NOTED LECTURER THRILLS HEARERS HERE LAST NIGHT

Dr. William C. Poole, Tells of Prohibition Before Audience at Methodist Church.

DECLARES AMERICA IS BEING WATCHED DAILY BY FOREIGN NATIONS

Commends Splendid Fight of American Prohibitionist in Putting Down the Liquor Traffic

The great part which prohibition forces are playing in making the world a better place in which to live was discussed in a forceful and convincing way at the Methodist church in this city last night by Dr. William Poole noted prohibition lecturer of California who is traveling over the county delivering his lecture in the interest of the Anti-Saloon League. The speaker declared prohibition is doing more to restore normal conditions in America and the world generally than any other one thing, and that in the course of a few years the present illegitimate traffic carried on by surreptitious forces would be completely eliminated.

The lecture was heard by a fairly good crowd attracted to the church more by the great part which the speaker played in the prohibition fight overseas than by the subject of his address. His discussion was so informal and concise that few went away feeling they had not been benefitted. The address was not confined solely to America's remarkable and brilliant fight against demoralizing influences on the whiskey traffic, but brought out clearly and forcefully various features that are playing such an ascendent part in other countries, particularly in those where saloons still remain open and their patrons far behind citizens of other countries where prohibition is effective.

Dr. Poole declared that practically all nations of Europe and Asia look with wonder and admiration at the United States in putting across the 18th amendment in the Volstead Act, and that both countries readily recognized the results of the action. A great many powers, he declared, recognized that prohibition is an economic matter instead of sentiment, and numbers are falling in line with the example which America, the recognized leader of the world, has set for coming generations.

He declared that the man now handling liquor for sale is nothing more than a condemned criminal in sight of the law, and that the sentiment of all law abiding citizens should induce the courts to sentence all such violators in accordance to extent of their crime against humanity. The officers, as representatives and prosecutors of public rights, should be condemned in the performance of their duty, and every effort made to help them in bringing to account those who infringe upon public rights.

He charged the liquor interests with having gathered a slush fund of $100,000,000 to defeat the purpose of prohibition and called upon those who aided in making the 18th amendment possible to rally behind campaigns for placing American society upon a higher plane. He condemned efforts of silent forces endeavoring to make the law inoperative, and condemned those who so far have been active in upholding principles which the entire world eventually must accept.

WOMEN SERVING ON JURY CAUSES STORM IN LONDON

Newspapers Discuss Participation of Sex in Divorce Cases, Condemning Action as Inadvisable

London, Mar. 3.—A storm of discussion both commendation and condemnation, has swept through London newspapers as the result of the innovation of having women serve with men as members of juries in divorce cases.

The first mixed jury to sit in the London divorce court has been unable to agree on a verdict and been discharged after hearing the case for four days.

In the comment on the proceedings, newspaper editors and the contributed communications of readers have discussed principally the propriety of obliging women as members of the jury to examine all the evidences submitted.

In this case counsel for one of the action announced that he had evidence to submit which he did not consider in proper to place before women jurors. The judge said he was helpless in the matter but ultimately only the men jurors examined the evidence.

Sir Edward Marshall-Hall, counsel for one of the parties, said that this was the first case he had ever conducted before a mixed jury and that he hoped he would never have to deal with a case of such a nature again.

It is undeniable that there are many cases in which the assistance of women will be of the greatest value to the court, said Sir Edward, but there are other cases in which, from the nature of the evidence much will have to be discussed before them, it is undesirable that they should serve.

Sir Edward's comment evoked a hot retort from George Bernard Shaw, playwright, who writing to the Daily News as a member of the male sex, took issue with the views of the barrister.

Sir Edward Marshall-Hall's assumption that my sensibilities in this matter are less delicate than women is not only unfounded but extremely offensive wrote Mr. Shaw. Why in the name of common sense did this blushing barrister exclude six jurymen from the opology which he thought it necessary to make for presenting them to the six jurymen.

MODEL SCHOOL WINS FLAG

All the morning the flag that was won in the contest between the graded school had the model school waved over the model school building, much to the delight of the children and teachers.

It was with happy faces and hurrying footsteps that children and teachers came to school. At eight many were there to see the flag and at eight forty five when it was raised the enthusiasm was shown in many ways some saluting, others singing, smiling or just looking.

It was of course an impromptu raising. The contest closed on Wednesday night but it was not understood the flag was to be presented at that time.

KINSTON WAITING FOR DEVELOPMENT IN BALL SITUATION

In Definite Postponement of Washington Meeting Causes Fans to Hope for Clearing of Horizon

(Kinston Daily News)

Following notice served by secretary Van Herve for the Kinston baseball promoters on New Bern, Washington and Greenville baseball interests that this city would not be represented at the Washington meeting on Thursday night because of the fact that Kinston could not entertain any other than organized ball, chairman delegates of these cities have conferred and decided to call off the meeting altogether for an indefinite length of time, while an effort is being made to induce some other sizeable city to fall in line so that a permanent organization for an independent league may be possible. It is said that hopes have been turned to Elizabeth City, although that town's geographical location is far from satisfactory.

In the meantime, Kinston, promoters are resting a bit while the horizon clears. The likelihood of baseball for this city this summer is rather faint, we all admit, but something may turn up yet, said a prominent fan yesterday. Wilmington wants organized ball. Goldsboro might want organized ball, it is said. Tarboro's attitude is unknown, but some say that no pressure has been brought to bear on her entry into a league this summer by either Greenville or Washington because of a mutual breach in the closing days of the East Carolina league last year. Fayetteville is a possible entry into an organized league.

Some think, owing to that city's fine geographical location and excellent train service. It is pointed out that there are four sizeable cities that could form an organization post haste if the notion struck them. In fact half of it is ready—Kinston, and Wilmington.

The above possibility has been mentioned to local promoters. They may send out feelers shortly. No harm could come of a trial anyway.

GREEN STOCKINGS TO BE PRESENTED HERE MARCH 11TH

Raleigh Community Players to Present Popular Play at Training School in This City

Green Stockings, the comedy to be presented at the Training School by the Raleigh Community Players, on Friday evening of next week, March 11 (please note) it is a light domestic comedy, of English life good plot and clever lines. The News and Observer on Monday gave a good account of the plot. It is this: The play centers around Cella, who when the play opens is on the point of having to don green stockings for the third time, according to a custom which dictates that an elder sister must wear them whenever a younger sister is married. The marriage of the last youngest sister is hanging fire because the old man still has Cella on his hands.

To simplify the situation Cella, whose imagination is in good working order, invents herself a lover, Colonel Smith, who is in Somoliland, and the complication which ensue from her attempts to sustain the fancy and stimulate grief when the colonel is happily killed, as she tells it (are highly amusing.

But to finish off the plot in the general accepted way with all living happily ever after, Colonel Smith from Somoliland actually appears in flesh, having been drawn by a letter which Cella had mailed to the supposedly fictitious lover, and he and Cella make a go of it and very thing is fine.

Thus goes the story of the charming comedy the Laniers are bringing to Greenville for next Monday evening.

LONDON HOTELS FEELING SLUMP IN HIGH PRICES

Proprietors Bewailing Decreased Receipts Caused by Price of Wines and Patties Now Out of Date

London, Mar. 3.—Proprietors of fashionable West End hotels and restaurants are bewailing the slump in their receipts which they declare has taken place.

We have the same number of people dining each night, said the manager of one of the best known restaurants, but our receipts are 50 per cent below those of a year ago. The difference, he added, is chiefly a matter of wines. During the war, and before the war, it was customary for a small party here to have a magnum of champagne. Now they are satisfied with a bottle of Chablis or some other wine which cost much less than champagne.

Apart from the greater expenses, said a famous bon vivant, it must be admitted that dining out is not as pleasant as it used to be. The restaurants where there used to be refinement and charm not only in the surroundings but in the people themselves have been invaded by a new type of diner.

The conversation and behavior of these new clients have rather vulgarized some of the best restaurants and the old frequenter prefer to dine at home or at their clubs. Two nights ago I saw a man in what used to be one of the most fashionable and refined of London restaurants dining with his serviette tucked all around his collar. That sort of thing rather spoils the charm of dining out for patrons of the old school.

As for the best kind of brand of champagne are concerned the sale is dead said, the head of a large firm of wine merchants in Pall Mall. We are selling very little champagne to our private customers who are instead of drinking port, sherry, Marsala, and claret. People cannot afford champagne they could when it could be had for from eight to nine shillings a bottle, but what with increased taxes on high prices generally they naturally fight shy of paying from 16 to 20 shillings for a bottle of champagne, which is now demanded of them.

ASK RECOGNITION FOR GOVERNMENT IN CHINA SECTION

Dr. Sun Yat-Sen Sends Secretaries to Washington, London and Paris to Discuss Matter Fully

Peking, Mar. 3.—Dr. Sun-sen has dispatched secretaries to Tokio, Washington, London and Paris to work for recognition by the powers of his newly established extraordinary government in the south of China, according to the Asiatic News Agency's Canton correspondent.

The threat to make Canton a free port has been abandoned says the dispatch.

The same agency reports that Lin Sheng, speaker of the Senate and Chu-Fu-chen, vice chairman of the House of Representatives, have arrived in Canton from Shanghai and are engaged in an effort to revoke the old parliament for the purpose of electing Dr. Sun Yat-sen provision president, after with Tang Shao-yi or Dr. Ting-fang as premier, is proposed.

At the same time, the dispatch continues, the Cantonese refuse to pay their land taxes for the tenth, eleventh and twelfth year of the republic, in advance, as required, and the proposed government it at a loss for funds with which to proceed.

MISSOURI MAN RECEIVES CUP FROM GERMANY

Captain Stadler, of Joplin, Only Man in Country to Receive Token of Approval from Germans and Poles

Kattowitz, Upper Silesia, Mar. 1.—Captain James A. Stadler of Joplin Missouri, in the employ of the American Relief Administration here received a token of joint approval of the German and Polish residents.

After 18 months of har work and advertising in which he has been the common target for machine-gun fire of Poles and Germans, faced mobs, fed the hungry administered to the dying, saved prisoners slated for execution, and acted as the arbiter of revolution and strikes, he is preparing to go home to show the folks a big silver cup which friends presented him when they learned he was about to leave.

There was some rivalry about the cup for the Poles and Germans each wanted to give it, and they only wanted him to have one, but at last they agreed upon a common course, for the first time in 800 years, some of them asserted. They all chipped in equal amounts, bought the cup, had it beautifully worked and engraved and presented it with much formality and many nice words in two languages.

As representative of an American organization, Captain Stadler's position has demanded the most careful observance of ever rule neutrality, exercise of considerable ingenuity and, now and then, an extraordinary fleetness of foot.

He established himself with Poles and Germans alike during the uprising last August. He had been to the Polish prison camp at Cracow to ask for the release of nearly 200 Germans who had been spirited over the border. On his return trip he got between the Polish and German lines and machine guns began to volley at him. He ran to a ditch and crawling along reached the German side where he was immediately made a prisoner, but later was released. He thinks his foot-work saved his life that day.

MARKETING PLAN TO BE DISCUSSED HERE MONDAY, 14

Cotton and Tobacco Association to Begin Intensive Drive for Membership During Week

DR. CLARENCE POE TO PROBABLY BE PRINCIPAL SPEAKER OF OCCASION

Co-operative Marketing Plan to Be Carried Into Every Township of the Country

W. B. Pace, county secretary of the state branch of the North Carolina Tobacco Growers Association stated this morning that an intensive campaign to promote the co-operative marketing plan would be started in this county Monday, March, 14th. Representatives of the American Cotton association and the Tobacco Growers association will be in the county for several days, and endeavor to impress the farmer with the marketing plans which has been received with such general favor by business men, bankers and farmers in other parts of the state.

Mr. Pace said practically every part of the country had completed the recent campaign for reduction of tobacco acreage during the approaching season and that the farmer at this time are sufficiently organized to make reproduct is grown. Pledges were signed at meetings conducted at principal towns, and it seems generally conceded that very few members of the organization will fail to curtail acreage as advised.

It is believed the co-operative marketing plan as now being presented by leading business men and planters in every section of the country will be exactly what Pitt county has needed for years, and that if farmers rally behind the prices will be considerably better and the industry saved from the eventual ruin which normal acreage would bring about. Efforts will be made to have Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, address the farmers at the court house in this city at the opening of the campaign, and as he is well informed about the co-operative marketing plan his address will be of more than general interest and source of great helpfulness.

Mr. Pace believes the farmers will be glad to listen to the proposed marketing plans, as much has been said concerning the issue during the past several months and much interest as result has been created. Pitt county planters have been in need for some definite way of marketing for years, and it is believed the co-operative plan will meet their requirements in every way, and give everyone a chance of developing his farming resources to a greater extent than ever before.

Thursday Evening March 4

If congress should create something besides departments the country might be much better off financially.

France and England are spending enough collection from Germany to make the indemnity assume the form of natural collection.

Congress at least has seen fit to repeal wartime legislation. It might have at least waited until peace is declared.

An ultimatum may be sent to the Germans by the Allies, so statements indicate. However, that's not getting the indemnity by any means.

Senator Lodge sees need of a larger navy. It is pleasing to note that for one time the gentleman has found it advisable to agree with a democrat.

Other parts of the country seem to be getting great benefit from community songs, and Greenville might do the same if somebody would raise the tune.

Wheat averages are reported slightly higher today, but there's no telling what tomorrow will bring. The market is too uncertain to be reliable.

Greensboro has voted for the city manager form of government. By next year this time the city may like the idea of going back to the old way.

President Wilson will not attend inauguration ceremonies, according to latest reports from Washington. Maybe he doesn't like the idea of hearing what Harding will say.

The law enforcement program of the United States creates that continued violations of the law are longer than possible. In Pitt county, an intensive campaign is necessary if anything is to be accomplished.

Uncle Sam collects this year's income taxes the German indemnity will be of little concern. Half a billion dollars will tide the old boy over for a while at least. That's more than France and England can say, however.

HELP THE STARVING

Greenville people should give liberally to funds now being raised for the starving people of China. The campaign has started off pleasingly in this city and indication point to a successful termination, if even people rally behind Dr. James Turner, chairman, as they should. Daily reports from famine stricken districts show that thousands are actually starving from cold and hunger, and unless America rallies to the call for help the situation will be one of the most horrible in history. There is no mistake about actuality of serious conditions confronting the famine stricken districts and anyone contributing liberally need not fear that their funds will be placed where they will do the most good. The campaign in every part of the United States is probably more intensive than that for suffering children of Europe, for it is realized the people are not capable of providing for themselves, and are looking yearningly toward American shores for relief. If you have not contributed, do it now and be assured you have done your part by civilization.

Lumber prices are the lowest since signing of the armistice, according to information recently made public by the National Lumber Manufacturers' association. Lumber is piling up in many sections and mills are closing down because of decreased demand. This shows that now is the time to build, and cities that take advantage of the slumping price will realize probably more than anyone at this time can possibly conceive. Higher prices for lumber have been a source of constant worry and concern to the builder since beginning of the war, but now that conditions have changed it is plainly evident the time to build has come. Industry is practically at a standstill, and if the lumber market continues to experience a decline the situation should improve considerably along the line of public improvement.

The senate has passed the bill providing for censorship of motion pictures, and the next few months will be full of interest for those who have watched the fight waged by opposition of the measure. A board of three members will determine what kind of pictures the people will see, and if these members happen to be widely diverging taste the people certainly will feel like they are deprived of something which they should have seen by all means. The censorship probably will be all right for many cities where patrons like something bordering indecency, but in others there will be no need of censors because the people have shown that they have no desire for anything immoral. It depends largely on the way people feel about the matter anyway, and the censors should not have such a hard job.

Continued decline in cotton prices shows exclusively that it is absolutely imperative for the farmer to reduce acreage this year. This has been reiterated time and again in every part of the country, and the farmer that has failed to take heed will be the one to suffer in the long run. The situation is the most unusual in many years, but is to be expected as an aftermath of abnormality in all branches of industry. The fate of the crop is entirely in hands of the farmer, and if he fails to curtail acreage as advised hopes of price improvement will be blasted. There is room for decidedly higher prices at this time, and the planter who listens to words of warning will be the one to profit by the action.

The Legislation has done well to increase appropriations for improvements of state educational institutions, for no state can progress as it should go without proper provisions for its schools. North Carolina is far behind in education, but with the increases recently granted the next several years should witness wonderful development in the higher schools of learning. These schools have been neglected too much in the past several years, and as a consequence sometime will be necessary to recover and gain place with more progressive sections of the country. The future demands greater educational advantages, and unless each state meets these demands its future will be anything but pleasing.

Members of the Greenville Merchants Association, always came across with the cash for worthy purposes. They have contributed liberally to the Chinese relief fund, and this fact alone shows they are always ready to do their part by any good cause. If other organizations should follow the example Pitt county's quota would soon be on the way to the famine districts where hundreds are dying daily regardless of aid.

The Reading Iron Company has announced a reduction of ten dollars a ton on iron products. Since Germany has been offering the country steel at prices far below the American manufacturer it is only natural to expect that reductions should be in order. There is plenty room for further decreases, but the man who does the selling can't see it that way until forced to. Competition gives new-born impetus to business.

Greenville Rotarians have a right to howl just a little louder than other organizations of the country. They own their home, and that is more than any other club can say. Greenville men have a way of doing things right at the beginning, and have already been able to give Rotary a few progressive suggestions.

Mexico has arranged with American firms for a loan of five billion dollars with which to carry on railroad operations. With this amount it looks like the country might not have any cause to complain of demoralization of railway systems any longer, especially as long as rebellious citizens remain contented with peace.

Will Hay will resign as chairman of the Republican National Campaign committee after entering President Harding's cabinet, we are told. That may call for reorganization of the Republican party instead of so much organization among democrats.

The Pacific Island of Yap seems to be a source of misery to Japan and an uncertain proposition for the United States. Maybe by the time France and England settle in full with Germany, the United States will have swapped off Yap to the Jap.

SAYS FORBIDDEN FRUIT IS EXCELLENT PICTURE

Mr. O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. Dear Mr. Kafer: Mr. Prince of the Southern Enterprise has requested me to write you what I think of the new DeMille production, "Forbidden Fruit" and it is a request that I must willingly accede to. It has been my privilege to show nearly all of the big productions that are worthy for the name. Ever since the Miracle Man, I have been watching for its successor. There have been many imitations and many attempts to equal it, but, up to now, that wonderful production had stood on by itself. But here is one that, in my opinion, far surpasses it in every way. Forbidden Fruit has the advantage of the logical story. It is a story taken from life and a story that can and does happen any where. It has a wonderful moral and the moral is pointed out in a beautiful way.

The cast is superb. I do not remember of ever having seen a more perfect cast in any one picture. It is produced lavishly. The mirrored hall in which the Cinderella scene is enacted is the most marvelous spectacle I have ever seen and will fill any audience with wonder.

I screened this picture for a jury of twelve base New Yorkers, after midnight and with no musical accompaniment and I have never seen such unbounded enthusiasm in a group of such people, and a picture that will stand that test is some picture.

I am paying the highest price for it that I have ever paid for a production, which means, with my limited capacity and a limited number of winter guests to draw from, that I have not thought of any profit. I am proud of the opportunity of showing such a picture and I consider it will give my house a standing and prestige that it could attain in no other way.

A hounds tooth, with not a single line in the titles or a single action in the picture that will offend the most fastidious.

In my opinion it is the last word, to date, in a 100 percent picture. It is truly the crowning achievement of the cinema art and I know that this is much abused expression.

This is the first letter I have ever written to a fellow exhibitor regarding any picture.

It is not generally safe, to do it because what might suit me and my audience, might not suit you and yours, but here is a production that simply cannot help but go over anywhere.

It is a picture that will do more to elevate the standard of motion pictures, to silence the scoffers and to shame the censors criticisms, than any picture I know and I would say to any exhibitor, by all means get it and then go out and dig up all your critics and get them in to see it even if you have to pass them in. It will pay.

So far, "Forbidden Fruit" is the picture of the season.

Very truly yours
(Signed) Chas. W. Picquet,

MISS PEARL WRIGHT ENTERTAINS MEMBERS OF SENIOR CLASS

A delightful party in honor of the High School Seniors was given Saturday evening, February 26 by one of their members Miss Pearl Wright, at her home on Fifth street. The house was beautifully decorated in patriotic colors and at the rear of the hall, Mary Wright and Marion Sugg, in costume of Martha and George Washington served punch. Immediately upon arrival of the guests, who were received at the door by Miss Wright and Miss Higgs, president of the class a series of clever contests began. First the seniors were given peanuts and instructed to perform the tasks, assigned them on a strip of paper within. This of course proved a source of much fun. Next the girls guessed the boys' feet as they were shown beneath a curtain and the boys the girls' eyes thru a peep hole in the drawing room door. The prizes went to Miss Nancy Arthur and Mr. Robert Little. A table contest following proved the same two again successful.

Not a moment dragged. Two lines were next arranged for a drawing contest, one side drawing Martha and the other George Washington, using as models Mary Wright and Marvin Sugg. There were other enjoyable features. Mrs. W. B. Murphy of Snow Hill played and sang several songs and Mary Bagley Overton gave a reading. Just before delicious refreshments were served the acme of merriment was reached in an obstacle race by the boys in which each boy, blindfolded, stepped over umbrellas, chairs and other obstacles which he did not know had been removed.
