ARTHUR FARMERS PLAN TO SUPPORT MARKETING PLAN

Sign Up Campaign Carried into Section Yesterday and Last Night With Marked Success

The co-operative marketing campaign was carried into the Bell Arthur district yesterday evening with marked success, according to W. B. Pace, demonstration agent, who has been pushing things along rapidly even though members from the State Extension Department haven't yet arrived to help put the drive over. Yesterday afternoon was spent largely in signing up those desirous of becoming members of the association and out of twenty-six interviewed twenty-two immediately signed the contract without further parleying.

Mr. Pace was assisted in soliciting by Messrs. C. D. Smith, G. T. Tyson and C. E. McLawhorn who will continue the campaign until the majority of planters of that immediate section have signed the contract. So far only two territories have been visited for this purpose because of lack of help on the committee, but within the next several days work will be carried on as expeditiously as possible and every effort put forward in securing Pitt county's required percent to make the association possible.

The following farmers signed the contract yesterday: Oscar C. White, S. M. Flanagan, G. T. Tyson, Jr., W. L. White, C. D. Smith, Charles E. McLawhorn, J. B. Nichols, J. R. Strickland, J. E. Joyner, S. H. Joyner, J. F. Young, Cleveland Johnson, A. A. Joyner, Elbert M. Savage, C. L. Tyson, J. L. Wilkinson, S. W. Erwin, Floyd C. Best, Roy F. Dickerson, R. E. Willoughby, W. A. White and M. W. White.

The meeting which was conducted at Nichol's store last night was probably the most interesting since opening of the campaign. It was attended by numbers of interested farmers who were enlightened concerning every important question connected with the proposition. Interesting talks were made by several of those who signed the contract, and each conveyed a spirit of optimism pleasing indeed.

They pointed out that the association had been of such great benefit to fruit growers in Florida and California it should also prove satisfactory in the disposition of cotton and tobacco. The contract was explained in detail form, showing its binding features and definite plans for marketing the crop immediately as soon as members had negotiated for fair prices.

Mr. Pace told them the plan is without a doubt one of the most advisable presented in interest of the farming industries in years, and that if the planter would rally as they should it ought to be of direct benefit to everyone. He enumerated results of the drive in other states, declaring that in course of a few months the method would be both nation and world wide. This fact is derived from intense activity in progress, particularly in grain producing states as they promise to make even a greater success out of the plan than in Florida and California.

Every effort will be put forward by campaign forces within the next several weeks and it is hoped Pitt county will be signed up completely by the time other sections are prepared to present their reports to the State department. If this is done the county will be one of the leaders in the movement, which will give it a rank to be appreciated in every sense of the word.

HOME SWEET HOME SUBJECT OF SERMON AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Dr. Vines Delivered Splendid Sermon to Parents and Children Here Last Evening

Dr. Vines preached to a large crowd in the Immanuel Baptist church last night on the subject "Home Sweet Home", from the text 1 Samuel 1-27 and 28 verses. "For this child I prayed; and the Lord hath given me my petition which I asked of him: Therefore also I have lent him to the Lord; as long as he liveth he shall be lent to the Lord". This child was Samuel and his mother was Hannah. The speaker showed just what home is when he said that it was the citadel of civilization. It is back of the church and all other forces which work for good. Dr. Vines showed parents their responsibility in raising children. He developed this idea into four divisions after asking the great question what are your children to be in this world and the world to come? First parents should dedicate their children to God; second, they should set good examples for them; third, by actual training; fourth, the crisis in inevitable. Hannah dedicated Samuel to God. He was an answer to prayer. Parents should raise their children up in the fear and admonition of the Lord. At this point Dr. Vines showed that nearly every person saved is saved before they are twenty. In their youth they are near God, and in this period should be given to God.

In the second place; good examples, children follow in the footsteps of their parents. At this point the speaker appealed to the fathers and mothers to live honest, upright lives. The child watches the parent, and knows what is right and wrong. Parents should train their children to follow in the right path. Children in this day and time think they know more than their parents and as the whip has gone out of style, they try to do just as they please. Parents should, as a duty to the child, check him before it is too late. The crisis is inevitable. Time will tell. What is your child to be in this world and the world to come. It is a question which carries a great responsibility. Dr. Vines used illustrations in each instance, and his sermon was so plain that the children could follow him. The subject contained advice to both parent and child.

The choir sang "Home Sweet Home" with this and the other singing the song service was an attractive feature. Services again this evening at 7:45 on Sunday at 4 P. M. Dr. Vines will preach a special sermon to men. Every man is invited to attend.

TARBORO SCHOOL TO DEBATE IN THIS CITY DURING NIGHT

Much Interest Centered Around Annual Triangular Affair to be Staged Here Tonight

The annual triangular debate will be conducted at the high school auditorium in this city tonight between Greenville and Tarboro. Greenville this year will debate with Tarboro alone because of the elimination of Kinston sometime ago. The query will be: Resolved: That the policy of collective bargaining through trade unions should prevail in American industry. The affirmative side of the question will be defended here while the negative will be debated in Tarboro.

The query is the same that is being considered by other schools of the state and contains so many unique points that it has created great interest. The public has found it deserving of more than ordinary consideration because of the wide publicity which collective bargaining has created, and the attitude of trade unions toward it.

Greenville debaters have been preparing for the contest for sometime, and it is expected they will be prepared to offer great opposition, as well as defense. The negative team is composed of Misses Pearl Wright and Mavis Oakly while the affirmative will be supported by Miss Frances Taft and Mr. Frank Patrick.

Reports from Tarboro indicate that the question has held supreme sway among the debaters for several weeks, and as a consequence both sides are prepared to offer a stiff fight. Greenville should turn out in large numbers and encourage the contest as much as possible because it will establish a closer relation between the two schools and inspire other students to acquire knowledge on the subject.

GERMAN MIGRATION DECREASES IN ALL PARTS OF MEXICO

Immigration on a Great Decrease, According to Statement Recently Circulated by Department

Mexico City, April 8.—German immigration to Mexico has so decreased that not more than 600 have entered this country since the end of the war. German officials have urged their countrymen not to migrate here at present but rather to avail themselves of the facilities offered for settlement in South America republics of Argentina, Uruguay and Paraguay. Information to this effect was given at the German embassy following inquiries as to newspaper reports here than an official request had been made in behalf of Germans for a concession of about 70,000 acres of land in Coahuila.

Denial was made that the Coahuila concession in question pertains to German citizens, Counsellor Fuhr asserting that the requests was made by naturalized Germans in the United States, principally from Texas, who wished to form a colony near Las Vacas, Coahuila and desert their American homes.

The only pretentious emigration from Germany to Mexico ended in failure, Counsellor Fuhr asserted. Shortly after the end of the war a colonization was formed of several hundred members who pooled their resources and purchased German goods estimated to bring $8000,000 (pesos) when sold in Mexico.

Two men were appointed to accompany the goods but unfortunately after they disposed of them they pocketed the money and have disappeared. Meanwhile the wouldbe colonists embarked for Mexico in large numbers but since their arrival here they have been virtual wards of the permanent German colony in Mexico City, inasmuch as they had invested all their funds in the defunct company. One of the colonists, for instance was a former German vice admiral. He is now working as a laborer with a surveying gang and is glad of the chance.

To Call $200,000 Bond Election For Improving City Schools, June 14th

TELLS STORY OF DANIELS SERVICE TO UNITED STATES

Unmindful of Critics and Loyal to Beliefs L. Ames Brown Says Daniels Is Man to be Reckoned With

The following story concerning the retirement of Josephus Daniels as Secretary of the Navy should be of much interest to people of this city because it was written by a former Greenville boy, L. Ames Brown, who has won distinguished recognition in the journalistic field:

(By L. Ames Brown, '10)

Unmindful of criticism, loyal to his own beliefs, Josephus Daniels has rounded out eight years' service as Secretary of the Navy. With Burleson, Houston, and William B. Wilson, he shares the distinction of uninterrupted cabinet service throughout the Wilson Administration. No one of this group has enjoyed more completely the confidence of the President nor excelled him in aggressive loyalty in the stormy political times that preceded and followed the war.

There has not been, nor is there likely to be in the near future, a dispassionate or impartial summing-up of the achievements of the Daniels' regime at the Navy Department.

While the criticism against Mr. Daniels has been fervent and the critics numerous, the outstanding feature of eight years of attack upon him by the stockbrokers of the Republican press is found certain simplicity of critical formula. The invariable process of the critics was to regard Mr. Daniels as the responsible and authoritative head of the Navy Department—the official who made the final decision—whenever any mistake was made. Upon such occasions it was quite clear, from all criticisms, that he completely dominated the Navy Department.

Whenever any notable achievement of the Navy Department was under consideration, however, responsibility, authority, and decision suddenly were withdrawn, under the working of this interesting critical formula, from the head of the Department and yield nice

Board of Aldermen Authorizes School Board to Call Election on Account of Congested Schools

CITY SCHOOL SYSTEM HAS SMALLEST FLOATING INDEBTNESS IN STATE

Improvements Will Not be Considered Until After Conditions Justify and Bonded Indebtness Paid

The board of aldermen in regular monthly session here last night authorized the board of trustees of Greenville public schools to call an election Tuesday, June 14, for the purpose of issuing $200,000 in bonds for the improvement of the city school system, the erection of an elementary school building and to pay off the present floating indebtedness. The bond will not be sold immediately after the bond issue, it is understood, but will be held in reserve until building conditions become more favorable. Only a present bonded indebtedness of $35,000 will be paid in event the bond issue is authorized by popular vote, and it is the purpose of school officials to go into details more fully before beginning improvements.

The board of trustees appeared before the aldermen headed by Mr. J. W. Little, president, who after explaining the congested condition of city schools petitioned the board for permission to call the election in order that the situation may be improved before next year, if possible and advisable. He declared relief from the present crowded system is absolutely necessary if the Greenville public school system is to maintain its place in the front ranks of the state educational forces.

Mr. Little also called the board's attention to the fact that the present floating indebtedness was incurred in purchasing sites and erecting new buildings for colored schools, equipping present high school building and in the purchase of the Vines House, which has been used as a teachers dormitory for the past several months. In 1915 a bond issue of $30,000 was granted for the purpose of erecting new buildings but that was insufficient to complete construction work on the high school which is today easily worth $80,000 even at a conservative estimate.

Numbers of people have raised the question as to whether or not students attending Greenville schools from outside the school district should be charged tuition. This has been definitely disposed of by provisions recently made by the state in which the additional expense will be paid by funds provided by the state and county. This provision, applies only to children coming from districts where school facilities are limited or otherwise where congestion demands the change.

A pleasing feature connected with the financial situation of Greenville schools, members of the board declared is that the bonded indebtedness has been held down to $35,000. The situation in other cities forms a striking contrast as very few have made the same improvements in the same length of time without requiring considerably more money. The board has been very conservative in expenditures, and as a result the financial situation is pleasing indeed compared to other territories.

This was the only matter considered by the aldermen at last night's session, with the regular routine work, and the granting of proposals for extensions of sewer and light lines. Practically every section asking for such extensions received favorable encouragement, and in the course of several weeks the city will be much better provided with lights and both water and sewer facilities much better.

JAPAN MILITARY FORCES ATTACKED IN NEWS ARTICLE

Alleged Meddling of Japanese Militarists Denounced in Statement By Count M. Soyeshima

Tokio, April 8.—The alleged meddling of Japanese militarists in diplomacy is vigorously attacked by Count M. Soyeshima, a prominent member of the House of Peers in the course of a contribution to the Japanese Diplomatic Reviews, which is attracting considerable attention.

He affirmed that the cause of foreign misconceptions of Japan lies chiefly in the so-called dual diplomacy which was the worst deterrent Anglo-Japanese, Japanese-American and Chinese-Japanese friendship. In the Count's opinion, Japan's diplomacy has even since the outbreak of the late great war been a continuous series of failure. He laments that there are no longer, or at least not now in view, men like the late Prince Katsura and the late Marquis Komura. It was these two great statesmen who, nearly twenty years ago committed the country to the Anglo-Japanese alliance, over the heads of some of the elder statesmen and others who opposed the idea at the time.

When the late war broke out the two statesmen had been gone for some time and what followed was most disconcerting, in the view of Count Soyeshima. Had they been alive and in power, they would have seen to it that the country was solidly united against Germany before they declared war on her. As it was, the government could not prevent newspapers and magazines, scholars and military reservists, from talking and writing as if Japan were the friend of Germany and an enemy of the Allies. Unfortunately, those in power successively since those days have gone on blundering, knowing no better than to fish for cheap popularity.

DECLARES WOMEN ARE INSPIRATIONAL IN IRISH REPUBLIC

Their Form Sustaining Influence and Power of the Irish National Movement, Says Reports

Dublin, April 8.—Women are the inspiration and the sustaining power of the Irish National movement.

This is well recognized throughout Ireland, even by British government officials whose task of smothering Sinn Fein militants and restoring peace has been made ten fold more difficult by reason of it. Wherever there is a spirit of the women.

Women shelter, feed and bind up the wounds of the flying columns of the Irish Republican army. They collect money for the Dal Fiaccann, they sew and nurse and do a hundred other things that fall to women in war time. What some of them do outside women's accustomed sphere of activities can only be conjectured.

General Strickland, governor of the huge area now under martial law, told the correspondent that women carried concealed under their skirts and cloaks the rifles, bombs and revolvers which were used by the men responsible for a number of ambushes of crown forces in the Cork district.

Nothing in the last six months of guerrilla fighting has more intrigued the imagination of newspaper readers than the arrest of the 14 year old peasant girl of Cork county, who wearing steel armor around her body, was caught while scurrying across a field lugging a Lewis machine gun.

Women, according to report, accompanied various parties of the Republican army who shot and killed the 14 British intelligence officers on Dublin's Black Sunday last November.

Swarthmore Attraction to Appear in Greenville for One Week Engagement June 10 to 16

Greenville Chautauqua comes this year June 10-16. So writes the director of the Local Guarantors. As this is the Tenth Anniversary of the Swarthmore Chautauqua Association, unusual effort has been made to present a program fitting the occasion. We think you will find it the richest program that we have ever presented, says director Turner.

This is the only seven day or large Chautauqua that includes Eastern Carolina in its itinerary. The Swarthmore summer schedule includes this year in their circuit—Durham, Raleigh, Goldsboro, Kinston, New Bern, Elizabeth City, Tarboro, Wilson, Wilmington, Rocky Mount, Roanoke Rapids, Henderson, Burlington, Leaksville.

Greenville in indeed fortunate to be interested in this circuit and have this week of clean, wholesome, entertainment brought to their doors.

A week that will send us back to our work with a new zest, a broader outlook, and a clearer vision of the world's problems and our relations to them. Be ready for June 10-16.

FIGHTING IN INDIA IS RESTRICTED TO FACTIONS AT SIKH

Rioters and Reformers Throw Influence to Front in Effort to Change Conditions

London April 8.—The fighting at Nankana, India, in which about 130 persons were killed, was restricted to rival factions of Sikh, according to a report just made public at the India Office.

The rioters were described as old Sikhs and reformers, the former whom including the managers of important and richly endowed shrines. That at Nankana is the wealthiest of them its annual income, derived largely from landed states amounting to tens of thousands of pounds. The Mahants, who are in charge of such shrines, regard themselves as life tenants of the estates and secure in their possession as long as they discharge their religious duties.

The reformers opposed this view. They alleged that deplorable abuses exist in connection with the shrines. The revenues, they contend, belong to the Sikh community and should be administered under its control.

Friday Afternoon, April 8th

Revelations concerning the killing of negroes in Georgia causes one to believe people are hardly civilized in that section. A few more occurrences of the kind and they will certainly be branded as savages.

Had the counsel of Woodrow Wilson been accepted concerning European problems things would have been much better in this country. The fact is there has been too much opposition in the senate for the country's good, but this will not be realized until after Mr. Wilson is dead.

The coal situation seems to be giving England much trouble at this time, but this is small in comparison to what will happen next winter if the strike is not settled in a short time. America has had similar trouble in the past but thank goodness it appears we are out of the hole now for a long time.

Raleigh is raising funds to build two tobacco storage warehouses. That being the case it may be expected Wake county will offer a little more than ordinary competition next season. However, it will get the market in that section, as local markets are plenty large enough and capable of handling everything that can be produced.

The majority of people are still complaining that the cost of living is still high, forgetting possibly, that eggs have dropped from eighty cents a dozen to twenty during the last three months. This fact proves beyond doubt that prices are considerably lower. This applies not to eggs alone, however, but to many other things constantly demanded by the public.

There are many pessimists who continue to preach hard times now and forever. They claim things are going to be worse this summer than they are now which is perfectly absurd in every sense of the word. There is nothing wrong with the world. It's just a matter of too much hard time scare and not enough production. A noticeable improvement will be in evidence as soon as people live down the pessimist's predictions and learn that work and proper amount of play will bring wonders.

The proposed co-operative marketing association is designed to eliminate the gambling by speculators with farm products. There has been right much of this kind of business going on for the past several years, and prices have not been what they should. The farmer ought to be glad to except such a kind of an organization, knowing that he is guaranteed better prices for his products. It's a great proposition, and certainly ought to appeal to the business man as well as the farmer.

Reduction of taxes seem to be one of the greatest questions before boards of county commissioners just at this time, and indications point to an appreciable decrease. That this is necessary is beyond doubt, for there are thousands of acres of land that have decreased in value considerably since assessed several months ago. The re-valuation plan is acceptable in every sense of the word, but excessive taxes when prices are low without justification and demands immediate consideration. Practically every county of the state has granted reductions which will become effective as soon as appraisers can go over their work and ascertain where reductions are advisable, North Carolina does not believe in oppression.

AMERICA WANTS SHARE

The United States has informed foreign governments that it has not surrendered any of its rights in the overseas possession of Germany secured by the principals allied and associated powers by the treaty of Versailles. The note, which was transmitted by Secretary Hughes revives a question has long been in doubt among the majority of American people because of the indefinite position which this government has taken toward the principal issue at hand.

The fact that the United States, has remained practically silent regarding principal points of the peace treaty no doubt justly caused members of the association to believe they might conclude negotiations without interference from the American Government. This note, however, changes the situation materially and causes one to believe that peace negotiations are going to be prolonged because America insists that it is entitled to certain possessions granted under the treaty of peace.

This may be, but it is difficult to understand how any demands are going to be made of Germany when a state of war exists. The situation is truly one of the most unique in history, for it brings out facts which have been entirely concluded in the minds of the majority of American citizens. The other countries have gone ahead and made peace with Germany, expecting to bring about conclusion of negotiation as early as possible. They agreed on practically all questions, and at this time are endeavoring to convince Germany that it should pay off the indemnity as early as possible.

Germany of course, continues to parley, because its statesmen possibly conceive the present abrupt change even better than the American government itself. And now that everything has been settled but the indemnity it can say to the Allies that they cannot force acceptance of the terms because the United States still insist it has a say so in the matter after all. It is truly a perplexing state of affairs. In fact, so perplexing that the United States ought to get busy immediately and let the associationpagniajapel, fingeishta, lkrdn associated powers know what she means to do. The question has been delayed by opposition too long, and deserves immediate consideration with view of settlement.

Unless immediate action becomes evident Germany will be able to stall indemnity negotiations for months and even years, because they realize that so long as America remains in the indecisive peace is a matter of impossibility. This fact has been displayed in a forceful manner during the past several weeks. The government has probably seen it and probably intends to do something definite now, although this is merely a surmise. Mr. Harding has made many promises, but if he settles the peace question alone he will have rendered the country a great service.

Much speculation has been aroused by a statement issued by Secretary Weeks that he would announce shortly a detail duty for General Pershing 'commensurate with his rank'. This information will be received with interest because the government has been in a quary as to what disposition to make of the army leader. He has several times been mentioned for ambassador to Japan and Paris, but it seems now that provision will be made so that he will still remain at the head of the army. In this event the department will have to be reorganized and a position created to meet the situation. Pershing is a great army officer, and it would be a pity to appoint him to some other branch of service when he has rendered such faithful service to this capacity.

Frank Page who heads the state road commission says, 'We're Ready to go' with the great road campaign planned at the last meeting of the general assembly. $50,000,000 sounds like a lot of money, infact, is lots of money of be spent at one time, but when placed in improvement of roads, one can say it is devoted to a good cause. In the course of a few years North Carolina will be linked together by a splendid system of roads, and when the time comes everything will witness a distinct improvement.

The supreme court has ruled that no tobacco board of trade can refuse the privilege of the warehouse floor to a non member buyer. This action will be received with interest in this particular locality as the question of admitting non members buyers has been a subject of much comment. Greenville has been troubled with such buyers for years, and the board of trade admission. The new ruling, however, will be a relief and eliminates further controversy.

How About Your Danger Zone?

You've got it—every human being is born with it—your large intestine, or colon. It is a long, muscular tube intended to collect food waste and remove it from the body.

Plug it up with waste, neglect it, and you're sick on your feet. The food waste stagnates, undergoes decay, fermentation and germ action.

Allow constipation to become established, and you are liable to become debilitated and miserably sick—and not on your feet either.

Fibers, castor oil, laxative waters and salts only force and irritate the bowels and make constipation a habit.

Nujol works on an entirely new principle. Instead of forcing or irritating the system, it simply softens the food waste. This enables the many tiny muscles in the walls of the intestines, contracting and expanding in their normal way, to squeeze the food waste along so that it passes naturally out of the system.

Nujol thus prevents constipation because it helps Nature maintain a easy, regular bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

Nujol is a completely harmless and pleasant to take. Try it.

TRAVELING SALESMAN PAINFULLY INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE COLLISION

Bucy Nolly, traveling man of Wilson received painful injuries of the face this afternoon when a Ford automobile in which he was riding collided with a large truck belonging to George Cherry and driven by a negro at the intersection of Green and Fifth Sts. Mr. Nolly was thrown through the windshield by the impact, his face being badly lacerated by shattered glass. The driver of the truck escaped without injury.

Both were running at pretty good rate and failed to see each other as they neared the corner. The truck struck the car almost squarely, and it is considered almost miraculous how occupants of the Ford escaped with their lives. So far it has not been ascertained who is in fault, but this will probably be brought out in an ensuing investigation.

The chief reason for his promotion to some subordinate who leaped from obscurity to bask in temporary limelight.

By the more customary standard, which holds the head of a department entirely responsible for mistakes and gives him full credit for achievements, Mr. Daniels unquestionably will be appraised as time passes.

To have been secretary of the Navy throughout the war in itself assures Mr. Daniels of a conspicuous place in our national history. His standing is not dependent upon mere association with great events, however, but is a matter of revealed personal quality and of distinctive achievements.

A man of singular placidity in his personal relations, Mr. Daniels in public life proved aggressive to the point of intrepidity. He has been a stormy petrel. Some of the most colorful and picturesque battles of the Wilson regime have swirled around his figure. Critics have found him exceedingly unapologetic while associates knew him always as a stout hearted supporter, bitter as those leveled against Mr. He has been subjected to attacks as Wilson himself and has launched some of the hardest blows aimed at the opposition. The President has given evidence that he loved Daniels for the cumltes that he had invoked. No one will ever damn him with faint praise.

The scope and power of his work at the Navy Department is a part of the history of the war. His constructive part in administration and policy of the Navy is too great to admit of cataloguing its details here. He shares with no one the responsibility of decisions made in the stress of great crises which were mighty factors in the outcome of the war. It matters little who originated the idea of the North sea barrage or other distinctive conceptions that shaped naval history while the war was on, since to the head of the Department belonged the responsibility of decisions and to him should be accorded the laudation of their success. High up among his honors is the record that his insistence placed the Marines in the front line in France.

Washington has been investigated inside and out since the Armistice. Congressional inquisitors have had their fing at every screw and rivet of the war machine. The Daniels' record is unique in that it has been brightened rather than sullied by the investigations. One of these investigations had to do with the bestowal of Navy medals. When the evidence was in and the record complete, however, it was clear that nothing more substantial had been proved than the fact that Daniels shared Walt Whitman's attitude toward heroic unsuccess:

"I play not a march for victors only.
I play great marches for conquered and slain persons.

"Have you heard that it was good to gain the day?
"I also say it is good to fall,
Battles are lost in the same spirit in which they are won.
"I sound triumphal drums for the dead
I fling through my embouchures the loudest and gayest music to them.

"Vivas to those who have fallen, and to those whose warvessels sank in the sea, and those themselves who sank in the sea.
"And to those generals that lost engagements, and all overcome heroes, and the numberless unknown heroes equal to the greatest heroes known".

How Your Favorite Remedy, Dreco Has Come To Cost You Less,

By a new manufacturing process, all the good qualities are retained and expensive Alcohol eliminated. Does same reliable work at before the war price.

Many lessons were learned during the war as to saving and as to reductions in costs. The manufacturers of Dreco learned something and that was how to make Dreco the same good medicine, preserve completely its full medicinal qualities and do away with the Alcohol which now costs so much. That is why today you can buy Dreco at before the war price and be assured of getting the same reliable remedy for the relief of their troubles. For which so many people have praised instance Walter Edmond said:

My bowels were so badly constipated I had to take purgatives nearly every night. This strong medicine deranged my stomach so that it often filled with gas and gripping pains would hit me. I had pains in my back over my kidneys and my joints were sore and stiff.

I took a treatment of Dreco and I am like a different person today. I soon noticed my bowels acting regular the gas ceased to form in my stomach, my appetite increased and my sleep became sound and refreshing. All the backache and sore joints have passed off and I can stoop over and bend about as well as ever. Dreco is a great medicine and I strongly recommend it.

The old fashioned root and herbs are the best medicines for us to take. Dreco contains the Juices and extracts of 12 different herbal plants, which act on the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, and enrich the blood. Get Dreco today.

Dreco is being specially introduced by Warren Drug Co., in Greenville and sold by all druggists.
