UTILITIES ADVISED TO ADVERTISE AND SERVE THE PUBLIC

President Electric Railway Co., Tells India Gathering of Requirements of Future

PUBLIC UNDERSTANDING NECESSARY IN SETTLING PRESENT TRADE ISSUES Advises Telling Whole Truth About Business in Presenting Facts to the Public

Indianapolis, Jan. 14.—"Be frank and advertise," was the advice given public utility companies tonight by P. H. Gadsden, of Philadelphia, president of the American Electric Railway Association, at a meeting of the Indiana Public Utility Association. In this method, Mr. Gadsden said, public understanding of utility problems can best be obtained and necessary rate adjustment and credit restoration hastened.

"It is absolutely necessary," he said, "if public utilities are to continue to function that they create a flow of new capital into the securities. The answer to this whole problem is the granting of rates to public utility companies which will insure a turn to the security holders that will induce them to invest. Nothing less than this sort of an arrangement will save the utilities from ruin."

"Adjustment of public utility rates to rates that will attract new money into the field will be hastened by a thorough public understanding of the public utility problem."

The best way to bring about the understanding is to be frank and advertise.

Frankness must go hand in hand with advertising else advertising falls therefore, be prepared, when you are presenting your story to the public, to tell the whole truth about your business to everyone. As the only customer of the public utilities, the public is entitled to know all about their business and any public utility which cannot stand the searchlight of honest public inquiry cannot hope to obtain help through favorable public sentiment. Put your house in such order that you will fear the questions of no man.

Advertise by every possible channel and hit the line hard. Tell your story everywhere that there is blank space which you can fill.

Make it plain that the public utility problem is the problem of every man, woman and child who uses your service. Strive by frank statement to convince consumers that you are trying to do the best thing for their general good and that it is in their own interest, if nothing else, that they should enlist themselves in your cause. The way to accomplish this result is not to give good service, or to submit to the public a large indigestible volume of statistics and then sit down and wait for the millennium. The thing to do is to explain your situation in understandable terms to just as many folks as possible.

TRADE COMMISSION TO BE ADVOCATED IN NEW YORK CITY

State Trade Commission For Regulating Business to be Asked of the Legislature

New York, Jan. 14.—State supervision and regulation of all business and trade associations by a state trade commission, probably will be one of the recommendations made to the New York Legislature by the joint legislative committee investigating the "building trust."

The report will be drawn up by Samuel Ultermeyer, counsel of the committee and will contain suggestions for remedial legislation to correct the abuses exposed by the committee's probe and stimulate the building of homes.

The committee is also reported to be preparing a proposal for compelling saving banks, life insurance companies and other financial institutions over which the state has control to invest a larger part of their assets in real estate mortgages.

Under the plans for regulation of trade associations to bi-partisan commission would have power to examine costs and to fix reasonable and fair profits in the various industries. A uniform system of accounting would be required of all members of the individual associations.

No agreement between firms or individuals relative to trade practices might be entered into without the approval of the commission. For business firms to form an association or enter into an agreement with other firms, without authorization, would automatically render them guilty of a crime.

Mr. Ultermeyer believes that some such form of regulation should be extended not only to the building trades but to all other forms of industry, since he believes trade commissions are accomplishing in practically every business field what has been done in industries. Where the element of price regulation enters, it would make necessary the establishment of uniform systems of bookkeeping so that correct figures might be obtained from which to study profits.

Besides the commission, it is stated, that a host of other regulations aimed at abolishing unfair trade practices will be asked and statutes will be suggested to restore the free flow of open competition which formerly prevailed.

NEW YORK POLICE GUARDING AGAINST RADICAL OUTBREAK

Washington, Jan. 14.—Warning of a threatened demonstration with bombing activities in New York was received by the government today from a reputable private detective agency, department of justice officials said today. Investigations are being made by federal agents but they have been unable to find evidence that demonstrations are to occur.

NEW YORK ON GUARD

New York, Jan. 14.—Public buildings, churches, public utility plants and homes of wealthy citizens throughout the city are under heavy guard today by police orders as a precautionary measure against possible radical demonstrations. Police officials are extremely reticent concerning orders given verbally last night to the entire force, but they intimated it was prompted by action of federal authorities.

CHINA MISSIONARY SPEAKS AT PRAYER SERVICES IN CITY

Mrs. Eugene Turner Tells Women of Baptist Church of Conditions Among Heathens.

Mrs. Eugene Turner, a missionary worker of Shanghai, China, who is visiting relatives in this city, spoke at prayer services of the Woman's Missionary Society in the Memorial Baptist church this morning. Her lecture was confined principally to a discussion of Christianizing the children in China, and the differences existing between rich and poor, educated and uneducated classes.

Mrs. Turner first told of how China was being Christianized. She said young women were taken from high schools as active teachers in Sunday school classes. Much trouble was experienced in early periods of organization work as children had been told that foreign missionaries had come for the purpose of doing them injury. By hard work, however, Sunday school classes were finally organized and the young women took more than general interest in teaching the children the truth as presented to them by the missionaries.

Such conditions, Mrs. Turner said, applied to the poorer classes of people who had given them access into their homes, and evinced active interest in the work of Christianity as taught to them. It was almost impossible to gain access to homes of wealthy families who had closed their doors against the workers, because they failed to realize actual reasons for the work. Right at this juncture Mrs. Turner explained the difference between the rich and the poor classes and showed how the girls are gaining recognition both in the wealthy and poorer classes.

She told an interesting story of the daughter of an official who had been educated and after graduation married into another family of high rank. The marriage failed to turn out happily, so the girl left without getting a divorce. Since leaving her husband the young woman has established a school for the purpose of teaching girls domestic science. She is cordial to the missionaries and has been of great assistance in recent work. However, she refused to give up her religion for Christianity on the grounds that she was afraid her school would be closed.

Mrs. Turner concluded her talk with an account of the daughter of a Chinese preacher in Chinatown in New York, who had been highly educated in America and who returned to China to help her people. She is working in a Y. M. C. A. school now and has charge of the physical culture department and teaching girls from rural districts. The difference in Christian and heathen schools, Mrs. Turner said, is that in one the young women are happy, while in the other students seemed depressed by some invisible force, which is nothing more than lack of enlightenment.

PLANS TO BETTER TENURE LAWS FOR SCHOOL TEACHERS

Council of Federation of Teachers Proposes Legislation Improving Conditions Everywhere

STATE LEGISLATURES TO BE ASKED FOR LAW PROTECTING TEACHER

Federation Maintains Tenure Should Be Permanent After Efficiency Is Established

Chicago, Ill. Jan. 14.—The executive council of the American Federation of Teachers, following action taken at the recent convention of the organization held at St. Paul, is launching a nation wide campaign for better tenure legislation for teachers. State legislatures will be asked to remedy existing conditions relative to the employment and retention of teachers, who believe that injustice in the prevailing system. The American Federation of Teachers authorities assert that remedial legislation will go far toward raising the standard of the teaching profession, inasmuch as it will obviate arbitrary dismissal of competent teachers by automatic boards of education.

In asking for decent tenure legislation, said Charles B. Stillman, president of the American Federation of Teachers at Chicago headquarters, our organization is not animated by any desire to protect the inefficient teacher. In fact, the American Federation of Teachers is interested in providing the machinery by means of which incompetent teachers may be removed from the school system. Far from protecting incompetency, the American Federation of Teachers has gone on record in a bold revolutionary measure for the protection of the public schools, by demanding for its organization professional training as a prerequisite for the chartering of a local.

President Stillman said the American Federation of Teachers maintains that (Continued On Page 8)

WAREHOUSES PLAN TO RE-OPEN SOON IN BURLEY PARTS

Representatives of Growers Launch Movement to Cut Out 1921 Crop Entirely.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 13.—All loose leaf tobacco markets throughout the burley district of Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio, closed for more than a week because of unsatisfactory prices offered by buyers will open January 17, it was decided at a meeting of warehousemen here late today. The vote was thirty warehouses for opening and 12 for remaining closed. Aurora, Ind.; Brookville, Ky.; Maysville, Ky.; and Walton, Ky., voted solidly against reopening while two out of the three Carlisle voted to open and one to remain closed.

Growers' representatives, however, in a prior meeting had authorized formation of an organization for holding the 1920 crop until April 15 and cutting out the 1921 crop entirely.

A committee of one man from each tobacco growing county in Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana and four from Tennessee counties, was appointed to work out the plan of organization which calls for signed pledges by growers that they will carry out the agreement. Decision of the warehousemen to re-open the markets, is contrary to action taken at meetings here January 7, when resolutions were passed stating that bankers and warehousemen would back any decision of the growers. Practically all markets of the state were closed January 4, when growers refused to accept prices offered by buyers and many hauled their tobacco back to storage.

COTTON FARMERS PLEDGE REDUCTIONS IN ACREAGE AT MEETING AT RALEIGH

There is at least one survivor of the historic charge of the light brigade at Balaklava, and he is William Woodroffe, formerly of the Eleventh Hussars, now living with his wife in Cambridge, England. STOCKHOLDERS OF CITY COTTON MILL IN ANNUAL SESSION

Dividends for Year Applied to Improvement Fund

The annual meeting of the City Cotton Mill was held in the office building with eight hundred shares of stock being represented. The report of President J. B. Mays proved one of the interesting features of the session as it was shown that the institution was in excellent condition, having been only slightly affected by the state of depression which hampered industry to such an extent in this part of the country.

Instead of dividends being paid direct to stockholders as customary, it was considered advisable to apply the total amount to improvements of the plant, many of which have been completed. The mill today is one of the best equipped in this part of the country. A large commodious extension to the old building was completed last year, and has been in operation for some time. It is well equipped with new machinery and has been in almost constant operation since work began. The present period of depression, of course, has presented a number of handicaps, but owing to the foresight of officers little time has been lost.

The report of every department showed surprising activity in view of past conditions in the financial field, and gave promise of greater business in the future. Manager W. H. Norris in reporting general conditions of the plant, stated that every department was in excellent running condition and would be able to cope with demand for several months after all improvements are made. A spirit of optimism was evidenced by words of cheer presented by officials who looked forward to better business following the present economic disorder.

The following directors were re-elected for the ensuing year: W. J. Hardee, G. B. W. Hadley, G. E. Harris, F. C. Harding, J. R. Mays, R. L. Smith, John R. Spier, L. W. Tucker and R. D. Harrington.

The following officers were unanimously re-elected: J. G. Mays, president; R. H. Cotten, v-president; R. Williams, secretary; E. H. Higgs, treasurer; W. H. Norris, manager.

L. S. TOMLINSON ELECTED PRESIDENT OF ASSOCIATION BY ALMOST UNANIMOUS VOTE

Governor Manning, of South Carolina, Principal Speaker of the Occasion.

Raleigh, Jan. 14.—Endorsement of the commodity plan for the marketing of cotton similar to the one adopted by North Carolina Tobacco Growers. American Cotton Association requested to call meeting to consider south-wide plan for the marketing of cotton along the lines proposed for the co-operative marketing of cotton in this State.

Continuation of present cotton tax of .25 cents a bale for another two years.

Endorsement of American Products Export and Import Corporation.

Amendment of State law as to provide for organization of NON-CAPITAL marketing associations.

Fifty per cent reduction in cotton acreage for the year, provided that no cotton raiser shall plant more than one-third of his cultivated land in cotton.

Designation of January 31st as "Acreage Reduction Day."

Cotton storage warehouse for every cotton growing county in the State.

These recommendations adopted without a dissenting vote by five hundred earnest cotton farmers from fifty counties in North Carolina at the annual meeting of the North Carolina Cotton Association held in Raleigh.

The association had the privilege of hearing several notable visiting speakers. Former Governor Richard I. Manning, of South Carolina, president of the American Products Export and Import Corporation, explained the purpose of this company and Aaron Sapiro of San Francisco, outlined the principles of the California plan for marketing farm products.

Col. W. R. Thompson, president of the Louisiana Division of the American Cotton Association, delivered the main address of the evening session.

Cumberland county represented by 150 cotton growers took a prominent part in the convention. These Cumberland growers have already organized a thorough going county organization and had some definite ideas about how to proceed. One of them was the fixing of one dollar as an organization fee for the marketing association and this was put through at the last minute after a good bit of talking.

 Senator Harding started out with a "get the money slogan" but it seems he has forgotten it now the campaign is over.

Beauty specialists say sleep is a direct aid to beauty. That must be why Pitt county policemen are so handsome.

American radio officers think change of the moon affects radio service to no little extent. Dan Cupid has the same opinion about the matter.

Republican leaders in Congress propose to frame a permanent workable tariff despite the chaotic foreign exchange situation. That may be, but they've got a long way to go before the problem can be satisfactorily settled in the minds of the American people.

Ootton is reported firm after reaction, according to reports from New York city. The news sounds mighty good to the farmer that has not marketed his crop yet, as it means he will at least be able to pay cost of production. And that's more than hundreds can say.

Fashion unfortunately has dictated the use of too much false hair, and as a result many good looking women have become hideous looking. If they could see themselves as others see them common sense instead of fashion would be an infallible guide in the future.

A Gardner boom for governor in 1925 flared up in the senate as O. Max prepared to leave the boys for good. If the flames continue to live for four long years the gentleman deserves the office and his admirers deserve the pleasure of seeing him at the head of state affairs.

Evidence of competition between miners and exporters has helped boost the wheat market, according to observers, and today a sharp upturn in price is noticeable. If competition can do that much, it is hoped the situation will become more accentuated and give the market time to turn over completely.

There is spontaneous demand in Europe and America for simpler passport regulations, declares Fred M. King, president of the American Chamber of Commerce, who is engaged in a campaign to bring out a change for the better. And he is right. People who have had the pleasure of obtaining passports on either continent know what a job it is. There is enough trouble in the procedure to make a person jump in the sea in despair. Simpler methods would be much better and just as safe for governments involved.

The Greenville Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual meeting tonight. Members should attend as matters of much interest will be discussed that will mean much to development of the city. The organization has been active in promoting industrial development for several months, and if properly supported should be a source of greater achievement in the future. There are numbers of cities with such institutions but none have been more active than this one. It is the duty of every citizen to stand behind its organization every way possible.

Tar Hell planters are ready to join Virginia in an effort to bring about improvement in the tobacco situation. The combination is an excellent one, and should result in success within considerably shorter time than one would suppose. Organization is the only definite way the issue may be settled, and the meeting at Raleigh outlined plans which should be provocative of even greater activity. Pitt county planters, it is assured will do their part by the campaign, as the next planting season will show. Thirty-three and a third per cent reduction, as agreed upon, may be sufficient, but co-operative influences of other organizations may increase it to one-half. Either will be all right just so plans are adopted in every community and the future will be safe from further deplorable situations such as have faced the South for several months.

The person that appears in court and later tries to conceal it from the public need not run to the newspapers for protection. The newspaperman regrets to publish such incidents. But does so as a matter of news and to help reduce crime. If there was no chance of anything ever appearing in public print crime would increase rapidly and threaten the entire country with ruin, and for that reason it is imperative every incident appearing in the courts be published. This paper is constantly requested to shield someone, but in fairness to its readers, generally handles everything with the exception of occurrences too vile for publication. A word of praise would be gladly substituted in place of charges of criminal violence, and this should be remembered by those wishing to shield themselves from public criticism.

Business institutions of the country are helping considerably in improving the present state of depression by letters mailed out to their customers. In fact, we have had occasion to read several such letters and have found that a spirit of optimism is invariably expressed meaning much toward improving the situation. The public as a rule is guided by sentiment emanating from industrial agencies and is either dispirited or encouraged by their predictions. America fortunately is made up of men of vision and indomitable will power, and it is hardly probable a momentary state of depression should affect them seriously. This is one of the real secrets of success in both small and large business and will have much to do with future commercial activity.

Pruning and spraying is very necessary to success of an orchard, according to information given out by W. B. Pace, farm demonstration agent for Pitt county, and for that reason from the 24th to the 29th of this month has been set aside for the purpose of doing this work. If farmers go by advice issued from time to time by Mr. Pace they will be greatly benefitted. His work is to help improve farming conditions, and the more the planter cooperates the greater success will be in evidence in the future. There should be no holding back as time for more intensive cultivation has come. It is up to every farmer to do his part and if this should be done Pitt county will be one of the greatest agricultural regions in the country.

The government will begin a roundup of Oriental ineligible on the 22nd of this month, and it is perfectly natural to expect something interesting to transpire during the investigation. Numbers of persons arrive in this country on board ships, and by taking advantage of seamen's cards, go ashore and smuggle themselves in remote localities, escaping detection. That has occurred in many instances according to, deporting agencies, and it is perfectly natural for Uncle Sam to begin a campaign against such a state of affairs. Mexicans illegally here will also be taken in the raid, if such it may be called, therefore, total figures to be presented at the end of the campaign will no doubt be startling.

Legislators were favorably impressed with the inaugural address delivered by Governor Cameron Morrison. And they had a right to be. He summed up the needs of the state in an interesting and fearless way, leaving little room for doubt concerning the course he will pursue in the next several months. It is seldom a public leader expresses himself in such unequivocal terms as did the governor, but when one recalls the part he played in State politics it is not surprising that he should indulge in simple forms of expression. He is an able leader, and will do honor to the high office to which he has been elected.

If cotton prices continue to mount higher quite a number of planters will regret leaving many acres unpickered, exposed to rain and bad weather. The probability of a continued increase at least ought to be an incentive for clearing fields and getting the staple housed ready for immediate sale. Dependancy has been carried too far in thousands of different ways, and it has been mighty foolish on the farmers' part. The way to success is not paved by permanent prosperity, but by meeting adverse as they come, resolved to the best by every situation.

Dependancy has been carried too far in thousands of different ways, and it has been mighty foolish on the farmers' part. The way to success is not paved by permanent prosperity, but by meeting adverse as they come, resolved to the best by every situation.

KENTUCKY ACTIVE IN PROPOSAL FOR REDUCING ACREAGE

Fight In Central Part of the State Is More General Than In History Of Industry.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 14.—Although the movement of 1921 for the forcing of tobacco prices to a higher level in Central Kentucky probably is more general than ever before, according to tobacco men, trouble over tobacco prices is nothing new. Efforts to "cut out" the crop because of low prices, have taken place periodically for the last thirteen years, resulting in 1908 in what amounted to virtually a war between growers who did not plant and those who did.

In 1908 tobacco beds were burned, farmers shipped and some instances killed and a general reign of terror was inaugurated. State troops were unable to cope with the situation and the trouble died down only when Gov. Augustus E. Willson issued a proclamation saying that the killing of a "tobacco man" would be followed by immediate pardon for the slayer. There were no sales of tobacco that year in any of the principal markets of the tobacco belt either in the cigarette section of Central Kentucky or the "Black Belt" or dark burley region of Western Kentucky.

During the two years prior to the night rider trouble prices for tobacco had been at a low level. In 1906, 4,542,947 pounds were sold on the Lexington breaks at an average of $7.49 per 100 pounds while 18,347,805 lbs. were sold in 1907 for an average of $10.93.

Prices rose to a new level of $14.11 a hundred for 42,041,877 pounds in 1909 but slumped again in 1910. This caused the calling of the convention in Lexington which was attended, according to local historians, by growers from Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana and

MISS WOOTEN ENTERTAINS

Bridge Luncheon Complimentary to Miss Nell White

Yesterday morning at her home on Fifth street Miss Pattie Wooten delightfully entertained a few friends at a three-course bridge luncheon, complimentary to Miss Nell White, bride-elect. The house was artistically decorated with potted plants and three tables for the games were arranged in the library and parlor. Upon arrival the guests were given a most cordial welcome and after finding their places for the games were served orange ice. The score cards were hand-painted and very pretty. The table prizes, hand-made handkerchiefs, fell to Mrs. Lewis Gaylord, Mrs. C. T. Munford, Jr., and Miss Novella Moye. The honoree was presented a beautiful piece of lingerie. After the games the two remaining courses were served. Miss Wooten proved an ideal hostess and it was one of the most enjoyable luncheons of the season.

BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Jr., was at home to her card club Wednesday afternoon from three to six. The four tables were arranged in the library and living room and several interesting games were played.

Miss Pattie Wooten, making the highest score was awarded an attractive guest towel, and the table prizes were dainty bottles of perfume.

At the conclusion of the games a delicious salad course was served.

The guests of the club were Mrs. J. L. Hassell, Mrs. W. H. Dail, Mrs. Roy Batchelor, Mrs. Butner, Mrs. James Hines, Mrs. A. M. Moseley and Mrs. Leon Randolph.

MR. GEORGE W. EDMONDSON DIES AT HOME NEAR BETHEL

(Reported for The Reflector) Bethel, N. C., Jan. 14.—Our community was saddened last Tuesday afternoon by the sudden death of one of our most venerable citizens, Mr. Geo. W. Edmondson. Shortly after the noon hour he was found in the pack house in a critical condition, medical aid was hastily summoned, but in spite of all that could be done he died a short while afterwards of heart failure.

Mr. Edmondson was born near Bethel May 30, 1851; and had lived all of his three score and ten years in this immediate community.

August 30, 1877, Mr. Edmondson was married to Miss Mary L. Nelson, who died April 24, 1889. To this union were born the following children, who survive him: Mrs. Bulah Moore, Mrs. Lizzie Carson, Mrs. Pearl Taylor, and Mrs. Verna Grimes, all of whom live in or near Bethel. Nov. 13, 1890, he was married to Miss Nannie Nelson, a sister of his former wife. To this union were born the following children who survive him: Mrs. Mollie Bullock, Misses Lillian and Clyde Edmondson.

After a simple but beautiful burial service, held from the home Wednesday afternoon by the deceased's pastor, Rev. J. P. Harris, assisted by Rev. W. E. Trotman and Rev. W. O. Biggs, his former pastor, the remains were laid to rest between the graves of his two wives in the family burying ground near the home. Mr. Edmondson joined the Methodist church about thirty-six years ago. On the fourth Sunday of last October he was baptized into the fellowship of the Baptist church of Bethel. Mr. Edmondson's life as a Christian, as a father, and as a business man of this community, though an unpretentious one, was above reproach.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to each member of the family, and especially to Mrs. Moore and her son, Chifton, and the two younger daughters who are left in the old home.

The honorary pall-bearers were Mr. John Mayo, Mr. E. H. Taylor, Mr. W. G. Keel, Mr. Bob Staton, Mr. J. S. L. Ward and Mr. McFord. The active pall-bearers were R. L. Barnhill, W. J. Mayo, C. Taylor, J. L. Gurganos, D. C. Carson, W. L. Staton, J. R. Morris, D. Parker, E. Trip, L. L. Cherry, W. H. Manning and Lester House.

How Much Money Do You Carry In Your Pocket?

For your own good—and for the good of the country—you should carry as little cash in your pocket as possible. Why? Well, in the first place, there is danger of theft. "Stick-up" men are able to get surprisingly large hauls because of the careless American habit of carrying large sums of money. If folks had with them an average of only five dollars, the highwayman would find the prospect less alluring.

Also, money in the pocket is easily and thoughtlessly spent. A quarter here and a dime there—for idle, unnecessary things—and before you know it five or ten dollars are thrown away for useless purchases.

You Can Help Make America More Prosperous

When money is deposited in the bank it goes to work for your community and for American industries. The idle dollars in your pocket draw no interest for you, nor do they serve the needs of commerce.

If every person in the United States carried an average of only one dollar more than was necessary, their pockets would contain a total of more than $100,000,000 in idle money. This amount in Banks would enable them to extend millions additional credit when necessary.

Think how far this sum would go toward financing Tobacco, Cotton, Peanuts and other crops! Think how this hundred million would speed up the industries of the country.

Theo. Price, noted economist and editor of Commerce and Finance, recently addressed an audience of business men. He asked the men present to report the amount of cash in their pockets. In an audience of less than six hundred men, there was over $17,000 in cash.

Join The Thrift Campaign and SAVE

KENTUCKY ACTIVE IN PROPOSAL FOR REDUCING ACRES

at which it was unanimously voted to "cut out" the crop in 1911. There is no indication, however, that the agreement was generally followed out, for records of the Lexington Tobacco Warehousemen's Association show that in the latter year 48,498,695 lbs of tobacco were marketed here at an average price of $10.33 per 100 lbs as compared with an average price of $7.66 per hundred for 42,041,877 lbs in 1910.

The price of tobacco reached an average of $12.94 per hundred for 48,177,225 pounds on the local market in 1912 and $12.05 per hundred for 40,176,075 in 1913 but dropped again to $8.27 in 1914 when 50,419,215 pounds, a record for this market up to that time, were sold over the breaks here. The next year only 35,398,650 pounds were offered at auction here and brought an average of $10.53 per hundred.

tenure should be permanent during efficiency after the lapse of the probationary period, which should not exceed three years; that all dismissals, both during and after probation must be for causes definitely embodied in the Educational law, such as gross insubordination, inefficiency and conduct unbecoming a teacher, and that after the probation period dismissal for any cause, including inefficiency, shall be authorized only by an impartial trial board.

Appeal from the decision of a trial board may be made to the civil courts would also be allowed.

The Federation officials say they see a cultural wage for teachers and explain that this is a wage which will enable them to live according to the requirements of their position, to provide for such hazards of life as illness and old age, to provide for culture, recreation and professional improvement and to maintain self-respect.

SELL AT GORMAN'S

Gorman's sold 73,578 pounds Thursday. It was the best sale as to prices we have made this week. The bodied tobacco and good to fine tobacco is selling better than just before Xmas but the third primings and common tobacco is very low, many common piles selling from one to 3 cents and these knock the floor average.

Our customers where they had good bodied tobacco were highly pleased and those with common, non-descript types stated they realized we had worked hard and had done our best, so they were satisfied. Drive to Gorman's and you will go home with the top of the market.
