of pulverized coal, a saving of 20 per cent in heating efficiency, and from 20 to 30 per cent in consumption is possible.

The fundamental economic advantage in burning pulverized coal lies in the complete stage to which combustion is carried in the furnace. The contact surface between coal and air is greatly increased by splitting the coal into numerous particles of small size. The second advantage in the pulverization of solid fuel is the fact that it floats in the air, spreads and is carried off by even small air currents. This makes the intimate mixture of coal and air very easy. It simplifies the construction of burners and guarantees economical combustion. The final conditions for complete combustion are approached.

Nineteen Hundred Twenty-One

By Rotarian Edgar A. Guest.

I believe in the world and its bigness and splendor;
That most of the hearts beating
round us are tender;
That days are but footsteps and years are but miles
That lead us to beauty and singing and smiles;
That roses that blossom and toilers that plod
Are filled with the glorious spirit of God.

I believe in the path that today
I am treading,
That I shall come safe through the dangers I'm dreading;
That even the scoffer shall turn from his ways
And some day be won back to trust and to praise;
That the leaf on the tree and the thing we call Man
Are sharing alike in His infinite plan.

—Year of Our Lord—Greenville Rotary Greet You. In Your birth we see the bright new Star of still a better day.

With faces front and courage strong we greet You and pledge to You our faith—happy that it's ours to live and serve.

You bring us confidence and hope; With Your birth we live anew, strengthened by a realization of our many blessings.

How glorious is Your promise in contrast with New Year's days so near gone by.

Where they brought war and famine, You offer peace and plenty; Where they gave death and heartaches, You beckon to paths of life, truth and love; Where they shackled labor to destruction, You reward service with peace.

We are thankful that Your coming finds an ever-widening peace on earth—that commerce, finance and labor, so essential to the material welfare of man, are again assuming the steady tread of peaceful stability—and that we again see blue sky through the war-born clouds of doubt and uncertainty, realizing in full measure the age-old truth—

BASED on the following Code of Ethics Rotary has grown from a friendship group of four men living in the City of Chicago to an International Organization for the good of all men—With a membership of more than 60,000 located on every continent of this world.

The Rotary Code of Ethics

My business standards shall have in them a note of sympathy for our common humanity. My business dealings, ambitions and relations shall always cause me to take into consideration my highest duties as a member of society. In every position in business life, in every responsibility that comes before me, my chief thought shall be to fill that responsibility and discharge that duty so that when I have ended each of them I shall have lifted the level of human ideals and achievements a little higher than I found it. As a Rotarian it is my duty:

- First—To consider my vocation worthy, and as affording me distinct opportunity to serve society.
- Second—To improve myself, increase my efficiency and enlarge my service, and by so doing attest my faith in the fundamental principle of Rotary that he profits most who serves best.
- Third—To realize that I am a business man and anxious to succeed; but that I am first an ethical man, and wish no success that is not founded on the highest justice and morality.
- Fourth—To hold that the exchange of my goods, my service and my ideas for profit is legitimate and ethical, provided that all parties in the exchange are benefited thereby.
- Fifth—To use my best endeavors to elevate the standards of the vocation in which I am engaged, and so to conduct my affairs that others in my vocation may find it wise, profitable and conducive to happiness to emulate my example.
- Sixth—To conduct my business in such a manner that I may give a perfect service equal to or even better than my competitor, and when in doubt to give added service beyond the strict measure of debt or obligation.
- Seventh—To understand that one of the greatest assets of a professional or business man is his friends, and that any advantage gained by reason of friendship is eminently ethical and proper.
- Eighth—To hold that true friends demand nothing of one another, and that any abuse of confidence of friendship for profit is foreign to the spirit of Rotary, and in violation of its Code of Ethics.
- Ninth—To consider no personal success legitimate or ethical which is secured by taking unfair advantage of certain opportunities in the social order that are absolutely denied others, nor will I take advantage of opportunities to achieve material success that others will not take because of the questionable morality involved.
- Tenth—To recognize that the genius of Rotary is not in its competition but in its co-operation; for provincialism can never have a place in an institution like Rotary, and Rotarians assert that human rights are not confined to Rotary Clubs, but are as deep and as broad as the race itself; and for these high purposes does Rotary exist to educate all men and all institutions.
- Eleventh—Finally, believing in the universality of the Golden Rule—All things whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye also unto them—we contend that Society best holds together when equal opportunity is accorded all men in the natural resources of this planet.

(By Uncle Sol)

Solomon said on one occasion There was nothing new in all creation. But were he living at this time, Methinks, perhaps, he'd change his mind.

For in these days of ups and downs Few novel things have come to town, Jazz and shimmy are on the stage, A new thing for this modern age. No more we trip it as we go, Nor skip the "light" fantastic toe." Nor do we love our fellow man Except to squeeze him all we can To rid' him of his hard-earned dough, To help the landlord make a show. But biggest of the newest stunts That's hit this age's latter months, Is profiteering left and right And taking everything in sight.

The farmer had his day last May, The wary merchants had his say. But poor old Landlord hangs around And swears, by jove, he won't come down, But cheer up lads, he'll get his dues— A case of profiteering blues— When tenant fails to pay his rent Because it takes the last red cent.

you that the woman clerk's work is very satisfactory indeed.

"Occasionally, we hear of some woman who has attained an executive position within the conservative circles of banking although such attainments have not been at all general. This is not a bit discouraging, however, when we realize that what we have been given to do has been done satisfactorily. We need to realize what the future may bring greater opportunities and to be ready for these we cannot have too great knowledge relating to the principles and details of banking."

The Spirit of The Season

The spirit of the season prompts us to express our appreciation to the general public for the good business we have enjoyed since our opening one year ago. The year 1920 was a good year for us—Business was prosperous and we feel grateful for the success we've had.

We want the New Year to be a great deal more successful than the old one—We want to do a larger business—We want if possible, to give our customers better service.

Watch this space from DAY—TO—DAY—We shall have something of interest to tell you.

Best wishes to all for a happy and prosperous new Year.
