

MARKETING PLAN IS EXPLAINED TO BELVOIR FARMERS

Campaign Carried Into District Last Night With Gratifying Results; Good Crowd Present

CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE LIMITED AS EXTENSION AGENTS DIDN'T APPEAR

O. F. McCrary, District Demonstration Agent Outlines Plans of the Association

Principles embodied by the co-operative marketing contract were explained in a comprehensive way by members of the campaign committee to a pretty fair crowd of farmers and business men at Bell's Cross Roads last night. The meeting was conducted out in the open air in front of Little's store, and proved decidedly one of the most enthusiastic and promising of any since the campaign began several days ago.

Members of the campaign committee were keenly disappointed yesterday morning in receipt of a telegram from A. W. Swain, secretary of the State branch of the American Cotton association, stating that it will be impossible for him to render any assistance in the campaign owing to illness. Added to this members from the Extension department also failed to appear, and as a consequence it is evident canvassing will be conducted entirely by those who spread information of the marketing plan in many parts of the county last week. However, activity is going to be handicapped considerably, and unless aid is secured from some other source the committee will be several weeks in finally completing its work.

The meeting last night was held first in the Belvoir district, but it was evident the plan had been explained to its citizens before as they were in readiness to accept the issue, and promised to do every thing possible in making it as great a success as in other localities already visited. O. F. McCrary, of Washington, district demonstration agent and W. R. Pace, county demonstrator agent, were principle speakers of the evening, and told in a convincing way just why it is necessary for Pitt county to become an active member of the proposed association.

Mr. McCrary enumerated objects of the contract, declaring it the only definite way by which the American farmer may expect to recover from conditions created by slumping prices during the year. He said other sections had found it advisable in many different ways, and has made it applicable to all principal crops, particularly those in constant demand by foreign markets. It's the only definite way cotton and tobacco may be saved from low prices in the future, because it supplants the old dumping process with principles that will endure constant attract from opposing sources.

Conditions in Pitt county for the past year have been applying. Mr. McCrary declared unless some practical means of marketing cotton and tobacco crops is decided upon the planter can hope for no improvement over present conditions in the future. It has been proved beyond doubt that both crops are at the mercy of a treacherous market and unprincipled speculators, and they will continue to dominate unless an extensive program is instituted against it. Co-operative marketing eliminates uncertainty as to market conditions. When the farmer places his product for sale it is handled by men fully informed as to national and world conditions, and by controlling the market they will be enabled to demand prices far superior to those inevitably forced upon the farmer because of his helpless conditions.

Mr. Pace said it is absolutely necessary that fifty percent of farmers and business men sign the contract because only through that way will the association be made possible. He explained the limited forces of the campaign committee and urged every man to do his part in signing up the contract.

WEST GREENVILLE PRAYER MEETING TO BE HELD WED.

CREDITORS WILL PETITION COURTS TO CHANGE ACTION

Willard & Smith Creditors At Meeting Decided to Turn Business Back to Members of Firm

At a meeting of the creditors of the Willard & Smith Co. Inc., conducted at the Farmers Bank building in this city today, it was mutually agreed to petition the court to discharge the receiver and turn back the business into hands of members of the corporation.

The meeting was well attended by a major part of creditors, and affairs of the institution discussed at length. After practically every issue had been given deserving consideration plans were outlined for re-opening of all nine stores which are located in this section of the state. Examination of the financial condition of the business showed the assets to be $378,000 and the liabilities $270,000. This report was received with general favor by practically every firm represented, and relieved all uncertainty as to exact conditions of the concern.

Immediately after the court acts upon the petition the business will be turned back into hands of members of the corporation and stores will be permitted to reopen and continue operations under directions of an advisory committee composed of three creditors and auditor. The committee is formulating plans and preparing statements this afternoon to present to the court at its opening session tomorrow morning, and it is expected immediate action will follow.

The advisory committee will direct affairs of the concern until it is deemed necessary to discontinue its operations, but this will not be before. It has undergone an improvement financially, and capable of discharging its indebtedness. The auditor will keep careful check on all stores and at the expiration of every three months present a report of conditions to all creditors desiring same.

This new turn in affairs of the company will be received with general favor in this section of the state, as it was forced into hands of a receiver merely to protect its creditors and avoid impending bankruptcy. The lenient attitude of creditors it is generally conceded is going to be instrumental in avoiding any further trouble and place the concern on a sure road to permanent recovery.

Two Cases Heard In County Court Monday

Two Defendants Charged With Assault With Deadly Weapon and Carrying Concealed Weapon Fined

Two cases were disposed of in the regular Monday morning session of county court in this city yesterday morning. The court held forth in the jury room owing to convening of civil superior court and as a consequence short work was made of the few cases appearing for consideration. Judge Cooper presided, and as usual succeeded in carrying a reign of terror into the hearts of many offenders of the law.

Herbert Hemby, charged with assault with deadly weapon, was fined $25 and costs. Evidence produced in the case tended to strengthen that already in hands of the state, and in consequence the defendant had no show of establishing a plea of not guilty.

Olle Andrews, recently indicted for carrying a concealed weapon, was fined $50 and costs. Evidence presented in this case also proved beyond doubt that the defendant was guilty of the charge, and short work was made of the case.

WOMEN FIGHT FOR POLITICAL RIGHTS IN JAPANESE CITY

Movement to Give Women Right to Attend Political Meetings Gains Proportion in Many Places

Tokio, Mar. 22.—Commenting on the movement to give women the right to attend political meetings the Yorodzu says it has been frequently asked how long the Japanese are going to treat half heartedly those questions having for their object the elevation of the social and political position of women. There are some who argue that the enfranchisement of women in Japan is premature, considering that even manhood suffrage has not become an accomplished fact.

It should be remembered however, that the withholding of manhood suffrage is as unreasonable as denying it to women.

The newspaper continues: There are a large number of women in this country who as the heads of business houses employ many men and women and pay a large share of taxes; but suffrage is withheld from them simply because they are women. This is especially unfair in a country like Japan, where the qualifications of voters are determined by the amount of taxes paid.

That all the bills regarding women meet with indifferent treatment in the Diet, must be due to the fact that the majority of cases men are inclined to maltreat women, and judging from the prevailing state of affairs, the emancipation of women in Japan seems to be still a long way off.

But it should be observed that the enfranchisement of women will elevate the moral position of men and will result in great benefit to the country. The Japanese should understand that the real progress of civilization can only be possible by the uplifting of the position of women. The time is long past when women can be regarded as little better than slaves.

DECLARES WAR ON DOPE SELLERS IN NEW YORK REGION

Police Commissioner Simon to Wage Virtual Warfare Against Illicit Drug Sellers in Metropolis

New York, Mar. 22.—Claiming virtually to have broken the back of the illicit drug trade in New York City, in a four months drive, Police commissioner Carleton Simon today declared war on an international ring which he charges is responsible for illegal distribution of dope throughout the United States.

In the anti-narcotic drive here more than 1,000 arrests have been made and millions of dollars worth of drugs seized.

Although the illegal drug trade has been broken Dr. Simon asserted the work of his bureau is not only to continue here but is to be enlarged to meet the problems in other cities in America and abroad.

By means of an international bureau of criminal records now being established, all data concerning drug crooks is to be ready for cities where leads pointing to New York might be uncovered, the commissioner said. Recently he added, Antwerp police and requested information concerning an alleged leader of the international ring. It was shown by means of information furnished by New York that the man had police records in London, Paris, Brussels, and New Orleans and had served prison sentences at various places aggregating 20 years.

We made more arrests these past four months than in any 24 months heretofore, said Dr. Simon, who was elected to direct the drive because of his medical training. Every wing of the metropolitan police department was coordinated, working in conjunction with the Federal agents. In consequence the fears has been spread thru the army of vendors.

SPLENDID CROWD ATTEND SERVICES AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Splendid Sermons and Good Singing Attracts Large Crowds at the Memorial Baptist Church

Rev. Leland Smith who is conducting revival services in the Memorial Baptist church preached a splendid sermon last night on the subject, "What must I do to be Saved?" The entire sermon was based on the account of the conversion of the jailor and his family, when he asked Paul, "What must I do to be saved?" and Paul's reply, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." Rev. Smith developed his subject from three points, "The need of salvation, The Desire for salvation, and the Willingness to become a Christian. These points were all brought together and the climax was reached with the one small word, "Believe." We all sin," declared Mr. Smith and at this point he quoted several passages showing that we sin and fall far short from what God wants us to be. "The Greatest Sin" he stated is to disobey the Greatest commandment, "Thou Shalt Love the Lord thy God, with all thy heart, all thy soul, and all thy mind." All other sin comes as a result in failure to obey this great commandment. If we love God we desire to do right. The plan of salvation is easy, almost too easy, but so many people wait for God to save them in His own good time. Rev. Smith brought out the fact here that God is always ready, willing and all the time is His time. "Now is the accepted time."

This morning he spoke on "The Progress that Wins." A large crowd attended that service.

His subject to night will be "Heaven and Hell" a contrast.

The singing last night and this morning under the direction of Mr. Montgomery was a pleasing feature and especially the duet by Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery last evening.

The public is cordially invited to all the services.

CITY IN MIDST OF GREATEST BUILDING CAMPAIGN IN YEARS

Report of Building Inspector D. D. Overton Shows Remarkable Progress During the Past Month

Mr. D. D. Overton, chief of the fire department and building inspector, says that for the three weeks in March ending yesterday he issued more building permits than were issued during any three months of the past year. This is a good idea of Greenville's building activities at present. In almost every residential section of the town work is in progress or about to start on new dwelling houses, and there are on the way for even more buildings in the near future. It is a safe prediction that by next fall the shortage of houses prevailing here will be largely met. This bids fair to be Greenville's best home building year in a decade. It also means a large population, for when people know they can get houses to live in, something that was hard to find in recent years more of them will be coming this way.

JAPANESE PLANS LONG DEBATE ON ARMAMENT ISSUE

Accepts Challenge to Discuss Restricted Armaments in Public Debate

Tokio, March 22.—Representative Ykio Ozaki, ex-minister of justice, who has come into prominent anew because of his championing of restricted armaments debate on armaments issued by Professor Matsunami if the Imperial University, who recently returned from Manila where he delivered a series of lectures on jurisprudence.

Ozaki began with a brief review of the respective naval strengths of the United States and of Japan and in the course of his argument pointed out that, far more reducing the margin of superiority that the United States will only widen the advantage America already possesses.

Nothing can be more absurd, unless an unwise than for Japan to compete with America in armament building, declared Mr. Ozaki. As a matter of fact, the more Japan strives, the more she will suffer, for internal crises will then become severer. It is a lucky thing that, at this time, an American, Senator Borah, has attracted the attention of the world by his plea for cessation in the mad race for piling up armaments. If Japan takes advantage of the opportunity that presents itself here she will be saving herself from all the ills that will attend the building of huge armaments, ills which are inevitable if the naval race is to be run.

Three Cases Disposed Of in Superior Court

Opening Session of Civil Court Struck Snag Yesterday Afternoon in Land Controversy

The first day's session of civil term of Pitt county superior court convened in this city yesterday morning with Judge Lloyd Horton of Farmville, presiding. Only three cases were disposed of during the morning and evening session, including one divorce and two other civil issues. Each matter was handled expeditiously, but during the afternoon session a snag was struck in the case of R. L. Dudley vs. R. D. Harrington which will probably continue through today.

This case involves a dispute of drainage rights accorded the plaintiff in which he is suing the defendant for the sum of $500 a year for every year since 1911. It is contended that the defendant will not permit proper drainage through his lands from that of the plaintiff and has been instrumental in water backing up on the land and destroying valuable crops. When an effort was made to produce proper drainage, it is alleged Mr. Harrington interfered and turned the water back in its former course, overflowing the surrounding farm land and producing considerable damage. It is expected the case will consume the entire day, as it is hotly-contested and promises more than usual argument before being completed.

Absolute divorce was granted to Leon Patrick vs. Fannie Patrick on grounds of separation of ten years, the time required by the state before divorce becomes possible.

The case of A. L. Tucker vs. H. C. Venters was dismissed by consent after a compromise had been affected. The issue involved a controversy of a former account and promised to be hotly contested prior to compromise proceedings.

LOCAL ROTARIANS HOST TO LADIES HERE LAST NIGHT

Rotarians Entertain Better Halves and Prospective Better Halves With Fine Program

INTERESTING SPEECHES MADE BY GUESTS AND MEMBERS OF THE CLUB

Number of Entertaining Features Pled Off By Prominent "Nuts" During the Evening

It has been one of the aims of the Greenville Rotary Club to make every bi-weekly get together meeting better than anything that has preceded it. There have been all kinds of stunts and capers arranged by the energetic program committee so that the interest of every nut has been kept to the highest pitch of expectancy as to what was coming next. Heretofore there have been only stag affairs, while the cream of the populace the better-halves, sisters and sweet hearts stayed at home to be told when Jiggs got back what had happened or read about it next day in the papers. But last night the curtain was lifted and every bald headed, red headed, or whatever kind of headed nut was advised to take a Mrs. or a would-be Mrs. with him. By way of keeping tabs there were place cards every other one bearing the name of a Rotarian alternating with a Mrs. of the name. And it is a safe guess that there were no vacant seats.

Yes, last night was Ladies night at the Rotary home, and the meeting simply topped the peak of any that has gone before. The ladies came, they saw (and were seen), they conquered and that big bunch of nuts who had been priding themselves on being some talkers found that they were not in it a little bit with some of the fair guests last night.

Upon arrival of members and guests in the reception hall, while greetings were in progress various songs were sung. The ladies captured the honors in this also when a chorus of them, thinking it was time to eat brought down the house with Oh How Hungry we are, one of their own compositions. This was more than could be resisted, for before the last note of the song had died away the dining room doors swung open and all were invited to enter and find their own places.

By each plate were attractive souvenirs—pocket books, pencils and rolls of candy for the men and fancy boxes of salted nuts, trinkets boxes, pencils, tape measures and candy for the ladies. There were also handsome folder programs printed in Rotary colors. These told what was coming, for beside having printed thereon the songs to be used on this occasion there was a page reading like this:

Invocation—Cloddy Paulfeiter.
Address of welcome—Sam Underwood.

Response—Mrs. John Hassell.
Greenville Rotary club, what it has accomplished—Reddy Clark.
Rotary, what it means to the world—Bobbie Wright.

Septette—Sis Ellen, June Rose, Simon Warren, Chas. Porter, J. B. Kittrell, Sky Pilot, Paul Clodfeiter.

Boy's work—Sam Phillips.
What Rotary means to the ladies—Mrs. J. E. Winslow.

What Rotary means to the girl scouts—Miss Ernestine Forbes.
Humorous sketches of local Rotarians—Pinky Chester.

Miscellaneous.
Song—Till we meet again.
Toastmaster—Litty Sammie Underwood.

After the invocation President Underwood ordered all to remain standing until proper Rotary head gear had been distributed and doaned, as no one would be allowed to eat unless crowned with this top piece. These were fancy paper hats, those for the men being all sorts of curious shapes and colors, with the very newest of spring creations for the ladies. It was a gaily decked assemblage as finally seated to partake of a menu of surpassing elegance.
When full justice had been done the meal, which had numerous interrup-

Tuesday Afternoon, March 22

President Harding is the center of attraction in Washington these days, according to reports emanating from the section. But after the pie has been served things will change considerably.

A plebiscite is being held in Upper Silesia to ascertain whether the country is to be governed by Germany or Poland. It is a safe bet that people are doing more praying than voting in the hope of keeping out of Ger- many's grasp.

The Anti-saloon league is preparing to fight the recent ruling of Attorney General Palmer, holding that beer may be prescribed as a medicine, unless the decision is over-ruled. It is hardly probable anything serious would result from the decision, but so long as prohibition laws have been accepted by the country the lid should be closed down completely. If things are going to be wet, let 'em be that way, but if they are going to be dry, let every person see that they are dry as a desert.

Strict enforcement of the prohibition amendment is being demanded by peo- ple in a large part of North Carolina through resolutions asking for prison sentences to all violators of prohibition laws. This is a forward looking movement and ought to prove of great value, especially in districts where impotency of the law has re- sulted through carelessness. The time for determined action against the illicit whiskey traffic has come, and unless dry forces become more careful it will assume greater proportion in the near future.

Samuel Gompers has promised moral support of the American Federation of Labor to employes of five big pack- ers who are now on the verge of strik- ing against reduction of wages. If this is going to mean anything to do with preventing the packers from getting the price they will be received favorably, but if on the other hand it is a momentary attempt to stall the strike the workmen wont take kindly to it. Moral support is the word, for Mr. Gompers as all others realizes high prices must come down, and that there is little chance of help- ing the packers.

This week will bring to a close the campaign for signing up farmers of Pitt county as members of the proposed cooperative marketing association, and those interested ought to do everything possible in making the campaign worth while. It is necessary that fifty percent of the farmers of the State sign the contract before the association is made possible, and for that reason it is im- perative that business men and bankers assist so far as possible in helping in- crease the number. The co-operative marketing plan affects everyone, be- cause it helps stabilize business and produces better economic conditions. It opens up a way by which the farmer may sell his crop in an organized way and receive prices in proportion to the cost of production. That this will materially improve conditions is indis- putable. And in a short while the present period of depression will be forgotten. It's something absolutely necessary to future welfare of the farming industry, and it is convinc- ingly plain that its far superior to the old plan of dumping products on the mar- ket to receive any old price. There has never been a time when definite action is more essential, and unless the plant- er takes advantage of the situation he cannot expect to experience any im- provement in the future.

THE MEXICAN PROBLEM

What Position the Harding admin- istration is going to take toward Mexi- co is a matter of much contemplation in this country just at this time, and it is quite evident the public is going to have to wait awhile before being satisfied.

For a period of seven years Wood- row Wilson stood for absolute justice to the Mexican government, and did ev- erything in his power to produce bet- ter conditions. He gave its people every chance to gain control of affairs and in their own way work out plans suit- able to meet their own personal re- quirements. They were permitted to exploit to every advantage of the gov- ernment mineral wealth and resources, and as a consequence made progress that was gratifying from every stand point of view.

From the beginning of his admin- istration Mr. Wilson discouraged efforts of unprincipled American in gaining unfair control of Mexican properties and oil fields, and stood firmly for their protection as well as Americans who conducted legitimate business with the government. In this way he won the confidence and friendship of lead- ing business men and officials, and was enabled to handle every accentuated situation to the satisfaction of prac- tically every party involved.

The change of administration has naturally produced considerable uncer- tainty in Mexican official circles re- garding the future attitude of the United States, and much comment has oc- curred in leading newspapers of the country. An important paper has studied the situation thoroughly has the following to say regarding conditions: Mexico now has a government which seems to promise better things in the Otregon knows more of the United relation between the country and this. States than most Mexican statesmen, and appears to desire an improved ad- justment of our affairs.

In Charles E. Hughes we have a Secretary of State full of promise for a reign of firmness, intelligence and high ideals.

In Henry Fletcher, first assistant (or under) secretary, however we have one who committed to those policies which would make Mexico a field for ruthless and forcible expansion of American influence.

In Senator Fall, also in the cabinet, we have one who is a confirmed Mexi- can baiter. He has stood for the ag- gressive policies of Hearst, which if carried out, would send our soldiers into Mexico, and give us in Mexico all that England has in Ireland. In other words, war for generations, imperial- ism forever.

However, what men have said when out of power is often found not to be their guide when in power; but with Fletcher and Fall on the job, it will be well for the American people who hate aggression and who would rather see the Mexicans turbulent at their own expense than half quite at the expense of our own life and treasure. In other words, who believe that Hearst and other ranch owners and our soil copper people had better stand some of the grief they must have expected when they went into Mexico than to the nation. Hope lies in Mr. Hughes and the people rely on him to run his own Mexican policy and run it right.

The prospect for cotton and tobacco is not as good as it might be, but the man who has a large crop of vegetable bids fair to receive adequate compensa- tion for what he has produced. The demand for truck farming has never been greater than it is today and the farmer that reduces cotton and tobacco acreage and plants his surplus in truck crops is going to pass over the present period of depression easier than anti- cipated. The housewife is as anxious to purchase fresh vegetables as she ever has been. And the man who is more capable of supplying them now than he used to be ought to reap gratify- ing benefits. The State has for a long time needed diversification in farming, and if the present slump of cotton and tobacco is going to bring this about, the farmer will be done greater good than harm. Too much of any crop in- variably congests the market and when that occurs it is natural to expect low prices. Similar conditions have occurred in the past years, although it must be admitted the present decline came about quicker and more unex- pectedly. However, the lesson is one many growers have needed, and they ought to profit greatly by experien- ce in the future.

It is gratifying to note that Cum- berland county is organized to the gills for the co-operative marketing of cotton, for it indicates that farmers in that section as well as others believe that better marketing plans are more essential than any other one thing at this time. Principles embodied in the proposed marketing association are sound in every sense of the word, and provide the only definite way by which the North Carolina farmer is going to be able to recover from slumping prices. If the State organizes fifty per cent strong the organization will be possible, and the next year will witness co-operative marketing conduct- ed upon an extensive scale. It's the only way the situation may be improv- ed and the farmer who fails to do his part will suffer consequences of his folly much sooner than expected.

LOCAL ROTARIANS HOST TO LADIES HERE LAST NIGHT

tions for a song, the meeting was turned over to chairman Warren of the program committee, who had the program carried out as given above.

Prior to the closing song each member was handed a package with instructions to present it to the lady accompanying him, this to be done simultaneously with all presentation speeches going on at the same time so that every nut was so busy with his own that he could not hear what his neighbor was saying. These were boxes containing handsome brooches designed with the Rotary insignia and delighted the recipients.

J. B. Kittrell pulled off the nerve racking stunt of the evening (not down on the program) when in the midst of the supper he assumed to be checked on a chicken leg, or something, rushed out in the reception hall where he rolled over the floor in apparent conclusion with a number of his no on the game brethren running around yelling for a doctor. The patient was pulled through all right and when with a hand spring he bounded back to the middle of the dining room it could not be figured out who the joke fell on worse as the chagrined nuts returned to their places. It hardly needs to be added that the ladies enjoyed immensely this night in their honor and that they with one accord sing the praises of Greenville Rotary Club.

IT SEEMED LIKE NOTHING WOULD FIX MY STOMACH

This Man Suffered Intensely From Stomach Trouble, Had No Appetite, Slept Poor, Was Constipated and Very Nervous. Dreco Gave Complete Relief.

There are few body reconstructants which can equal the excellent reputation now being built up by Dreco, the great root and herb remedy. Hundreds of men and women right here in this section are giving daily testimony as to the wonderful results they have received by it's use in cases of stomach trouble, kidney, liver or bladder disorders, rheumatism, Catarrh, constipation as is shown by their own statements.

For the past 3 or 4 years I have been in mighty bad shape from stomach trouble which nothing seemed to reach, said Mr. Charles Stephens, Manager of Mr. J. T. Minor's farm, whose address is Sealston, Va., I got so I lost my appetite but what little I did eat soured and produced gas, bloating me up until I felt like I was going to burst.
My liver was sluggish and I was so bilious that I had a weak fainting feeling half the time. My bowels never moved unless I took strong purgatives and I became a bunch of nerves. I've taken one and a half bottles of Dreco now and feel like a different person. My stomach is in excellent condition; bowels act regular as clockwork and I sleep like a top. I want to say that everything claimed for Dreco is absolutely true and you'll make no mistake in trying it.

Dreco is being specially introduced by Warren Drug Company in Greenville and sold by all druggists.

HIGH SCHOOL HONOR ROLL FOR THE SIXTH MONTH

To be on the honor roll one must have a grade of 90 or more in each subject, a grade of 90 or more on conduct, no unexcused absences, and not more than two tardies for the month. The faculty would like very much to have this roll larger than to what it is. Parents and students let's make another effort to get more people on his roll. We can do it if we only put forth more work and leave off part of the outside attractions. The honor roll as follows:
