

RAILROAD STRIKE PRACTICALLY ENDS

JEWELL AUTHORIZED TO NEGOTIATE WITH INDIVIDUAL ROADS AT ONCE. FIFTY TWO ROADS TO BE AFFECTED

Agreements to be Based on the Terms of General Plan Approved by Committee
NEW EMPLOYEES AND STRIKERS TO RETAIN POSITIONS
Men Will Be Called Back in Order of Standing Within Next Few Hours

Chicago, Sept. 13.—B. M. Jewell, head of the striking railway shop crafts, announced tonight that the union's policy committee of ninety had authorized him to negotiate in individual peace agreements with the railroads of the country based on the terms of a general settlement plan adopted by the policy committee.

Mr. Jewell said: "We have agreed to the terms of a settlement, yielding wherever possible and standing where there was no other avenue open honorably to those we represent."

All the men are to return to work in positions of the class originally held on June 30, 1922, at the same point, according to the statement issued by the policy committee.

The method of procedure adopted by the policy committee at the meeting is that no men on any railroad, even though included in the settlement at this time, are to return to work until they have received the necessary directions from their respective system federations.

The agreement was reached before the committee of ninety adjourned about two o'clock this afternoon. Preparations for ordering the men back to work on the roads which are parties to the agreement were begun tonight in a meeting of the executive council, attended by the international officers of the six shop crafts.

The first move in the negotiations which culminated in the agreement started in New York August 25th, when all hope of ending the strike even through the aid of the "Big Four" brotherhoods, had ended. Mr. Warfield telephoned Mr. Jewell and arranged further conferences. One week later Mr. Jewell departed secretly for Baltimore and there the basis for today's settlement was laid.

KIPLING DENIES ANY SLUR AGAINST AMERICAN RECORD

Says He Did Not Say Things London Papers Give Him Credit for
London, Sept. 13.—Rudyard Kipling has sent the following message to the London Times, in response to a query from that paper regarding his utterances as quoted by Clare Sheridan in The New York World: "I did not give the Clare Sheridan interview and did not say the things I have been ascribed to me."

Commenting on the above denial The New York World says: (That Mrs. Sheridan visited Mr. Kipling cannot be doubted; that she held the interview as outlined in The World is, of course, a matter of issue between Mr. Kipling and herself. Those who know Mr. Kipling's views on the subject of America will not have much question as to the authorship of the statements attributed to him.)

Under the caption "America's anti-European mood" The Daily Chronicle prints the following editorial: "As a man of letters Mr. Rudyard Kipling is one of our national glories. As a politician he simply does not count. Americans do not know the latter Kipling so well as we do. They are not used to those periodical ebullitions of his as unsophisticated as they are ungoverned, and unrepresentative of the sober English manner of thought."

Washington, Sept. 14.—Denial of reports that Soviet Russia that Bulgaria is planning military coup against Romania was made by the secretary of the Bulgarian delegation.

MANY CASES ARE COMPROMISED IN CIVIL COURT HERE

Judge Calvert is Proving Unusually Rapid Dispatcher
Expected Calendar of 150 Cases Will Be Completed by End of Week

The civil term of Pitt county superior court continued to make great progress yesterday and as a result the calendar was cleared of several other cases which had been hanging fire for weeks and even months.

Judge Calvert is proving himself one of the greatest dispatchers of business that has appeared on the bench in months, and indications are that the calendar of a hundred and fifty cases will be completely disposed of by Friday afternoon.

Although a majority of the cases disposed of yesterday resulted from compromises outside of court, there were also quite a number dismissed when plaintiffs failed to appear to prosecute their cause.

Compromise was effected in the case of R. L. Kearney against L. A. Randolph, J. H. Randolph and F. A. Randolph, trading as L. A. Randolph & Company. The defendants agreed to pay the plaintiffs the sum of $12.50 in settlement of the case.

Compromise was effected in the case of Glen Wood Park Sanatorium against Ruth Clark of Greenville.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Senators from far western states have demanded that if the government will for locomotives the contents of which loan Siberia five millions that they will spend twenty millions in reclaiming swamp and arid lands in the west.

ROTES RUN AWAY WITH KIWANIS IN BALL CLASSIC

Both Clubs Fought Hard But Rotes Nosed Out With Score Standing 9 to 4.

The Rotary and Kiwanis clubs of the city staged their first baseball game at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon, the score being 9 to 4 in favor of the Rotarians.

Billy Wellard—especially brought down the grandstand when he made a beautiful catch of a long fly off the bat of Rotes, the shock of the ball as it struck his glove, actually knocking his hat off his "Bankers Bean."

Guy Smith patted one for three bases in the first inning and would undoubtedly have stretched it into a home run had he not exhausted his supply of wind on his tobacco sale in the morning.

One of the spectators was heard to remark last night, "I'll bet somebody will have to go around tomorrow morning with a stick and poke those fellows to wake 'em up, and then lend them some crutches to get out of bed." Be that as it may, the game was played and has passed down into history as one of the classic contests held on an Eastern Carolina baseball diamond.

Terms of Settlement of Rail Shopmen's Strike

Chicago, Sept. 13.—The terms of settlement of the railway shopmen's strike on individual railroads are as follows:
"1. In order to bring to an end the existing strike of employees upon the undesignated railroads and relieve the country from the adverse effects thereof and to expedite the movement of essential traffic, the following memorandum of agreement is made upon the understanding, which the parties hereto accept, that the terms hereof shall be carried out by the officers of the companies and the representatives of the employees in a spirit of conciliation and sincere purpose to effect a genuine settlement of the matters in controversy referred to below. This paragraph does not apply to or include strikes in effect prior to July 1, 1922."
"2. All men to return to work in positions of the class they originally held on June 30, 1922, and at the same point. As many of such men as possible are to be immediately put to work, at present rates of pay, and all such employees who have been on strike be put to work or under pay not later than thirty days after the signing of this agreement, except such men as have been proved guilty of acts of violence which in the opinion of the commission, hereinafter provided for, shall be sufficient cause for dismissal from service."
"3. The relative standing as between themselves, of men returning to work and men laid off, furloughed or on leave of absence, including general chairman and others who were as of June 30, 1922, properly on leave of absence, will be restored as of June 30, 1922, and they will be called back to work in that order."
"4. If a dispute arises as to the relative standing of an employee or if any other controversy arises growing out of the strike that cannot be otherwise adjusted by the carrier and said employee or the duly authorized representatives thereof, the matter shall be referred by the organizations parties to this agreement, the employee or the carrier in the interest of any employee who may be aggrieved, to a commission to be established and constituted as hereinafter provided, for final decision by a majority vote."

MRS. QUINERLY IS LAID TO REST HERE TUESDAY EVENING

Beloved Woman Laid to Rest At Cherry Hill Cemetery at Four O'clock
Funeral services for Mrs. Rosa Forbes Quinerly, who died at her home on Evans street Monday morning after prolonged illness, were held Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock, interment following in Cherry Hill cemetery. Services at the home were conducted by Rev. V. P. Scoville pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, of which Mrs. Quinerly was a devoted member.

Members of the End of the Century club acted as flower bearers. The floral tribute was one of the largest and most beautiful ever before seen in this city and denoted in a mute way the high esteem in which Mrs. Quinerly was held by hundreds of sorrowing friends throughout this and other states where she was well known.

The funeral was largely attended. In fact when the cortege reached the cemetery a large crowd had already gathered there to pay last respects to the beloved character who, even though confined to her home a greater part of the time in past months, yielded a powerful influence in the social and religious circles of the city where she was born and reared.

Franklin Sept. 14.—The state today continued its effort to convict Dr. George Paschall, Arlington physician, for the murder of his wife. Attorneys for the state introduced the skull of the dead woman in an attempt to prove that she died as result of three blows from a club instead of a kick from a horse, as the defense has contended.

E. B. HIGGS GIVES ACCOUNT OF VISIT THROUGH GEORGIA

Local Man Highly Elated at Conditions Prevailing There at Present
According to an announcement of Secretary Smith of the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce, the majority of the party who made the recent Georgia tour have prepared short sketches setting forth, briefly, their views and observations.

The public is invited to follow these accounts and see how the different ones view the situation. The issues involved are worthy of the careful consideration of the whole of Pitt county.

The boll weevil is here; we must fight him. The best time to begin is now. The best weapon to use is diversified farming. Raise more chickens. Have more milch cows and brood sows. Money cannot be more wisely spent than for good breeders. Raise plenty of feed for man and beast and some to spare.

OTHER COUNTIES JOIN FORCES WITH EASTERN CHAMBER

Carteret and Pamlico to Throw Their Force Behind the Organization
SPLENDID MEETING HELD AT BEAUFORT WEDNESDAY NIGHT
People of Pamlico Exhibited Great Interest at Meeting Thursday

The list of counties actively affiliated with the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, was increased to two more this week according to announcements given out from the headquarters of this organization in Goldsboro. These latest counties to throw their strength behind this movement are, Carteret and Pamlico.

A very enthusiastic meeting was held at Beaufort, at which time the purposes and plans of the organization were thoroughly outlined by the speaker. Many of the advantages of eastern North Carolina were stressed in the message and the business men present were well pleased with the possibilities of this organization.

Wednesday night a meeting was held in Morehead City, and the secretary was again given a good audience and the very best kind of attention. This meeting was well attended and a unit was also organized there at Morehead City. Both the Marine Bank and the Bank of Morehead City, are actively supporting the big Eastern Chamber, along with more than a score of other banks that have been given the opportunity to do so.

A meeting was held at Bayboro, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, for the people of Pamlico to have an opportunity of deciding whether they would throw their hat in the ring with the other eastern counties in an effort to beat the boll weevil. There were representatives from practically every section of the county, and they came for the purpose of getting information as to how this big development project can be put over during the next few years.

They came, they heard, they believed, as all the others are doing wherever meetings are being held. They not only did all this, but they backed their belief with their actual cash. This county, small in population, but big in ideas, within ten minutes after the speaker had concluded his pledged the entire amount asked of the county, which made the 18th county on the list.

Germany economic chaos felt keenly in America and Great Britain also. Washington, Sept. 14.—European finances experienced further disaster by the new signs of economic chaos in Germany, the Federal Reserve said today. The effect will make Europe's whole financial problem more acute with a certain degree of reaction felt in the United States through lack of demand in foreign bonds.

A GREAT MENACE GROWS.

The menace to life and property by speeding automobiles on the hard surfaced roads of the county has been increasing by leaps and bounds the last few months and unless the State Highway Commission takes some action to improve the situation it will increase in seriousness with the completion of other roads now under construction.

It is understood that the responsibility rests entirely upon the commission. Its members have construction and maintenance of hard surfaced roads under direction and should have equal power in saying whether or not speeding shall continue.

Good results have been obtained in other counties where boards of education offered to co-operate with the commission. These counties have traffic officers placed at strategic positions and have been very successful in combating the evil.

The board of education has no risk to run in the matter. They bear all the expense incurred by the officers, and there is seldom any time when it has to use its own finances. In fact, arrest and conviction of speeders results in a continuous flow of currency into public coffers and this may be used in payment of the officers, or in school development if there should be a surplus.

Something must be done. That is indubitable. And if the board of education doesn't see fit to assist the state highway commission, then it is up to the county commissioners to use their influence in the issue. Beating around the bush may mean loss of many lives and destruction of thousand of dollars worth of property. So, about the best thing to do is to get busy at once and beat this speeder at his own game.

CLEANING OUT THE GOUGERS.

The federal government continues to investigate profiteering in the coal industry, but so far it has been able to do nothing greater than investigate. That there is reason for investigations can not be questioned, but what's the use of spending money in futile probes and such like unless the public sees some results.

Can it be the gougers are more wily and know the game better than members of the government investigating committee? Or is the committee so interested in profiteering itself that it might prove to the disadvantage of its members to accomplish anything.

There is something wrong somewhere, and if the present committee can't accomplish something the president should step down from his lofty perch in fame and see what he can do. The situation is becoming more critical with each succeeding day. It will become more so unless those responsible for high prices are really convinced they are threatened by the strong arm of the law.

The past has proven that it is as impossible to govern prices as a spoiled, unruly child and the government will find the task as great in this instance as it has ever been before. We want to see something done, however, and if investigating committee can't do it state officials themselves should begin a concerted attack and have a "house cleaning" such as "profiteers," "gougers," "robbers," thieves and such like have never seen before.

The winter isn't far away and if action isn't swift and direct suffering will be more in evidence this year than in history of the country. Mines have been idle far too long for the good of the public, and if the strike isn't brought to an end soon "accentuated" would be mild to apply to conditions to feature the early part of the winter, not even considering later on.

If an investigating committee has ever accomplished anything, goodness knows we hope it will be this time.

THE NEW KIPLING.

Rudyard Kipling has returned. But not this time in beautiful fiction such as the public has always pictured him. His mission is to tell the American people what an insignificant part they played in winning the world war.

He not only declared the "Yank" were not justified in their course of action, but went so far as to impeach their record—a record in which the blood of thousands of our bravest and brave was spilled that Europe might live from under the lash of German autocracy, cruelty and vengeance.

It is indeed an unexpected charge, coming as it does from one the world would credit with a deeper insight into conditions. But he has said it and it matters not how it may be received the charge has been made and the author seems inexorable as fate itself.

But despite what Kipling may say American people believe they did the right thing in entering the war. They did not do so to gratify any desire of conquest, but to save the allies from defeat which unquestionably would have been theirs. We did so that the ruthless heel of German autocracy might not stifle the life from polite, respectable society and that the world might continue democratic as long as democratic people desire it to.

For these reasons if for no other the unkind charges of Kipling will fall upon ears which have been deafened by the hum of industry as the great nation recovers from the staggering blow of the world war. Kipling in fiction is much better than in prose such as he lately expressed and he will find it advisable to go back to the old and let the new remain in hands more skilled by reasoning with things that are real and not imaginary.

The public may wonder what the government does with funds gained through so many forms of taxation, but a news article carried in yesterday's paper describing the sale of the fleet of 226 wooden sailing vessels constructed in an emergency during the war will in a small way throw some light on the question. These vessels cost the government exactly $300,000,000 (three hundred million dollars) and were sold for the pitifully small sum of $750,000 or $299,250,000 less than cost of construction. Just think of it. Think what this enormous sum of money would mean if spent some other way and the good it might do humanity if it could have been applied where needed. But there's no use of crying over spilled milk. The mistake has been made and talking about it won't bring the money back. The people should remember what wars cost, however, and keep as far away from disagreement as possible.

Discounting the "Discount" in Advance

You don't have to be a shrewd bargainer to get the bottom price on the new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord. Instead of listing it at a high price, to enable the dealer to attract you with a so-called "long discount," we list it as low as we profitably can. You can see from the figures below that its advertised price is lower than the net price you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown value.

We believe the average man would rather buy tires on this frank and open basis, and assure himself a product of recognized worth. The new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord is made of high-grade long-staple cotton, and it embodies the patented Goodyear method of group-ply construction.

In design, materials and manufacture it is a representative Goodyear product, built to safeguard the world-wide Goodyear reputation. It has a different tread from the famous All-Weather Tread Cord—a new tread with a deep, clean-cut, cog-like pattern—and it sells for substantially less.

Compare these prices with NET prices you are asked to pay for "long discount" tires

30x3 1/2 Clincher..... $12.50	32x4 Straight Side.. $24.50	33x4 1/2 Straight Side.. $32.15

EUROPEAN TOUR NOT FOR RICH ALONE NOW

(By International News.) Paris, Sept. 14.—This has been the year of the "small-means American tourist."

Heretofore a "trip to Europe" has been an extravagance, at any rate, for the nearly wealthy. It has been an extravagance, at any rate, for which the entire family saved their pennies for years beforehand. Heretofore, from another point of view, Europeans have been used to seeing only a pampered class of Americans—Americans who demand every thing of "de luxe" quality, Americans who never so much as count their change, much less ask prices in advance.

New Era in Touring. That this season has marked the setting in of a new era in European touring is the belief of M. Junot, president of the "Consortium des Agences de Voyage," in an interview.

"Tourists this year are very numerous, but they are not of the richest classes," said M. Junot, "They appear to be for the most part of classes who are accustomed to cross the Atlantic or the English Channel.

Among reasons for the change, M. Junot cites the fact that the war not only has given folk a taste for travel, but that many former members of the American and British expeditionary forces brought over their families and friends to show them setting wherein they suffered or performed heroic deeds.

He points out also that the taste for economy has been lost somewhere in the shuffle of present-day economic disturbances. Persons of moderate means no longer care what they spend, or whether the future is provided for.

"France should profit by this new order of things," urges M. Junot, "to throw off not only its exceptional monuments of the past, but also its durable pleasures, which make it so pleasant a place to visit. It should not cater entirely to the tourist who comes in a motor car, but it should regard the excursionist who arrives by bicycle. It has enough palaces; it should emphasize now its modest, comfortable and clean hotels of a class beneath."

Making 20 Years of Racing Serve Car Owners Today

IN the early days of automobile contests, Barney Oldfield—out to win every race—studied tires. His consistent success led other drivers to ask for tires constructed to his specifications.

Twenty years of road and track victories—with a steady and increasing demand for tires as he built them—convinced Barney Oldfield that these speed tests pointed the way to a better tire for everyday use.

The enthusiastic reception of Oldfield Cords by the public proved he was right. Scores of the most prominent dealers in the country—and many thousands of car owners, experienced in the use of tires—bear witness by their decided preference that Oldfield is doing a bigger and better job of tire making.

This volume, handled in an effective way in every phase of manufac ture and distribution, has resulted in price quotations far below what you'd expect on tires known to be better built and more enduring.

Practically every important race event for three years has been won on Oldfields. The Wichita Test Run in which an entire set of Oldfield Cords covered 34,525 miles on rough roads proves the mettle of the Most Trustworthy Tires Built in everyday driving.

The Master Driver and Tire Builder has given the public a new standard of tire wear and tire cost—a true economy that every car owner should know about.

Your Oldfield dealer has these for you—talk to him.

"LITTLE SHEPHERD OF KINGDOM COME" WELL RECEIVED LAST NIGHT

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" which played at White's theatre last night was well received. Acting was good and the story, which has been read by every book lover of the country, was unfolded before the audience in a particularly interesting way. While weather was good, except being slightly warm, a comparatively small crowd greeted the performance.

Mrs. Martha Jane Mills of this county celebrated her one hundredth birthday yesterday. Nearly two hundred guests gathered at the Mill School House to do her honor, and enjoyed a most delightful dinner which was served in picnic style.

Rev. W. H. Laughinghouse delivered a most inspiring sermon and Mr. Henry King gave a brief sketch of the Mills family.

Mrs. Mills is a most remarkable character. Although having reached her hundredth birthday she is still active and seems to be in the best of health. She is the mother of sixteen children and has had 102 grandchildren, 129 great grandchildren and one great-great grandchild.

The day was enjoyed by all present

The influence of Persia and the Orient is strongly felt in embroideries this season. The designer of this frock of navy Poiret Twill took advantage of this fact to achieve an unusual and very attractive trimming. He used Persian embroidery, arranged it into tabs which he then bound with braid and applied to the sleeves and pockets. The dress is a simple one piece style good for any woman. The wide three quarter sleeves and braid bound belt make this a smart youthful model. This style may also be had in imported guaranteed twill back velveteen, fast color in navy, black and brown at the same price.

NEW YORK WARS ON WEALTHY BEGGARS

New York, Sept. 14.—New York will cease to be a haven of refuge for wealthy beggars who ride to and from their "work" in limousines, wear care fully hand-tailored clothes when off "glory" and maintain cellars well stocked with goods not available to ordinary hot polloi, if the edict which has gone out from the office of Police Commissioner Enright is executed. That it will be is indicated by the extension and enlargement of the Mendicant Squad. Higher paid sleuths, with leaver, longer noses for clues, and of generally higher calibre than heretofore have been added to the squad. Orders have gone forth to "clean up the cadgers"—"east side, west side and all around the town."

The drive will be especially aimed at those "unfortunates" who derive from $5 to $50 a day from their "handdling."

Attention was focused on this class through the troubles of Horton Malone, the legless mendicant who lived at the Hotel Marlborough. Malone was sued for a $100 legal fee for alleged services rendered to his chum.

The police drive will be started in the theatrical and shopping districts, but will be extended to other parts of the city. Countless confessions from there are in the neighborhood of 25,000 penitent beggars who have admitted earnings as high as $50 a night during the theatre rush hours mark this district as the greatest silver-producing tract in the United States for mendicants.

Although also is to be given serious consideration. Among Brooklyn's younger set lower Fulton street, in the vicinity of the large department stores has become known at night as "Gillette avenue." A young man, asked why he and his flapper friend had thus designated the street said:

"Why not call it Gillette avenue? You can't walk a block on it after nine o'clock at night without being asked several times by a beggar: 'Gillette me a dime?' Sure, it's Gillette avenue."

It is estimated by the police that there are in the neighborhood of 25,000 beggars of various types in the metropolitan district.

COMMUNITY WORK BUILDINGS GAIN GREAT INTEREST

Revival of Spirit of Co-operation Seems Use of Building Become More Extensive

The revival of the spirit of cooperation in rural communities has resulted in the building of a great many community buildings where the economic, social, political, religious, educational, recreational, and hygiene needs of the region can be taken care of. Farm production, management, finance, and marketing have been receiving greater attention than the factors which contribute to the human side of farm life, upon which successful agriculture ultimately depends.

Farmers' Bulletin 1274, Uses of Rural Community Buildings, by W. C. Nason, Junior Economist, Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, summarizes the results of a comprehensive study of 256 representative community buildings, the majority of which are in places of 2,500 inhabitants or fewer. The various types of community houses are described, and special features among them are pointed out in considerable detail.

All the buildings studied had an auditorium of some kind, usually with a stage and dressing-rooms, dining-rooms, which in some cases was the auditorium, kitchen, and playground. A library, women's rest room and various rooms for special purposes were frequently seen. Among economic activities carried on were agricultural society meetings, farm demonstrations cooperative purchasing and marketing, fairs, canning demonstrations, and boys' and girls' club work. Farmers' institutes, and short courses, canning and cooking demonstrations, food sales, women's exchanges, exhibits, employment bureaus, fraternal organizations, and chamber of commerce meetings are similar activities for which the community building is needed.

JUDGE CALVERT—GREAT DISPATCHER OF BUSINESS

When Judge Calvert was holding our last term of court here, he informed the bar that he would himself fix a calendar to try cases that stood on the docket as appeals from Justice of the Peace Courts. Consequently, during the last term of court, he fixed a calendar containing practically two hundred cases and divided them off as so many cases to be called on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. These court tactics of Judge Calvert have proven to be a wonderful success and he will practically dispose of at least one hundred and fifty cases on the calendar so set by him.

The principle of giving the small cases that are appealed from Justice of the Peace courts a hearing, displays superior wisdom on the part of the judge and will save to litigants, much cost and expense and tends to the prompt administration of justice.

Judge Calvert's plan has been so successful, in respect to these justice of the peace cases that we think it would be wise for the court calendar committee and the judges, to adopt a standing rule that at least one week in every twelve months should be given to the trial of justice of the peace appeals. If this course was pursued and generally understood, there would not be so many appeals from justice of the peace and most of the parties interested in cases before the justice of the peace would abide by the decision of the justice. In the majority of appeals taken from the justice of the peace, the purpose is to obtain delay and Judge Calvert's method of dispatching these appeals will avoid this delay of which litigants are continually complaining.

There will be more judgments signed in this one week of civil court, than ever was signed before in the history of courts in P. C. county. We congratulate Judge Calvert on establishing this precedent and his method of dispatching court work.

REPORT WHIPPING BY MOB TO JURY

Goldsboro, Sept. 13.—The next time a grand jury meets in Wayne county it will be called upon to investigate the whipping of Joe Pender negro, by a mob of masked men near Fremont about two weeks ago, according to fragments of information gleaned in a canvass of city and county officialdom Tuesday.

Joe, victim of the whipping, has turned up on Paul Borden's farm not so much the worse from the whipping but wise enough to remain in another section of the county until after the grand jury meets.

Sheriff Grant stated Tuesday that the affair had been investigated by his office but that he had no recommendation to make. There is no demand of the charge that the Fremont mob took Pender from the officers while he was under arrest and severely beat him, using, it was stated Tuesday by a man boasting membership in the mob, a quadruple rope of the size used for electric wire cords.

Local officials were uncertain as to what charge the grand jury can prefer against the mob, if its members should be disclosed. Pender is said to have made statements to Sheriff Grant that he knows every member of the mob. Some authorities contended that the mob membership could be maintained that only a charge of assault would lie.

TRUCK SHOTS MAN AS HE JUMPS OFF IT

New York, Sept. 14.—When Jas. McGlynn, of Brooklyn, jumped off the rear of an army truck in Fifty-eighth street, between First and Second avenues, Brooklyn he was shot in the ankle by a bullet from a cartridge which was lying in the street and exploded as it was run over by a rear wheel of the truck, just as the man jumped off. The injury was slight.

It is said that fifty per cent of young women who go to Goldsboro to teach school get married. "On to Goldsboro" will be the watchword of young teachers in the future if this fact becomes definitely established.
