CONSTRUCTION OF LOCAL WHITE WAY MAKING PROGRESS

Large Force of Workmen Tearing up Sidewalks Where Wires Will be Buried

NEW BERN SYSTEM TO BE COMPLETED IN NEXT FEW DAYS

Contract Has Been Awarded For Installation of Ayden's System

Construction work connected with installing the Greenville white way is making rapid progress and it is hoped to get the entire system completed as early as possible.

The Greenville system will be one of the finest in Eastern North Carolina. While the lights will not be in clusters as in some cities, they are large enough and will be placed sufficiently close together to brilliantly illuminate the streets.

While New Bern and Ayden did not decide to establish a white way until after Greenville it is understood they are making considerable progress in construction.

The contract for the Ayden system was let the first of the week, and it provided immediate construction. This gives two Pitt county towns up to date street lighting systems and if Farmville comes in it will make the third.

ONLY THREE CASES GIVEN HEARING IN CITY COURT TODAY

Two Speeding and One Larceny Case Constitute the Docket This Morning

Only three defendants appeared before Mayor Pro-tem J. L. Hassell in this morning's session of police court, making the docket the lightest in several weeks with exception of Wednesday when only one case was given hearing.

Vagrancy is greatly on the decrease in the city at the present time, Chief of police told the court today, and this is largely responsible for the small number of defendants appearing for trial.

Sam Turnage, charged with separate and distinct charges of speeding and disorderly conduct, was fined $10 and cost in both cases.

W. B. Cox, charged with speeding, was released upon payment of $10 and cost of action.

George Hill, charged with larceny, was bound over to the next term of county court under appearance bond.

METHODIST PLAN SPECIAL PROGRAM SUNDAY MORNING

Farmers in Fayetteville District Report Prevalence of Cotton Pest

The Jarvis Memorial Methodist Sunday School had another good day last Sunday. In the absence of the Superintendent, the work was carried out in good style by the Assistant Superintendent, J. D. Rodgers.

The Baraca Class, that has made such a name for itself recently, not only in the matter of attendance and growth, but also in good work, had 84 per cent, all that the room could accommodate comfortable. This class is without doubt one of the greatest forces for good in the town of Greenville.

And when it comes to sharing honors with the men in the matter of good works this class stands on just as high a plane. In fact in this class are numbers of women who get up every Sunday morning in time, to feed a number of the men in the Baraca Class thus enabling the men to get to their class, to say nothing about the number of children's faces that some of them have to wash in order that some of the classes named above in attendance honors may hang up their good records.

They had nearly forty present with a collection of $2:50. This class has spirit de corps in spite of the fact that it has to meet in an old army tent.

The school will begin at nine thirty and the services will last until 10:45 and no later.

AMERICAN TAXES TO REMAIN HIGH

BOLL WEEVIL IS REPORTED FROM LOWER SECTIONS

Farmers in Fayetteville District Report Prevalence of Cotton Pest.

While the boll weevil hasn't given Pitt county planters any trouble up to the present time, his arrival may be expected at any moment. Reports received from other sections of the state indicate that the pest is rapidly finding his way across the South Carolina border and may reach this section any time.

The Fayetteville district seems to have been among the first to discover the presence of the pest. A report received from there this week says considerable damage is expected this summer and that farmers are doing everything possible to decrease the ravage as much as possible.

The boll weevil menace is developing early in the season, judging from the fact that it has already appeared. Today members of the agricultural department were shown at least a dozen of the little pests taken by former Recorder H. L. Cook from a cotton farm in the lower part of Roberson county, near the South Carolina line.

"These bugs were fully developed and appeared capable of doing great damage. The farm from which they were taken had about the best cotton Mr. Cook saw, and fears are entertained in Roberson that the early appearance of the bug means greater disaster than at one time expected. Farmers are observing every precaution possible in hopes of decreasing the damage as much as possible."

NEW FIRE TRUCK MAKES SPLENDID SHOWING IN TEST

Several Cities Represented at Demonstration at Amuzu Park Yesterday.

A fairly large crowd attended the demonstration of the New Stutz fire truck at Amuzu Park yesterday afternoon at four o'clock and to say that they were pleased with the splendid exhibition of the powerful machine would be expressing the matter mildly.

The new truck was recently purchased by the city at cost of $12,000, and is one of the finest in Eastern Carolina. It is not only built for speed and durability, but embraces every feature necessary to successful fire fighting.

The demonstration yesterday brought out the various features of the machine the real test will come within the next few days when the engine will be run at its full capacity for a period of three hours.

The machine presents an attractive appearance and is considerably larger than the old truck. In fact, it embraces several features absolutely necessary to successful fire fighting and Greenville people should consider themselves fortunate in having such a monster machine standing ready to dash away to their property in case of fire.

NEW BERN BEARS PROMISE STRONG TEAM THIS YEAR

New Bern People Highly Elated Over Exchange of Ormond for Morris Boys

MULE SHIRLEY ALSO CONTAINED IN FINE LINEUP FOR SEASON

Bears Look Even More Formidable this Season Than in Pennant Race

While other clubs of the Eastern Carolina league are still in doubt concerning a few of their players, the New Bern Bears have completed their line up and will be in splendid condition by opening of the season, according to a report received here this morning.

Action of the club managers in exchanging Ormond for the Morris Brothers seems to have met with favorable consideration throughout the entire city. In fact it was thought by many that Shirley would also be in the Greenville line up and announcement to the contrary was greeted with interest on all sides.

The Bear camp looks even more formidable than last season when they won the championship series, and if other clubs keep pace they will be compelled to get busy and whip their men in conditions within a mighty short period. The Bears have been in practice several days already, it is understood and will romp away with the first half like Texas cubs unless seriously opposed.

The line up as received here this morning contained the following players:

- R. Morris, Carolina, Kiernan, Holy Cross, catchers. Shirley, Carolina, first base. Joe McLean, Carolina, Blasing, New York, second base. F. Morris, Carolina, third base. Decker, former Tar Baby, Walters, Fordham, shortstop. Norman Shepard, Carolina, Carl Jennette, Wake Forest, Sweetman, Carolina, Thompson, Durham, outfielders. Bryson, Carolina, Wrenn, Carolina-Davidson, Gus Lindberk, Washington and Lee, Snyder, Syracuse, Lanahan, Wilson, Willis, Beaufort, and Klein, Wilson, constitute the pitching staff at the start.

Bryson and McLean will not report before June 20, it is understood.

Rail rate reductions were not exactly what President Harding desired, according to reports from Washington, but that's what he got. It's a pity the president didn't get what he expected, but since the change is in favor of the public no one has anything to regret.

Cotton mill men of the south want prices of the staple to go higher. That's nothing out of the ordinary. The higher they go the greater the profits. The man we want to see benefited at this time is the one who furnishes the sweat and labor to produce the cotton. That's the farmer—the man who has suffered severely as a result of a treacherous market in past years.

That lower passenger rates will follow sweeping freight reduction seems to be certain at this time, according to those higher up. Business has been increasing so rapidly in past months that unless something is done the railroads cannot possibly operate. Fares are much too high considering conditions at this time, and railroads would certainly realize much more business by the reduction. It is hoped they will get busy immediately and see what can be done in this direction.

The Ku Klux Klan is causing members of the senate at Washington great anxiety because of their political control in some of the Western states. This, however, should receive only passing attention, as the Klan's activities are confined to a small number of states and will not likely grow to any great extent. Too much secrecy clothes activities of the Klan and it's a safe bet there are thousands of men who prefer to act more in the open.

If anthracite representatives are ready operators are ready to meet them is the cheering message received from the strike zone. There is nothing in which the public is more intensely interested than the great labor tie-up and if there is any chance of reaching an agreement it is hoped they will get busy and settle it. Strikes are the most direct means of demoralizing industry. They cause the miners to suffer, the public to suffer and the entire world in some way to feel its effects. Coal is a necessity in this country, and prolonged tie-up will become of greater seriousness as the winter draws nearer.

It is certainly gratifying to note that child labor laws are receiving such favorable consideration throughout the state, as it guarantees a higher class citizenship in the years to come. Many communities have permitted employment of children when they should have been in school and now this has been prohibited a better educated class of people will be the outcome. Illiteracy, that is much of it, is caused by working children when they should be in school, and this is one reason why North Carolina has been so slow in rising in the ranks of education. The laws should be strictly enforced everywhere. This is to the welfare of everybody and officials should's fall to do their duty as they see it.

The Lincoln memorial will be unveiled at the capital of the nation the 30th of the month, and it should be the duty of all other cities to observe the day as in Washington. Abraham Lincoln was one of the greatest presidents the nation has ever known. He was an much interested in development of the south, as the north, east or west, and nothing proved this fact more than the Civil war in which hosts of the north and south battled for supremacy. Those were trying days for the great hearted man who loved humanity, and it is said that many a day he wept over the defeat and subsequent loss of life in armies of the north and south. His career was the most trying of any president. His problems the greatest, and it is the duty of everyone to pay tribute to him on this day when his monument is unveiled.

The old saying that a man may be down but he is never ought to be seriously considered by the farmers who have suffered from low prices the past few months. Conditions have changed to such an extent at the present time that it is believable the next harvesting session will see price conditions more improved than n years. In this event thousands of growers will be able to meet their obligations and clear away debts created by losses sustained in one way and another. This is a wonderful county in which we live and any man of even ordinary ability can recover from effects of adverse conditions by applying his natural resources to the business in which he is engaged. This applies particularly to the farmer and it is hoped they will see it this way and work while there is a chance of a come back in view.

DOING SPLENDID WORK.

The Pitt county chapter of the American Red Cross is becoming one of the most useful organizations in the county. Its members are very active for betterment of the community and give freely to anything of a worthy cause.

The chapter recently contributed a hundred dollars to the thousands of homeless in flood districts. While this is no large sum it with help to no little extent in providing food and housing for the victims. Two hundred dollars was recently given to the venereal clinic here. This work has assumed great proportions in this county, thanks to the department of health and such institutions as the Red Cross. Disease prevention occupies a prominent part in the nation at this time and money devoted to this cause is spent wisely. The Red Cross is also doing much in a vocational way for the young people of the county, and the outcome of this work will be watched with considerable interest.

Leon Oettinger Finds "Nigger in Wood Pile" ---Former Kinstonian Writes

I know that you have heard of the second distribution of the pool by now but thought a few facts and figures might interest you. The pool claim they had 110 million pounds of tobacco turned over to them of which they claim to have sold over 75 millions. This leaves them roughly speaking, one third of it still in their hand. Now lets do a little figuring and see according to their claims what the farmer will really average for his tobacco that was turned over to them.

They have sold two-thirds of the tobacco and have paid the farmer right at fifteen cents. They now have one-third of their holdings left but, bear this in mind, what they left is composed mostly of the tail end of the crop. It's say they will average for the balance what they received for the other. This will net them between twenty-one and twenty-two cents. But they have had to redry what they have left and put it in hogsheds. Now the cost of this will of course come out of the farmers' pocket and it cost two cents a pound to get in shape for the market. Now deduct this two cents from his total net sales and you can get an idea of what he will really get.

But here's where the nigger in the wood pile" comes in. The pool had to borrow four millions of dollars to pay off this last distribution they made. If they have sold the tobacco at the prices they claim, why do they have to borrow money to pay the farmer for his tobacco?

It is because this expenses have been that amount or is it because they have not obtained the prices they claim to have received. Perhaps some of the pool followers or some of their clerks with small jobs might give you the reason. Here they are deaf and dumb on the subject.

But back to some more facts. When the pool sells the balance of their tobacco will they take up these notes or will they try to fool the farmer by declaring another dividend and still owe the banks. If they pay the banks, then the 4 million will have to come out of their next sales. This will cut their distribution in half or in other words the farmer will receive about three cents more which will make a total of about 18 cents against 21 cents for the non-pooled. I have been living in Lexington for nearly nine years and personally know bankers and business men of all kinds. Have become intimate with a good many who talk freely to me but that I can not quote for business reasons. They, one and all, are against the pool and claim it has hurt Lexington materially.

The only good that I have been able to see in the pool, is that it gives a good many men great big salaries they never have been able to make before and will never make again.

I am still against it and will be until I can see where it helps the farmer instead of hurting him.

Yours very truly,
LEON OETTINGER.

ADVERTISE IN REFLECTOR FOR RESULTS

The Paramount Issue

Which System of Selling Tobacco Pays the Farmer Most Money and When?

All broad-minded and open-minded men respect the honest opinions of others, and certainly this is true as to best methods of selling tobacco. The system that pays most money to the farmers will prevail, regardless of those looking for big jobs and fat salaries, and others who have property paying a loss, to unload on the tobacco farmers... Are such people thinking of themselves first, or are they thinking of the Dear Farmer, whom they expect to raise the tobacco out of which to pay these bills. Reports from Kentucky show that only 7 or 8 cents per lb. was advanced to the pool growers, and that the same amount was paid this week... This would still leave millions of dollars behind the average paid growers selling by auction... Does the Association pay their salaried officials and their long line of assistants regularly, each month, or are they paid like the farmer 25, to 30 per cent?

The greatest Association to us is the peanut people. If you will talk to them, you will find them dissatisfied; a great many are enduring hardships hitherto unknown. The mighty Association seems helpless to improve the situation... No one claims the Auction System, the Banking System or the Co-operative System to be perfect, but it is a fact that the farmers who sold their tobacco at auction in Kentucky have received more money than those who did not sell at auction and we have every reason to believe that tobacco sold at auction in Greenville will pay the farmers most money and pay him all cash.

BROOKS FLETCHER, THE DRAMATIC ORATOR "THE MARTYRDOM OF FOOLS"

There are two newspapers in Marion, Ohio. "The Star" is owned by President Harding. "The Tribune" by Brooks Fletcher. These men are Marion's two foremost citizens. President Harding was a Chautauqua lecturer, Brooks Fletcher still is.

Known throughout the land as "America's foremost dramatic orator," Brooks Fletcher adds to his reputation with every address he makes. With a magnetism that gets attention, a powerful, dominating personality, an abundance of jet black hair, eyes that hypnotize, and the face of an Edwin Booth, he holds an audience spellbound as no other orator of his generation.

The following telegram shows his power and versatility:

"Fletcher talked to successful chamber of commerce audience one thousand and yesterday. Biggest event in history of Petoskey. Wonderful drawing card. He is everything, orator, thinker, educator, humorist, platform artist supreme. Warn your people not to miss him. Our auditorium would not hold people if he appeared here tonight."

Mr. Fletcher wants every man and woman to be some boy's or girl's pal on the fourth night at Chautauqua. His lecture is of great interest to children. Every child and youth in town should hear it. Mr. Fletcher has a correspondence service with young folks, answering thousands of letters each year, trying to help the boys and girls with their problems and ambitions. Mr. Fletcher has many lecture subjects: "The Martyrdom of Fools," "Tragedies of the Unprepared," "Community Deadheads," "The Modern Juda," and "Who is Your Hero," being his outstanding titles. They show his wide range of power and his versatility.

Hear Fletcher, have your friends hear him. Then there will be no regrets in town the next day.

He comes to Greenville, the fourth night of Chautauqua. This is but one of the twenty big things you get for the price of a season ticket. See today's advertisement.

CORINNE GRIFFITH IN THE SOUTH SEAS

"Island Wives" Makes Excellent Photodrama and Travelogue.

"Island Wives," the Corinne Griffith production which will be shown at White's theatre on Wednesday was filmed in the South, mainly in the vicinity of Miami, Fla.

"Island Wives" was written by Bob Dexter and adapted to the screen by William B. Courtney. Its opening scenes are laid in Tahiti, an imaginary island in the South Seas, and much of the action of the play takes place amid tropical surroundings. The locale of the story follows the peregrinations of Elsa Melton, who goes by private yacht from Tahiti to San Francisco and later from there to Australia, affording a wealth and variety of beautiful scenic backgrounds. Ideal locations for these have been found in Florida. The story is also spectacular, including a South Sea Typhoon.

Miss Griffith was accompanied by a splendid supporting company, including Charles Trowbridge and Rockcliffe Fellows, who have the principal male roles, Webster Campbell, who directed Miss Griffiths in some of her greatest successes, directed the production.

To the Voters of Pitt County

On June 3, the Democratic Primary is to be held in our county. On that date you will be called on to choose the man who is to be sheriff for the next term. You have a large number of candidates to select from: I have no criticism to offer on any of my opponents. However I do ask that you consider carefully the character of every candidate, myself included, before you cast your vote. Sometimes a candidate makes promises that he is later unwilling or unable to fulfill; Sometimes a candidate is tied up with a certain political clique, and if he is elected, he will naturally administer the laws in a partial manner: sometimes a candidate is supported by the lawless element and if he is elected the lawlessness will continue to exist.

Let me state frankly but pointedly that if I am elected to this high office. I shall do all in my power to see that the laws are strictly enforced, and that, as much as it is possible to do so, all lawlessness will be eliminated in Pitt County. I am not tied by any promises to political cliques and am therefore prepared to see that the laws are impartially enforced, I shall appreciate your support.

Sincerely yours,

R. L. JONES

Chautauqua Lecturer Harding and Ben Greet

Charles R. Taggart relates an interesting reminiscence of his meeting, years ago, with an actor-manager and a certain editor. It was in the "pre-circuit Chautauqua" era, when there frequently occurred gaps of two or three days between engagements. During one of these gaps Mr. Taggart found himself in a mid-west town, where an independent Chautauqua was in progress. Together with the actor-manager of the play, which was appearing on the Chautauqua and the editor of the local paper, Mr. Taggart was a dinner guest at the home of a local physician. It proved to be a memorable dinner. The actor-manager told interesting tales of his theatrical tours in England, among them an account of his appearance at the home of John Ruskin. The editor recalled fascinating incidents of a recent visit to Scotland. It was an evening that Mr. Taggart now places among his most treasured reminiscences, because the town was Marion, O., the actor-manager, Ben Greet, and the editor, Warren G. Harding.

The "Old Country Fiddler," Mr. Taggart, is a favorite with the American public. Mr. Taggart is a real Yankee, and his dialect is not assumed. He just dons his famous felt hat and spectacles, takes his fiddle and chats confidentially about his various adventures in city and country, keeping everybody in a roar of laughter, playing now and then an old-time hornpipe or jig that sets the nerves a-tingle. Mr. Taggart's "Old Country Fiddler" has reached the ears of the public thru the medium of the Victor Talking Machine records, and you will want to hear his stories and tunes from the man himself.

KANSAS CITY TO HAVE AUTOMOBILE SPEEDWAY

(By International News.)

Kansas City, Mo., May 24.—A $500,000 automobile speedway, the finest racing track between Indianapolis and the Pacific Coast, will attract the world's greatest auto drivers to this city before this Summer has passed.

A mile-and-a-quarter board track which, it is predicted, will be the speediest in the country, will be the course around which the roaring motors will split the air at a clip of from 116 to 120 miles an hour.

Ground for the new speedway already has been broken. Contractors have been ordered to finish the track in sixty days. Opening races will be run in August.

The speedway will require 4,000,000 feet of lumber. The wide saucer turns, in order to accommodate the great speed of the cars, will be banked at an angle reaching forty-five degrees.

OREGON SPENDS HUGE SUM IN ROAD BUILDING

(By International News.)

Salem, Ore., May 24.—Before this year shall have passed more than $50,000,000 will have been spent in carrying out the State highway program which was adopted in 1917.

In paving and macadamizing 3,721 miles of highways since 1917 the state of Oregon claims a record unequalled by any other commonwealth. During that time the state has expended $35,126,000 on its roads, the government $6,833,076 and the government $6,889,978. Contracts which have been let and which will be completed this year will swell the total beyond the fifty million mark.

FREMONT SCOUTS CAMP AT AMUZU PARK

Yesterday a patrol of Boy Scouts arrived from Fremont to camp at the park for a few days. They report a nice trip and seem to be pleased by the welcome extended them at the park. It is their intention to sleep out doors while here, and in event of rain will no doubt use the pavilion. The scouts are in charge of Prof. J. S. Moore, a native of Pitt county. He deserves credit, for a more manly and intelligent set of young fellows, would be hard to find. The park offers special inducement to camping parties.

Bill Allen's Menu for a Sunday Dinner

Hams! Hams! Hams!

Another supply of Bill Allen's state renowned, selected Onslow county hams, just arrived. Better than ever Like old wine they improve with age. If you want a chaser to go along to make a complete Sunday dinner, I have a few thrifty spring chickens that will stamp indelibly upon the tablets of the memory that there is no place like home; and the relish remains long after the romance of fickle blind guide novelty has been wafted away to the breeze in the far distance, thus making you to feel that life is real, life is earnest and the grave is not its goal.

Yours to serve,

W. H. Allen

STANDING shoulder to shoulder with public officials, doctors and nurses, thousands of American funeral directors are constantly safeguarding your health.

Their part in stamping out contagion and saving human life is one of their many almost unobserved, yet very definite, contributions to public safety and peace of mind, and to the higher modern standards of living.

Because they are prepared, you do not have to be. They have provided facilities equally accessible to all, adequate to every material and spiritual security, and thoughtfully designed with the sincerity and good taste befitting equipment which is intended to carry a message of love and esteem.

By their preparedness they have relieved the family and its friends of all perplexing responsibilities, and by the influence resulting from their own progress, they have brought about the abolishment of traditional funeral customs that did violence to the finer sensibilities.
