MR. H. L. SMITH CONTINUES STORY OF AUTOMOBILE TOUR

Secretary of Chamber of Commerce Writes Interestingly of Tour Through Georgia

VISIONS TOBACCO SECTION IN THE CITY OF TIFTON, GA.

Other Places Visited Included District Agricultural School and Cotton Compress

(H. L. SMITH.)

After completing the Ashburn program on the morning of Aug. 7th, the Pitt automobile party proceeded to Tifton, Ga., where they saw tobacco selling on the Tifton floors. Members of the Pitt delegation, who were familiar with tobacco, said it was bringing a good price. The party was also surprised to see such a good quality of tobacco.

After several minutes on the tobacco floors, without any previous arrangements being made, local citizens, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, took charge of the party and were shown over town. The Imperial Tobacco Company's plant was visited. Judging from the size and equipment of this plant, the big companies have faith in the future of the tobacco development in south Georgia.

Other places visited were the district Agricultural school and the cotton compress.

Tifton, until a few years ago was nothing but a pine forest, but the developing hand of men of faith and vision until they have a beautiful little city. Modern business buildings, ample railroad facilities, beautiful homes, up-to-date schools, etc., adorn Tifton and point to a continued growth and development.

Moultrie was reached in the afternoon of the 7th. Local people were on the job and did all in their power to make for the profit and pleasure of the trip.

Early on the morning of the 8th, the Chamber of Commerce and county agent took possession of the Pitt party and showed them over Moultrie enterprises and Colquitt county farms.

The first place visited was the creamery. It was a place of life and activity. People were constantly coming in from their farms with their cream. While there the different phases of the creamery were explained in detail. For cream, one of the things manufactured by this plant, and ice-cold watermelons were served the party.

Several farms were visited and their methods closely studied. One of the farms visited was that of Mr. J. W. Coleman. His land was being devoted to corn, hay, grasses, hogs and cattle. Mr. Coleman was enthusiastic about his peaches, carpet and dollar grass for pastures. Mr. Coleman says the way to make money with live stock is to let them gather the food. The following quotations from Mr. Coleman will give his views of the situation in his section.

"Conditions will have to improve materially before I raise any more cotton."

"The majority of our farmers are small farmers. We do not encourage large farms."

"I made $245.00 profit in 31 days on 151 head of hogs."

As you went from one farm to another, you would see wagon loads of hogs on their way to the packing plant; wagon loads of pepper on their way to the canning plant; and milk products headed for the creamery. A these commodities were on their way to the markets, you could fancy you could see, in large letters in front of those prancing steeds, the word, prosperity.

Attention should be called to one particular field of cotton. It was a field of cotton that had been dusted for the weevil. Calcium arsenate was used freely with this particular piece of cotton. After the party had alighted, a plant heavily fruited, greeted their eyes. In fact the bolls were grown bold and well-formed. However, after a close examination, weevils were found in almost every boll.

Notwithstanding the ravages of the

TOBACCO PRICES IMPROVE IN CITY DURING THE WEEK

Market Sold 814,896 Pounds of Tobacco for $188,441.50; Average $23.12 Per Hundred

The Greenville tobacco market sold approximately 814,896 pounds of tobacco for a total sum of $188,441.50 for the second week ending yesterday, according to figures made public this morning by H. A. Bost, secretary of the Tobacco Board of Trade. The market made an average of $23.12 per hundred pounds, against $22.24 for the previous week.

The price situation has shown continued improvement since the opening day, and farmers are highly elated at the splendid showing made during the two weeks the market has been open. The type of tobacco the second week was somewhat better than the first week and this figured prominently in the general advance evident on all grades.

The triple sales plan adopted this season has almost completely revolutionized the sale of bright leaf tobacco here and sales are generally completed every day by the noon hour. Such things as "blocked" floors are out of the question as sales proceed so expeditiously that farmers are enabled to sell their offerings and reach home the same afternoon of the sale.

It is generally believed the remainder of the season will see a greater part of tobacco marketed more carefully than under ordinary circumstances, as the farmers by this time have been convinced that carefully handled tobacco always brings better prices. This fact was set forth very forcefully last season and the early days of the opening this year, and indications are that conditions will be much more favorable.

The general average has shown steady improvement since the opening day. And with more careful preparation of the crop by the grower it is reasonable to believe the situation will become even better later on. Everyone will work with this in view and the remainder of the season should see the farmer greatly benefited.

Member of Reflector Force Draws Corset As Free Prize Today

A member of the Reflector force visited the stores of Blount-Harvey Co. to search for the number to correspond with his duplicate coupon which had been presented by the sales promoters. Much to his surprise, his prize proved to be a corset eighteen in size, high bust and long skirt, new model. The corset is now on display at the Blount-Harvey office and the young man, unaccustomed to advertising to some young lady that the garment will fit and the style pleases. In the event that no young lady applies by this Monday the holder of the lucky number will be forced to appeal to the sales manager to permit him to exchange it for some other article that will be of use to him.

Girls, here is your chance to win a corset and possibly a happy home.

Weevil, some cotton is being planted in almost every section of the county and the girls were busy cleaning their floors, but cotton is no longer the main crop in Colquitt county as it formerly was.

The Pitt party after an interesting trip through the large packing plant of Swift and Company, took dinner at the packing plant as guests of the Chamber of Commerce.

The impression that came to the party while there was the unusual harmonious relations existing between culture and the surrounding territory, Colquitt county. Each seems to realize that the other is their friend. As a result of this friendly feeling existing and each working with the other in the development of their county, miltie gained 102 per cent in population from 1910 to 1920, and Colquitt county gained 48 per cent.

CIVIL TERM OF SUPERIOR COURT BROUGHT TO END

Session Concluded Yesterday With Disposition of Two Cases of Interest

The civil term of Pitt county superior court was brought to an end here yesterday afternoon with the disposition of a divorce case and another action involving the setting aside of a deed for twenty acres of land in the Piney Grove section. The later case consumed practically the entire day, going to the amount of evidence involved and proved to be one of the most stubbornly contested legal battles heard here in years. The criminal term will open next week and will be presided over by Judge Thomas H. Calvert, of Raleigh, who just completed the civil session.

The case involving the setting aside of the deed was brought by Charlie Moye against M. V. Crawford and resulted in a decision in favor of the defense. The plaintiff failed to show just reason why the deed should remain as it is, and after examination of a long array of testimony involving many persons of the Piney Grove section, the jury returned a verdict against the plaintiff.

In the case of Sarah Roach against Will Roach the court returned a decision of divorce absolute. It was maintained that Roach failed to provide for his wife as he should and the figured she could get along better by herself than with the additional burden. It was upon testimony to this effect that the court ruled in favor of the woman.

The criminal term next week will feature a number of matters of interest to people in this particular locality. Chief among them will be the murder charge against a colored woman alleged to have thrown her baby into a hog pen where its limbs were badly mangled by the hogs. Other charges of special interest to the various communities will be given hearing during the one week the term is in progress.

W. B. SAUNDERS MAKES STUDY OF PITT COUNTY JAIL

State Wide Survey Being Made of Jails and Prisoners by Public Welfare Dept.

Mr. W. B. Saunders of the State Department of Public Welfare spent part of two days in the county, returning to Raleigh yesterday, where he was making a study of the county jail, taking facts as to the social condition of the prisoners. He stated that this study was part of the state wide survey of jails and county prisoners, now being conducted by the public welfare department under the supervision of Mr. Roy M. Brown of the state department.

Mr. Saunders, while here visited Mrs. B. R. Cotton who is a member of the citizens committee of one hundred of prison conditions in the state. The visitor stated he had never been treated with greater courtesy by county officials than that received while here. The information he obtained necessitated interviews with nearly all county officials as well as facts and figures from records. He commented favorably on the work being done by the local superintendent of public welfare.

Two Great Irish Leaders Dead

Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith

This is the last photograph of Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith taken before their untimely death. Long "on the run" as Irish patriots, they finally went to London and agreed upon the Irish Free State, to which Eamonn de Valera entered armed opposition. Griffith died of pneumonia, contracted during long hours of work, while Collins, Commander in chief of the Free State Army, was assassinated in an ambush by irregulars.

KIWANIANS PROPOSE TO CITY ALDERMEN ERECTION OF PLAY GROUNDS FOR CHILDREN

Site Selected Is Just Opposite Local High School on Fifth Street

LAST NIGHT'S PROGRAM IN CHARGE COL. DUNN PROVED INTERESTING

Several Three Minute Speakers Heard; One New Member Received Into the Club

The Kiwanis club met last night in the Rotary building in regular session with President J. B. James presiding. After thanks was offered by J. Key Brown and the appointment of J. D. Rogers as sheriff, the secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting which were accepted as read.

After a few selections by the "Baritone quartet," the club quintette, the meeting was turned over to Col. Albin Dunn who presented one of the most interesting as well as amusing programs that the club has had for some months. In the opening, the members and visitors were required to give their name, state their business, and then name their favorite sport as past time. This feature proved very amusing.

Col. Dunn then presented to the club the names of six members of the body, whom he requested to give three minute speeches on subjects of his own selection. The speakers were Bert James, Ed Flanagan, Jim Starkey, George Hadley, Paul Fitzgerald and Chas. Laughinghouse. Each of these gentlemen were congratulated on the manner in which they handled their respective subjects.

President James presented to the club a resolution from the directors which was unanimously adopted as read. And that is for a committee from the club which will be named by President James, to present a proposal to the city aldermen, that if they will give the site and prepare the grounds, the club will be responsible for the playing thereof of indoor equipment to make for the children of the city one of the best play grounds to be found in the state. This site is on Fifth street directly opposite the high school building. And if the aldermen will meet the Kiwanis as suggested, they propose to place their such equipment that will make Greenville's play ground equivalent to any to be found in any of the sixty cities.

The secretary read a challenge from the Kiwanis club of Tallahassee for a baseball game in the near future. But owing to the fact that the bus is very busy, especially the tobaccoist are just now entering the business season of the year, he was instructed to advise the club of the sister city that the challenge could not be accepted at this time.

The "silent boost" which was "several good smokes from Pitt county tobacco" was given by Frank Brown and Dick Rogers of the E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Co.

Harding Plans to Take Over Railways

(By International News.)
Washington, Aug. 26.—Confronted at every turn by failure to settle the railroad strike, President Harding will fall back upon his original plan. The railroads will be given every opportunity to show their ability to maintain service and if they should fail the president will ask congress for authority to take over the roads for the public. Senator Cummings, of Iowa, has prepared a bill for granting this power, it was intimated at the White House today.

Mr. E. W. Griffin was received into the club as "baby" member. The music by the quintette and the club members as a whole was again one of the features of the evening.

BIG MASS MEETING AT COURT HOUSE AUGUST 31ST.

Chamber of Commerce to Hold Meeting to Discuss Recent Automobile Tour

The board of directors of the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce have been very much interested in the reports of the recent trip to Georgia by a party of 24 men. This trip was made to gain first hand information as to boll weevil conditions and as to what the farmers were doing to diversify their crops.

Secretary Smith and County Agent Pace have been urged by the Chamber of Commerce to call for a mass meeting, so that a complete report of the trip could be given those going.

President Clodfelter, of the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce, has issued a call for a big mass meeting at the court house 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, September 7th.

This meeting is really important and should have the attention of the entire county. Some of Pitt's most representative men made the Georgia trip and are enthusiastic over what they learned.

The above meeting is called for the good of every Pitt county citizen—farmers, merchants, bankers and professional men. Let there be an earnest effort made to fill the court house on this occasion.

NEGOTIATIONS TO END RAIL STRIKE BLOWN SKY HIGH

Strikers Turn Down Proposal for Separate Settlement It Is Stated

CONFEREES GO HOME WHEN NEGOTIATIONS COME TO ARUPT END

Jewel Says "We Can and Will Fight For Terms and Nation Wide Settlement"

New York, Aug. 25.—The rail strike today developed into a fight to the finish when peace negotiations were blown sky-high.

Heads of the "Big Five" railroad brotherhoods, acting as mediators between executives and striking shopmen in a final effort to effect separate settlement with individual roads after the Association of Railway executives as a whole had rejected the running trades' first peace overtures, reported to the executives of 77 roads at the Yale Clubs this morning that the shopcrafts had turned down a proposition made to them yesterday by the carriers.

Negotiations then were sharply broken off and executives, strike leaders and brotherhood chiefs packed up their bags and began leaving town, prepared for a test of endurance.

Before he departed for his headquarters in Chicago, Bert M. Jewel, official spokesman for the strikers, asserted that he believed the executives who had lingered for the parley on individual settlements would be enabled "to bring home to their hard-shelled colleagues the railroad situation in its grim reality."

"We shall be content to let the condition of equipment prove that the railroads cannot operate with unskilled strike-breakers," declared Mr. Jewel, adding that "we can and will fight for our terms and for a nationwide settlement."

Labor leaders then dispatched telegrams to all parts of the country, calling upon strikers to renew the struggle with redoubled vigor.

The latest peace proposal centering as was the case with all the others on the question of seniority, briefly was that roads interested in individual settlements would pledge themselves to find employment for all strikers not convicted of acts of violence; would not curtail pension rights "or other privileges," and would agree to submit to a commission of ten brotherhood leaders and executives all disputes which could not be settled by direct conference.

The strikers, who have maintained that they had not authorized the "Big Five" to suggest individual settlements, rejected this proposal with the explanation that it did not guarantee seniority to the men who might return on one-third of the country's roads and at the same time would destroy the effectiveness of the strike being carried on the other two-thirds.

Then from the mediating brotherhoods came the statement that they reluctantly notified all concerned that they considered further peace efforts futile and had nothing more to suggest.

SELF-SEEKING IS AT THE BOTTOM.

It seems to us that it has come to the point in this war between employers (we will not say capital) and organized labor when there should be a review of the past. Labor was unionized in the beginning from absolute necessity. There are many opponents of union labor who are opponents through sheer ignorance, taking the mistakes that it is making at the present as a simple continuance of the course the organization has pursued from the beginning.

In point of fact, as we said above, labor was forced to form a union as protection. The older inhabitants will remember the time (he it said to the detriment of employers) when labor had not showing at all, when journeyman workmen toiled for low wages simply because employers had the right of way and paid what they saw fit to pay, not only in the railroad business, but in all branches of industry. In other words, the employers had everything in their own hands, and such being the case they used it selfishly and with utter disregard of the interest of others.

But labor unions were organized and better wages and conditions for the workman followed. However, the employees, like the employers, were human and having gone so far, they sought to go farther. Our idea of the labor union, at the beginning, was that it aimed to improve the workingman generally. First, that it would make of him a better "hand," that it would result in his being a more honest and competent workman, fully capable of earning the advanced wages which the union forced the employers to pay. But it seems that this idea has been done away with, and the object is to get as much money for poor service as possible. Just as the idea of employers in the past was to get as much work for as little pay as possible.

What is the intention of the employers today? Frankly, we believe to break the backbone of the labor union if possible. What has led to this determination? The evident intention of the labor union to "rule the roost." If this intention should lead to best results, the public might endorse it, but it has been conceived in self-seeking. If we understand correctly, the present aim of the labor union is to make every man who carries a union card a "peer among his fellows." He may be a "barn-stormer" and utterly incompetent, but if he is within the magic circle he draws down the pay of the best workman in his branch of work. That is manifestly unjust, both to the employers and the skilled workmen, men, while it cuts off all incentive to newly initiated union members to thoroughly "learn the trade," and give the best service possible to employers.

As we understand the position of union labor now, the idea is not that of good service as useful and conscientious citizens of the republic, but as members of an organization which says in effect, "We must have more pay, and if we do not get it, we intend to strike." Selfishness on both sides is in the ascendancy, and the only way to settle the trouble is for the public, the vast majority, to say to both employers and employees that this senseless and injurious warfare must cease. Fayetteville Observer.

CO-OPERATIVE WAREHOUSES RECEIVE OVER A MILLION POUNDS ON OPENING DAY

The Greenville Co-operative Warehouse only received 12,000 pounds on opening day, while Ayden, Washington, Robersonville, Farmville, Pine-top, Tarboro and Snow Hill all received much more. There was over a million pounds delivered at the Co-operative warehouses in Eastern Carolina.

Of those delivering here I have only heard one man say he was dissatisfied or making a "kick," his was a divided barn, and the lots sold at auction were "boosted" by the warehousemen, ten dollars a hundred above the prices paid others on the auction sale for like grades and even with this boost the party who delivered to us, received 33 per cent as an advance of what the auction lots sold for.

We had several other split barns and the parties who delivered to us were highly pleased. One received as an advance $4.00 net less than the other half brought at auction. Some others received from one half to two-thirds of what the other half brought at auction.

I am advised that the leaf department of the Co-operative Association has made four large sales of the South Carolina tobacco and these sales have been made at four and a quarter times the advance price made there.

I am also in receipt of a letter from one of the buyers on a large South Carolina market in which he states, that one of the companies who had been buying 40 per cent of the sales there had cut their per cent to 5 per cent and that the market had broke from an average of $25.26 made last Tuesday to $19.20 average made last Wednesday. He also states that the association had sold eight million pounds (8,000,000) of the pooled tobacco and others of the head buyers were trading with the Co-operatives, so you see the companies are buying the pooled tobacco and are not against the association as you have been told by opponents.

My advice to all members is to be loyal themselves and if they know of any member breaking their contract, to make an affidavit of same, naming the warehouse at which it is sold.

The legal department advises they will bring action whenever the evidence is supplied.

Gorman's warehouse will receive tobacco Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of each week. (Signed) J. N. GORMAN.

New Bern, Aug. 25.—A wireless message was sent by Albert Parker last night to Henry Ford, the famous Detroit manufacturer, notifying him of the action taken by the New Bern Fair Association in inviting him to attend the fair here.
The message was brief and to the point. It probably was delivered to Mr. Ford early this morning.
By this time Mr. Ford also probably is in receipt of the scores of letters that have been sent him by local business and professional men. It is expected that his answer will arrive in New Bern within the next week or ten days.

GREENVILLE DEFEATS WASHINGTON CLUB, 3-0

First Game of Series for Eastern Carolina Championship Played Yesterday.

Beall was master of the situation yesterday afternoon and Greenville took the first of the five-game series from Washington 3 to 0.

Frazier's home run in the eighth was the feature. Smith's double followed by White's single accounted for the visitor's second run, the first being scored on two errors and two hits.

Graham who did mound duty for Washington was hit for eight and the and quite frequently when his mound runs. Beall gave one of the prettiest exhibitions of twirling seen on any field of the East Carolina circuit this entire season.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
 Greenville 100 000 110 3 8 2
 Washington 000 000 000 0 3 4
 Beall and Carson; Graham and McQuinn.

Come on Greenville fans and fanettes let us all pull for the Blue Sox during the games of the "World Series." Maybe if you can't pull you are a good pusher. Any way, somehow get into harness for the few days.

Boehling will very likely do the twirling honors in the morning game today while Thompson will take care of the second contest. And believe us they are both capable of holding their own in any twirlers the visitors can produce.

Wonder what has become of the Kinston News' Sweeney that they so frequently spoke of. We guess after Thursday loss to Farmville that "papa did spank."

DIAMOND DUST
 BY ZEKE

From Max Beall did it give the best name of the city.

There was too much Beall in Washington.

We know in the first inning that he would be the master of the day. The first man in was an infielder who shot for a fly ball and the next man was out by the S. O. umpire.

The outfielder, however, had three let — one of them an infielder. While the Sox found the mighty Lefty Graham for one, two of which were double and one for the circuit.

Smith and White led with the stick. Getting a single and double each out of four time outs.

Monk Frazier hit one a mile for four bases. The left fielder returned from the corn field with the old apple after Frazier had rounded the bases and was peacefully seated on the bench.

Not a man received a free one from either pitcher. That's correct pitching.

Graham fanned seven batters of the Sox. While Beall got nine of the Sox out the S. O. umpire.

One of the local fans inquired of one of the Sox why he had a name $5.00 after his name. He replied "some outfielder."

It appears that a few more chapters have been added to the history of the second half, or rather the first season in the East Carolina league. Yesterday, and in the afternoon, it was understood that we were to witness a series of games for the championship at Greenville. The game was played at 11:00 a. m. and the home team, the Blue Sox, won by a score of 3 to 0. The visiting team, the Washington Club, was defeated. If we can take both ends of the double hit and you get a double hit in the first inning, you will have a good start.
