SEVERAL MATTERS SETTLED IN COURT HERE YESTERDAY

Grand Jury Returns True Bill In Number of Matters Coming Under Consideration.

TRUE BILL RETURNED AGAINST JULIUS MOORE

MURDER J. GRIMES

True Bills Also Returned Against Several Parties Appearing On A Charge of Larceny.

The regular January term of Pitt County Superior Court for the trial of criminal cases continued deliberations yesterday with pleasing results, featuring largely in the return of true bills by the grand jury and disposition of a number of minor matters coming under consideration during both morning and afternoon sessions. Quite a number of cases were continued to the next term on account of absence of counsel as during the opening session Monday, and it is expected the heavy docket will be cut down considerably by adjournment Friday afternoon.

The day for the grand jury was not an exceptionally busy one, but there was plenty to do, and by afternoon adjournment quite a number of matters had been considered and decisions returned. Deliberations continued for some time in the only two charges of murder taken up during the whole day, but like remainder of cases, they were disposed of in a decisive way, opening way for an almost uninterrupted grind until adjournment. Judge W. A. Devin, of Oxford, who is presiding over the term, speeding up activities to a great extent by ready decisions, and as a result officials are looking forward to rapid grind the rest of the week.

The grand jury returned a true bill against Julius Moore, colored man of this county, charged with the killing of James Grimes the latter part of last December. Findings in the preliminary examination resulted in a decision that the defendant had willfully and feloniously killed his victim without provocation.

The murder case against Mary Gorman was continued by consent of counsel. Brutus Langley appearing on a charge of secret assault was found guilty of assault with deadly weapon after pleading not guilty. Judgment was reserved until later date. The larceny and embezzlement charge against Rev. W. H. McLean, colored, of this city, was continued. A true bill was returned against Bennett Gray, John Allap Page and Clifton Morris, charged with larceny.

Not a true bill was returned in the case against Elizabeth Burnett, white woman charged with handling whiskey and larceny.

Cause for a true bill was found in the case against Jasper Batts charged with larceny. A true bill was also returned against Bat Fleming, indicted for embezzlement. Not a true bill was returned against W. C. Clemons, appearing on a charge of larceny.

Washington Edwards was found guilty of receiving stolen property, judgment being reserved. Facts produced in examination showed that the defendant was acquainted with conditions under which the goods were received and knew they were stolen.

Sam Turnage, young white man of this city, charged with speeding and assault with automobile, was found guilty of the first charge, judgment being withheld. This case originated in mayor's court, being continued to a higher court of jurisdiction.

A true bill was returned against Charlie Reeves, recently indicted on a charge of larceny. A true bill of embezzlement was returned in the case against Luke Reeves, charging him with embezzlement.

NOTED SPEAKERS ADDRESS SCHOOL INSTITUTE HERE

Miss Mabel Cooper and Dr. Sims Are Among Principal Speakers at St. Paul's Church.

BY THEODORE PATRICK, JR.

"There is no Sunday edition of the boy and girl," Miss Mabel Lee Cooper, educational expert of Memphis, Tenn., told the delegates attending the Sunday School Institute now being held in St. Paul's Episcopal church. Miss Cooper, who is one of the lecturers invited here for the Institute, taking the above as her text, has been pleading for an understanding of the child in order that better instruction may be given in the Sunday Schools. Modern psychological theories and wide experience combine to give fine content to her lectures.

The Institute, which began its session yesterday morning with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 7:30 o'clock, has been marked throughout by great interest on the part of the delegates. While the number of delegates in attendance is not as large as was expected, the list in attendance is a very representative one.

At the service last night St. Paul's the chief address was given by Miss Cooper, whose subject was "The Mental Processes of the Child." The speaker held her audience for an hour and a half. Her subject matter showed a wide acquaintance with modern teaching. In this address she laid the foundation for subsequent addresses.

The first service to today was a celebration of the Holy Communion at 7:30. The Rev. R. B. Drane, D.D., rector of St. Paul's, Edenton, was the celebrant. At 9:45 there was a brief devotional service by the Rev. George W. Lay, D.C.L., rector of St. Paul's, Beaufort.

Following the devotional service there was a brief address by Dr. Lay. Miss Cooper followed with a brief address on "The Instincts." The chief address of the morning was delivered by Mr. Dr. W. Sims, of Raleigh, superintendent of the State Sunday School Association. Mr. Sims, who is one of the foremost Sunday School experts of the South, delivered a most convincing address. At the outset he gave some very startling figures to prove the very great value of the Sunday School. As an example of this value he cited a case of a certain penitentiary where there were 404 convicts. Of this number investigation showed that only 95 had even attended a Sunday School. Out of this 95 only 10 had been regular attendants. The accumulation of his figures was more than impressive. The speaker then demonstrated the lack of proper interest in the Sunday School and the lack of proper organization. He stimulated interest in every phase a number of plans for increasing attendance, drawing largely from his own experience.

The service this afternoon was featured by an address by Miss Cooper. Tonight Miss Cooper will lecture again. The invitation is again extended to all Greenville people to attend these services. They will continue through Friday.

RED CROSS MAKES SPLENDID RECORD IN CHINA'S BEHALF

Shanghai Branch of American Organization Distributes Over $500,000 to Hospitals

QUESTIONNAIRES SENT OUT ASCERTAIN NEEDS OF VARIOUS HOSPITALS

Over Four Hundred Shipments Went Forward to Many Different Parts of the Country

Shanghai, Jan. 26.—The Shanghai Branch of the American Red Cross completed in December distributions of something over $500,000 worth of medical and hospital supplies to mission dispensaries and hospitals in all parts of China. The materials given away in China were those left behind in Siberia when the American Red Cross was withdrawn, consisting of 3,305 cases of goods, about a shipload that were trans-shipped from Vladivostok.

In order that a basis might be arrived at for a systematic analysis of the requirements of hospitals in China and so that the distribution might be equitable, questionnaires were sent out by the Shanghai Red Cross and based on returns from these charts was prepared which gives a history and description of the hospitals.

HEAVY SNOWFALL HAMPERS TRAFFIC IN THIS TERRITORY

Greenville Tobacco Market Closes Until Inclement Weather Undergoes Improvement.

Contrary to predictions of the weather man a general snowfall visited this section of the State about 11:30 o'clock last night, reaching depth of about three inches or more at noon today. Snow continued to fall continuously after daybreak, and in large flakes which covered the ground hurriedly and banked up against walls and on the streets in such way as to make traffic difficult.

Traffic conditions on all public thoroughfares today have been anything but pleasing, but persons who were forced to go out on the streets in pursuit of regular business evidently derived enjoyment from the diversion and battled with the large snowflakes in a way that showed the experience was something of a novelty. Automobiles traffic continued regularly during the morning hours, but after reports of a number of collisions gained circulation drivers became more careful and in many instances abandoned their cars until the weather clears up. There were, of course, numbers of trucks that remained on the streets late in the afternoon but by nightfall the inclemency became intensified by drop of the thermometer and depth of the snow.

Tobaccoists this morning decided to close the tobacco market until improvement in the weather would permit opening again. Sales may be resumed again in the morning, but if the snow continues to fall through the afternoon and night too it is hardly probable doors will be opened until roads become better. Reports at noon today indicated that a number of county highways were almost impassable and would not permit traffic longer than the afternoon.

There are hundreds of farmers over the county glad to see the snow, because they realize it will improve their soil and help in many ways to make the next planting season better. Several in the city this morning expressed themselves in a pleasing way and indicated that times may be hard but not too hard to cut out the pleasure of the snow.

Joint Meeting of Tobacco Board and Business Men Perfects Plans for Activities.

Farmville, N. C., Jan. 25.—A joint meeting of the tobacco board of trade and business men was held in the city hall here Monday night for the purpose of perfecting plans for soliciting the tobacco growers of this section and have them sign pledges that they will reduce their tobacco acreage for 1921 one-third.

In the absence of the president of the tobacco board of trade, the meeting was presided over by the vice-president, Mr. G. A. Jones, who acted as temporary chairman.

The following committee was appointed to make all necessary arrangements for the drive beginning Thursday of this week:

Jno. T. Thomas, J. T. Morgan and McD. Horton.

The plan as adopted by the tobacco growers' association of Eastern-Carolina was heartily endorsed by those present at the meeting and every one pledged their support.

BIG COMMISSIONER OF DANZIG FAVORS NEUTRAL RELATION

Prof. Bernardo Attolico to Supervise Preparations for Final Danzig-Polish Treaty

Warsaw, Jan. 26.—Prof. Bernardo Attolico, the new High Commissioner sent by the League of Nations to Danzig, has arrived in Warsaw to take up with foreign Minister Sapieha the question of the Polish-Danzig convention.

Appointed temporarily to his present post at the suggestion of president Hymans of the Assembly of the League of Nations, Attolico has taken up the task left by former High Commissioner Sir Reginald Tower recently recalled to London.

In an interview in the Warsaw "Republic" Commissioner Attolico is quoted as saying that he has come to Danzig free from any nationalistic ambitions and intend to serve strictly as the office representative of the impartial League of Nations.

His chief duties will be the settlement of the dispute between Poland and Danzig regarding the interpretation of the Treaty of Versailles, and the overseeing of the preparation of commercial and political treaty.

Warsaw, Jan. 26.—The Polish-Lithuanian conference have been temporarily suspended because of the demand of the Lithuanian delegates that Vilna be given to Lithuania with out plebiscite, to which the Poles could under no consideration agree.

An interesting development of the conference was the discussion of the fact that the Council of the League of Nations orders prepared in Brussels calling for a Lithuanian settlement avoided the use of the word plebiscite, and declared only in favor of a popular expression of public opinion. In some circles this is regarded as leaving the way open to a settlement by delegates elected specifically for this purpose, instead of a general plebiscite by the direct vote of the people.

TEXAS LEAGUERS FORGE TO FRONT AS CLUB LEADERS

Recruits of Stars of Lone State Have Made Envious Record in Baseball

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 26.—"Texas Leaguers" recruits of stars from the circuit of cities in the Lone Star state making up that association, have wrecked many ball games when they passed on to the major league, but the "Texas Leaguers", the hit itself, no matter from what state the players who delivered it come, has wrecked many more, day by day narrations of play have shown for years.

Every fan from the lad at the knothole to the man in the box seats, knows a "Texas Leaguer," when he sees it drop safely just back of the infield and out of reach of the outfielders, but few know the history of the expression. "According to J. Doak Roberts, president of the Texas League, and a man of a life time's experience in professional baseball, the expression originated in the early "nineties" when a disgruntled Syracuse pitcher gave vent to "Good Lord" another of those Texas Leaguers, when Scrapy Bill Joyce, third in a row of three Texas Leaguer graduates dropped a short safely back of the Syracuse infield.

The story antedates even the veteran Roberts, but this is his version of it. "Emmett Rogers, Scrapy Bill Joyce, and Arthur Sunday, three famous players well remembered by all of the old timers, were members of the 1889 team John McCloskey. They were the first Texas Leaguers ever sold to higher company, netting the sum of $400 as a total purchase price.

The trio were finished stars, past masters in the art of bunting and placing hits. The story goes that in their first game in bigger company, they faced O'Brien, of Syracuse. Rogers placed a hit over the infield, and the Syracuse defense moved in, expecting Sunday to bunt. Instead Sunday, chip-shooted the ball and it dropped just out of reach of the short stop, who could not get it back in time.

"Joyce, too, was expected to bunt, but he followed in Sunday's wake dropping another short hit back of third, scoring Rogers.

It was then that O'Brien voiced his disgust and coined a new term for baseball.

FRENCH WARRIOR SUFFERS DEFEAT IN GAME OF DOMINOS

Marshall Foch and President Millerand Beaten by M. Poincare and Hugh Wallace

MARSHALL COMPLETELY CONFOUNDED BY HEAVY POUNDING OF ENEMIES

American Ambassador Pronounced Professional Player at End of Crucial Test

Paris, Jan. 26.—Marshall Foch whose strategy confounded the German sufered a crushing defeat the other day, President Millerand of France shared the blame for they were partners.

It was not at war but at dominoes. The American Ambassador Hugh C. Wallace and former President Poincare triumphed over the great marshal and France's chief executive. The incident is related by a writer of the Cdi De Paris in the best of French journalistic style, substantially as follows.

The presidential train carrying high personages of France and other Nations to Verdun to attend the dedication of the monument marking the Bayonet Trench had been under way for an hour and conversation began to lag.

If we had a game of dominoes, exclaimed Marshall Foch. Alas the box of dominoes of the Elysee had been for gotten; and there were not dominoes in their restaurant.

We must get some for the return journey, declared M. Millerand, who entrusted this important mission to his son, Jean.

When after the ceremony, they rejoined the train for the return journey a magnificent box of dominoes was spread out on the table of the saloon car. It had been borrowed from a colonel of the gendarmerie.

Two camps were immediately formed. The President had the Marshall for partner. Their adversaries were M. Poincare and Hugh C. Wallace.

"Are we strong enough?" M. Poincare asked the Ambassador. "The President and the Marshall are crack players."

"We too, I hope," replied Wallace smiling.

"Hm!" questioned M. Poincare. "You, certainly."

The first game began. It went in favor of M. Millerand and Marshall Foch.

"I knew it," sighed M. Poincare. "Let us see how it goes in the second game," responded Mr. Wallace. "Never despair."

The second commenced. It was a surprise. The Poincare-Wallace side gained a sweeping victory over the Millerand-Foch side.

"Let us have a revenge," the Marshall declared impetuously. "We cannot, Mr. President, allow ourselves such a defeat."

The revenge was palpitating, but in the end the game, which for a long time swayed in the balance, pronounced itself in favor of M. Poincare and Wallace.

"Well, Mr. Marshall, you are beaten," M. Millerand said.

"It seems to me, Mr. President, that you are, too," rejoined the Marshall. "But what adversaries! Mr. Poincare plays ver well and the Ambassador is a champion player."

A cheerful tone has been noted in the stock markets. It's mighty nice that cheerfulness exists somewhere.

Cotton markets report downward trend in prices. That's natural for no one has been expecting them to report anything else.

A few more investigations like the Shipping Board's and the country will be ready to investigate insanity of the investigators.

Senator Kenyon knows the Republicans well enough not to become an irreconcilable. And that's saying something for the gentleman.

Mayor O'Callaghan, of Cork, please remember, is a political refugee in this country. He's in as bad fix as some of our own politicians, therefore, the country certainly appreciates his situation.

There were misplaced charges made on Shipping Board books we are now informed. If that had been discovered earlier Mr. Schwab would have been saved undue humiliation.

Maybe when the supreme council gets through with deliberations the United States will be more fully impressed with its usefulness. Particularly when it makes Germany live up to provisions the treaty.

The public is having a hard time to find out the difference between advance and decline on the exchange. By the time one takes the other is in order and the sea is nerve-racking to the bear.

Mr. Daniels urges greater efficiency in the navy. He looked after the navy after the war.

Looks like Ireland to stay down. The gloomy for market service might be efficient if the coast guard.

Resumption of a mills of the State that the present spirit fading away by the spirit of the people. I continues for any length of time the old State will mighty a to normal.

Made after a while the league will learn that the league means to restore peace and disarmament so far as possible he would clear the mist from clouded eyes there would be an argument in favor of disarmament he failed to accept principles league.

Employees of Durham hosiery have accepted fifteen per cent. reduction in wages, and mills are continuing at full time. This goes to show we can be accomplished by the workmen by accepting decreased wages without any trouble. The mills have been enabled to continue at full time by the spirit, and if it was the same way all over the country the nation would soon be back to normal and nobody the worse off.

1921 farmers should get together Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week and see to it that every farmer in the county signs a pledge to reduce acreage for the coming planting season. This is the only way the industry is going to ever recover from serious conditions brought about by low prices, and if co-operation does not play an important part no improvement will be noticeable. There is a chance for early recovery if acreage is curtailed this year, but if it is not the market will become more glutted, foreign demand limited, and prices will drop clean to the bottom. Food crops planted on surplus acreage should prove beneficial and lucrative in every sense of the word. The average planter has neglected them in the past and bought them from other territories thriving off their incomes even as the tobacco growers thrived off his. The nation demands more food and better tobacco. This will be made possible through reduced acreage. The farmer failing to sign the pledge card is not treating himself fair and doing an injustice to his neighbor. This will be the critical time and consistent action is imperative.

The bill for Federal regulation of meat packers went through the senate by a pleasing majority, and it is expected it will also get through the house safely, although determined opposition will likely be encountered. The measure received hearty support of Democratic members, while Republicans offered a greater portion of opposition. This fact shows the differences of opinion prevailing among different members, and speaks well for those who have striven for democratic principles. If government control of the meat industry is not more advisable than the present, it is hard to see where it will end. Meat monopolies have reaped possibly a greater harvest than any other business organization in the past several years. They have handled supplies exactly as they saw fit, and have held prices at the top as if they never intended to let them swing downward. Government regulation should produce a change entirely different, one in which the entire country should profit.

Mayor Eldridge, of Raleigh seems to be digging away on the price situation in the capital city, and from all reports he is meeting with appreciable results. The action no doubt is justifiable in other cities as in Raleigh and commands immediate attention of city officials. It is quite evident that prices for foodstuffs have not declined in proportion to other things. This has not been expected altogether, but the public has been looking for reductions in keeping with times. The situation is not all pleasing and if investigations should become more intensive and determined it is probable an improvement might be noticeable at an early date. Wages have been reduced considerably in many cities, but the grocer or market man evidently has not been impressed with the fact sufficiently to justify any pleasing action in that way of meeting the situation. Readjustment will never come about until the public firmly declines to pay extortionate prices, and when city officials co-operate, it stands better show than ever.

The former independent working man is learning that quitting a job now is much easier than finding one. It used to be that almost anyone could get mad, "cuss" back at his employer and find another job ready and waiting. Times have changed now, for instead of finding jobs open many a man is forced to hunt for days and days before finding lucrative work. And then they have to work to hold it. Experience is a great teacher, and after Americans recover from some of the delusions brought on by critical war times, the better off the entire nation will be.

The Calder bill seems to be getting results before it becomes a law. Independent coal producers say they are ready to meet demands of consumers as far as possible, but yet they fail to admit the advisability of the Calder legislation. If it brings such results in its first stages, congress might as well make it a law and get more direct results. It has hit the point too accurately to let it drop at this early stage of the game.

After all that investigating we find that Mr. Schwab is really not guilty of paying his expenses out of the funds belonging to the Emergency Fleet Corporation. Committees after a while will learn that every time a man charges with some awful deed it's no use. The committee would mighty easy pay, and the work seemingly was not so arduous.

Weather or no weather, Young's big sale will begin on schedule time tomorrow.

STILL CAPTURED IN RAID OF OFFICERS DURING YESTERDAY

County Authorities Capture Outfit Near Johnson's Mill, in Swift Creek Township.

The monkey rum traffic in this section of the State was given another temporary setback yesterday afternoon when county authorities succeeded in capturing a still near Johnson's Mill, in Swift Creek township. The still was of the usual type employed in the manufacture of common grade whiskey in this county, consisting of an ordinary gasoline drum with worm and auxiliaries, having a capacity of about 50 gallons. The capture was made by Deputy Sheriff Corbett and Thad Williams, assisting deputy who made the long trip and capture in record breaking time. The officers believe the still had been in almost constant operation for some time and that it would only be a matter of several hours before another supply was produced. The surrounding woods was searched for whiskey, but the distillers, probably anticipating apprehension, secreted it away in some remote place from the outfit. Officers are keeping a vigilant watch on the traffic at this time, and it is quite probable a number of outfits will find their way to the confiscated cells of the county jail before the month has passed.

HELP LEADING NEGRO SCHOOL

By C. M. Epps. A. and T. college of Greensboro needs the strong support of our legislators; and the appropriations are urged to compare the work done by this college with any school in the State and it is safe to say that you will increase the recommendation of the Budget Commission. The men trained at this school are in demand throughout the country. The conservative negroes are anxious that the legislature sustain the work of the immortals, Vance, Jarvis, Aycock, and emphasized by Governors Craig and Kitchin. The Northern press, with some near home, has been bitter against us. Three hundred and fifty students, with accommodations for only one hundred and fifty, and a weakened teaching force because of salary cuts for not less than $25,000, and $150,000 for improvement, while $500,000 would be the real need. The conservative negroes in North Carolina are vitally interested in the many things that are happening in this State.

It is not for that element, who fawn and pretend before the powers that be, that they are the real guides for the best interests of the race, nay. We plead for that element who in 1896 and 1898 wanted peace in North Carolina and were willing for property to dictate the racial policy in this State.

We have come so far that some of our white friends are willing to listen to the Siren's Song, which means death and starvation to the leading Land Grant School in the South.

Negro papers at the north of the Mason and Dixon line will rejoice to know that the A. and T. college that has been as true as the needle to the pole in doing the things that would be helpful to the race and State is by a commission recommended to be destroyed.

The very heart of the negro race is to be plucked out, shades of the immortals, Zeb, Vance, Jarvis, Aycock, Kitchin and Bickett. Certainly commercialism has no heart if it must bow to radicalism and blame the negroes when anything happens to mar the well-being of the races.

While the States at the South of us are bending every energy in behalf of their Land Grant School our State is asked to strike down the foremost negro State school.

We want money for all negro schools. But to recommend four hundred thousand dollars for the normals and only twenty thousand dollars for the A. and T. college with more students than any two of the three aforementioned schools.

Her summer school, the largest in the State, with an attendance of teachers three times as great as the Winston-Salem school and in all the efforts for human uplift of the negro and the best interests of North Carolina. Some of know the fight—it is not alone a real estate deal—but the first opposition developed in 1900, the second was in 1920, when because of the happenings relative to woman suffrage the position was taken against negro women voting. The underground workers have seen fit to keep it in the background but has fought in an underhand way. They have made the false impression go but we appeal to our white friends everywhere to stand by the A. and T. college.

GREENVILLE DOUBLES VICTORY FROM TARBORO

Girls Win First Game Here Last Night, While Boys Take Second Conflict in Fast Manner

Last night back in the cold corner of the Centre Brick Warehouse the Greenville High School basket ball team administered a double defeat to the teams representing the Tarboro high school. The first affair was won by the girls by the score of 40-10, while the boys took the nightcap by the score of 40-0, a grand and glorious total of 80 points as against the 19 run up by the visitors. The game was clean and sportsmanlike from start to finish. The Tarboro lads and lassies were game in their defeat, and kept up the fight until the finish. The Greenville girls were playing their first game of the season, and their appearance last night betokens a winning combination for the coming season. Some of the girls have in mind the elongated lassie from Belhaven, and Patrick in particular is in a fair way to catch up with the giants ere long. In the game last night, Critcher seemed to play one of her best games, scoring almost at will, while Patrick and Thomas ran her close seconds. Hadley and King did good work on the defensive.

In their game the boys demonstrated the fact that there is championship fibre in the outfit this year. The fact is, the present combination is a little bit faster than the one last year. The main weakness of the local team as shown in the game last night was the tendency to miss easy goals. However, the most important part of the game; namely, that of passing the ball, and the ability to work together was in abundant evidence last night. Perhaps the best thing about the local team this year is the fact that all the members work together in the game.

Tarboro started off last night as if she was going to hand the locals something. They drew first blood when Andrews caged the sphere from the field. This was soon followed by a successful toss from the free-throw line, thus netting Tarboro a total of 3 points. Here Greenville rallied and in less time than it takes a woman to change her mind they had scored six points from the field. From that point on the game was neved in doubt. During the latter part of the gam, substitutes were put in the game.

For the local team the work of the whole team was the outstanding feature. Brown and Hadley scoring more points than anyone else, the former scoring 9, and the latter 23. West at center played a good game both on defensive and offensive work, scoring 8 points, and being always in the center of the passing game. Jolly and Barber at the guard positions played one of their best games. In fact, they are hard to beat as a pair of defensive players. They are swift, and always in the game. For Tarboro, Andrews was the best worker, scoring all of Tarboro points.

"BURGLAR PROOF" A HIT

Bryant Washburn Delightful in New Paramount Photocomedy.

A man so tight he was dubbed, Burglar Proof by acquaintances. Bryant Washburn, the star makes a clever distinction between a "tightwad" and a man who is sensibly thrifty. And Burglar Proof deserves special mention because it is one country boy goes to the city story in which the hero does not marry the rural sweetheart.

There are really two heroines in the piece. One is Jenny, the country girl, spoiled by the city into a gum-chewing slang-using teacher in a dance hall. She is well done by Grace Morse whose distinctive style sets off the part splendidly. Laura on the other hand is a city beauty who has remained sweet and pure despite the temptation of the lighted boulevards. Lois Wilson makes her usual hit in this attractive role.

Mr. Washburn proves himself, as ever, the finished actor. The country boy, shamed because he is broke, becomes a "tightwad". Then we see a change when "Burglar Proof" meets a girl he loves, ending with a moral that the world hates a tightwad.

In all, 400 shipments went forward to various parts of China. Of the 350 hospitals and institutions that receive them were non-American and 118 were American. The distribution was made regardless of nationality or creed and hundreds of letters the Shanghai Red Cross has received, attest the urgent need of things given, particularly at this time when owing to fluctuations of exchange and other causes, working budgets of hospitals have been seriously impaired.

Among the supplies shipped were five complete sets of surgical instruments, the majority of which may not be obtained in China markets, and other things sent included various kinds of cotton and bandages, surgical dressings, blankets, garments, sterilizers, microscopes and drugs. All expenses and charges for forwarding the supplies were borne by the China Central Committee of the Red Cross.
