BOARD OF PUBLIC WELFARE MAKING MUCH PROGRESS

Monthly Report Shows Gradual Increase in Volume of Business Disposed of Along Charitable Lines

LARGEST COMMUNITIES CO-OPERATING IN WORK IN SULENDID MANNER

Providing Clothing for the Needy and Looking After Delinquent Children Features Month's Activity

The Board of Public Welfare held its regular meeting on the first Monday to hear a report of the work of the month and discuss the work. The report for the past month showed an increase in the number of people who have called at the office on some phases of the work. As the people in the country become more acquainted with the work in their immediate community and the work of the office can be made more effective and far reaching.

During this month a publicity program has been arranged for the work with the result that the largest communities in the country are co-operating in making this welfare meeting a special community gathering. The state welfare program will be explained and concrete examples of the work in the state and county given. To dates are closed with the following committees for the welfare meeting: Grimesland, March 11, Bethel, 25, Ayden April 1st and Grifton April 6. These meetings are being fostered by the organized agencies in the community through school leadership.

The board especially commend the very fine spirit of cooperation found on every side in the organized forces for welfare work. Providing clothes for the needy, aiding in raising money for needy purposes has met with hearty response in Greenville. The welfare agencies in the city feel that department feels greatly indebted to when the county can get the problems before them, working hand in hand with the city in a solution of our problems, we shall see results.

To give an idea of the routine of work for February the following has been taken from the daily record: Office calls 28 phone calls 40, long distance 6, Telegrams 6, Official letters 70, New Cases 24, old cases 52. New cases means that number have come to the attention of the office, in school attendance, Juvenile Court work neglected and dependent cases. Two cases coming up during the month of special interest are the following.

A small boy was reported for truancy and beyond parental control. The facts stated followed by investigation showed the truth of it all. Because this was the second offense against A he was ordered to go to Stonewall Training school April 1st subject however to a repeal of his order upon a line of character without reproach on April 1st.

A small boy whose character was a menace to the community and similar in many respects to A, this offense being his first, was placed on probation to write the probation officer each week for two months as to his record. His record has been good to this writing and the improvement in his school work gratifying.

A small boy was brought in for vagrancy. A temporary home was found to gather facts which revealed the boy belonged in another state; Parties responsible for bringing him here were seen, return charges met, the boy returned to his native state and placed in a home under the State's supervision.

There are many neglected children in the county that are being found reported thru cases of this sort is mentioned.

GERMANY ACCEPT ALLIES PRESENCE WITH INDIFFERENCE

Dusseldorf, Germany, Mar. 9. Allied Soldiers patrolled the streets in this city last night, no unusual accidents were reported. The population appears to be accepting the presence of Allies with seeming apathy. Theatres have been closed by the French commander in charge of the situation and a state of siege has been declared. Newspapers have been placed under censorship. A Berlin report says Chancellor Fehrenbach in speaking before the Reichstag endorsed efforts of Dr. Simmons before the Allied council and said events of the past week convinced the government that methods of the Allies cannot possibly accomplish rehabilitation of Europe. The German attitude on the reparations question is praised by newspapers in that section of the country.

ADMITS POLITICS AND EDUCATION DO NOT MIX UP WELL

Commissioner P. P. Clayton Tells Association That System is Bad One For Any Community

Washington, Mar. 9.—Politics and Education don't mix P. P. Clayton, Federal Commissioner of Education, contends. Their association in state school systems is bad for both, he finds and the sooner they are permanently divorced the better it will be for education and all that is dependent on it.

Our political parties do not differ in regard to educational principals or practice any more than they do in regard to the Ten Commandments and the normal code, the commissioner said in a statement arguing the point. Wise and effective administration of a system of public schooling that has just grown up like Topsy, but no involves an average expenditure of $25,000,000 a year by each state, requires ability and devotion he said and should be wholly separate from an independent of partisan politics.

To reach this end, the commissioner outlined a uniform system might well be adopted, he said, in all states. This would include a non-partisan, non-professional elected or appointed State Board of Education, made up of men and women of affairs and representing fairly all sections of the state. The seven to nine members would serve or nine years terms with one term expiring each year. No member to be eligible to reappointment in order to bring in new blood. Members would be non removable except for cause and the board would elect its own chairman and its members receive a liberal per diem instead of salary.

PREMIER DATO IS ASSASSINATED BY UNKNOWN FORCES

Madrid, Mar. 9.—Assassination of Premier Dato last night has horrified the whole city. All traces of the men who rode beside the premier's automobile in a motor cycle and shot him has been lost in the excitement. Twenty one shots were fired. County Debut alal, minister of the interior will act as temporary premier. Three bullets entered the premier's head.

BIG SHIP LOAD OF TARGETS SENT TO ATLANTIC FLEETS

Targets Made to Float or Fly Sent for Practice of Jackies During the Springtime

Norfolk, Va., Mar. 9.—A ship load of targets, big, little and medium sized and made to float or fly has been forwarded to Guantanamo for destruction by the jacksies of the Atlantic fleet during the spring gun practice. The supply ship Lebanon carried 16,000 pieces of target material when she nosed out to sea, including the huge box floats on her decks at which the 14 inch triplets of dreadnaught main batteries will be turned loose.

Fresh from joint maneuvers with the Pacific fleet in the Pacific, navy youngsters are expected by officers at the base here to show a high degree of skill with their long nosed shooting irons this year. They have added zest for their work in the playtime they put in with Admiral Wilson cruising on the Pacific coast of South America. The officers, mayhap, had to attend many formal banquets and ceremonies of reception of ports visited, but the bluejackets got a chance to prow about ashore and load up with impressions of picturesque tropical cities new to them. They will have a lot to tell the folks at home when the Pennsylvania points the way north for the fleet in April and Jack gets shore liberty in home ports.

SIBERIAN FORCES REFUSE TO FIGHT MOSCOW TROOPS

Military Leaders Declares Nothing But Popular Desire of People Will Cause Warfare to be Resumed

Tokio, Mar. 9.—Nothing but a real and self expressed desire on the part of the peasants and masses of the people of Siberia to overthrow Bolshevism will induce Ataman Semionov to take up arms once more against the troops of Moscow or its allied government of the Russian Far Eastern Republic in China, says General Nikolai Sukin, chief of staff of the disbanded Semionov forces, who has arrived in Tokio after a conference with the alien leader in Mukden.

In spite of the fact that General Sukin in brought with him and presented to Ataman a petition signed by some 80,000 refugees from Siberia now in Mongolia which urged the former Battle Leading Headman not to cease the fight against the Red forces, Semionov will take no initiative nor will he recross the border to the north unless and until he is thoroughly convinced that most of the people in Asian Russia have experienced a through revolution of feeling against their present government, says the General. If such an event should come to pass, Semionov would have a potential armed force of approximately 136,000 men, according to the estimates of his chief of staff, whereas the high water mark of his army in the past was but 45,000 of whom only approximately 30,000 could be counted as actual combatants.

General Sukin, who was twice imprisoned by the Bolshevik forces after his return from the German front following a dissolution of the Czarist Government, who commanded an army corps under Admiral Kolchak and who made the march from Omsk to Trans-Baikal with the Kappel forces, claims to be in close touch as possible with the sources of communication throughout Russia.

A decided revival in building is now going on in town.

CONTEST AMONG WORLD GOLFERS SCHEDULED SOON

International Contests For Coming Summer Embrace Number of Tournaments

Chicago, Mar. 9.—International contests among the world's greatest golfers are in prospect for the coming summer in a series of tournaments starting on May 23 with the British amateur event at Hoylake and ending with the women's national championship at Holliswood Golf Club, Deal, N. J. Oct. 3-8.

A number of American women as well as men are planning to invade England and probably France, while the British coterie expects to retain the American open title won last year at Inverness club, Toledo, by Edward Ray. Some British amateurs also plan to have a try for the American title, now held by Chick Evans for the second time, when that event is staged at the St. Louis Country Club, Sept. 17-24.

Recently, Champion Evans as well as former champion Robert Gardner, of Chicago who lost the British Amateur title to Tolly last year on the 37 green, announced that business would prevent their going to Europe this summer. A team is forming under the leadership of W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh, however, to attempt to repeat the unique feat of W. J. Travis, veteran American golfer who in 1903 won the British title with his uncanny putting.

FIDDLERS CONVENTION ENJOYED LAST NIGHT

A fair crowd attended the Fiddlers convention conducted under the auspices of the King's Daughters at the court house in this city last night, and enjoyed a program varied but pleasing in every sense of the word. The first prize of $5 was won by W. P. Butler. Second and third prizes of $3 and $2 were won by I. G. Jackson and J. H. Harris. Eighteen fiddlers participated in the evenings program and rendered many familiar numbers that called back old times when fiddling formed a pleasant past time in hundreds of homes.

Mr. L. W. Morris acted as toast master of the occasion. Proceeds of the entertainment amounted to about $30, which goes to the benefit of the King's Daughters.

STABLE OF SMITH & DAIL WINS RECOGNITION FROM WORK OF HORSES UP NORTH

American Sportsman Carries Story Setting Forth Various Racing Record of Horses

(From American Sportsman)

The last few years have witnessed a great increase of interest in the sport of harness racing in the State of North Carolina, and the quality of the performers owned in that locality has improved to such an extent that more extended campaigns in the North have been taken. With the exception of the Circuit meetings at Lexington and Atlanta, the northern states stage practically all the most important meetings of the year and attract the best horses hence it is not at all surprising that a southern fancier wants to be assured his prospects are of the highest caliber before deciding to race them above the Mason and Dixon line.

W. H. Dail and R. L. Smith of Greenville, N. C. are well known under their racing name of Smith and Dail in the most exclusive racing circles of the northern states at the present time, but prior to the opening of the 1920 season they had never raced extensively in the North and nothing was known of the calibre of the numbers of their stable. Early in the season Messrs. Smith and Dail took an inventory of nited in the conclusion that their horses their prospects, however, and both were bore promise of class that deserved better opportunities than were afforded in their neighborhood. This conclusion arrived at, they selected the early Ohio meetings as places where a true test of their judgement could be had, and accordingly the Smith and Dail string was in due season placed upon the cars and shipped to that section of the Buckeye State where betting exists on sufferance, and which, in consequence, is annually visited by the leading half-mile tract trainers as well as by a number of these gentlemen who expect to shift to the Grand Circuit courses as allsoon as Big Line racing opens at North Randall.

Early in June one section of the Smith and Dail stable arrived at Canton, O., in charge of Al Roberts, to open the campaign, but due to continuous rains at Greenville, N. C. in May the horses, while in excellent physical order, had been denied any real keying up work. So Mr. Dail who was on hand in arranging with Tommy Berry to drive several instructed him to race them within themselves for a few weeks. That he showed rare judgement in so doing was plainly evidenced within a month and their late success can in a large measure be credited to his forethought, although many owners would have thought of only the present. Both Little Peter and Lillian T. were driven carefully in their respective engagements at Canton, the former getting third money in the $1,000 early closer to Arion McKinnay 2:05 1-4 and the pacing mare fourth in the $2,500 free for all. At Akron Little Peter took down second money and Lillian T. a smaller division; at Cranwood all five of the Smith and Dail combination appeared, Little Peter, Bondale and Khorassan each securing second money, while Lillian T. fouced Verlie Patchen out in both her miles, and Lady Strathmore won third money in the 2:19 trot.

The next week Smith and Dail were represented at the inaugural Grand Circuit meeting of 1920 at North Randall by Little Peter and Bondale and there scored a signal triumph, as their two entrants gathered in first honor in both divisions of the 2:22 trot. Right that afternoon Mr. Dail's ideas as to back interesting reports from the meetings he attends.

President Wright received a warm welcome from the students of the Training school this morning. This is the first time he has appeared before the students since his return from the meeting of the Superintendents Division of the National Educational Association which met in Atlantic City. President Wright went early so as to attend a council of normal school presidents which met in Washington for a two days' session.

He expressed gratification at the high opinion that normal school men throughout the country have of East Carolina Teachers Training School. The council recognized the fact that since a four year's course will be added next year, that places this school among the fifty teacher's colleges of the country. It is noteworthy that the Training school gets this recognition the first year that such a course is offered.

WRIGHT TALKS OF SCHOOL SUCCESS BEFORE TEACHERS

Training School President Tells of Recent Trip to Atlantic City At Training School Today

President Wright received a warm welcome from the students of the Training school this morning. This is the first time he has appeared before the students since his return from the meeting of the Superintendents Division of the National Educational Association which met in Atlantic City. President Wright went early so as to attend a council of normal school presidents which met in Washington for a two days' session.

He expressed gratification at the high opinion that normal school men throughout the country have of East Carolina Teachers Training School. The council recognized the fact that since a four year's course will be added next year, that places this school among the fifty teacher's colleges of the country. It is noteworthy that the Training school gets this recognition the first year that such a course is offered.

President Wright heard both Senator Smith and Judge Tower, the leaders for the educational bill before congress for the creation of a department of education with a cabinet member.

North Carolina, he said, trails behind the teachers with a lower average of cost per student than any group in the United States, and very much lower than the average of the whole United States, according to the figures gathered from a questionnaire sent out to the normal school of the country, the amount of teachers salaries in the normal schools. The cost at the Training School is $83.33 less than the average in the United States for graduating a student, $35.19 less for one year per student. It is $5.40, per year less than any group considered, and $70.49 less than the highest average. These figures could convince anyone that the school is run economically.

President Wright always brings back interesting reports from the meetings he attends.

Wednesday, March 9

The censorship bill met with defeat in the House of Representatives, but that's just about what people expected.

A bearish effect has been reported on the wheat market. That's nothing unusual, as prices have looked rather frightful several days.

The fact that cotton drops off after advancing is nothing unusual at all. The staple is too unsettled at this time to expect anything but abnormality.

Twelve Raleigh women have been appointed poll holders, according to recent statements. Now that the Capital city has blazed the way, it is natural to expect similar action in other counties.

The dinner conference at the White House lasted four hours. That's a mighty long time for such an occasion, but if President Harding was engaged to secure more advice, the country ought to be satisfied.

Costa Rica evidently didn't find things so interesting in Panama, for after its troops passed over boundary lines leaders probably became more seriously impressed with their action. It is pleasing to note that hostilities have ceased for awhile and promise not to be revived.

Will Hays promises to accomplish many great things in the postoffice department, but after a hundred million people succeed in registering an individual kick he may feel like retiring. It's an office with a big name, and takes a mighty big man with lots of patience to hold it.

Josephus Daniels says if the Treaty of Versailles had been accepted by America several months ago that present conditions never would have occurred. He has been in a position to gain valuable information, and his statement therefore is not surprising in the slightest sense of the word.

President Harding announces that congress will not be called before Apr. 4th. That's right, he might delay the session long as possible in order to get in closer touch with leading minds. Advice will be mighty handy after the body begins wrangling over present situations, and no one is going to realize the fact more than the new president.

The bill requiring physical examination before marriage may not received so favorable in some sections, but that does not mean it is not one of the best. The legislature has passed in many months. The act in course of a few years will be direct means for decreasing the ravage of disease, and if it does this alone the country has some thing to thank the legislature for.

It is gratifying to note that President Obregon found something pleasing in President Harding's inaugural address for if there was anything said that may stimulate Mexico to resume activity in a commercial and industrial way the United States at least feels proud that it has one man to accomplish such. Mexico seems to be making remarkable progress toward normalcy and the future bids fair to fulfill predictions of readjustment. If the president should in any way be an inspiration to greater things, he has at least served civilization in an appreciable way.

DECLINE IN OUR FOOD ANIMALS

The growers of the United States evidently saw the handwriting on the wall, at the close of the war, says a statement by the National City Bank of New York. The demands of the war upon them for food animals, and for horses and mules had resulted in a large increase in both number and value of every class of food and draught animals. But when the war ceased, and Europe's absolute demand for meat gave place to a doubt as to her future consuming power, meat producers were quick to note the situation, and the number of farm animals in the United States has actually fallen off by 15,000,000 in the two years since the armistice. The value of all farm animals, which increased from $2,936,000,000 in five years of war decreased 2,591,000,000 in the two post war years 1919 and 1920. This is especially true in the matter of strictly food animals; the number of swine on farms of the United States which stood at the high water mark of 74,584,000 on January 1, 1919 (sixty days after the close of the war) had fallen to 66,649,000 on January 1, 1921, a decline of over 10 per cent in the two years following the close of the war, during which the number of had made it highest record, the actual decline in the number of swine being nearly 8,000,000. Cattle, other than those kept for dairy purposes, also show a big fall off, dropping from 45,085,000 at the beginning of 1919 to 42,070,000 at the beginning of 1921, a decline of about 2 1-2 millions in number. Dairy animals, always in demand to meet the requirements of our domestic market and the growing demand from other parts of the world, show no marked fall off, the total number in January, 1921, being 23,321,000 against 23,475,000 at the beginning of 1919. Sheep, whose value is determined in part by their food qualities, and in part by the prices of wool, show a startling fall off from 48,866,000 at the beginning of 1919 to 45,067,000 at the beginning of 1921, an actual decline of 3,800,000. Horses on farms, which were greatly in demand from Europe down to the closing year of the war, but which were being displaced at home in an appreciable extent by the increased use of the automobile, road tractor and farm machinery operated by the eternal combustion engine, dropped from the high water mark of 21,555,000 in 1918 to 20,183,000 at the beginning of 1921, through the number of mules show no marked change.

The appointment of Haywood Dall as chairman of the Pitt county High way commission will be received with pleasure in every section of the county as it is realized that he believes hard surfaced roads are essential to prosperity of every community expecting to keep pace with progress. Mr. Dall has been an untiring advocate of better roads for years, and it is a safe bet that his administration will witness continued activity in road construction. At the present time Pitt county has under construction two hard surfaced thoroughfares which, when connected, will link all principal towns with other sections of the state, and place the county in position to go forward as it has never done before. Mr. Dall realizes advantages to be derived from this development, and probably will have progressive plans to place before the county commissioners from time to time. His selection is timely, and if people co-operate the future is considerably brighter than in years.

Josephus Daniels received a hearty welcome following his return to Raleigh. That's exactly what he deserved for he has done more to make the state famous than any one man. The large daillies called him the country editor from North Carolina, when he first entered the cabinet, but he has long since lived down the slight slur and ranks first with American statesmen. The state has something to be proud of, and should not forget the wonderful services performed under conditions such as the world probably will never experience again. If the country had a few more country bred editors of his type civilization would be much better off in many ways.

Germany may feel safe in calling upon its people to have faith that a government will not rest until foreign tyrants yield to our rights, but it must be remembered that the Allies are human and liable to lose patience. The Hun has subjected every power to the most trying conditions in history, and if they get by this time without receiving punishment for the crime against civilization, then they are good ones, that's all there is to it.

President Harding declares that he is in favor of helping the down and out citizens of the country. As there are millions in this section of the country who need first aid here where cotton and tobacco farmers are suffering from the general slump in prices. There is plenty room for earing for the down and out as the president may learn before his administration comes to an end.

BIRTH DAY PARTY

Miss Mary Dorca Harding, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Harding delightfully entertained a large number of her friends at a beautiful party yesterday, the occasion being in honor of her fourth birthday.

The home was beautifully decorated with the color scheme of pink and spring flowers were in evidence every where. Upon arrival the guests were welcomed by the little hostess and invited out on the lawn where they played several interesting games. After the games they were invited into the dining room. The decorations in this room were pink and white hyacinths, daffodils and pink and white candles placed at different places on the table and around the room. The birthday cake with its four candles was arranged in the center of the table. After being served an ice cream course in pink and white, the little guests returned to the lawn where, after playing more games, they were served all kinds of candies.

Little Miss Harding proved an ideal hostess and was the receipt of many beautiful presents.

BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Louis Gaylord was hostess to her bridge club yesterday afternoon. The house was decorated with spring flowers, and the tables, for the games were arranged in the library. Mrs. Tom Galbreath, of Kinston, was presented the guest of honor's prize a pair of pillow slips. The members of the club cut for the consolation prize, and Mrs. L. H. Bowling, being the successful contestant was awarded a cuteset. Mrs. Tom Galbreath, of Kinston and Mesdames Carey Warren, Roy Batehlor, R. L. Hodges, and Ceber King, were guests of the club.

WAKE FOREST ALUMNI MEET HERE TONIGHT

The Alumni and former students of Wake Forest college will assemble tomorrow night at seven o'clock in the Rotary club building for a light supper and a talk fest. The Alumni secretary T. D. Collins, will be present. He comes fresh from the college campus and will be able to tell the boys the latest happenings on the Hill. The tax is 50c. But the supper will be worth more than that and the reminiscences will be beyond price. Every former student is urged to be present. One of the trustees of the college, Prof. C. W. Wilson, is among this number.

NEW YORK CLOWN TO BE AT TRAINING SCHOOL

Happy, a jolly clown from New York City is coming to the Training School next Monday evening and at eight o'clock, sharp will begin the fun for the children, as well as grown folks and happy will entertain them with his tricks. The Senior class of the Training school found they could get Happy to come and felt they couldn't afford to miss this chance to furnish fun for the little folks as well as big. As they have to pay him enough to meet his expenses, they are going to charge 25 cents, but it is as much fun as a whole week of movies run into one.

LITTLE PETER PRONOUNCED CHAMPION WINNING TROTTER OF NORTHERN TRACT

 the racing of the horses were proven logical. Coming north short of fast miles, yet in splendid physical order the three week campaign without a demand for their limit fitted the members of the stable for their best efforts. Never before had the Smith and Dall combination made a start on the Grand Circuit, but in this, their first and only test in competition with the elite, the southern stable came out with flying colors. Little Peter, in particular, showing himself a very fast, perfectly mannered and high class racing stallion.

Our issue of July 8, reference to the 2:22 trots, reported these races as follows.

Early in the morning the crowd commenced to gather at the track, and just at the noon hour the first division of the 2:22 class trotters was given the word. Hebelwyn, the Geers entry, was a top heavy favorite, closing at $100 to $45 over the field, while ultimate winner sold for $10 and $15 in pools running 150 and more. When the word was given, Dottie Day was on the run and never had a chance. Kilo Watts assumed an early lead, followed by Dr. Coffman, Little Peter and the balance. Near the three-quarter Geers had moved up in second position and as the turn for home was made the bunch spread out and started for the pay station at top-speed. Berry, with Little Peter, was third when the lane was reached, but evidently thinking that in time an opening would be made along the rail, the North Carolina stallion was hustled along in this position at top speed, and toward the end of the journey he secured the desired advantage and won in 2:07 1/4 a performance which surprised even his fondest admirers. In the second Little Peter led until the quarter, then Berry let Kilo Watts face the strong wind, dropping in behind. This ideal position he held until the stretch was reached, and then Berry the distinction of winning the Another sparkling fight was developed with honors again going to Little Peter with Dr. Coffman a close second and Hebelwyn a bang up third time 2:08 1/2. In the final Little Peter won comfortably in 2:11 3/4 gaining for Tommy first race of the 1920 Grand Circuit season.

In the fall the southern contingent of the Smith and Dall stable joined with the northern lot and raced with marked success at the various North Carolina Fairs, frequently getting several divisions of the purse in a single race, and in that section Mr. Dall, who is acknowledged to be a very capable reinsman, piloted several of the members of the stable. The combination appearing weekly down in their home state consisted of Little Peter, 2:07 1/2, Bondale, 2:11 3/4, Susan Boyd 2:13 1/4, Tony Mac 2:13 1/2, Lady Strathmore 2:14 1/4, Libretta Clay 2:17 1/4 and many others will be added to the stable before the 1921 season is on, and the Greenville, N. C. gentlemen may again decide to race several of their best prospects in the North, as both Mr. Smith and Dall made many friends during their sojourn in this locality and are certain of a glad welcome by the track managers and the regular campaigners. One performer which they hold highly, and regard as a likely candidate for one half mile track stake is the Sabina, O. bred pacer Tony Mac 2:13 1/2, which they purchased in the spring of 1920. This gelding was raced along carefully and showed a lot of speed, proof of which is furnished by his race at Raleigh, N. C. where he was second to dainty Little Lizzie March 2:02 1/4 each heat in 2:00 3/4 and 2:08, the final heat establishing a new record for that particular tract and also a new one for the entire state.

Smith and Dall are business men of large affairs, the racing of trotters and pacers being their chief diversion, and that they are patrons of great worth and credit to our state can be readily appreciated by those who have had the pleasure of their acquaintance. In order to benefit the industry in their particular city and state, they expended fully $50,000 in building the local tract and fair ground, and meetings are staged there at intervals throughout the year. W. H. Dall is interested in numerous enterprises, being distributor in North Carolina for the Willys-Overland Company, Toledo, O., and selling over two and a half million dollars worth of their cars the past year alone; in addition he has 1,000 acres of land devoted to the production of cotton, tobacco, corn, etc.; his brick plant turns out an average of 20,000 a day; and he is interested in other lines as well. R. L. Smith has for a quarter of a century been one of the foremost dealers in horses and mules in the South; has 5000 acres of farming land, cultivating 1000 acres in corn, 600 in tobacco and 750 in cotton the past season; and like Mr. Dall he has other large interests.

The achievement of their stable in 1920, both in the North and in the South, were most gratifying to both gentlemen, and they believe that much of the success attained should be attributed in the manner in which they were conditioned by Al Roberts, the young man who had charge of the majority of them, and J. W. Johnson, who gave his personal attention to Libretta Clay, Tony Mac and Golden Heart.

THREE DEEDS TRANSFER FILED SINCE YESTERDAY

The following deeds of transfer have been filed in the office of the register of deeds for registration since reports of yesterday afternoon. Josephus Cox to Della Cox, consideration $10; D. D. Overton and wife to Augusta Clark, consideration $800; Delphia Wooten to Edward White et al, consideration $250.

ONE MARRIAGE LICENSE ISSUED SINCE YESTERDAY

The following marriage license has been issued by the register of deeds since reports of yesterday afternoon: Buck Shirley to Jane Joyner, both of Farmville community.

The plow has been the busiest implement during the last few pretty days and much bround was broken for planting.

The pretty weather yesterday led some of the fishers to try the river and some fairly good catches were made for so early in the season.

Young's anniversary drew a large crowd today and those who tried a slice of the big birthday cake found it fine.
