Administration Decides to Wait Two Weeks Before Changing Its Attitude

Washington, July 21.—The government is prepared to “stand pat” for a period of ten days to two weeks in its attitude toward the coal strike, it was indicated today, in order to be obtained through the re-opening of sufficient production of bituminous mines under guarantee of federal protection to assure the fuel requirements of essential industries.

In the meantime, however, plans for distribution of the curtailed supply of coal are to be pushed, it was said. Secretary Hoover announced tonight that he had called a meeting here next Monday of representatives of producing districts in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama and Virginia to discuss the proposed “rationing” plan and to formulate a policy designed to restrain profiteering.

While all three parties to the recent conference in Washington—the government, the operators and the unions—seemed satisfied that the situation as it now stands was hopelessly deadlocked, a new move for restoration of peace in the coal fields was seen in the resolution introduced in the Senate today by Senator King Democrat, Utah, who proposed creation of a commission of five to investigate both sides of the controversy and report its findings. No provision was made in the resolution for enforcing the findings.

A survey of remaining coal stocks was said to have convinced administration officials that these were sufficient to permit a fortnight of waiting to develop the response to the Presidential “invitation” to the operators to resume operation without adding unduly to the danger of an industrial shutdown through lack of fuel.

Secretary Hoover’s program for emergency distribution was said to contemplate the organization of a central committee here which would act through local committees in the principal producing sections.

WATCHING OUTCOME OF INVITATION TO STRIKING WORKMEN

Secretary Hoover, However, Continues Plan for Rationing the Fuel Supply

(By International News)

Washington, July 21.—The government is prepared to “stand pat” for a period of ten days to two weeks in its attitude toward the coal strike, it was indicated today, in order to be obtained through the re-opening of sufficient production of bituminous mines under guarantee of federal protection to assure the fuel requirements of essential industries.

In the meantime, however, plans for distribution of the curtailed supply of coal are to be pushed, it was said. Democratic Leader Says Minnesota Candidate is Worthy of Support

(Special Correspondent)

Washington, July 22.—Calling upon the women of America to re-litigate the published statement of Senator McCormick, Chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, implying that they are not fit to hold important offices, Cordell Hull, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, today issued a statement in which he declared that Mrs. Olesen, Democratic nominee for the United States Senate in Minnesota, at whom Senator McCormick’s criticism was aimed, was a national asset and her candidacy an inspiration to the women of America. The statement in part follows:

“The recent published statement by Senator McCormick, Chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, in which he said, ‘Persons might vote for a woman for superintendent of schools or for the town council or other little jobs like that, but when it comes to the Senate of the United States they simply will not do,’ and that he did not believe women will vote for Mrs. Olesen, the Democratic candidate for United States Senator from Minnesota, should not go unchallenged by the women of America.

“The Democratic National Committee resents this slur upon the capacity of women to hold important offices, such as United States Senator or Congressman, which, in this instance, is aimed at the Democratic nominee for Senator in the progressive state of Minnesota.

“The Democratic party believes in the selection of the most competent, capable and suitable persons to office regardless of sex. Wherever it finds these qualities in any person, man or woman, the Democratic party favors the selection and election of such persons. The case of Mrs. Olesen pre-eminently meets this requirement of the Democratic party. The Republican party through one of its chief spokesmen openly repudiates this policy and this test, and makes an unjust discrimination against women, however fit and capable they may be.

“The Democratic party and the Democratic National Committee recognize the absolute equality of women with men in political affairs. They recognize the right of women to an equal participation in the party organization and the conduct of campaigns, and as evidence of this the Democratic National Committee is made up equally of men and women, and this policy is extended to the minor organizations of the party where and when possible.”

Music Department Also Gives Excellent Program at Assembly Hour

Two attractive programs were given at the Assembly hour of East Carolina Teachers College on Thursday and Friday. On Thursday, Prof. Painter gave a delightful interpretation of Mary Wilkins Freeman’s story, “The Revolt of Mother.” The music department of the College presented a charming program at the Assembly hour yesterday morning. Miss Mattie West played a piano solo.

Mr. James Butler and Miss Ethel Godley gave a dramatic presentation of “The Heart of the Rose,” a song composed by Mr. James A. Robinson, of Durham. Miss Godley sang the song.

A group of students doing work in Methods were introduced as third grade pupils and then give a mountain dance, a Norwegian folk dance, which they had learned in one lesson and one rehearsal. Another group, introduced by Miss Minor as the first grade, gave “Tick Tock,” an attractive clock song.

The pile-driver has finished its work and is being moved. Now that peace and quiet reign, talks and programs for the assembly hour that have been postponed because of the noise are being given.

This morning President Wright explained the organization of the National Education association, the greatest association of teachers in the world. He also gave a brief outline of some of the big ideas developed at the recent meeting in Boston. The central theme was “Education and the Democratic Awakening,” and each one of the speeches at the general meetings emphasized some phase of this subject.

Mayor D. M. Clark Disposes of One of the Heaviest Dockets in Several Weeks

An unusually heavy docket faced Mayor D. M. Clark in this morning’s session of police court and much more time than usual was required to complete the hearing. The most important case was that against Will Kirby, charged with trespass. He was released upon payment of a fine of $50.

Helen Edwards, charged with running a house for the purpose of gambling, was bound over to the next term of county court under bond.

She was given thirty days at the county home on a charge of vagrancy.

Rebecca Perkins, Matthew Blue and others, charged with gambling, were bound over to the next term of county court under bond.

W. H. Lockhart, charged with forcing an automobile without state license, was released upon payment of cost.

Charlie Harris, charged with vagrancy, was sentenced to thirty days on the city streets.

S. D. Hooker, charged with permitting dog to run at large, was released upon payment of cost.

Hardy Lee Washington, for assault, was released upon payment of $5 and cost of action.

Queen for Midsummer Festival to be Chosen by Popular Vote Within Few Days

Bethel branch has definitely decided that they will also have a Junior Cross Mid-Summer Festival, the proceeds of which will go for some thing of particular interest to the young people in the way of school improvement.

Yesterday afternoon at a meeting at the school house it was decided that all children in Bethel who wish to take part in the festival should be invited through the two Sunday schools and should be ready to take their parts next Tuesday morning at nine o’clock.

The queen for the Bethel festival will be chosen by popular vote and will be chosen by popular vote and will be chosen by popular vote.

Miss Mabel Barnhill will have charge of the contest. The birthday cake and other, charged with gambling, were bound over to the next term of county court under bond.

All members of the Greenville committee will meet at the Red Cross office this afternoon at four o’clock.

Miss Maude Lee, chairman, will preside. Mrs. C. L. Bowen will have charge of the contest will decide the girl from Greenville who is to be queen of the festival.

Leone Corbett Receives Expression of Thanks for Christmas Packages of Last Year

Last December the junior Red Cross auxiliaries of Pitt county packed one thousand Christmas boxes, marking them for different aged boys and girls, and sent them to the Red Cross docks, Hoboken, N. J., where they were shipped overseas to children far less fortunate than we can imagine here.

A number of children have received cards which had to be sent away by the local chapter for translation. One of the most interesting received was a card beautifully written by a sixteen year old girl in Budapest who had received a Christmas box from Leone Corbett of Ayden.

The letter, in its entirety follows: Translation,

To: L. Corbett, Ayden, N. C.

My Noble-hearted Miss:

I am sorry that I cannot as yet speak English, although I would like to write a book to every one who sends presents from that happy world where they do not know our once beautiful, but now maimed, country’s unspeakable suffering. We young students are happy over the American present-package, but in the counter-terances of our parents we see the painful expression of the feeling that they are not able to surprise us with such presents unless they deny themselves the means of daily sustenance.

The Americans have accomplished the most in our behalf. God bless them with Captain Pedlov at their head (he is at the head of the relief committee), although he is not able to distribute enough to relieve our misery, for please look upon this little table of statistics. The situation of my father, who holds a high position with the mail service and has held it for twenty years paid, monthly:

Before the war 342 crowns, $68.40, bread 2137 kg., meat 475 kg., sugar 280 kg., cloth 30 meters.

Before the war there were four of us in the family, but now we are seven; my parents, grandmother, three brothers and a little sister. Please calculate what it means to be able to get what is necessary for our welfare. What a great joy it would be if we could get tea dollars a month . . . but this now lives only in our fairy phantasy. Of the children I am the oldest, 13 years of age, and I attend the IV class of the gymnasium, where I have a rank for good scholarship. One of my brothers is nine, the other five, and my little sister is seven years of age. Do they collect stamps in America? For I have a fine collection of all the old and new, and also the wartime stamps. It is worth about a hundred dollars, but I am sorry to say that one could sell it here for only a trifle. Now our only happiness is found in our school and books. I have received the contents of the packages sent, one pair of gloves, and the dried fruit, for which I thank you very much, and for which we can return only grateful remembrances at present. Today is the commemoration of our old revolutionary war, but we would rather see the celebration of our expected liberation.

The Almighty bless you and keep you long in sweet parental love.

Summons Chairman Hooper to the White House for Conference This Afternoon

Washington, July 21.—Determined to obtain a first hand view of the railroad strike situation, President Harding today called Chairman Hooper, of the Railroad Labor Board, here from Chicago for a personal interview tomorrow. Prior to summoning the Labor Board head, the President received, Chairman Cummins and Senators Kellogg and Watson, of the Senate Interstate Commerce committee, who reported on their conference last night with eastern railroad executives and later the whole question was taken up for discussion in a prolonged cabinet session.

The President was represented as desirous of hearing from Mr. Hooper an account of the positions taken by leaders of the striking shopmen, the rail executives and the board itself during the negotiations aimed at a strike settlement, but which now have been broken off. Some conflicting reports in the matter have been received at the White House, especially since the conference held last night by the three interstate commerce committee Senators and the executives of the larger Eastern trunk lines.

Meanwhile, Attorney General Daugherty conferred at the Capitol first with Senator Borah, chairman of the Senate labor committee, and then with Mr. Cummins, the discussions involving the possibility of legal action in both the railroad and the coal strikes, although the Attorney General stated afterwards that no immediate legal proceedings were under consideration.

With Mr. Cummins he went over the entire legal situation as it concerns both the railroad and the coal strike, the result being Mr. Daugherty said that he and Mr. Cummins were in agreement as to the government’s power to act in both cases.

“It hasn’t any doubt,” the Attorney General said later, “that the government has as much power and authority to protect men who are engaged in the production of coal which is indispensable to transportation as it has to protect the men engaged in transporting the mails and interstate commerce. The government has full power and authority to see that the production incidental to transportation is not interfered with.”

(By International News.)

London, July 22.—Lloyd George has been urged by his closest advisers to go to Washington as head of the British debt funding commission to discuss the world’s affairs with President Harding in order to make up for his absence from the Washington disarmament conference, but the suggestion has been rejected, according to information received today from authoritative sources.

TOUR OF GEORGIA MEETS APPROVAL OF BUSINESS MEN

J. P. Davenport of Pactulus is the Latest to Sign for Chamber of Commerce Trip

“Mr. J. P. Davenport of Pactulus has signed for the Georgia Automobile party, concerning which several notices have appeared in this paper during the week.

In speaking of this trip Mr. Davenport said: “A right step in the right direction. I want to go.”

That the leading business and professional men are taking this trip seriously and believe in its value to Pitt county, is evidenced by the following expressions:

D. L. Turnage, of the Greenville Oil and Fertilizer Company, said: “This trip, carried out on the outline given me,” will be the biggest accomplishment of the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce.”

R. L. Crow, of the Pitt Shoe Company, said: “This trip will be worth the expense of the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce for 12 months.”

Dr. C. J. Ellen, ex-president of the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce, voiced the sentiment of many, when he said: “The finest thing for solidarity and county development that has yet been undertaken.”

J. E. Winslow, in speaking of this undertaking, made the following significant statement: “This trip will accomplish what cannot be accomplished in any other way.”

Secretary Smith, of the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce, and County Agent, W. B. Pace, who have been working jointly in behalf of this project, state they are delighted with the response accorded to this important movement.

O. F. McCrary, district farm demonstration agent, returned to his home in Washington last night after attending a meeting of cotton association members here yesterday.

Montgomery, July 22.—With the policy of silence adopted by fifteen year old Mildred Brewer, confessed slayer of Portis McKeithan, baggage man of this place, mystery still surrounds the manner in which McKeithan came to his death. He was found shot to death near a country road. Many theories have been advanced, many of them being a suicide pact in which the girl failed.

SUNBURN SPACE COMES HIGH ON DUTCH BEACH

Scheveningen, Holland, July 22.—Sunburn is being sold here at about seventy-five cents a burn.

A sandy part of the beach has been roped off, and admission is charged persons who wish to lie semi-nude, and bask themselves brown in the sun.

Those who cannot afford genuine sunburn at this popular seaside resort may buy artificial sunburn in the form of a German dye, much used this summer by lake youths and flappers that fashionable “healthy” complexion.

Saturday, July 22, 1922

A ray of hope is seen in the coal strike. Wonder in what part of the country it was seen.

A two hundred gallon still blew up in an apartment house in Atlanta, Ga., yesterday. If that much liquor can be distilled in a residential section what in the world are the boys on the farm doing.

The outlook for settlement of the coal and rail strikes seem to be mighty gloomy at the present, but who can tell, a rift in the clouds may occur at any moment. That's what everybody desires anyway.

Great Britain must have been in a mighty fine mood when she ratified all treaties of the Washington conference. After doing all this, John Bull can hardly afford to look his neighbors straight in the eye, and say that he feels he has done the right thing.

Potato storage warehouses are receiving more or less thought at this time and it is likely next year will find sufficient capacity for the entire crop. Each community should erect a warehouse if possible as in this way alone will enormous loss be eliminated. This country alone loses several thousand dollars annually from improper preservation and as production increases the loss will become greater. Every farmer should talk storage warehouses until he gets one in the community in which he resides.

It begins to look like quite a number of business men and farmers are going to join the chamber of commerce trip through Georgia to inspect the crops of that state, and that they will derive great benefit from the visit is not to be questioned. Activities of the farm in Georgia have developed to no little extent in past years and they will have many things of interest to people in this section who are accustomed to seeing tobacco and cotton produced as principal crops. Diversification is one of the big issues in Georgia and as it is greatly needed in this section many fine ideas should be gathered by members of the party.

The need of strict enforcement of traffic laws on the hard surfaced roads of this county is very pronounced at this time and unless something is done severe loss of life will result from the reckless driving of those who place little value upon their own lives and less upon others. Many accidents have occurred right recently that could have been avoided if the laws had been properly enforced in the past, and unless immediate action is taken the toll of life will be even more serious. The board of commissioners should take some step toward a reduction of fast driving. This can be done by the placing of traffic cops at proper points along the road. After several arrests and heavy fines there would be a great decrease in reckless driving and the more conservative would be able to drive along at a leisurely rate of speed without having their lives constantly jeopardized. Something must be done, as we have reiterated time and again, and it must be done immediately if the law regarding the operation of automobiles is enforced as it should be.

A REAL DANGER

One Extreme is as Bad as Another. There is often a danger, when an evil in some institution or movement comes to light, to rush to the conclusion that the whole thing must be bad.

We start on a reform crusade that may go so far as to cause as much harm in one direction as good in another.

Some people seem to be in that danger as far as the matter of the moving picture is concerned. The Arbuckle case with certain other circumstances pointed out some evils several months ago.

A few many well-meaning people immediately began to condemn the "movie" in rather indiscriminate fashion.

It requires no argument, of course, to prove that such an attitude is not going to accomplish a great deal of good.

The New York American recently gave "the other side" of the picture: "Motion pictures have opened to millions new vistas of knowledge and beauty."

"They have brought the glories of an Alpine sunset, the mysterious charm of the Orient, the cool feathery waterfall—the multitudinous wonders of nature into the lives of the tenement dweller, the factory worker."

"They have provided countless hours of laughter, of romance and adventure for a great class of Americans who are otherwise unable to afford the luxury of frequent entertainment."

"They are given surcease from toil, forgetfulness to the troubled heart, courage to the despairing.—Masonic Journal."

WHERE ARE YOUR EYES?

Doctor Galin said our eyes were placed at the top so that we could see things at a distance. It sounds simple enough, but not many of us have thought of it just that way.

Signals in light-houses are elevated so that they may be seen from afar. Many other instances might be cited to show the value of high lights.

The driver of an automobile, as he sits at the steering wheel, has a clear view ahead and ought to be able to protect his passengers from danger at the railroad grade crossing. The risk of being killed by a train of cars is something we all learned in childhood days.

There should be no haphazard driving across railroad tracks. Any driver who assumes that because trains run only at occasional intervals he is relieved of the necessity of being vigilant every time he crosses the tracks, certainly takes a big chance of being numbered with the slain.

Careful use of eyes and ears is the first consideration; next comes something else quite as important, the exercise of good judgment in meeting the situation that confronts us.

Much has been said about the safety habit, what a good thing it is. Everybody gives assent to it in theory, but that many fail to practice it, is demonstrated daily at railroad crossings, where lives lost and bodies maimed are the heavy toll paid for thoughtlessness.

Thank your lucky stars for those good eyes, placed high up at a point of vantage in your anatomy! Yes, and see to it that you make 100 per cent use of those same eyes at a place of known danger, like the railroad grade crossing.

Who drives across In a careful way, Will live to drive, Another day.

CAN CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING KEEP UP THE PACE.

(By CHARLES E. HUNT)

It has come to the ears of North Coast wheat dealers and millers that there is much dissatisfaction among farmers who two years ago joined the northwestern farm bloc under hope of greater profits on their crops, and that many will withdraw from the organization and go back to the old method of selling to private operators disposing of their grain to any and all who have the cash. Conviction that there is something wrong in the co-operative method has driven these farmers to the wall. Just where the trouble is has not yet been disclosed but that the members have not been paid any better money for their wheat than they have under the long-established system, in addition to waiting over considerable periods of time for their money, is conceded.

It is said that in Washington, Oregon and Idaho farmers have mortgaged their wheat this season in order to get free of iron-clad contracts to which the shrewd organizers tied them and that before the new cereal year is well started many more will be added to the ranks of the insurgents.

All the farm blocs in the Pacific Northwest have the same basic plan of advancing a certain percentage per unit on the products, placing the remainder in a sinking fund, so to speak, which is later disbursed in the form of dividends. All this takes time. And now, rather than pass through a third season like it, farmers who grow 75,000,000 bushels of wheat in Washington, Oregon and Idaho, exclusive of Montana's 30,000,000 bushels per annum, are restless. Considerable of their paper from the 1921 harvest is still held by country banks, and the banks are pressing for settlement. Farmers have had difficulty in financing grain bags, due to the refusal of banks to assist them, and co-op operators are expected to buy the bags and distribute them through the producing sections. This dealers are declining to do.

Wheat growers who have weathered many seasons of financial joy and sorrow are recalling those glorious days when they got their cash as soon as they sold their grain. There were no partial payments by professional dealers and millers, no holding out or sinking funds or utopian dividends. Farmers always knew where they stood and they long to be in this comfortable position once more. It is therefore seriously doubted by competent wheat and milling authorities whether the northwest block will survive two more harvests.

Nobody seems to know what is the matter. The men at the head of the organizations are not trained grain men, and with all its power the bloc has failed to recognize the essential fact that idealism does not meet the economic demands of the day. And the irony of the situation is that today long established buyers are daily visiting wheat farmers with ready checkbooks to buy up entire fields of wheat at prices that are 30 to 40 cents per bushel over the pre-war average, all of which the contract-bound farmer must refuse.

Due to the construction of the Panama Canal, a new world market has been opened to wheat from the three northwest states and Montana, which has given a higher value to the grain. Heretofore wheat from this district was based on Chicago. All this has gone and with it the 30 cents per bushel freight spread which enabled coast buyers to ship to that market. Coast and Chicago wheats are now practically on a parity, and Liverpool has become the natural outlet. This appears to be another reason why farmers who signed the dotted line wish to be free to choose their own selling avenues.

There is no doubt that pyramiding of profits in the wheat business was one reason for the birth of the farm bloc. Millers and dealers themselves today concede this, with its elimination there is no doubt that such farmers as could free themselves from contract entanglements would do so, and that the bulk of the wheat for the coming fiscal year would be moved in the old way. The effect of farm blocs is to hold the wheat, letting out certain fixed percentages of the total pool at widely-spaced periods in place of following the market. All this has the effect of moving the wheat slowly, of restraining the normal flow and in a measure paralyzing business dependent upon it. It is agreed among business interest there that the real rational prosperity for which the nation has long been waiting cannot come until the 1922 wheat crop has been turned over, and co-operative pools do not help this outlook in the least.

New Yorkers have been eating Puget Sound grown eggs for months. They ate 800 carloads of these eggs last year and will, unless the market fabric is seriously disturbed, consume 1,000 carloads during the coming season. Nearly all these eggs were marketed through association sources similar in all general respects to the farm bloc. There are many jobbers on the Pacific coast who are willing to back up the assertion that farmers who handled their eggs thru private sources would be far better off in pocket if not in disposition had they refused to listen to promotion propaganda and sold to established dealers. There have been many changes of management in the egg bloc, litigation, dissatisfaction and delay in paying farmers for the eggs. It is true that the Puget Sound egg industry is today much larger than can be compassed by local markets and that New York must continue to be the large consuming field, but private buyers point out that New York interests have already operated in the North Pacific territory in person, paid cash on the spot for all their purchases, and that next season four of the largest New York houses will establish permanent buying agencies here and in California. This would not be necessary if the bloc plan had worked successfully for the farmer.

Bloc organizers, capable of spellbinding from the platform, were imported from California three years ago at the instance of co-operative promoters. These wordy influences were put to work in the largest assembling centers to preach the new gospel of co-operative marketing. What farmers of the three northwest states made no money during the war, and subsequently the dehydrating process was so severe that they have come as far as the 1922 harvest with first prospects of a remunerative season, only to find themselves as a result of "sitting here" in a hopeless condition. But when many wheat farmers will mortgage their unmarketed crops in order to square themselves with the bosses of the bloc it is an indication, to the grain interest of the North Pacific, that a revolutionary recession is in progress, and that the pendulum is about to swing far in the opposite direction.

Dairy farmers are now in their first real co-operative season, and there is nothing on which to base a forecast of its success or failure. Originating in a season of high milk prices, it is surmised that harmony will prevail to next fall. Some experienced milk, butter and cheese salesmen and managers have been secured to head this group and with a perennial shortage of raw products in the North Pacific territory the plan may work out. If it does, it will be the first of the North Pacific trinity to do so.—Commerce & Finance, New York.)

Thousands and thousands of Buick owners are voluntarily saving this every day—and why? When you stop to consider that the wonderful Valve-in-Head Motor, the patented Velvet-Disc Clutch, the Single Automatically Oiled Universal Joint, the Safe Buick Torsion Tube Drive (which does not drive through the springs) and Buick Full Floating Rear Axle are exclusive Buick features—IT'S EASY TO SEE WHY BUICK OWNERS ARE BUICK BOOSTERS.

Sheriff's Tax Sale

By virtue of the tax list execution placed in my hands by the Board of Commissioners of Pitt County, and the levy made thereunder and the law authorizing such sales, I will on Monday, August 7, 1922, at the court house door in the town of Greenville, N. C., beginning at 12 o'clock noon, offer at auction the real estate of parties heretofore set out and the real estate as described in this said tax list unless the taxes and cost on the several parcels are paid by that time. Taxes 1921.

This April 8th, 1922.

E. R. DUDLEY, Sheriff Pitt County.

AUTOMOBILE SALES EXPECTED TO BE HEAVY THIS YEAR

Prospect for Large Distribution was Never Better Leaders Believe

Pittsburg, Pa., July 22.—Prospects for automobile sales during the next six months are good. In the opinion of a large percentage of distributors and service stations in this country. This information was secured by the company when a questionnaire was sent out to its more than 1800 representatives in all parts of the country to determine the views of the trade regarding business conditions and the outlook for the future. Replies were very generally optimistic.

To secure a cross-section of opinion covering all parts of the country 156 replies from the principal cities and towns were analyzed. Of this number, ninety-six stated that prospects for the sale of automobiles during the next six months were good. Thirty-nine found the outlook fair, three were doubtful and seventeen were pessimistic. Fifteen from the agricultural districts based their optimism on the assumption of good crops.

Eighty-six of the replies noted that business at present is active, nine rated it as fair, thirty-four medium and twenty-six found it dull.

The outlook is better for low and medium-priced cars than for high-priced machines, replies indicated. Fifty-eight believed that the demand would be for low-priced cars, thirty-eight specified medium-priced, fifty-six favored medium and low and two mentioned low and high. There were no replies favorable to high-priced cars alone.

To the question, "Are accessories being bought for low-priced cars?" seventy answered in the affirmative and thirty took the negative viewpoint.

A falling off of interest in second-hand cars was evidenced. Eighty believed that there was not as much interest as there was a few months ago, forty-nine found no difference, and eighteen noted an increase.

A large number of replies stated that rate of storage batteries at present is governed more by price than by quality. The harm done by cheap batteries made for price rather than service was mentioned frequently.

ENGLAND SAFE FROM BOLSHEVIK MENACE

Common Sense of People Saves
Country, Declared Lord
Birkenhead

By DAVID M. CHURCH,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, July 21.—Great Britain is safe from Bolshevism because of the common sense of the British people, according to the belief of Lord Birkenhead, Lord Chancellor, and this common sense is the one hope of Europe.

"We have gone through nearly four years since the armistice," Lord Birkenhead said in reviewing conditions in Great Britain. "There have been moments during those four years of grave anxiety."

"The essential stability of the institutions of this country and the fundamental and traditional common sense of the citizens of this country have been vindicated month by month and year by year until we are in a position to see these things in their true proportion, and to know that we shall not appeal in vain to that common sense which has been inherent in the British nation for so many centuries, which is the steady force in the world, and which is in Europe the one hope which makes us not despair of the civilization of Europe."

"Is it of no importance that the Labor Party meeting in its annual congress, and after an inflammatory speech by its president (which, I am certain, did not represent the true opinions of those who attended the conference), should by an overwhelming majority have repelled from among themselves that inconsiderable Communist fragment? It is to the credit of organized labor in this country that they have perceived the specious sophistry and insidious danger of those doctrines."

"Whether there may or may not have been grave dangers in the last four years I do not pronounce upon. I am too strong a believer in the British character to believe that any danger would have arisen with which we would not have successfully dealt; but, do you suppose that the British people are to embrace these crazy doctrines at a moment at which, in the sight of the whole world, they have involved the mighty Empire of Russia in devastation and ruin? To suppose that the working classes of this country are to be deceived by these mischievous new and vicious doctrines is, believe me, to lend far too inattentive an ear to the part singing and spend a few moments in of that political education and intuitive common sense have played in the history of our country."

Class taught by Miss Ward Moore; H. L. Smith Supt., of Sunday School; Rev. Leland Watts Smith, Pastor.
Class organized in September 1921 with six active members; since this time we have enrolled sixty two members; furnished three teachers for other classes; have an Honorary Roll of six; lost five by leaving the city; have an active roll of fifty with an average attendance of forty. We are registered in the Southern Baptist Convention as an organized class and have attained seven points in Standard of Excellency.

REPORT OF RED OAK UNION SUNDAY SCHOOL FOR SECOND QUARTER

(By Special Correspondent.)

We have a few friends scattered over the county who always seem glad to read anything concerning our Sunday school so we are publishing the report for last quarter.

We had during last quarter eight hundred three present on about an average of sixty-one a Sunday. Our total collection was twelve dollars and fifty cents or an average of ninety-six cents a Sunday.

This is a splendid report taking into consideration the hot weather, whooping cough and measles. We hope from now on, or until real cold weather, at least to increase this report at least fifty percent.

MOVIE FILM CAUSES BOY TO LOSE HIS TROUSERS

Cincinnati, July 22.—George Mayberry, ten, saw a piece of motion picture film sticking from the hip pocket of Leonard, his twelve-year-old brother, and struck a match to it to see what would happen.

In a flash it was all over but the shouting, and Leonard refused to stop that. Physicians at the hospital found the boy to be suffering with burns on his hands and hips, but said he would recover. They expressed no hope for the trousers.

We extend a cordial invitation to all who will to visit us at any time or to join us. Come, and help us to sing and spend a few moments in studying God's word. If you don't gain anything surely you will not lose anything.

CANADA FIRST IN OWNERS OF HOMES

Fifty Per Cent of People in Dominion Own Homes, Report Shows

(By International News)

Ottawa, Ont., July 19.—Canada has a larger percentage of home owners in its population than any other nation, according to recently compiled figures of the census department.

London, Ont., leads among Canadian cities with 80 per cent of its inhabitants owning their own homes. Hamilton and Calgary have 60 per cent home owners, Toronto 55 per cent, Halifax 51 per cent, Vancouver 45 per cent, Edmonton 45 per cent, Winnipeg 44 per cent, Ottawa 40 per cent, Montreal 5 per cent.

Montreal, the largest city in Canada, pulls down the general average to 35 per cent for the ten cities. Taking into consideration the country districts, it is believed by the census experts that nearly 50 per cent of the people of Canada own their own homes. Canada is a land of farm owners where the tenant is almost unknown. No better proof of Canada's basic prosperity, it is pointed out, is to be found than this large percentage of home owners among its citizens.

The ten cities covered by the figures range in number of residences from 9,000 to 134,000. Of seventy-two cities in the United States with a population of 100,000 or more only two—Des Moines and Grand Rapids—it is declared, have a 50 per cent population of home owners. Des Moines tops the list with 51.1 per cent, while Grand Rapids has only a shade fewer. Recent Government statistics in the United States show that 45.6 per cent of the people of the United States own their own homes and 54.4 per cent live in rented quarters.

MISS CHARLOTTE STARKEY ENTERTAINS

In Honor of Visiting Girls, at Amuzu Park Thursday Evening.

Though rain poured down Thursday evening there was a very successful Gypsy Tea given at Amuzu Park by Miss Charlotte Starkey in honor of a number of young ladies visiting her friends in Greenville. The young people went out to the park late in the afternoon and first enjoyed boating and bathing, after which they had to get indoors on account of the rain, which did not dampen their spirits at all. The large roomy pavilion gave ample protection, and they enjoyed dancing and many games of play. Refreshments were served just at dark. The Amuzu mechanical orchestra furnished the music for the occasion.

The honor guests were Miss Louise LaRoue, Miss Nan Parrott, and Miss Isabel Dunn, of Kinston; Miss Margaret York of Raleigh and Miss Thelma Brown, of Williamston.

MR. AND MRS. A. J. TAYLOR ENTERTAIN AT BONFIRE SUPPER

(Reported for The Reflector.) Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Taylor delightfully entertained a number of their intimate friends at a bonfire supper at their county home, six miles north of Greenville, during the week.

As the guests approached the home they could see the huge bonfire at the tobacco barn. They were taken to the barn where they found things cooked and things to cook. So all, of course, made ready to show their talent as cooks.

They had much fun cooking, and at the end of the cooking Mr. Elwood Day was given a chicken foot for being the best cook. Then the table was laid and for a goodly while most of them exercised their jaws. Violin music by Mr. Lee Davis and singing were enjoyed throughout the evening. At a late hour a delicious ice course was served. After each guest had told of the splendid times they had had they left for their respective homes. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Taylor, Mr. W. C. Taylor, Allah and Pauline Taylor, Mr. Elwood Davis, Mr. Lee Davis,

Miss Olivia Moye, Miss Zilphia Hemby, Miss Mildred Whichard, Miss Thelma Flanagan, Miss Janie Jackson and Mr. T. F. Taylor.

KING'S DAUGHTERS PLAN TO PLACE CHAPEL AT SAMARCAND MANOR

Raleigh, N. C., June 23, 1922. Enclosed you will find a response made by the King's Daughters and Sons of North Carolina to a crying necessity for a Chapel at Samarcand.

Upon entering the grounds of that beautifully located institution, there is, to the eye, a striking want of the Chapel, which usually nestles amongst trees in a community, however small that community may be.

Samarcand is the refuge for wayward girls from all churches and denominations of Christians, and also for those not connected with any church. The King's Daughters and Sons, a non-denominational organization, feel a most earnest wish to place a Chapel at this institution, and believe that the generous men and women of North Carolina, will gladly embrace this opportunity of helping to give to Samarcand at home for worship and prayer to God, an absolute necessity, for a school. This chapel will be open for Divine Service, conducted in turn by different churches, and each one of us will feel that we are links in a chain surrounding those girls for their protection.

Miss Agnes MacNaughton, the able manager of the institution, has asked us to give the order for this Chapel by July 1st, if possible, saying that contractors will be at Samarcand by that time to erect a new Cottage, and that it may be a consideration for both of us, to give the two contracts for the same date, besides being most anxious for the chapel.

It will cost us $5000.00, and we will be grateful to you for a contribution.

MARGARET C. D. BURGWIN,
State President.

To the good people of Greenville and Pitt county:
The letter printed by the courtesy of The Reflector in this issue of the daily speaks for itself, but I must say in justice to the cause that there is no money promised by the state for a place of worship for our unfortunate sisters at Samarcand. There are no denominational lines drawn there. The hand of Christ's love and forgiveness is outstretched to all alike. The ministers of our churches have contented to speak to their congregations on Sunday morning of the need.

A committee from the circle will call later. Help the Daughters and Sons of "The Patient Circle of Greenville, in making this building of a chapel at Samarcand possible in the near future. Will you not give to the committee who will call. Your voluntary contribution with a glad heart whether it is large or small, glad that the Old North State is awakening to the real need of its sons and daughters and for the Glory of God, and "In His Name."

ADA CHERRY,
State Chaplain of the North Carolina Branch of the Order of The King's Daughters and Sons.

GERMANY STUNNED AS ALLIES ASSUME CHARGE OF FINANCE

Action Described as Complete Guardianship of the German Government

Berlin, July 22.—The public today was stunned by news of the government's acceptance of the Allies' demand for control of German finances. The action was described as complete guardianship and an anti-government newspaper denounced the agreement in strong language.

GREENVILLE TO MAKE SPLENDID SHOWING AT BIG MERCHANDISE FAIR

Register early and get your season pass—Admission to the National Merchandise, New York, Aug. 7 to 25 fair will be by pass only. Passes may be obtained from the Registration Bureau at the Grand Central Palace or the 71st Regiment Armory. There will be only one entrance to the fair and that will be through the main entrance of the Grand Central Palace. Those expecting to attend should write to the registration committee, National Merchandise Fair, No. 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City, requesting that an identification certificate be mailed them in advance.

Word received from the managing director of the fair to the local merchants association secretary says the executive committee wants to take this means of telling that they are more than pleased with the fine showing which Greenville will make at the National Fair.

Be sure and get your certificate before starting on your journey as certificates are not kept at all stations, if not obtainable at your home station the ticket agent can inform you at what station they may be obtained. No refund of fare will be made on account of failure to obtain proper certificate when purchasing going ticket, nor on account of failure to present validated certificate when purchasing return ticket.

A Million New Cars. Considerably more than a million new automobiles were licensed in the United States last year. No wonder we see shoals of new cars on the streets every day.

The serious problem, in connection with the operation of automobiles, is chance taking at railroad grade crossings. In spite of the frightful mishaps reported each day, there is only a slight checking of the evil. The only known remedy is to everlastingly keep on urging drivers to observe the following precautions:

When you drive near railroad tracks that are to be crossed think of trains of cars. Right there, on the tracks, is the only place you will find any.

With such thoughts in your mind, you will be prepared for any emergency. Most times, there will be no train near enough to hinder you, but don't trust to luck. Look and listen every time.

If you trust to luck, you are not giving yourself and your passengers a fair deal. A professional gambler will bet almost anything, but he never wagers his life. He might lose a lot of money once and then recoup his losses in another venture. But every one of us know that when he loses his life he is going to stay dead.

That man who was killed at a crossing yesterday, had no desire to die. There was no end of things to make life worth while. The man simply followed in the steps of thousands who made the mistake of yielding to a quick impulse of trying to beat a train over a crossing.

Sober second thought would have saved him; so we close this little appeal with a solemn warning that now

SHORT SKIRTS DO NOT WORRY BELFAST FOLKS

(By International News.)

Belfast, Me., July 21.—Girl's short skirts fail to alarm this city.

During his address to the graduating class of the Belfast High School, Mayor Clement W. Westcott referred to the short skirts worn by the women and girls, and said he thought the matter of regulation should be left to the school principal, as was recently done in a Massachusetts city.

When Charles S. Bickford, of the school board, spoke he referred laughingly to the matter and declared that although he had been on the school board for twenty-five years, if they were going to measure girls' skirts he thought it was time for him to resign.

USEFULNESS OF BLACK-DRAUGHT

Louisiana Lady Tells How This Well-Known Liver Medicine Helped Her Obtain Relief

Baton Rouge, La.—"After having used many laxatives, I chanced to hear of Black-Draught, and decided to use it as a liver tonic," says Mrs. E. B. Odum, of 513 South Boulevard, this city.

"Black-Draught acted on my liver, cleansed my system, and I was in much better condition after having used it," says Mrs. Odum.

"Black-Draught relieves the swelling, or lightness, in the head. It relieves the heavy feeling after meals, which indicated to me it was good for indigestion."

"So I keep Black-Draught in the house and use it for colds, headache, sour stomach and torpid liver. I have told my friends, and they use it also."

"My present health is improved wonderfully."

Thousands of people have learned of the value of Black-Draught from personal experience, and have chosen it as their favorite powdered liver medicine. It is purely vegetable; not disagreeable to take; causes no bad after-effects.

"When you get up in the morning with a bad taste in your mouth, swollen not right, bilious, or have a headache, try a dose of Black-Draught. Keep a package in your home, ready for immediate use when needed."

Ask your druggist for Black-Draught liver medicine. See that the package bears the name, "Thedford's"—Adv.

THOMPSON HURLS SOX TO VICTORY OVER FARMVILLE

Hurler Receives Airtight Support and Noses Out 2 to 0 Victory Over the Farmers

Greenville came back at the Farmers in old time form yesterday afternoon and won the second game of the series by the score of 2 to 0. The game was one of the prettiest seen in Farmville this season as both clubs fielded brilliantly at times and positively declined to yield the slightest kind of an advantage. The game passed off smoothly until the seventh inning when an error and two hits netted the Sox the only two runs of the game.

The outstanding feature of the exhibition was Thompson's mound work for the Sox. He pitched one of the greatest games of the season and the Farmers at no time seriously threatened to score. Woodhead, a recent acquisition to the pitching staff, did mound duty for the Farmers, and while he breezed along nicely until the disastrous seventh the Sox pounded his offerings freely at this juncture and were enabled to put the game on ice.

Thompson allowed the Farmers only four safeties, all of which were well scattered, and Woodhead yielded up seven. The former also had nine strikeouts against Woodhead two. The entire Greenville club played airtight ball. They fielded cleanly, with exception of one single instance, and took advantage of the breaks in such way as to make them count directly to their advantage.

The Sox started their tallying in the seventh when Frazier landed safely at first on an error by Marlette. Smith sacrificed, going out pitcher to first, Frazier, however, landed safely at second. White doubled to deep center, scoring Frazier. Stringfield singled opportunely and White scored. Boehling doubled and Stringfield went to third. Thompson, however, fanned, and the side was retired.

Smith and Boehling did the heavy stick work for Greenville, each being credited with two safeties, one of which was for extra bases. Carson, White and Stringfield were credited with one hit each.

N. Marlette secured two hits for Farmville, Holding and W. Marlette being credited with the other two. The box score of the game follows:

BEARS TAKE LEASE ON LIFE AND TAKE THEIR FIRST GAME

New Bern, July 21.—The Bears took their first game of the second half of the East Carolina split season here today, when Casey Morris sent in the winning run in the seventh, after New Bern had tied the Tarboro lead of two runs gained in the sixth. Morris also pulled a poor bone-head play in the sixth, when he failed to touch a perfect peg from center field and allowed two runs to be put over the pan on the play, the ball going as a roller to the grandstand.

The features of the game were the playing of Left Wilson and Ketch, who not only participated in several double plays but caught men out on the bags time after time. Clean hitting gave New Bern the victory. Manager Davis was not present at the game, not having returned from his northern trip for players.

HIGHWAYMEN DROP ONE TO PAMS BUT HOMERS DO TRICK

Washington, N. C., July 21.—The Kinston Highwaymen were no match for the Pams today, when Clarks and Moorfield hit circuit blows a total of 4 runs. The score was 6 to 2, Kinston tallying in the first and the sixth. The game was a pretty game with hard hits the feature.

Kinston drew first blood in the first frame, when Adams singled with Roberts on the bags.

Washington tied the count in the fourth, Moorefield hitting for the circuit.

Kinston came back in the sixth with another tally but the Pams opened up in their half and put over three, when a batsman hit by the pitcher, a walk, a sacrifice hit and Clarke's homer cleaned up the whole infield bags and scored three times. Washington added one in the seventh and one in the eighth, while Kinston failed to score during the rest of the game.

EVEN DREAMS ARE MADE IN MODERN PHOTOPLAY NOW
Selznick Company Has Gone to Great Lengths in "Reckless Youth"

"Reckless Youth," starring Elaine Hammerstein, which is to be shown at White's Theatre Monday is a splendid example of the lengths to which modern motion picture producers will go to provide realism and entertainment for photoplay devotees.

As a mere incident of the story there is mentioned the collision of a big Transatlantic liner and an ocean-going yacht. The collision does not actually take place but comes to the heroine while she is unconscious to help point out to her the error of her ways.

In the written story the collision is dismissed with only a few words of description. In a play on the spoken stage it would have been side-stepped with the aid of a little excited conversation and some wild pointings off stage. But in the photoplay, at the expense of many thousands of dollars and almost incalculable effort and ingenuity, the dream collision is shown as realistically as if one had been on a third vessel within a hundred yards of the accident. An actual liner and a luxurious private yacht which has made many trips across the Atlantic and through the Mediterranean, were used in securing these pictures which last but a minute or so during the telling of the screen story.

"Reckless Youth" is from a story by Cosmo Hamilton after a script made by Edward J. Montague. Ralph Ince directed the production. Niles Welch, Myrtle Stedman, Louise Prussing, and Frank Currier are prominent in the supporting cast.

HAVE YOU A "JOHN SMITH LIVING IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD?"

The Most Unusual Name in the World Really is Unusual

How many "John Smiths" do you know? Yes, there are quite a few by that name in this city, but, do you realize how unusual that name is? It is unusual for the very fact that it is so unusual. A volume of anything is unusual—bulk stands out. The name Pennypacker, for instance, might not excite your curiosity to any great extent. But John Smith! Who, you ask, has the audacity to call himself by that familiar name?

There is a certain "John Smith" coming to White's Theatre next Tuesday that you will want to know. He is a tall, well proportioned man with light brown hair and a fair complexion. His eyes are blueish-gray and his chin is strong and well-formed. He weighs about 164 pounds, rides, swims, boxes and does everything that a "man" should. His name is really Eugene O'Brien, Selznick star, but while he is here, you are going to know him as "John Smith."

Here is the interesting part of it all—why does he call himself "John Smith"? What has he done, who as he done, or who has done him?

You will want to know all these things. "John Smith" is a Selznick picture, written and directed by Victor Heerman, with a cast which includes Mary Astor, George Fawcett, Vivian Ogden and other favorites.

He is a mighty interesting personality—this John Smith. Don't fail to get acquainted.

RICH COSTUMES WORN IN "FOOL'S PARADISE"

A million stitches for twelve costumes! That's what it took to make the gorgeously bejeweled costumes of the Siamese dancing girls in one episode of Cecil B. De Mille's latest Paramount picture, "Fools' Paradise," which will be shown at White's Theatre Thursday 27th.

These costumes, perhaps the most ornately beautiful ever designed for the screen, were created by Claire Wist, special costume designer for Cecil B. De Mille productions. The twelve dancers appear in reproductions of the famous Temple Dances. The weight of their costumes is considerable as each garment is decorated with at least two thousand set jewels; sapphires, emeralds, rubies and rhinestones. Counting fifty stitches to each jewel, 100,000 to the garment, it can be seen that the original estimate of one million stitches for the twelve costumes is conservative.

And these costumes were for dancers only and to gain a special effect. Going into the costumes of the principals is another story. Marvelous sable cloaks and ermine negligees, startling jeweled Javanese costumes and a succession of interesting Spanish gowns place this newest De Mille picture at an exceptional point in feminine investiture.

Playing the principal roles are Dorothy Dalton, Mildred Harris, Conrad Nagel, Theodore Kosloff, John Davidson, Julia Faye. The support is adequate.
