Allied Forces Occupy German Cities!

GERMANS OFFER NO RESISTANCE TO OCCUPATION

Occupation of Dusseldorf and Other Cities by Allies Brings for Vehement Assertion From Ebert

DEMAND COUNTRYMEN TO MEET FOREIGN DESPOTISM WILL AUSTERE DIGNITY

Urges Them to Have Faith That the Government Will Not Rest Until Foreign Tyrant Yields

Mayence, Mar. 8.—British, Belgian and French troops entered Dusseldorf, Germany at an early hour this morning.

The occupation of Dusseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrot by Allies will not be opposed by the German government it was indicated today. The cabinet was in session until eleven o'clock last night and dispersed without definite action.

President Ebert issued an appeal to the people urging them to meet this foreign despotism with austere dignity and to be patient and have faith for the government will not rest until the foreign tyrant yields to our rights. General Debonette, commander of the French Rhine forces received orders from Marshall Foch at eight o'clock to advance upon cities that the Allies were to take Germany. A strip of land from the right ten miles deep on the eastern side of the Rhine will be occupied by the French troops, says a telegram from Mayence.

Application of the penalties upon Germany for non-fulfillment of her reparations requirements were announced to the Germans last Thursday by Mr. Lloyd George.

They are:

Occupation of the cities of Duisburg, Dusseldorf and Ruhrot, in the German industrial area beyond the Rhine by troops of the Allies.

Imposition by each allied country of such a tax upon German imports as it may deem fitting.

The establishment of a custom boundary under allied control along the Rhine.

SUPREME COURT GIVES DIFFERENCE OF TRADE MARKS

Establishes Difference Between the Simple and Registered Trade Mark in Recent Suit

Washington, Mar. 8.—A legal difference between a registered trade mark and simple trade mark was brought out in the Supreme Court decision recently in the suit if the Stark Brothers Nurseries and Orchards Co., of Louisiana, Mo. for damages against the William P. Stark Nurseries of Stark City, Mo.

When the decision was handed down it was announced that the Stark Bros. Nurseries Company had lost this suit. The statement was correct, but the inference placed upon a brief report of the decision was misleading. The had won in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals a suit for damages against the William P. Stark Nurseries and also an injunction restraining the latter from using the family name for a trade mark. This Circuit Court decision limited the damages to begin from the time when notice of registration of the trade mark was served.

Upon this limitation only the Stark Brothers Nurseries Company appealed to the Supreme Court. It was this appeal against limiting the damages that the Supreme Court denied. In its decision the Supreme Court said:

The infringement that is sued for is an infringement of a registered trade mark, not infringement of a trade mark.

The court said that the plaintiff had rights in the trade mark prior to the date of its registration, but that those rights were not involved under the statute under which the appeal to the Supreme court was made.

The Stark family nurseries was operated by three brothers after the death of their father the founder, in 1880, until 1900, when the youngest brother William P. Stark withdrew and formed the rival company that was defendant in this suit.

POTASH MINES IN ALSACE DISTRICT BEGIN OPERATION

Mines Formerly Belonging to Germans to Resume Activities Under French Control

New York, Mar. 8.—The potash mines of Alsace, which before the war were operated by the Germans but now under French control, have been restored to working order and France has again become a rival of Germany in the world's markets as a producer of this fertilizing agent, say French agents here prior to the war, the Germans controlled virtually the only source of the world's supply of potash and while the great conflict was in progress formers everywhere suffered from lack of it.

With the restoration of Alsace to France, French engineers began the work of restoring the mines to activity and after two years of effort, now announce that the machinery has been installed, the extraction shafts repaired and refining plants put in working order.

The Alsace potash beds are believed to be the richest in the world, containing more than 3,000,000 tons of pure potash and, according to estimate are capable of supplying the entire world for more than three centuries. The mines occupy a field lying near Mulhouse. In the mine corridors the crystalline salt are seen lying in horizontal stripes of red, white, pink and grey, so alternating as to give the impression of an immense flag.

SLEEPING ILLNESS CAUSES CONCERN IN NEW YORK CITY

Health Authorities of Metropolis and Along Atlantic Coast Making Great Fight Against Disease

New York, Mar. 8.—Health authorities in New York and other cities along Atlantic coast, are making strenuous efforts to cope with the disease of sleeping sickness or encephalitis lethargica which is reported as unusually prevalent this year. While stating that the malady should not cause public alarm, the medical heads have warned that it should not be underestimated.

As an evidence of the renewed sweep of the peculiar epidemic, reports for the first seven weeks of 1921 indicate more than 218 cases in New York City of which 25 per cent were fatal. During 1920, a total of 500 cases were reported in this city with the death toll comparatively small.

The most important step taken in the war on the disease was the move in several states in making sleeping sickness portable. This has been done in Massachusetts and New York. In New York several health officials admit they are up against a baffling problem.

Various versions as to the course and ranges of the disease have been reported.

LUTHERANS FINISH RELIEF ACTIVITIES IN POLAND REGION

American Denominations Complete High Gratifying Work in District Unable to Provide for People

Berlin, Mar. 8.—American Lutherans have just completed a year relief work in Poland, designed to help Poles to help themselves, which is highly gratifying to Dr. John Alfred Morehead, European commissioner of the National Lutheran Council of America, who has just finished an inspection tour in Poland.

With $250,000 which we loaned to Polish farmers and did not give them, we have enabled the agriculturists in nearly 500 villages, with a total population of probably 400,000 to erect temporary homes, restore their farms and become self sustaining, said Dr. Morehead. I have just visited the section to which the loans were made. The farmers have paid four per cent interest on the small loans as they agreed, and in some cases they have even paid off the principal in a single year.

The villages aided by the American Lutherans are chiefly in the vicinity of Lubin and Chelm, where Dr. Morehead found the population living in cellars and shacks in the fall 1915. The country had been laid waste by years of fighting. It was a land of small farmers having tracts of land varying from five to 40 acres, but with little machinery, no stables, no houses, no animals and no seed.

EFFORT MADE TO CHANGE RECEIVER OF WILLARD SMITH

Order by Judge Allen Appointing W. D. Hood Instead of C. D. Willard Revoked by Judge Bond

Judge W. M. Bond of Edenton this morning issued an order restraining the removal of C. D. Willard as receiver of the Willard & Smith Co. Inc., which yesterday filed notice of temporary assignment before the Clerk of Superior court in this city. The action resulted from an order by judge O. H. Allen of Kinston, annulling Mr. Willard's receivership and the appointment of W. D. Hood, of Kinston, as active receiver of the corporation.

Judge Allen's original order which was filed before the clerk of Superior court yesterday appointed Mr. Willard as receiver, but the statement contained in the second order brought out the fact that cause of annulment had been presented in affidavits sworn out by the state bank examiner and creditors protesting against Mr. Willard's administration.

Immediately after this order was received attorney for the corporation got busy, declaring that Judge Allen's second order was issued without due authority and appeared before Judge Bond in an effort to prevent it from being put in force. Judge Bond, in his order restraining change of receiver, also declared that the order was without authority and ruled that the corporation continue business under the first named receiver.

The action has created considerable interest owing to the extensive business connection of the corporation in this section of the state, but now that Judge Bond has set aside the probability of further interference in receivership no new development are expected before the matter is threshed out in the next session of court here March 21st.

It is understood that action of the State bank examiners resulted from excessive loans granted the corporation through the Pink Hill bank and the subsequent disappearance of the cashier without explaining conditions of the institution.

HAYWOOD DAIL IS NAMED CHAIRMAN OF HIGHWAY BODY

Popular Business Man Appointed to Head Highway Commissioners at Meeting Yesterday

BIDS TO BE RECEIVED FOR $500,000 ISSUE OF BONDS COMING FRIDAY

Commissioners to Meet in Special Session Friday to Receive Bids for Good Roads Bonds

Tentative plans for disposition of $500,000 in bonds for hard surfaced road work in this county and the appointment of a chairman of the highway commission were two of the most important matters taken up at the regular monthly session of the board of county commissioners in this city yesterday. Definite action in sale of the bonds was deferred until a special session of the board Friday when several bids will be considered and plans perfected for continuing road building operations which have been in progress in the Farmville and Ayden districts for the past several months.

Mr. W. H. Dail, of Greenville was appointed chairman of the road commission succeeding G. W. B. Hadley who resigned several weeks ago on account of pressing business matters. The appointment of Mr. Dail came about following more than an hour of discussion as it is realized that the last part of the road building campaign will be the most strenuous part and require the services and direction of one greatly interested in improvements of this particular kind. Mr. Dail is one of the staunchest and most consistent good road advocates in this section of the state, and his administration therefore is looked forward to with more than usual interest by those who have followed hard surfaced construction work interestingly for several months.

The bond issue will occupy attention of the commissioners at the special session Friday, as it is expected several bids will have been placed for consideration by that time. The bond issue is to apply directly to construction of the roads from this city to Farmville, and from Greenville to the Lenoir county lines. The $500,000 issue was voted several months ago to match the state and government offer. The total amount available to the county for this particular work is about $1,000,000, but it will not be possible to secure the entire amount until it becomes available through state and government appropriations.

Construction work on these two road has not been subject to the slightest interruption for many months, and it is believed decreasing cost of material and labor are going to be vital factors in early completion of building operations. Pitt county will have the best main road of any other county in this section of the state when the road to the Lenoir county line is finished, as number of principal towns will be linked together which heretofore have been reached by main roads with great difficulty.

Tuesday Afternoon March 8

Costa Rica and Panama appear to be in a fighting notion, but time will learn them the same lesson Germany and the allies derived from the recent war.

Germany's new proposal has failed to meet approval of the Allies. But that doesn't mean the Allies are hard to please; it's just another case of Germany trying to accomplish the impossible.

Hertford county is preparing a better highway system. That's about the best thing any community can do for good roads are recognized as an index to progressive community life.

Harding seems to be partial to early hours at the desk. If he should experience some of the things that caused Wilson's hair to become prematurely gray, he may not feel like handling things so briskly. It's a great job he has before him, and experience is a great teacher.

A representative of the prohibition forces in this state says the liquor fight is not over yet. Judging by the way members of the illicit traffic are marshalling their forces the statement seems to be about right. The battle is a strenuous one, but by eternal hammering an improvement ought to be noticeable in the near future.

France evidently didn't get any satisfaction out of President Harding's inaugural address, for leading papers candidly admitted that it seemed like jumping from the frying pan to the fire. It is to be hoped, however, that the president's future action may bring about a change of opinion; a change in which better relations may be the outcome and the world made to go to work with more confidence, recovery and actuality.

The railroad strike in Georgia certainly won't continue any longer than workmen realize that its either accept lower wages or starve. Conditions have changed considerably since the war, and hundreds of men are waiting to step in and fill the other fellows place. This is going to do more toward making readjustment real than any other one thing, and the man who fails to realize the fact in its seriousness will be the one to suffer the consequences of his folly.

The Pitt county board of agriculture is going to be a source of great help to planters if they heed advice of its members in the future. The meeting here yesterday showed conclusively that the plan under foot for changing the variety of cotton and corn grown in this section is one that should appeal to the planter, and cause everyone to become more diligent in selection of better crops. Heretofore tobacco has been of principal consideration but the time has come for diversification owing to curtailment of tobacco acreage. Better crops should result from the change and if the planter endeavors to improve his tobacco, cotton and corn crops the future certainly ought to be considerably brighter than at the present time. Pitt county is one of the most productive farming regions in the state, and by giving more time to this crop there's no reason in the world why the section should not enjoy the distinction of producing a product off all kinds adapted also to the soil.

SMALL'S RETIREMENT

The retirement of John H. Small from congressman of the First North Carolina district after twenty two year of service, brings to conclusion a career that has been filled with wonderful service for North Carolina and the nation. Mr. Small served the people faithfully, and whatever he accomplished he did it in a way that people could not help appreciating.

In speaking of his retirement, Mr. Small told newspapermen he had no regrets, that he did the best he could and believes the people appreciate what he did do.

No what my official life as a member of Congress for the First North Carolina District has closed, Mr. Small, told friends, My sense of modesty would rather constrain me to retire quietly to private life and to avoid thrusting my personality upon the public. But I have received so many letters commenting upon my retirement and inquiries as to my future as to make appropriate a brief statement. Among these inquiries are Washington correspondents, all of whom are my friends, and to whom I wish to make an expression of my sincere thanks for their many courtesies in the past.

I was elected in November, 1898 and my term of service began March 4, 1899, just 22 years ago. With the execution of several local positions and my service as presidential elector in 1896, this was the first and most important to which I had been elected. I entered upon my duties filled with ambition and high ideals of service. I have tried to serve with industry and fidelity, but the record is made and its appraisal left to others.

I may be permitted, however, to say that in all public matters, I have striven to lead a clear life and to follow the dictates of my indignity and best judgement. There can be no finer asset for a public servant than to have earned his self respect. While many doubtless differed with me at times, yet if I can entertain the hope that I have retained the confidence of my friends and constituents, I am indeed fortunate.

Mr. Small passed from office retaining the confidence of his friends and constituents probably more so than any other man who has occupied a high office such a long term. He has always lived up to expectation in practically every instance, and today commands greater respect and confidence than when he first entered his official duties. His life as a public servant has been eventful and inspirational is deserving of commendation from every source.

Now that the Allied troops are going to march into Germany to enforce terms of the treaty, the Hun may be ready to come across and accept proposal of reparation. The situation at this time is critical, for unless Germany yields there is no chance of avoiding another war. The allies have given the nation every chance in the world of playing fair but its delegation evinces no desire to do so, and continued to prolong and defer action apparently in an effort to accentuate the strong feeling against its people. The first war should have taught the Hun that the world is sick of its crafty and vulpine ways. Dealing with problems vitally affecting the world, and if its people still contend that they are not being treated justly after causing one of the greatest conflicts in the history of the world it is right that the Allies should invade Germany provinces and demand the government to comply with their demands. The world has tolerated conditions almost beyond endurance and as Germany shows no disposition of yielding to demands too just and light for the crime which she committed against civilization, Allied countries are justified in any action deemed necessary. The situation is to be deplored, but if peace is to be made a permanency it is perfectly natural that concerned action be taken to make Germany pay her debt to the world.

Statements received in this country indicate that Japanese business men are unanimously in favor of plans for disarmament. If they succeed in convincing government authorities of this the rest of the world will be ready to talk business, too. However, it is not likely that military preparations will cease until Japan evinces a desire for absolute peace as the suspicious attitude of other nations cannot eliminate until she does. This is a time when it pays to be prepared and not until peace has been signed and Germany convinced that the allies mean business will any thing definite or satisfactory become evident.

CINDERELLA IS BEAUTIFULLY SCREENED

Fairy Episode Is Big Feature of Paramount Picture, Forbidden Fruit

Everyone knows the story of Cinderella and the Fairy Godmother. And now all the world may see the story presented with the lavish beauty for which Cecil De Mille is famous as producer, when Forbidden Fruit comes to White's Theatre next Thursday.

The incorporation of the story of Cinderella in a vision episode in the otherwise modern story serves a two fold purpose. The vision serves to explain much of the subsequent action and it gives Mr. DeMille's colorful imagination and artistic full play with incomparably beautiful results.

This episode was filmed in a stage setting constructed entirely of plate glass. A ball room floored and waled with heavy glass, with a wide glass staircase beneath which waterfalls and lights alternately play forms the central setting. Stately glass pillars supporting baskets of brown glass fruit serves as foundation and wide pools of water peopled by black swans alternate with the crystal floor. A section of this same crystal floor was so constructed as to permit the appearance of a massive clock with two bronze figures which strike the hour of twelve and the end of Cinderella's dream.

Agnes Ayres portrays Cinderella, with Kathryn Williams as the Fairy Godmother.

Prices showed a weakening Thursday and Friday caused by the withdrawal of Reynold's orders from the market. mixing grades as there is much complaint by the buyers as to mixed piles and the Warehouse gets all the blame. Wesoldthisweek 330,278 pounds. Wehave 2nd sale Wednesday, 1st sale Thursday, and 3rd sale Friday. Drive to Gorman's and you will go home with the top of the market.
