WILLARD & SMITH IN BETTER SHAPE THAN INDICATED

Sensational Pink Hill Bank Deficit Explained In Absence of Cashier Off Looking After Business

Kinston, Mar. 11.—Since sensational reports of Saturday in reference to the affairs of the Willard and Smith Co., and the bank of Pink Hill, the atmosphere is being cleared and the businesses are believed to be in better condition than reported.

It seems that officers of the Willard and Smith Co., realize something had to be done to protect their stockholders and creditors of the concern and applied for a receivership from Judge O. H. Allen. It was believed that thus the business could be saved and all parties protected. The brother of G. S. Willard was appointed receiver by Judge Allen, but this didn't satisfy all parties. Whether from selfish motives or not, certain parties applied for a change of receivers. Without notice to the proper parties to appear before the court another receiver was named and the brother of Mr. Willard was removed by Judge Allen. The parties asking for the change agreed with the court that W. D. Hood should be substituted.

Mr. Hood went to Greenville Tuesday morning to take charge of the Willard and Smith store there only to find that the parties who first applied for a receiver had applied before Judge Bond and obtained an injunction against Mr. Hood's acting.

This is said to have been done because no notice had been secured, as cause why he should not be removed. As the matter now stands Mr. Willard is receiver and Mr. Hood is prevented from acting through the injunction of Judge Bond.

It is understood that the officers of the Willard and Smith Company contended that they have been unable to realize on their assets fast enough to meet the demands of their creditors; but that their affairs are in no ways dissimilar to that of any other firms, that their move for receivership was intended to meet their indebtedness. Also they claim that had not persons described by them as wreckers, started gossip resulting in litigation they would have been able to save the business and paid all stockholders and creditors in full.

It is said that G. S. Willard, the bank cashier, is not in hiding but is aiding and arranging the affairs of the bank and the Willard and Smith Co., that neither he nor the Willard and Smith Co., had obtained any funds from the bank of Pink Hill without full collateral and that in the end both institutions will be saved if selfish interest will allow such.

Much sympathy is expressed, for Mr. Willard and his many friends believe he has done nothing unlawful on handling either institutions.

HOUSE OF GRITTS REGAINS HERITAGE IN LAST ELECTION

Long Line of Illustrious Cherokee Statesmen Sustain in Recent Election of Levi Gritts as Tribe Head

Tahlequah, Okla. Mar. 11.—The House of Gritts regained the heritage brought down a long link of illustrious Cherokee statesmen when the remnants of the Cherokee Indian tribe met here and elected Levi Gritts chief of the Cherokee nation in what was formerly the senate chamber of the Cherokee nation where his father led many storring debates. Levi Gritts was pronounced the tribes new leader.

Bud Gritts, his grandfather was a captain in the Civil War, and later was first chief of the Kee Too Wahs, the most powerful tribe of the Cherokee nation. Daniel Gritts, and uncle was a delegate of the Senator Robert L. Owen before the Indian payment, upon whose death Chief Levi Gritts succeeded as delegate to Washington.

The new chief is 47 years old, a full blood Cherokee and a graduate of the Bacone Indian University of Muskogee and the Tahlequah Male Seminary at Tahlequah. Chief Gritts is now in Washington in the interests of his tribe. Numbered among several important missions which he will attempt to secure is the passage of the Five Civilized Tribes of Oklahoma.

The Kee Too Wahs society was founded in 1858 upon a constitution written by Chief Levi's Uncle after the dissolution of the Indian government. The society was incorporated under the laws of the United States with the announced purpose of promoting the Educational, religious and social welfare of the tribe.

Senator Owen became affiliated with the society he was chosen to represent the tribe in the collection of immigrant claims. The society opposed the Indian allotment and filed a protest with the government that the Indians were standing on an old treaty. The society is composed of between 8,000 and 10,000 full blood Cherokees.

AMERICA SPENDS LARGE SUMS FOR JAPANESE FIDDLE

Report From Consul Hawley Says Country Has Spent Over Quarter Million for Jazz Music

Washington, Mar. 11.—Jazz music in this country being extracted from Japanese made fiddles. A report from Consul Hawley, at Nagoya, Japan says a quarter of million dollars worth of Japanese fiddles were bought by the United States in 1919, this country taking the great bulk of the product of this new industry built up in Japan since the world war broke up Germany's business.

Three factories in Nagoya produce all the violins made in Japan. They were founded by Masakichi Suzuki who made his first fiddle. Consul Hawley says, in 1888 using as a model a foreign instrument brought to Nagoya as a curiosity. The enterprise had a total value of $24,419, but had spread out to three factories employing 1,000 people in 1919 when the output reached 530,440 of which $308,401 went in export, the United States taking 68 per cent. The first six months of 1920 saw the plants develop a business aggregating $304,143.

Germany's former place as fiddle maker at large to the world has been captured, the control indicates, and adds.

Mr. Suzuki believes that the Germans cannot manufacture instruments at Japanese costs, and that the instruments of Japanese manufacture having proved their quality, in spite of prejudices which were at first entertained abroad and have now established themselves so firmly in foreign markets and especially in the United States, that they can not be displaced.

PROFESSOR PUTS LITTLE FAITH IN FIRST SIGHT LOVE

Dr. Britan, Philosopher at Bates College, Maine Gives Whys and Wherefores of Falling in Love

Lewiston, Me., Mar. 11.—The whys and wherefores of falling in love, as explained by Dr. Halbert H. Britan, professor of philosophy to students of Bates College are quite simple.

The principal reason why people fall in love is because they are so constituted, both physically and mentally, that it is the normal and natural thing to do, he said. There are two aspects to the question the natural susceptibility of the individual and the stimulus that calls forth the mental reaction.

Awakening of true affection is compared in this professor's love story to the preparing and combustion of high power explosives. In love, nature has prepared the elements, combined them through countless years, and guarantees the result when some vision of loveliness some heroine deed or even some insignificant word or act unlocks the stored up energy of the emotional life.

There is not one, single formula for arousing love. Just as anger or fear, for example, may excite by a wide variety of circumstances and conditions so love is capable of being awakened by stimuli equally diverse. A beautiful face by no means has the power often assigned to it. It is by no means indispensable nor does it add noticeably to the intensity of the affection felt for its owner. If man beauty is almost wholly subordinate to other attractions.

As a summary of the general signs of susceptibility in love Dr. Britan said after twenty incidental remarks will hardly serve to focus attention and to awaken interest; after thirty the sediment of prolonged experience has settled over the instinct and often so solidified that toy tools will seldom suffice to break through to the emotion bearing Paleosolic stratum of human nature.

GOOD ROAD BONDS TO BE ADVERTISED AND SOLD IN APRIL

Commissioners Fail to Accept Single Bid Presented in Special Session Here This Morning

The board of county commissioners met in special session in this city today to consider competitive bids for the sale of $500,000 in bonds for continued construction of hard surfaced roads but owing to the low figures presented by the company which the board had been in touch with for sometime nothing of any definite nature was accomplished. The entire session with the exception of one or two matters of minor importance.

Immediately following refusal of the single offer for purchasing the bonds, the board decided that it would be advisable to advertise the sale, and set the date for receiving bids for the first Monday in April. It was believed by that time all bonding companies desiring to float any issue of the kind would be in readiness, and that bids received prior to that time could be given greater consideration.

Funds derived from sale of the bonds will be expended in continuing construction work on the hard surfaced roads between this city and Farmville and to the Lenoir county line. This work has been under way for several weeks and the commissioners are in hope of rushing it to completion at the earliest date possible. A decreased cost of labor and material caused the commissioners to believe that now is the time to complete as much work as possible, and there is every prospect of success in event nothing brings about delay.

Dr. Clarence Poe To Open Marketing Campaign Here Next Monday At 1 O'clock

REV. J. J. MUIR

Rev. J. J. Muir, D. D., pastor of the Temple Baptist church of Washington, who has been elected chaplain of the United States senate to succeed Rev. Forest J. Prettyman, who resigned to accept a pastorate at Knoxville, Tenn. Doctor Muir went to Washington in 1889.

FRENCH INDICATES CONSERVATISM IN WOMEN'S DRESSES

Return to Conservative Styles Noticeable in Advance Displays for Spring and Summer

Paris, Feb. 21.—A return to conservatism in woman's dress is indicated in advance displays for Spring and Summer now being held in Paris. Several hundred American buyers who have arrived for the seasonal fashion shows are more pleased than they have been since the armistice because of the ease with which the new models can be adapted to American taste.

The Paris dressmakers continue to show extreme effects in afternoon and evening wear, but the majority of the gowns reflect a return to sanity in dress. Such is the view of American buyers. Buying, however, is restricted because of the general depression in the United States. The business lull in America has led to purchase of the most quiet models, the theory being that American women during the coming season will buy only simple things which can be worn on many occasions.

The season is only half finished, but a general indication has already been given of the changes. One of the most noticeable innovations in the lengthening of skirts at least one inch. French dressmakers admit that this is a recognition of American taste which has resented the extremely short skirts since it was introduced.

Bucks are still bare. This the dress makers have refused to alter. American buyers are purchasing these bare-back models with a view to rigidly modifying them in America.

While the new gowns are less radical, buyers say they continue to be complicated and expensive. With the reappearance of dyes of a pre-war standard, color dominates all gowns. The material may be a simple but gold and silver and blue and pink trimmings are combined to make it attractive. As one buyer described it, modern simplicity implies expense, old fashioned simplicity dullness.

Prices continue high. Dressmakers justify them by pointing to the artistry involved in their creations and also to the fact that materials used were purchased at top prices.

Editor of Progressive Farmer Accepts Invitation to Help Pitt County Get Started Off in Campaign

CANVASSING FORCES TO SOLICIT SUBSCRIBERS IN OTHER PARTS COUNTY

Secretary Pace Urges Business Men and Farmers to Attend Meetings and Prepare for the Future

W. B. Pace, secretary of the county branch of the North Carolina Tobacco Growers Association this morning received a telegram from Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, Raleigh, stating that he will be here to speak at the opening of the co-operative marketing plan campaign at the court house in this city Monday, at 1 o'clock. This information will be of interest to the planters and business men in this section of state because Dr. Poe is well known, considered authority on practically every problem confronting the American farmer today.

The co-operative marketing plan is generally accepted as the most direct means of definitely settling one of the greatest problems in many years, and if Pitt county farmers sign to adopt such measures as set forth by the state organization there is little doubt but that the future will be considerably better than ever before. Dr. Poe several months ago visited foreign countries where the marketing plan was first introduced, and had an opportunity of familiarizing himself with practically every feature. He found the plan to be exactly what the American planter needed to make the industry more prosperous and important and secured all information available from the farm to the market.

The campaign which has been in progress in other sections of the state for several weeks will begin in Greenville with the meeting Monday and after that canvassing forces will visit other sections in an effort to get people interested and secure their subscriptions. The schedule so far completed carries the committee to Arthur next Monday night, Falkland Tuesday night, Fountain Wednesday, Bethel Thursday and Ayden Friday.

Mr. Pace declared this morning that it is absolutely essential that as many business men as possible attend the meeting here Monday and become acquainted with facts to be presented by Dr. Poe, as they not only concern the farmer but every person interested in development of the farming industry. The slump in price for farm prices has placed the farmer in one of the most unusual and deplorable situations in several years, and unless some definite action is taken to provide better marketing facilities tobacco and cotton crops are faced by probably ruinous.

It is highly important that acreage be curtailed this year in both crops, and this makes it very necessary for some definite way of marketing in which every business man, banker and farmer is interested. Organization is realized as the most direct way of reaching this end, and with the co-operative marketing plan functioning it is believed the future will be much brighter than some at this time anticipated.

IN DEBT AND OUT

The man in debt must bow to the leader. The ring of the door bell makes him nervous. He is often imposed upon by the loan shark. The man with a good saving account and with money properly invested is self-reliant. He knows the welfare of his family is not in jeopardy. He is dependent because he has learned how to save money.

Hardings hobby may be to help the down and out at this time, but in the course of several months he may feel like kicking em down and out.

Germany may not be able to pay should have been considered before the war. It might at least have caused the kaiser to consider the matter before trying to lick the world.

American troops along the Rhine are standing pat so late reports from Germany indicate. So long as they remain that way the Allies need not fear any truculent attitude.

Mr. Flanagan proposes H. A. White as the next mayor of Greenville. He would make a mighty faithful official and carry out efficiency to the very highest degree.

Durham women want to vote on the proposed city charter. That's all right if they failed to learn enough about politics in the presidential election. Maybe experience will come in getting the charter.

Calcutta is said to be the greatest rat exchange in the world. Probably officials have heard of Kingston, North Carolina where it is said school children caught and killed enough rodents in a week to supply the world market for several months.

The legislature of New York is considering the use of an electric score board for registration votes. The North Carolina body might find it advisable to do the same thing if it is going to help keep tab on the vote of isolated communities.

The entrance of British war tanks into Germany territory has aroused interest of the populace. So long as the tanks remain inactive they are mighty appealing to the curious, but when they get on the war path admirers had better remain at a distance or hunt some hole of refuge.

Continued reduction in the price of gasoline and automobiles causes one more traveling by cars than ever before. People plead hard times, but they never become so hard pressed that an automobile ride will be neglected. This is one of the greatest failures of the American people, but still a mighty good thing for industry.

It is said that paper made from wood waste in veneer factories is possible. That sounds mighty good to newspapers that were affected by the newsprint shortage several months ago although the new discovery only applies to better grade paper. Increased paper supply of any kind will be gratifying to publishers in many localities who had hard times securing enough to print on one time while the shortage existed.

NEGLECTING THE BOOTLEGGER

Legislation which the General Assembly was asked to consider but did not pass was that looking to more determined action against the bootlegging element that is working such great injury in many parts of the state. Of the many sweeping recommendations which Governor Morrison presented to the body there was probably none more important than his request for measures reducing the wave of criminality which has been sweeping over the state in various forms for months, corrupting youth and depriving young manhood of the high purpose that has dominated American life in the past.

Neglecting to deal with the illicit whiskey traffic is like mending up a fence in one place and leaving another section down purposely. The demoralizing forces have watched every loophole for continued activities since prohibition became effective, and failure of the Legislature to provide some definite way of dealing with the situation only intensifies the possibility of extended operations. It is a pity so much good legislation should have been passed with this most important matter being neglected, for it leaves a way open by which bootlegging may be continued uninterruptedly for months without various communities finding any definite way of reducing the enormity of the crime.

The situation vitally affects every person realizing the danger of such surreptitious operations, and it is up to forward looking citizens to concentrate every force to combat movements on a more extensive scale.

BETTER FARMING URGENT

W. B. Pace, farm demonstration agent of Pitt county has been giving the farmers some mighty good advice through the columns of this paper for the past several weeks, and those who fail to read and go according to plans carefully outlined for their benefit will be the ones who fail to gain results of his experience. There must be greater diversification this year than ever before owing to reduction of cotton and tobacco acreage, and the farmer that plants normal acreage expecting to gain an advantage over his neighbor will be the one to fail in the long run. Contested conditions and lack of demand for both products makes it very necessary that acreage be curtailed, and unless this is done the farming industry in this part of the country will be ruined for years to come. The situation has not been summed up hastily by leading planters and business men, and if the year is to be at all successful surplus acreage must be planted in food crops and smokehouses packed as tight as possible. Higher prices for tobacco and cotton cannot be expected under existing conditions, and about the only thing to do is to plant less and produce better grades of both products. This at least will give the market a chance of recovering, and eventually things will be back to normal.

The state committee for China famine relief seems to be making gratifying progress at this time. Reports received from various communities indicate that people are responding to the call for aid in a pleasing way and give promise of passing the apportionment within a considerably shorter time than at first anticipated. The issue is one of the most deserving American have had an opportunity of giving to in many months, and if they should fail in reaching the goal set by the National Committee this would be one of the greatest misfortunes of the campaign. It is a worthy cause which every person is being given a chance of doing their part by, and those who fail are among those lagging behind in helping keep civilization on a proper plane.

The county commissioners might do well to make some provisions for improving the appearance of the court house lawn as proposed and agreed upon several months ago. Proposed plans provided for lowering of pavement on both sidewalks and rolling the lawn down on a level with the pavement. This would be a great improvement and cause people to be more impressed with the imposing court house building.

Reparations demanded of Germany by the Allies may sound mighty big to people not accustomed to figures, but when considering the number of American boys who paid the supreme sacrifice it doesn't seem to be so enormous at all. There is no use of parleying over the matter, Germany won't be any better off by waiting, and about the only thing for the Allies to do is to get busy and collect what they can and close the deal.

And the hardest of labor can never be hard;

With no other goal but the work pursuing.

Let the right hand work and the left not annoy.

And the latter shall gather the golden grain.

A FREDERICKSBURG MAN PRAISES DRECO

Claims The Stiffness in His Fingers And Hands is Better, Bachache Relieved, Dizzy Spells Gone... All Credit to Dreco.

"I had rheumatism all over my fingers and hands were getting stiff and my back ached all the time," stated Mr. J. H. Garnette, a well known farmer living at Massaponax, near Fredericksburg, Va.

"My stomach was in bad condition and some of the rheumatism medicine was so strong, kept my stomach torn up all the time. Gas filled me up and I'd belch up hot, sour water, my bowels were constipated so I had to take pills nearly every night.

"I kept hearing about Dreco and what good it was doing so I got a bottle and it sure has helped me. All the pain and stiffness has gone from my hands, my muscles are supple, can bend and stoop without a pain in my back, all that gas and belching has been relieved and my bowels act regular without taking medicine. I feel much better and give all credit to Dreco."

It is good substantial folks that are endorsing Dreco. That is why the sale is so enormous. Dreco is an article of real merit that acts on the vital organs and restores them to full action.

Dreco is being specially introduced by Warren Drug Co. in Greenville and sold by all druggists.
