Lincoln Features To Be Omitted In Harding Ceremony

Inauguration Will Follow Lincoln's Inaugural With Exception of Missing Features.

HARDING'S ADDRESS TO BE DELIVERED WITHIN THREE THOUSAND WORDS

Course of Human Events Bring About Great Change In Ceremonies to Attend Event.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—While Senator Harding's inauguration as President of the United States is designed to follow arrangements of Abraham Lincoln's inaugural, there are features of 1861 that fortunately will be missing in 1921.

Instead of veterans of North and South marching side by side as they will next month, the only military forces in the inaugural parade of 1861 were the sappers and miners. The rest of the U. S. troops in the capital were stationed in different parts of the city to provide against emergencies. As the nation hovered on the brink of civil war, the great fear of the authorities was that effort would be made to interfere with the ceremonies.

If President Harding follows Lincoln's first inaugural address in company, he will do it in less than 3,000 words. In that space Lincoln made his plea for the Union and declared his intention to maintain it.

Four years later Lincoln's second inaugural was overshadowed by the procession of victories. The crowds were smaller than those in '61. Veterans marched in the parade and there was a brilliant array of officers in the city. A much commented feature of the parade was a battalion of colored troops and colored lodge of Masons. Philadelphia was represented by several fire companies with engines and two hose companies.

Lincoln's second inaugural address was done in a thousand words, but the following part of it is still echoing in American thought as pertinent to the world's affairs of today:

"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, and care for him who shall have borne the battle, and cherish his widow and orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

Gives Out Facts On Better Crops For Present Year

W. B. Pace, County Agent, Presents Several Suggestions That Should Prove Profitable.

W. B. Pace, farm demonstration agent for Pitt county, today gave out the following facts as to how farming may be more profitable. The year is going to witness one of the greatest changes in crops in sometime, and the advice is timely and deserving of consideration, particularly by the farmer intending to give diversification a try-out.

A few years ago Dr. Bradford Knapp gave a splendid outline for safe and successful farming. It is still good and will continue to be. It is about as follows:

1. A home garden for every family on the farm. Not less than a tenth of an acre for garden and a half an acre for potatoes. An acre of sorghum or cane for the syrup of the family. Have an orchard with a variety of fruits.
2. Produce corn enough to feed the people and the livestock on the farm for a year, with a little excess for safety.
3. Produce oats and other small grain to supplement the corn as feed and conserve the soil in winter.
4. Produce hay and other forage crops sufficient to feed the livestock for one year, not forgetting the legumes which produce hay and enrich the soil. Do not let the land lie bare in winter.
5. Produce the meat for the family by increased attention to poultry and hogs. Gradually increase and breed up the cattle and other livestock so as to consume the otherwise waste products and make the waste land productive. Not less than 25 hens for a renter and 50 for a landowner would help; 100 would be better. Set a standard of at least one sow for every tenant family and two for every landowner; breed them carefully and breed them well. Not less than two milk cows for every family, the cows to be properly bred, fed and cared for. As promptly as possible arrange for temporary and permanent pastures.
6. When the living has been provided, then grow cotton and other money crops. If this is done there will always be a few eggs and chickens, a pig now and then, and occasionally a steer for sale. Out of these surplus, sundry products, should be paid the incidental farm expenses.

Soldiery Carries Reign Of Terror In China Towns

Appalling Stories of Oppression to the Point of Extermination Received From Hankow.

PEOPLE REDUCED TO DIREST DISTRESS BY PLUNDERING TROOPS

Hankow, China, Feb. 12.—Appalling stories of a populace oppressed to the point of extermination by an uncontrolled soldiery have been coming to Hankow for weeks from the upper reaches of the Yangtze river. The reports are principally from missionary sources. The people in the western part of Hupeh Province, these advisers say, have been reduced to the direst straits by troops who demand tribute, levy taxes, seize and occupy homes and shops and live on the land without restraint and those under the yoke have no possible channel open to them to voice their grievances.

Shihnan and adjoining districts in the western part of the province are said to be wholly under the domination of the soldiers. The area is not far distant from the Yangtze trans-shipment port of Ichang which was seized and looted by mutinous troops in December. In ordinary times it is secluded from the rest of China with little or no communication with the other provinces due to the utter lack of routes of transportation over the rugged heights.

It was in the early months of 1918 as a development in the strife between North and South that the soldiers appeared here under the name of the "Pacifying Nation Troops" of Hupeh. These troops brought disaster.

Americans Will Attend Meeting Noted Sculptors

Invited to Attend Pan-American Union To Submit Designs Through Uruguayan Government.

Washington, Feb. 11.—An invitation has been extended to American sculptors by the Uruguayan Government through the Pan-American Union here to submit designs for a statue of the "Gauche" or South American cowboy, to be erected in the principal plaza of Montevideo in commemoration of the part played by these intrepid frontiersmen in the development of Uruguay.

The prize offered is 60,000 pesos, gold, or about $62,040 in American money.

The Uruguayan gaucho, one of the most picturesque characters in history, represents a survival of the old Spanish colonial days. Though he is called the cowboy of South America he is more than that, he was also rancher, trapper, hunter, pioneer and soldier. Although like the French Canadian "habitant" he was nearly always a half-breed Indian by blood, he was actually an Indian in no other sense of the word. He did not live as the Indians lived, but was the pioneer of white civilization on the pampas.

In the history of Uruguay it was the gauchos who made up the rank and file of the armies which fought for and agriculture, also, it was the gauchos who led.

A jury of awards, consisting of Dr. Elias Regules, Dr. Alejandro Gallinal, Manuel Flores, Francisco J. Ros, Carlos A. Arana and two artists representing the Society of Architects and the Circle of Fine Arts in Montevideo, will pass upon the merits of the designs, for which second and third prizes of 2,500 and 1,000 pesos, gold respectively, will be given.

American League Season To Begin Wed. April 3th

B. B. Johnson, President of League Announces Opening Games Already Listed

Chicago, Feb. 12.—The American League Baseball season will open on Wednesday, April 13, and close on Saturday Oct. 2, according to the official 1921 schedule released tonight by B. B. Johnson, president of the League. The schedule calls for 154 games, each club playing half this number on the home grounds.

Sunday games at Washington and New York, which were introduced into the league at the end of the season two years ago and which become a part of the regular schedule last year, again have been scheduled with the Washington club drawing 17 Sundays and 13 Sabbath games each being awarded to New York, Chicago and St. Louis while Detroit has been given twelve.

All the cities in the league permit baseball on Sunday except Boston and Philadelphia.

In playing the full schedule it will be necessary for each club to make three swings around the circuit.

The season will open with western clubs playing western clubs and the Eastern representatives meeting each other.

Opening games are listed as follows. Chicago at Detroit; Cleveland at St. Louis; Philadelphia at New York; Boston at Washington.

All the clubs which start the season away from home, will return to their own yards on April 21 and give the home folks their first opportunity to see their clubs in action.

Chicago after the opening games at Detroit with the Tigers, will jump to St. Louis and tackle the Browns and a series after which the White Sox will come back home and meet Ty Cobb's club again. Cleveland, the world's champions who start the season at St. Louis move up to Detroit for the second series and then this Speakers will take his Indians home to meet the St. Louis Browns in the first game on their home grounds.

In the East "Babe" Ruth and the Yankees will be the first opponents to play at Philadelphia after the Athletics have finished their series at New York and Washington; Boston fans will get their first glimpse of the Red Sox in action when the Washington Senators come to the Hub City to raise the curtain April 21.

Tobacco Prices Show Increases During January

Average Price of 56,470,843 Pounds on 44 Markets Was Over Twenty Cents Per Pound.

ADVANCED THREE CENTS PER POUND OVER SALES FOR MONTH OF DECEMBER

Crop for 1920 Largest Ever Produced In State, First Sales Amounting To More Than Former Years

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 12.—During January the average price of the 56,470,843 pounds of tobacco sold on 44 markets in North Carolina was over twenty cents per pound. This was an advance of three cents over December sales and is less than two cents below the season's average. The month's sales from 140 warehouses were five times the amount sold for the same period of last year by 103 warehouses.

Of almost fifty-seven million pounds of tobacco sold last month the 49,314,570 were for purchasers' (first hand) at an average of $20.28 per hundred pounds. This was a substantial advance over the December average of $17.27. Thus it is seen that about ten million dollars were exchanged with the farmers for their tobacco last month. Winston-Salem made the best record in sales, amounting to 8,803,108 pounds, averaging $24.43; Wilson second with 6,398,184 pounds at $21.53 per hundred. Mebane led with best prices on 893,020 pounds, having averaged $35.63 cents on three floors there, Roxboro being second at $32.76 for 1,434,014 pounds.

The 1920 crop was the largest ever produced in North Carolina. Although the first hand sales amount to much more than last year's crop. The government estimate of 384,000,000 pounds lacks but ten per cent of being reached if we count the North Carolina tobacco sold in Danville and border markets.

Only 35,000,000 pounds is needed to meet the estimated production, which is expected to check closely with the actual production, as it did last year.

For the first time on record every tobacco sales report was submitted in time to be used before the report was closed on the morning of the eighth. By this means the figures were all completed and the report mimeographed by the evening of the ninth. Six days ahead of last month. This is highly commendable to all warehouses, as is the fact that 99.8 per cent of the season's sales have been reported to date.

The season's average of 22 cents contrasts with 51 cents for last year's. The forecasted acreage to be planted last April showed fourteen per cent increase. Even though that was estimated before any tobacco was planted, it is still considered reasonable. The Crop Reporting Service will issue a 1921 prospectus during March that might be helpful to the farmers in aiding their unfinished and puzzled plans for the 1921 planting.

- Frank Woolworth started with $300.

- Then when the big chance came they were ready for it.

The tick bill is proving a troublesome question to the legislature, but not so much as the tick to the cattle raiser.

The tick bill is proving a live problem for the House of Representatives, but it might be still more interesting if pests from some of the infected districts should take a peep in on the assembly.

The Norfolk Southern railway has been granted a loan of $311,000 for improving equipment. A large amount of the loan might be expended on the Charlotte-Norfolk line without anybody objecting.

The Louisiana sheriff who recently forgot to hang a negro because of pressing civil matters has found that the prisoner forgot the date of the hanging also. This is one instance where forgetfulness profited, or the condemned darker, whichever it be.

Many farmers haven't the will to cut cotton and tobacco acreage this year because of pressing financial problems. But if they do not the necessity for such action will be thoroughly impressed on their minds, or before the year is over.

A skirmish in the Senate has left the tick measure for special order. They are not in special order down in this section of the country, where occasionally one gets wind of discontent brooding among persons too lazy to give the little pests a destructive plunge in governmental yaks. They're in natural order might be more proper.

As long as the legislature gets by with the Welfare bill the tick may be neglected temporarily without anybody worrying. Both apply to welfare of children of the State, but if they can't be passed let the Welfare Board confine its operations and not be seriously interrupted at a time when it means so much to the people.

Harding is getting plenty of advice in St. Augustine, Florida, and some he might do well to heed. The city is one of the oldest in the country, and has handed down some mighty progressive ideas along every line of development. As the president-elect is rather partial to "suggestions from leading minds," now is his time to make good.

John Skelton Williams says the country is on a sound economic basis. He said the crop is fine, but it is mighty hard to get the planter to replant it after losing so much money on his crop. The future, however, certainly is much brighter than most people suppose, and if nothing happens the old country will soon be back to normal in every way.

THE CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE

If the bill already passed by the House of Representatives of the United States giving North Carolina a congressman-at-large should be enacted into law, as it probably will be, it is almost a foregone conclusion that Congressman John H. Small will be one of the first candidates considered by the people. Mr. Small is on the verge of completing 22 years continuous service in the House of Representatives, and is so well versed in requirements of the nation that his candidacy would be given hearty support in practically every district where he is well known and a general favorite.

Mr. Small has made no announcement regarding intended candidacy, probably because the measure has not been enacted into law, but when this point has been definitely settled it is to be presumed he would hardly refrain from responding to persuasion from many friends in every section of the State. The persuasion might come largely from congressional circles, but that ought to be sufficient to justify any man yielding when he knows that his popularity is not confined nor limited among people in every sphere of life.

During the twenty-two years he served as representative of the Fifth Congressional district, Mr. Small has been faithful in every manner affecting the State and nation, and today ranks with leading members of the House. He has proven tenacious in long drawn-out issues requiring constant attention before finally settling, and in practically every instance won pronounced success. His activity in increasing river and harbor facilities has been of a commendable nature, and development noticeable in many parts of the county.

The proposed Congressman-at-large will be a certainty in event the State gains a seat, as there is now well defined sentiment in legislative circles that it would be unwise to redistrict the State at this session. In his case, it is hoped Mr. Small will make his announcement in due time and be in readiness to receive the unstinted praise and support which his many friends will give. He has served the country so long that being without him in Washington would be too unnatural to seem exactly right, and for that reason it is believable no other candidate for the same office could command the support he surely will receive. He is a vital force in American life today, and has many more useful years which could be placed to advantage of the government.

Governor Morrison's recommendations to the General Assembly have been a matter of much comment for the past several days, and public sentiment seems unanimous in believing that he has outlined one of the most constructive programs in years. It seems generally conceded that he does not intend to overturn constructive principles of government, but on the other hand intends to blaze a way to greater prosperity through programs which are bound to prove beneficial if carried out by the people. The proposal for linking up every section of the State by hard surfaced roads is practical in that it provides a way by which permanent roads may be constructed and maintained without continually draining State finances for improvements such as required by the old road system. A bond issue, as stated, would be necessary, but how unimportant is this when compared to the great benefit every section would derive from improved thoroughfares. The Governor truly has presented the constructive recommendations since the old State started to bound forward toward greater development, and if people rally as they should the future is indeed rosy for commercial and industrial advancement.

Over a half million dollars were invested in war savings stamps and other government securities last year, according to a statement recently issued by the Treasury department. School children contributed largely to this amount, so the report states, showing that out of some 11,000 savings clubs organized in the school many have taken an active part in the thrift plans promoted by the government. In this way many pennies, nickels and dimes have been saved which otherwise would be thrown away. The child is given an early impression of the advisability of saving and laying aside something for rainy days. The Government has done much for the American people since the war. It has learned them to save as they never saved before, and paved a way for greater prosperity in the future. The time for more extensive saving has come with the present period of depression, and the person who does not learn to save under such conditions has no hope of ever expecting to be worth anything.

GREENVILLE TOSSERS DROP GAME TO WILSON

The Greenville lads journeyed over to Wilson last night and dropped a game to the team from that town. The game was anybody's until the last few minutes of play, being tied a half dozen or so times, and then first one team and then the other having the advantage. The first half ended with the score 10-15, with Wilson holding the long end. During the latter part of the second half, however, the Wilson team showed better wind, better physical endurance, and they were able to win the game for this reason mainly. Forward centers and Woodard at the forward centers and Bullock at center were the main factors in the Greenville victory and they did the most work.

The final score was 32-24.

PARENTS ARE URGED TO ATTEND SUNDAY SCHOOL

Last Sunday in the Methodist church a campaign was launched to secure the attendance of more parents in the Sunday School. To the class in the Junior and Intermediate department having the largest per cent of parents present will be awarded the banner each month. The Philaetha and Baraca Classes for adults should be an incentive to parents to attend Sunday School. Each of these are good, live classes with splendid attendance and capable teachers and it is the desire of the Sunday School that the parents come out and see what the Sunday School is doing and the benefits to be derived from regular attendance.

All parents are especially urged to be present tomorrow, the opening day of this campaign, for the Sunday School will not be satisfied until every parent comes to Sunday School with their children. Do this and it will be a help to you as well as an encouragement to your children.

MASS AT CATHOLIC CHURCH TOMORROW

Mass at Catholic church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock by Father Zatul. Following Mass there will be a special prayer for Mrs. Joseph Hatem.

METHODISTS SUCCEED IN HANGING UP ANOTHER SUNDAY SCHOOL RECORD

The Methodist Sunday School hung up another good record last Sunday, although it was not quite so good as the one Sunday before. There was an increase along certain lines, the increase being noticeable in the men's classes, while the falling off was noticeable in only one class, the Training School Class. The men's class taught by Mr. Wright had 66 men present which was a high mark for that class. This class has been steadily growing for the past few months. The growth has been healthy, and every indication is that the pace will be maintained for some time to come. The other men's class taught by Mr. J. B. James met last Sunday in its new quarters. The class now will meet in one of the tents in the rear of the church. There is room for about fifty men in this tent, and the indications are that this tent will see its capacity taxed in the next few Sundays. The Junior Philaetha Class taught by Mrs. W. E. Hooper showed an increase last Sunday, new members being brought in and some old ones reclaimed. The class of girls taught by Miss Ross showed a one hundred per cent present and on time. Other classes had good records also. This Sunday will no doubt see the biggest attendance yet. It is understood that on tomorrow a whole lot of the parents who have never been to Sunday School are going to come to see what Sunday School is like. It has been some time since some of them have seen a real Sunday School in operation, and so they are coming to see what the church is doing for their children in the Sunday School. The music will be good tomorrow. Mrs. Goode will be at the piano; Mary Bagley Overton will be present with her violin, and Mr. Rives will be there with the French horn. Sunday school begins at 9:45 and ends promptly at 10:45. The whole county is welcome.

DR. VINES TO CONDUCT REVIVAL IN IMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH

Dr. William M. Vines, pastor of the First Baptist church of Norfolk, Va., will conduct the annual revival meeting at the Immanuel Baptist church, beginning the first Sunday in April. Dr. Vines is not a stranger to North Carolina, having been pastor for a number of years of the First Baptist churches at Charlotte and

The members of the Immanuel church are looking forward to Dr. Vines' coming with keen interest. Seats for the gallery have been ordered, and some changes are anticipated in the main auditorium, looking to the increasing of the seating capacity of the church. The Baraca class last Sunday contributed the seats for the gallery.
