MEASURE OFFERED TO REVISE PARTS REVALUATION ACT

Senator Varner, Chairman of Finance Committee Introduces Sweeping Measure for Change. ADMINISTRATION WOULD BE LEFT ENTIRELY TO THE VARIOUS COUNTIES

Actual Appraisalment Would Be Made By Township Boards, Subject to Review By County.

Raleigh, Jan. 19.—Sweeping and drastic revision of the Revaluation Act, though adhering to the principle of "assessment of property at its true value in money," is provided in a bill introduced in the senate yesterday by Senator L. R. Varner, chairman of the committee of Finance.

The Varner bill makes the administration of the revision entirely local. The Board of Commissioners of each county is authorized to appoint a county board of appraisers of from three to five members, or may itself assume the functions of a board. The actual assessments shall be made by township boards of appraisers of three members each, appointed by the county board.

The bill provides that the township boards shall hold hearings and shall take into consideration the sale value of property and its profit bearing qualities and shall equalize the assessment value of all property in the township. The findings of the township board are made reviewable by the county board, and the State Tax Commission retains power to make equalizations between the several counties.

The bill provides for a cash refund of all taxes collected upon a valuation in excess of that which shall be determined under the provisions of the bill. Another revision in 1923 to be followed by subsequent revisions each four years is called for, in conformity with the principle of the bill which calls for "present" values. The bill was referred to the Finance Committee.

The Varner bill found its way into the hopper along with 15 others, the crop exceeding the combined offerings of any two preceding days.

Senator J. L. Delaney offered a workmen's compensation bill different from that drafted by the commission appointed by the last General Assembly. The Delaney Bill, which is understood to meet with the approval of organized labor in the State, provides for compensation for injuries at the rate of 60 per cent of the weekly wage and creates a commission of three members to be appointed by the Governor, who shall receive an annual salary of $5,000 each and shall be provided with a clerk at a salary of $3,000.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO ENTERTAIN MEMBERSHIP AND FRIENDS FRIDAY

The Board of the Christian church will entertain members and friends of the church at a reception to be conducted Friday night at eight o'clock. There will be a number of interesting features connected with the occasion, principal among them being several musical numbers to be rendered by Mrs. Goode. The event will be in the form of a get-together meeting and will be for every member of the church and any who desire to attend. A light luncheon will be served by ladies of the church.

SEMINOLE INDIANS ARE PERMITTED TO MOVE TO MEXICO

Recent Conference Decides to Grant Permission for Change to Reservation in Mexico

Wewoka, Okla. Jan. 20.—At a conference of Seminole Indians held here recently a decision was reached whereby many Seminole Indians now living in Seminole county will move to Mexico next summer to live upon a reservation allotted to them in 1859 by the Mexican government, if claims to the land can be established.

Louis F. Brown, chief of the Seminoles and son of former Gov. J. F. Brown, with a delegation of fourteen Seminole leaders, have left for Mexico City to confer with President Obregon and ask his decision on the claim.

Chief Brown is in possession of a copper medal upon which the original treaty was made to the tribe, granting the reservation to the Indians, which he will take with him to offer as proof of the grant. The only question that is uncertain in the minds of the Seminole leaders, is whether the New Mexican regime will recognize the treaties of the old rulers.

Members of the tribe who will migrate to Mexico are those who have sold their allotments in Seminole county, following the removal of restrictions, the Seminole chief said, having no homestead, they desire to live according to their old ways and customs.

The reservation which the Seminoles claim was granted to them adjoins that of the Kickapoo in northern Mexico and consists of several thousand acres of fertile soil. The reservation was at one time occupied by the Seminoles, old Indians say, but many of them moved to Oklahoma after the civil war when the land allotted to them. Slaves of the Indians, who remained in Mexico when their masters moved into Oklahoma, are still living on this reservation, the Seminoles declare.

LAST YEAR PROVED BIGGEST FOR CORN IN NATION HISTORY

Records of Department of Agriculture Show Establishment of Record Yield Per Acre.

ENTIRE PRODUCTION AMOUNTED TO ABOUT 3,232,367,000 BUSHELS.

Iowa, Greatest Corn Producing State, Made An Average of 46 Bushels To the Acre.

Washington, Jan. 20.—1920 was the greatest corn year in the history of the country according to the records of the Department of Agriculture. Besides growing a record crop of 3,232,367, bushels, the farmers established a new record for average yield per acre with 39.9 bushels, the second time in history that the country's average yield went past 30 bushels.

The area planted to corn last year was 104,601,000 acres which was smaller than the area planted in eight other years heretofore and 1,400,000 acres smaller than the area which produced the previous record crop of 3,124,746, bushels in 1912. Last year's crop was the third to exceed 3,000,000,000 bushels.

Iowa, the country's greatest corn producing State made an average of 46 bushels to the acre for the first time in its history. The highest average acre yield of any State was that of Vermont with 47 bushels. Maine in 1919 had the highest average acre yield with 60 bushels. In the ten years previous to that year the highest average acre yield has been made by one of the New England States. Connecticut had highest yield in six of the ten years. Massachusetts in two, New Hampshire in one, and Vermont and Massachusetts tying in one.

WAGES FOR HIRED MEN OVER DOUBLE DURING TEN YEARS

Farm Labor Triples for Twenty Year Period, and Higher Last Year Than Ever Before

Washington, Jan. 20.—Wages of hired men on farms have more than doubled in the last ten years, tripled in the last twenty years and were more than four times higher last year than they were in 1879. These changes are shown by statistics of the Department of Agriculture.

Wages paid by the month, without board, averaged $64.95 for the country as a whole last year, ten years ago they averaged $27.50 and in 1879 they were $10.43.

Day labor at harvest time last year averaged $4.36 without board and at other than harvest time $3.59. Ten years ago harvest time labor was paid $1.82 and at other than harvest time $1.38. In 1894 harvest time day labor was paid $1.13 and non-harvest time labor 81 cents a day.

California and Nevada farmers paid their labor the highest price for labor without board, the average in those states last year having been $107 a month. The lowest average was in Mississippi where $41 was paid. The average for the country as a whole was $64.95, the Northern Atlantic states averaged $75.54, the South Atlantic $50.56, the North East Central states $70.70, the Northern Central states $70.79, the South Central states $51.94 and the for Western states, $69.43.

For harvest time labor without board North Dakota paid the highest rate with $7.40 cents a day, while at other than harvest time South Dakota paid the highest rate with 5.90 cents a day.

SHIP BUILDERS TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS AT CAPITAL TODAY

Shipping Men and Exporters Gather in Washington to Take Up Marine Questions

PROMINENT MEN TO TALK ON VARIOUS SUBJECTS OF COMMERCIAL IMPORTANCE

Repair Problems of the Merchant Marine Fleet Will Also Be Given Consideration

Washington, Jan. 20.—Ship builders shipping men and exporters from over the country gathered here today for a two-day discussion of problems facing the American merchant marine with a view to recommending permanent policies to Congress and the Shipping Board. They attended the annual convention of the National Merchant Marines Association, of which Senator Ransdell, of Louisiana, is president.

Subjects assigned various speakers and listened for general discussions included repeal of the Panama Canal toll affecting American vessels; the prices of which government vessels should be sold; Establishment of preferential railroad rates on exports and imports in American ships; revision of marine insurance laws; abrogation of commercial treaties and the encouragement of the use of American ships by exporters and importers.

Speakers of the opening session included Senator Jones, of the Senate Commerce Committee; Rear Admiral Benson, Chairman of the Shipping Board and Frank C. Munson, President of the Munson Steamship Line. Senator Jones subject was the purpose of the Merchant Marine Act and the need for full support from the people of the country, while Chairman Benson discussed the general shipping situation from the standpoint of the Shipping Board.

President Ransdell outlined the general purposes of the meeting in his address opening the convention and Mr. Munson had taken as his topic how can the United States improve. Its present position on the seas? The first general discussion followed the delivery of the prepared addresses.

ASK LEGISLATORS TO SUPPORT BILL OF APPROPRIATION

Junior High School Class Adopts Resolutions to Petition Activity on Part County Seions.

The Junior Class of the Greenville High School initiated a progressive movement Monday, when they met and carried a motion to send to the legislators of Pitt county a petition that they support the Appropriation Bill now before the lawmaking body. Tuesday the class laid the plan before the other classes, asking for their support in the matter. In consequence a petition led by the members of the Junior Class and followed by the entire student body was signed and sent to Raleigh by special delivery on the afternoon train. It read as follows:

"We, the Junior Class of the Greenville High School, having met and carefully considered what action we might take in regard to the Appropriation Bill, hereby petition that you as our legislators support unflinchingly this movement for the enlargement of educational facilities in North Carolina.

Following our action, the entire student body have agreed to affix their names hereto, thus adding their support in a matter of vital importance to every true North Carolinian."

Whitney Warren, American architect, has been selected to restore the ancient University of Louvain by the Belgian-French committee in charge of the restoration of the great Belgian seat of learning destroyed by the German army, August 26, 1914. He is of the firm of Warren & Whitmore, architect of the Grand Central terminal, the Yale club and other noted New York buildings.

CLAIM FARMERS DO NOT GET BENEFITS FROM COUNTY ROAD

Counties Have Completed Majority of Highways but They Are Not Well Kept

Chapel Hill, Jan. 20.—Up to the present time, the counties have been compelled to spend the major portion of their road funds on main highways connecting the principal cities with towns, which are used largely for commercial purposes. Even with their maximum expenditure of funds and energy on these main roads, they are kept in very poor condition. The great majority of our farming class do not receive any direct benefit from these main roads, although they are helping to pay for their construction and upkeep. The average farmer is very vitally interested in the county or secondary roads, which are perforce neglected by the county because it has no funds for both the main highways and the secondary roads. If the county roads were improved the farmers could reach the main highways with maximum loads and thus derive the fullest benefit from both county and main highways.

By the States taking over these main highways (5,500 miles) for construction and maintenance, the counties will be relieved of this burden and can use their own road funds for building and maintaining the county roads leading out into the various farming sections and thus give the average farmer a chance at a better transportation system. There are about 47,000 miles of these county or secondary roads and the task of keeping these in good passable condition will require all the funds the counties can raise.

The plan offered by Governor Morrison in his inaugural address to force the counties to pay a portion of the cost of construction of the main highways and all the cost of maintenance, with divided authority as to expenditure, would result in unbusinesslike methods, dissatisfaction, and an even more chaotic state of road building than we have now. Even if the plan were feasible it would only serve to further discriminate against the farmer for the funds demanded by the State under the plan for construction and maintenance would not only take all funds that might otherwise be used on county roads but would be overburdensome to the rural counties, and any other which may happen to heavily in debt.

It is, therefore, up to the every farmer in North Carolina to see that the bill for a State system of highways, which provides for State control, State financial responsibility, and State protection, is enacted into law by the present General Assembly.

CONGRESS VOTES DOWN EFFORT TO ENLARGE ITS SIZE

North Carolina Gains One Member Under Apportionment Act As Just Passed.

SMALL ONLY TAR HEEL TO VOTE FOR INCREASE IN PRESENT MEMBERSHIP

North Carolina Sentiment Favors Congressman-at-Large For the Next Two Years.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Passage of the Siegel congressional reapportionment bill today with the Barbour amendment fixing the number of members of the House at 435, as at present, means that North Carolina will have one additional congressman, or a total of eleven, after March 4, 1923. In the meantime, it will be for the North Carolina legislature to say whether the State shall be re-districted so as to have eleven instead of ten Congressional districts, or that the eleventh congressman shall be chosen from the State at large.

The general impression among North Carolinians here, especially among members of the North Carolina delegation is that the legislature will not have sufficient time in which to effect a re-districting at this session, and that at least for the first two years under the enlarged representation, it will be necessary to have a congressman-at-large. If the State were to be re-districted in time for nominations to be made at the primary next year, it would have to be done at this session of the legislature, and it is contended here that there isn't time for that to be done at this session of the legislature and it is contended here that there isn't time for that to be done fairly and equitably.

Only one member of the North Carolina delegation, Representative John Small, of the First District, who will retire March 4, voted against the Barbour amendment, all the others who were present opposing making any increase. One of the number, Brinson, of the Third district, was active in directing the fight that finally resulted in the defeat of the proposed increase by a majority that was surprisingly large. A week ago it was taken for granted that the increase would be ordered, but sentiment has been shifting rapidly and there was no surprise at the adoption of the Barbour amendment today, except that the majority of nearly three to one for the amendment was surprisingly large. The vote was 188 to 77.

"Tinkling" Tinkham, of Massachusetts, inveterate foe of the South, fired at that session today, but could fire nothing more than a blank. He brought in an amendment to the Siegel bill which directed that any State denying or abridging the right of citizens to vote shall have their representation reduced accordingly.

The amendment went on to a point of order by Longworth, of Ohio, Republican. Both Democrats and Republicans joined in arguing for the point of order, conspicuous in the debate against the amendment being Garrett, of Tennessee; Longworth, of Ohio; Townner, of Iowa, and Mondell, of Wyoming, the Republican floor leader. Tinkham could muster to his own support only Madden and Mason, of Illinois, notorious for their antipathy for the South, and Fish, of New York, an exuberant youth.

President-elect Harding is ready to start on his vacation. He's been long enough about it.

Suffering of Chinese is beyond conception of the American people. So is the suffering of thousands of home folks.

A New Bern minister has succeeded in sending one of his sermons by wireless. Maybe he'll next attempt to get someone into the celestial regions by airship.

Sugar producers are seeking protection, so we are told. That's nothing, the whole country ought to be seeking that if league of nations' ideas are abandoned.

The House of Representatives seems to be uncertain about the advisability of increasing its membership. But that's not the first time the same body has been in indecision about anything.

New York women, it is pleasing to note, are planning for an active campaign work in the interest of child welfare. They are planning mighty late, but better late than never.

Knowledge of Morse telegraph code saved the life of the city treasurer in Philadelphia, Pa., when locked in a vault by burglars. This shows banking by telegraph sometimes pays.

President-elect Harding has declined an invitation to attend a charity ball as a substitute for the inaugural ball which was omitted at his request. One would "figger" the gentleman is not much on society. At least, the public has sized him up that way.

The extension department gives out information that in some towns in North Carolina it is impossible to buy milk. Maybe they are suffering from a protracted strike of cows. The fever seems to be general, more so, on account of declining price of necessities.

The Southern railway has announced the organization of an express company to handle its business. Times may be hard in some cases, but with the railroads they have undergone quite a change. Competition may help the situation much more in the future.

Greensboro has voted a million dollars for more schools. The action may sound rather out of the ordinary for such "hard times," but fortunately, the people of that section don't look at it that way. If the rest of the state would follow every community would be better off.

Nominations of approximately two thousand postmasters have been sent to the senate by President Wilson. Republican members, however, will not act on any of them unless in case of emergency. And that's just where they show superior wisdom.

The Social Service Commission of the Diocese of North Carolina is desirous of having working churches organized in this State. The idea may be a mighty good one for some towns with inferior service, but it would be hard to convince people of the fact in other sections.

RESTRAINING IMMIGRATION

Portuguese newspapers are beginning a campaign to prevent continued emigration to the United States and Brazil by pointing out that over 20,000,000 persons are out of employment and hundreds of factories closed as a result of a period of depression. It is also claimed that emigrants are desired in their own country, on the farms, in business houses and factories to provide for future wants of the country.

The advice is mighty sound in every sense of the word. The United States is not in need of a continued influx of people from any country, and those coming will in many cases find few jobs open to them. However, the situation may improve in a considerably shorter time than many people would have us suppose.

If Portugal needs its people, it is hoped she will be able to hold them until the country recovers, as the entire world will then be accountable for its recovery. Emigration has been conducted too freely for many years, and if restrained for a number of months, would do the entire world much good. Newspapers play an important part in this, and if they take the same position as papers of the above country they will be rendering their respective countries a great favor.

MIGHTY POOR SPIRIT

The proposal of the British government to relieve unemployment by road making and house building schemes so far has failed to meet with favor among working people of the country, and probably will be abandoned altogether. This sounds mighty bad, particularly when there is some over five hundred thousand people without employment at the present time, 141,000 which is in London alone.

The spirit is decidedly out of the ordinary, for if the people are really suffering it looks like they would be perfectly willing to accept the offer and relieve the deplorable situation until an improvement takes place. The unskilled working man unfortunately fails to appreciate such positions until he faces starvation, and then alone does he wake to the call of necessity.

Labor likes to dispute terms, but when convinced that accepting the inevitable is advisable, generally agrees to accept almost anything. This may be the way in England. If so a change for the better may be in evidence within a short period.

A Wilson woman thinks farmers depend too much upon the outside world for supplies. And she is right. The country would be in much better condition if the ordinary planter were to look out after his smokehouse better and provide for people in surrounding towns. As it is the situation is deplorable. Hardly anything may be purchased raised on farms in this section of the country, with the exception of tobacco, cotton and corn, which have been chief products so long they have at last brought people to realize that a change is absolutely imperative if prosperity is to be enjoyed. Some argue that there is no market for country produce. But they talk in vain, as anyone with common sense well knows. There is an unlimited demand for produce that could be easily prepared if other crops had not paid so well while there was a demand for them. Since the change has come however, the farmer will be forced to turn to other money producing sources, and this change will be his salvation. Other women realize, as does the one in Wilson, that conditions may be bettered, and if they advocate this their influence will help to no little extent.

The fact that hosiery mills of Durham are in readiness to resume full time operation shows that industry is rapidly shaping form for regular activity in the next several months. This is one of the most pleasing features of the year and causes one to believe conditions are going to improve much more rapidly than people would believe. Financial depression may be preached by the discontented in every community but when it falls to hamper industrial progress little harm is done. Fortunately for North Carolina its business men are the kind who can face adversity without flinching, therefore, it is easy to anticipate better times and more if people will do the right thing by the banks and release money that should have been in circulation long ago.

The country may be hard hit by low prices, but if the amount of money paid out for crops the past year is considered, there seems to be little reason for such. It is true thousands are short of funds from unwise deals during the inflation period, but the rest of the country is in good shape as before markets began to decline. The truth is, it's mostly talk anyway.

The State Extension Service is advocating a campaign to increase hog supplies. Planters in tobacco growing sections would do well to become active members as when the crop is reduced this year smokehouses will have to be strengthened considerably for next winter. The suggestion is a mighty good one and ought to be considered by every planter, whether he grows tobacco or cotton.

Sweden, like the United States, says a report, is undergoing a period of economic readjustment that is causing people to realize that war conditions cannot last always. And in doing so they will eventually settle down to business like America, and find a way for continuing the period of prosperity.

Federal control of primaries as proposed by Senator Kramer, of Pennsylvania, may be all right for the north, but it wouldn't suit the people of the south at all. Irregularities occur in many cases, but they have not been severe enough to justify federal control. If the south is satisfied, Mr. Kramer should be.

LEE-WHITE

Beautiful Wedding Solemnized In Memorial Baptist Church In Greenville Last Night.

Last night at 9 o'clock the Memorial Baptist church was the scene of a beautiful wedding when Miss Nelle White became the bride of Mr. W. W. Lee, of South Boston, Va.

The church was beautifully decorated to carry out the idea of a pink wedding. Maline streamers entwined by smilax, pink roses and pink burning tapers were used as decorations. Mrs. J. L. Fleming presided at the organ, using Lohengrin's as a processional and Mendelssohn's as a recessional, and "Your Eyes Have Told Me So" during the ceremony.

Prior to the entrance of the bridal party, Mr. Charlie James sweetly sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Following this, Miss Dorothy Lee, of South Boston, Va., sang "Until."

After the ushers, Messrs. James Little, Larry James, Richard Gorman and Charles White, had lighted the candles and made all preparations for the entrance of the bridal party, Masters Louis and James Skinner passed down opposite aisles and opened the gates for the bridal party. The first to enter were Misses Josephine Skinner and Ruth Andrews. They were followed by two groomsmen, Messrs. Fred Nesbitt, of South Boston, Va., and Will James. The two next bridesmaids to enter were Misses Mary Pickett, of Wilmington, and Frances Wheelbee. They were followed by Messrs. Richard Gorman and Julian White. The next entering were Misses Marguerite Lee, of South Boston, and Mamie James Fennell, of Wilmington. The groomsmen to follow these were Messrs. Harry Pearsall and Emmett Brewer, of Rocky Mount. They were followed by Miss Elizabeth White and Mrs. Jimmie Jordan, of Norfolk.

Next came Messrs. Larry James and Henry Corey. The last two bridesmaids were Misses Emily Little and Ada James, followed by Messrs. James Little and Charles White. The bridesmaids were beautifully gowned in pink pussywillow taffeta with over dresses of silver lace and wore silver slippers. They carried shower bouquets of pink killarney roses and sweetpeas.

After these had entered and taken their respective places the dames of honor, Mesdames W. T. Lipscomb, Jr., and J. B. James passed slowly down the aisle, taking their places on opposite sides of the pulpit. They wore beautiful gowns of pink pussywillow taffeta trimmed with silver lace and carried pink killarney roses with shower of sweetpeas. Miss Ernestine Forbes as maid of honor, wearing pink pussywillow taffeta, and carrying pink killarney roses, was the next to enter. Master James Burton James, wearing a black velvet suit, carried the ring in the heart of a pink rosebud. Preceding the bride came the little flower girls, Misses Dorothy White and Mary James Lipscomb. They wore dainty frocks of pink with pink veils and carried rose petals in small flower baskets. The bride entered with her father, Mr. H. A. White, who gave her in marriage. She wore a wedding gown of white duchess satin with court train. Her wedding veil was arranged in cap shape and held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and velley lilies. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man and brother, Mr. Joe Lee, of South Boston. Rev. Leland Smith, the bride's pastor, assisted by Rev. W. H. Moore, of Richmond, and Rev. C. H. Bascom, performed the impressive ring ceremony.

Mrs. Lee is one of Greenville's most popular and attractive young ladies. She is a member of two of the State's most prominent families. She was educated at St. Marys college, Raleigh. Her charming personality and lovely manners have won many friends throughout this and other states.

Mrs. Lee is a native of South Boston, Va. He is a popular young tobaccoist, at the present, being employed in Rocky Mount where they will make their home.

Immediately after the reception, which was held at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Lee left for an extended tour of northern cities. They were the recipients of a large and handsome array of bridal presents.

MR. AND MRS. H. A. WHITE ENTERTAIN

Last evening immediately after the Lee-White wedding, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. White, parents of the bride, delightfully entertained at a beautiful reception. The reception hall, library, parlor and dining room were beautifully decorated to carry out the color scheme of pink. The chandeliers were decorated to represent pink rose buds. The folding doors were thrown open and a beautiful wedding bell, made of pink roses was hung halfway between each door with streamers of pink crepe paper and smilax fastened from the bell to either side of the door. Pink candlesticks, made of pink roses and containing pink burning tapers were placed at different places in the rooms.

Upon arrival the guests were welcomed by Dr. and Mrs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse and Mr. and Mrs. R. Williams and shown to the punch bowl. The punch bowl was beautifully decorated with pink roses with grapes hanging from the punch bowl. In between the two bowls was a large silver platter containing fruits. Mrs. N. W. Outlaw, Mr. and Mrs. James Hines and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Moseley served delicious fruit punch. From the punch bowl the guests passed into the parlor where they were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Iverson Skinner and introduced to the receiving line in which were Mr. and Mrs. H. A. White, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lee, Mr. F. G. James, Mrs. A. B. White, Mrs. J. P. Minitree, of Greensboro; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lipscomb, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. James, and members of the bridal party. From the receiving line the guests passed into the dining room, where they were received by Mrs. Hattie White and Mrs. George Baker. This room presented a beautiful scene. In the center of the table was a small chariot made of roses and drawn by butterflies. Seated in the chariot was a miniature bride and groom. Mints, salted peanuts, pluk cakes decorated with orange blossoms and pink block cream were served in baskets, made of roses by Misses Pattie Wooten, Julia Harriss, Estelle Green, Iver Shelburn, Novella Moye, Mary Blanche Patrick and Miss Aileen Hicks, of Oxford.

From the dining room the guests were invited into the living room by Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Munford and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wright. In the library where the handsome array of bridal presents were arranged Mr. and Mrs. Albion Dunn and Mr. and Mrs. Sam White gave the guests a most cordial welcome. At the door which led from the library into the den were Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Skinner and Mrs. J. B. White. In the den the bride's book, for registering, was presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. John Hassell. After registering, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Best and Mr. and Alex Blow invited the guests back into the library where they were welcomed and shown out by Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Gorman.

MR. AND MRS. F. G. JAMES ENTERTAIN

On Tuesday evening at their beautiful home on Fifth street, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. James delightfully entertained complimentary to their niece, Miss Nelle White and her bridal party. The entire house was artistically decorated to carry out the color scheme of green and yellow.

Upon arrival the guests were given a cordial welcome by Mr. and Mrs. James and shown to the punch bowl which was presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Sam White and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stokes.

From the punch bowl the guests passed into the dining room where an ice course was served by Misses Julia Harriss, Novella Moye, Pattie Wooten, Jessie Moye and Iver Shelburn.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the local orchestra and dancing was enjoyed for a few hours after which the wedding cake was cut. This caused a great deal of merriment.

At a late hour the guests departed declaring that they never had a better time.

STORES PLAN TO ACCEPT COTTON IN TRADE AT 20 CENTS PER POUND

Probably one of the most progressive steps taken by the city merchants since prices began to decline is contained in an advertisement of Claude D. Tunstall and Pitt Shoe Co., carried in this paper today, in which they offer to exchange any merchandise in stock for cotton, allowing 20 cents a pound for middling. The stores have announced reductions in prices from time to time for the past several months, and this announcement that they are willing to exchange goods for cotton, several cents above market value, either on present purchases or accounts, shows to what extent they are desirous of helping the planter in an unfortunate situation brought about by low prices for cotton and tobacco. The movement is deserving of commendation and, if initiated by other business men, would do much toward preserving the present supply of cotton until prices become better. The action also shows confidence in the cotton market, and assures everyone that depression cannot last always.
