Nation Has no Intention of Being Gunning War, But Will Defend Dardanelles

NOT BELIEVED TURKS WILL TRY TO INVADE NEUTRAL TERRITORY

British Are Now Trying to Win French Over to Their View Point in Issue

London, Sept. 18.—The declaration that Great Britain does not intend to engage in any new war, obtained from an authoritative source today coupled with other statements of a modified policy, is taken to mean that the series of cabinet meetings and ministerial conferences in the last few days has been partly in preparation for possible attacks on the British forces by the Kemalists and partly as political preparations for the contemplated general conference for the settlement of the Turkish question.

While it is not seriously expected in military quarters that Mustafa Kemal, head of the Turkish Nationalists, will make an attempt either to capture Constantinople or cross the straits, the British wish to be ready in case of emergency and not sacrifice the meagre contingent of troops long stationed in Constantinople.

The many statements issued with the permission of Number Ten Downing Street after such conference are interpreted as emphasizing the intention of the cabinet to carry out the policy, which it has faithfully adhered to for more than three years, regarding Turkey and the straits and, despite much criticism at home and abroad, that policy which is coupled with the Greek defeats, will still be vigorously followed.

The first task of Premier Lloyd George is to win the French to his point of view. Great Britain is laying her cards on the table and it is not her intention, it is declared, to attempt to make a new Gibraltar of Gallipoli; she merely wishes not to give the Turks another opportunity in case of a general war to waste so many European lives by Turkish control of the straits.

The general public is more or less stunned by the possibilities of another conflict while the country is yet staggering from the effects of the great war.

FIRE RESULTS IN $250,000 LOSS AT HIGH POINT PLANT

Car Manufacturing Works of P. A. Thomas Completely Destroyed Last Night

High Point, Sept. 18.—Fire of undetermined origin here tonight destroyed the plant of the P. A. Thomas Car Works, manufacturers of trolley cars, entailing a loss unofficially estimated at $250,000.

The factory building, which is north of the city on the Southern Railway tracks, was in a mass of flames when discovered. Firemen answered an alarm promptly, but were unable to make any headway in fighting the blaze, because of the distance of the plant from a water hydrant. Forty links of hose were connected by the firemen, furnishing one stream of water, but this was insufficient to combat the flames and the building was burned to the ground.

P. A. Thomas, owner of the car works, could not be reached for a statement tonight, but persons acquainted with the circumstances estimated that the loss would reach a quarter of a million dollars. A large quantity of steel and other materials assembled for use by the company in building street cars also went up in flames.

Several months ago the company received a contract for the construction of a large number of street cars, and these were being built. No explanation concerning the origin of the fire was advanced by either the firemen or persons residing near the scene of the blaze.

BODIES OF DEAD MINERS REMOVED FROM ARGONAUT

Indications Were That Men Had Lived Only Few Hours After Being Trapped

ERECTED BARRIERS TO ESCAPE POISON GASSES OF MINES

All Bodies Found Behind Bulkhead That Had Been Erected by the Entombed Men

Jackson, Cal., Sept. 18.—All forty-seven of the miners entombed in the Argonaut mine August 27 are dead, it was announced officially shortly before nine o'clock tonight.

A note found on one of the bodies had dated that all the men had died within five hours of the beginning of the fire August 27 officials said. All the miners were found behind the second of two bulkheads they had built in a cross cut 350 feet down in the mine. Byron C. Pickard, chief of the Federal Bureau of Mines for this district, was the first man to go behind the bulkhead and discovered the bodies.

Pickard, on an earlier exploration behind the bulkhead, had counted forty-two bodies and expressed the belief then that there were others there.

The note found reads as follows: "3 a. m. Gas bad."

The same note bore a scrawled figure "4," apparently indicating the same man had attempted to leave word for those who might come after of the condition of the mine at that hour.

Mine officials declared that the condition of the crosscut behind the bulkhead was such that life could not have been sustained there by the entombed men, for more than five hours.

The bodies were piled one on top of another and decomposition had progressed so far that identification would be impossible, Pickard reported.

The mine officials said the actions of the men were evidenced by the bulkheads they built and other matters indicated they had died within five hours after being entombed.

The officials declared the mute evidence of the men's struggles showed they were 47 of the most cool-headed men imaginable.

Sixteen of the entrapped miners removed their clothes to provide material for stuffing the cracks in the wooden barrier, hastily constructed, which was found early this evening.

COMMUNITY SING HERE SUNDAY TO BE FINE AFFAIR

Elaborate Preparation Under Way for Sing at Training School at Four O'clock

The most conclusive proof of the value of community music is to be found in the recent war. The units which sang were the units which fought and worked the best. No single thing did more to increase efficiency of the men than did mass singing. And the same was true of those who stayed at home; there was no more successful vehicle for propaganda and good will than the community sing. In civil life, also, these values have been proven. Progressive communities have employed men whose sole business is to organize the musical resources of the locality. Large manufacturers and contractors have done the same thing, have employed music directors and given the employees time during working hours for musical activities, with a resulting increase in efficiency and production.

Everyone wants Pitt county to come together at 4 p. m. in the college woods and all sing together.

One of the King's Daughters will greet you with a smile and a sing sheet. The sing sheets for this month were presented by citizens outside of Greenville and their names will be mentioned later.

GRIFFIN RESENTS THREATS OF SUIT BY CO-OPERATIVES

Resents Threat of Action and Says it Will Be Quickly Repealed

WRITES HOT LETTER TO RALEIGH LAW FIRM; ASSERTS FALSE REPORT

Wendell Man Claims Co-operative Measure Interferes With Freedom of Speech

M. A. Griffin, of Wendell, has received from Burgess and Joyner, a law firm of Raleigh, a letter asking for information as to "statements of fact" that he has been making about the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Marketing Association and reminding him that derogatory remarks regarding the association when made for the purpose of inducing a breach of contract is a violation of the co-operative marketing act of 1921 and means liability to a civil and criminal penalty.

Mr. Griffin, in a long letter publication of which he requests on the ground of the prevailing interest in co-operative marketing and the question of breach of contracts which some farmers are claiming they signed without full knowledge of contents, replies to Messrs. Joyner and Burgess, dares them to bring action against them, and asserts that the law in question will be repealed by the next legislature.

Letter of Burgess and Joyner. The letter of Burgess and Joyner to Mr. Griffin follows:

"We have been informed that you have been making in your community a number of statements derogatory to Tobacco Growers' Co-operative association. We are not ready to credit such report and are writing you direct to request you to inform us what statements of fact you have been making about the association and what is your basis for such statements.

"We would like to call your attention to provisions of the co-operative marketing act of 1921, which provide a criminal and a civil penalty for any person who knowingly spreads false reports about the financing or management of the association. We assume that you have either not spread (this is the way you have it), reports or, if so, that you have a sufficient basis of fact to substantiate same. We consider that before taking any steps in this matter it is a courtesy due to you that we request statement from you regarding same. We would also like to call your attention to the fact that we must assume that any derogatory remarks regarding the association are made for the purpose of inducing a breach of contract and we again call your attention to the section that an attempt to induce breach of contract makes you liable to the association. We will appreciate your reply to this communication."

Mr. Griffin's Reply.

Mr. Griffin's reply follows: "You ask me to inform you what statements of fact I have been making about the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association and threaten me with criminal prosecution, etc. I propose to tell you what statements I have been making but before proceeding to do this I want to make a few general observations. "I am astonished that you should undertake to intimidate a free citizen of North Carolina by writing me such a letter as you have. I knew of the law that you refer to. I am amazed that any organization should have seen fit to have such a law passed. I am here to tell you that neither your law nor your threats have any terror for me. An organization that must invoke a special statute for the purpose of preventing the expression of free opinion on North Carolina thereby condemns itself in the estimation of all men who believe in free speech and free opinion.

"The time will never come in North Carolina when any legislature will knowingly undertake to stifle

CONFESSED SLAYER DIRECTS OFFICERS TO BODY OF THE VICTIM

Frank Summers Confesses Role in Killing of Ford Manning

Lumberton, Sept. 18.—Frank Summers, who last week confessed to Augusta, Georgia, officials according to those officers, that he had killed Manning Ford last February, today led Robeson county officials to the spot where he was said to have confessed he had placed the body, and investigation revealed bones and remains of clothing.

While Ford had been missing since last February 19, his family had felt no concern. After family troubles Ford is said to have left home and it had been assumed he had entered the navy.

Summers' confession to Augusta police last week, after his wife is said to have informed officers of the murder, was the first news the family had that Ford had been murdered.

It was said that Summers had some difficulty in locating the spot where the body had been left, but officers said that he searched diligently until it was found.

The killing took place at the home of Summers, he told officers, the weapon used being an axe. The skull had been crushed. After the killing Summers carried the body to a secluded spot, where it was left.

COUNTY COURT TO COMPLETE SESSION SOMETIME TODAY

Convicted Docket in All Probability May Be Finished by Noon Adjournment Hour

After continuing through yesterday afternoon without being able to clear the docket county court will keep the wheel of justice grinding away today until every case of an urgent nature is completely disposed of. Judge Cooper stated this morning. The docket for this term is one of the most congested in several weeks, but from all indications work can be completed today.

The case of A. F. Noe, of Farmville, charged with misappropriating funds of a partnership firm in Farmville, consumed the greater part of the afternoon session yesterday, and it is likely final decision will not be rendered until the noon hour. It is alleged that there was a shortage of $200 in funds handled by Noe for which he could not account, right and wrong are being precipitated. Final outcome of the case is being watched with interest.

Officer Sturg, charged with carrying a concealed weapon, was found not guilty.

Judgment was suspended on payment of costs in the case of Jess Ewel charged with assault.

FOOTBALL TEAM TO OPEN SEASON HERE WITH WILSON CLUB

Greenville Highs in Fine Trim to Stack Up Against Hefty Visitors

STRONG COMPETITION IN EVIDENCE FOR ALL IMPORTANT POSITIONS

Captain Brown is Showing Considerable Ability as Line Plunger and Leader

Greenville High will prize the lid off of the local football season on Friday when the home boys stack up against the Wilson High aggregation. As a result of the work of Coaches White and Duncan the Greenville High team should give a good account of itself. The team has been completely outfitted with new uniforms and is in excellent condition for its first game.

It is not yet known how the locals will line up for the opener as there is keen competition for every position and no one as yet has his position sewed up. However, some of the boys have been making an unusually impressive showing for this early in the season.

In the backfield, Capt. Brown has shown considerable ability as a line plunger and seems to have first call for fullback. At the halves, Manager Hardee, Bob Forbes, Harvey and Jenkins have been running well. With the return of Guy Evans, last year's quarter, Mayo has real competition for the quarterback position, but the diminutive quarter has the stuff and will put up a real fight for a first-string position.

On the line, Wilson, Number and Winslow have been doing particularly effective work. Others who are making things interesting for last year's men are Riels, Smith, Suggs, Bosch, Skinner Foley, Williams, Evans, Moyer and Barber.

Friday's game will be called on the Fair Grounds gridiron promptly at 4 o'clock. All Greenville is expected to be on hand to cheer the local boys and help them take the season's opener.

J. F. DAVENPORT FEELS REPAID BY TRIP TO GEORGIA

Says Mission Was Greatest He Ever Expects to Go On Again

(Auspices Pitt County Chamber of Commerce.)

Yielding to the wishes of the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce, I wish to express my views on the recent Georgia tour.

I was more than repaid for having taken the trip. I never expect to go on a mission from which I will receive so much practical information as I did on this occasion. The folk all along the route seemed to take special delight in making our trip both pleasant and profitable.

The efforts of the Pitt county chamber of commerce and county demonstration agent are to be commended. They are much needed enterprises in our midst at the present moment and should receive the moral and financial support of Pitt county.

UNITED STATES WILL NOT GET INVOLVED IN NEAR EAST SCRAPPING

PHILIPPINES MAY GOLD AND PLATINUM

(By International News.) Manila, Sept. 15.—Will the Philippines yield both oil and platinum as a result of explorations and mining now being carried on for the first time by ample capital? In samples from placer, mining at Lianga, Sulu, Mindanao, the Bureau of Science found 68 per cent platinum and 6 per cent gold. But compared to the number of yards of material passed through the dredge, the platinum recovery was small. A thorough survey is to be made for the owners Persian capitalists of Hong Kong, to ascertain whether or not the platinum is in paying quantities. Plantinum is widespread in the Philippines, and Mindanao, where this latest find is made, is only a chance distance from Borneo, the second most important platinum field in the world. Until 1832 miners of Borneo tossed the platinum away as worthless, debased metal. Up to date it has not been found in paying quantities in the Philippines, but it would surprise no one if pay deposits were found. As to oil, the Standard Company keep on with its wiggling on Bancoc Peninsula, Southern Tayabas, and has also acquired properties in Leyte, considered now to be the much better field. The latest well at Bancoc has indicated both oil and gas, but seemingly not concentrated. Other wealthy American companies have an eye on the work of the Stan-ard Oil Company, which operates here as the Richmond Petroleum Company, subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of California.

Reese, refused to approve the proposal.

GREENVILLE ROTARY WANTS OUR CITIZENS TO READ THIS

Out of years of experience as a penitentiary warden, a prominent Rotarian wrote us specially for this educational campaign: "One of the most fruitful sources of crime is illiteracy." Any penitentiary will reveal that not more than fifty per cent of the inmates finished grammar school; less than two per cent enter high school, and less than a fraction of one per cent remain and graduate; practically none go to college. These facts are significant. "Crime is the result, in part, of lack of balance. Education gives balance. How evident it becomes that society is obligated to leave nothing undone to foster the education of boys. "To guide a boy INTO channels of education is to guide him out of paths that lead downward. "No boy can face life without an education unless he faces it like a 100 yard dash man would face a test with a 10 yard handicap. Without education the boy finds himself wondering what has happened that other boys are selected and he is overlooked, and he more readily turns to those that result in delinquency. "Society—and that means everybody—has an obligation to the boy that it ignores at its peril. The delinquent in society; the one who hutes secretly and blindly, and the one whose hand is often against every other man is generally the uneducated. Let us educate the boys and make safe their future." Keep the Boy in School. Published by THE ROTARY CLUB of Greenville, N. C.

GRIFFIN RESENTS THREATS OF SUITS BY CO-OPERATIVES

(Continued from page 1) public opinion and in my view your special law will be repealed as soon as the legislature realizes what was put on the statute books without public discussion or notices to the public, and revised March 7, two days before adjournment.

"Now, as to your request. I will inform you that I have made a number of statements as to the Co-operative Marketing Association and these statements are statements of fact and true within my own knowledge. They were based upon the failure of the Co-operative Marketing Association to make good certain statements made by the agents of the association to the farmers when soliciting them for membership.

"For instance, some of your solicitors for membership have said that no one except pin-hookers, warehousemen and others actuated by selfish motives were criticizing or refusing to join the association. This is false and I have said so. I have the same right to my honest criticisms about a business proposition made to myself or my neighbors or the public generally as any officer of your association. Do you mean to intimidate by your letter and your special statute referred to therein that you and your officers are at liberty to impugn my motives and the motives of other citizens for not concurring with your views upon a matter of public business policy, while I am not at liberty to similarly express my opinion. If we have come to this state of affairs the sooner the people of North Carolina know it the better and I challenge you to proceed.

"Another of your solicitors said in Wendell in a public speech that the association would advance to the farmers fifty per cent of the value of their tobacco and then give a participating certificate for the balance due on the tobacco, which the farmer could take to the local bank and get the balance of the money for the tobacco. I said then and I say now that this is false. I ask you, am I amenable to your special law for telling the truth and denying the falsehoods about the policies of the association which your paid solicitors tell the farmers in order to get them to join?

"But again, your association has promised the farmer to market his tobacco in a more orderly and economical way and for less than it would cost him to sell it on the auction floor. I plead guilty to having said that your association is not economizing in selling the farmers' tobacco. In view of the fact that on some markets there were more houses than were needed to sell the tobacco at auction in an orderly way and your association has bought or leased all the warehouses and prize houses or more than you would need or will utilize. I know of cases where you have two warehouses and three prize houses and so far have found use only for the smallest warehouse and prize house, and where you have already rented out some of your surplus houses and where others are standing idle. The expense of this waste will come out of the tobacco fields. I have said that this is not economizing. If you think it is economy come on with your law. I have said that this is an act similar to the dog in the manger who, because he could not eat the hay, would not let the ox eat it.

"While I am on this point I want to know why your association with all its publicity does not print a statement of the money it has spent so far and the salaries it is paying and the property it has purchased or rented. You can not expect me or any other man to remain quiet unless you come clean and convince us that you are making good with your program of money saving and economy.

"If I understand your attitude as expressed in your letter you presume that your association is right and perfect in every particular and that a man must not speak of it except in terms of praise and glory, notwithstanding the fact that the "Star from the West," Arca Sapiro, a California Jew-lawyer, is general counsel and this Jew-lawyer has gone over the State denouncing in violent terms any and all who did not agree with him. I am here to tell you that not even Sapiro can hide behind the law and enjoy the special privilege of persecuting any one who dares to differ with him. I will express my opinion of him and your special law whenever I get ready and I propose to back it up with the facts, and I tell you now that his intolerant and abusive speeches are calculated to destroy any confidence in any movement that he speaks for. I suppose you think it is all right for him to say that I am a scoundrel, but if I be the scoundrel against Aaron Sapiro you will hear out a warrant and send the scoundrel to jail.

"You also call my attention to the fact that when derogatory remarks regarding the association are made to a member of the association you assume they were made for the purpose of inducing a breach of the contract. You can assume whatever you please. You are a firm of lawyers. If you think that any court will assume with you then all I have to say is that it is time you were trying the matter out. I take it that if I should in a general conversation criticize the association or express an unfavorable opinion and that a member of the association were present you will enter suit against me and if possible put me in jail. If a responsible firm of lawyers in North Carolina think that this can be done the sooner they test it out the better. If you wish to make an example of me come on. I hold that the constitution is still in existence if your "Star from the West," the California Jew-lawyer, has not taken it piece. However, you appear to have been worshipping at his feet rather than at the shrine of the fundamental law and the temple of justice. You seem actually to think that the day of opinion and criticism is past. I invite you to put your impressions to the test and I tell you that when you do there are lawyers in North Carolina of standing and reputation about whom no reports have ever been "spread" who will meet you in order to vindicate the ancient rights of all free men.

"I am ready to back up every statement that I have made with regard to your association with the evidence and the law. I have not circulated any reports that were untrue and I have never in my life circulated such reports.

"Now, I will ask you for an item of information for the public. Your paid publicity men have been publishing glowing reports about how much tobacco they had on opening days and how much the association was receiving daily, and how well the farmers were pleased with their advances. I want to ask you to tell me why your association has not reported tobacco received as required by the State government. The warehousemen make these reports monthly. So far you have made no report. I will ask you again, if you did not try to get out of making these reports and if you were not told that you would have to make them and so far you have failed to make them. If you want the people to have faith in you, you must not only deal frankly with them, you must invite full and fair criticism. You can not stifle public opinion. Your threats and your special act have no terrors for free men. I have a perfect right to my opinion that your association is not as good a means of handling tobacco as the warehouse auction system and I intend to express this opinion whenever I get ready and to whomsoever I please. If this be treason, make the most of it.

"I have told you now all of the us that you are making good with your program of money saving and economy. I have always stood for what I thought was best for the farmer, having been reared on the farm and having done a good deal of farming myself. I have read all the literature available upon the subject of your association and I have it filed away. I have even heard the California Jew, your "Star of the West." I have formed my opinion and I am here to tell you that I have a right to express it. If you do not like my opinion and you mean to stand on your special law as indicated by your letter, send your warrant and send the scoundrel to jail. My name and address: M. A. Griffin, Wendell, North Carolina."—News and Observer.

SINGER'S HIGH NOTES SCORED AT 3 A. M.

Mme. Marie Rappold, noted grand opera singer, to whom many people pay fabulous prices to hear her sing, has an apartment in a New York skyscraper building. Necessarily her work keeps her up late, and when she returns home he desires a little entertainment. But other tenants in the building, perhaps without the love of music they should have, object to her. That's how the matter stands at high noon at 3 a. m. and the landlord asked her to move. She refuses.

PLEASING TOBACCO GROWERS.

The Greenville tobacco market continues to draw interest from surrounding counties with the high prices paid out recently, and in the course of a few weeks the number of visitors no doubt will be greatly increased.

The market is one of the best in this part of the state. This fact has been demonstrated very plainly from time to time by high prices and good treatment accorded the farmers, and it is only natural that patronage should grow with each year.

The resources of the local market are probably as great if not greater than any other in this part of the county, and this is one reason why it is able to give the farmers such great service. These resources will continue to increase from year to year and eventually we will become the greatest bright leaf tobacco market in the world—not the second or third.

We are glad to see our neighboring farmers come in and assure them everything will be done for their interest. They need not fear they cannot reach home the same day their tobacco is sold.

This is assured by inauguration of the triple sale plan. A plan that has practically doubled the selling and buying capacity of the market. Sales have been finished long before sunset since the market opened a few weeks ago and all growers have been able to reach home during the afternoon—even those living a long distance from the city.

Service is the motto of the market this season and no one realizes it more than those who have sold here.

GREATER JURISDICTION NEEDED.

Judge Louis G. Cooper has been able to accomplish much good in county court during his administration of about two years. But how much greater would be his accomplishments if the jurisdiction of his court were extended.

Numbers of criminals have received just punishment in his court who later managed to get off easily after the action had been transferred. With greater jurisdiction Judge Cooper would be able to pass sentences without fear of having them prolonged by defendant filing notice of appeal to a higher court.

County court has resulted in hundreds of dollars being turned over to school funds since it was established a few years ago. It would be able to turn in considerable more were the court permitted to complete all the cases started from time to time. Judge Cooper believes in strict enforcement of the law, and has carried out his convictions without fear or partiality.

If there were more officials of the kind in our courts crime would be reduced to great proportions and this community alone would experience an improvement in which all of us would be proud.

THE RIGHT POSITION.

According to latest news reports, the Southern Railway has made no effort to resume negotiations with striking rhine. Following their refusal to return to work on basis of the Chicago settlement.

While this information will be greeted with regret on all sides, no one can blame the railway owners for the position they have taken in the matter. It was the duty of the shopmen to return to work immediately after an agreement had been reached. If this was not satisfactory to them it should not have been accepted.

The railroads apparently have done all in their power to improve conditions and it is the plain duty of the men to get back on their jobs and help get transportation back to normal. The railroads have suffered incalculable damage as result of the strike, and the loss sustained will not be made up in such a short time as the strikers seem to think.

Enough damage has already been done and if the strike is prolonged industry will suffer as it never suffered before.

The playground proposed by the Kiwanis club is what the city has needed for the development of its youngsters for a number of years and everyone should use their influence in making it an actuality. The Kiwanians and the board of aldermen are going to put the proposition over, but how much greater can the playground be made if the entire community will co-operate. It's a community enterprise. Everyone should do what they can for it—success. No child without a certain amount of physical development and it is very incumbent upon out people that they provide some means to make this development possible. The Kiwanis club has taken a long step in this direction, and with proper support and co-operation they can make it even of greater value to the youngsters.

Ruryrd Kipling has denied that he issued any statement to London papers containing the slightest slur on America's war record. In fact, he claims to have made no statement concerning America's participation and contends anything to that effect was false. We thought there was something wrong with the newspaper accounts carried in most of the American papers. It didn't sound like Kipling in the slightest sense of the word. He is a man of greater diplomacy than to take any such position against a country in which his works in fiction have had remarkable sales. Any slur upon American people would certainly be resented to the fullest extent and it matters not how great his work may be it would never find same place in the heart of our people. We are glad Mr. Kipling has denied the statement. This is sufficiently convincing to assure everyone that he was misquoted and that the newspaper which first carried the article was attempting to produce more of a sensation than anything else.

President Harding has vetoed the bonus and unless the senate overrides his action the issue will go down in defeat. The president probably thinks conditions are too uncertain at this time for the county to assume further responsibilities and whether he will receive general support in this decision will be brought out later. So long as the government aids the disabled veterans as it should it is hardly likely the remainder of the fellows will raise much of a howl. If the bonus should be defeated this time it will be brought up again at a later date, and it may be it will stand better chances of going through, especially if the country should be in a more prosperous condition. Sentiment is divided to no little extent, and those who favor compensating the veterans will not forget the debt even should it remain unpaid for years.

PROVIDE AN EARLY PASTURE FOR STOCK

(By EDGAR W. COOLEY)
Agricultural Extension Department,
International Harvester Company.
(Sponsor Pitt County Chamber of Commerce.)

Live stock raising never has been successful without pasture. The experienced stockman plans to have pasture as much of the year as possible.

There is a time in the very early spring when natural pasture grasses do not furnish abundant grazing and, besides, pasture grasses should not be grazed in early spring. Early pasturing always dwarfs the plants but the stock should have pasture. August or early September is the time to prepare for a field of pasture for next spring. Sow a field near the barn to rye or winter wheat. Prepare the seedbed well have it fertile, sow plenty of seed. If the wheat or rye makes a rapid fall growth it will do no damage to pasture in the fall, but do not graze it closely. This field will furnish green bits for the sows and ewes at times during the winter, when it is not covered with snow, and the wheat or rye will make more rapid growth than pasture grass in early spring, thus providing the much-needed early pasture for all kinds of live stock.

This special pasture can be grazed moderately and the animals taken off after the natural pastures have made some growth. This plan permits the rye and wheat to head out and they may make a fair crop of grain. Or the pasture can be grazed closely, putting on it enough animals to keep it down and as soon as the regular pasture has made sufficient growth to maintain the stock, the rye or wheat field can be plowed and planted to silage, corn, soy beans, alfalfa or rape.

This plan for early pasture gives the regular pasture a chance to gain some growth and is a money maker for the stockman. Breeding animals that have access to green feed during the winter and early spring are healthy, providing they have suitable dry feed. The live stock mothers well and gives more milk for the young.

This special field will furnish ideal grazing for the poultry.

STOCK BUSINESS IN PHILIPPINES IS GOOD

(By International News.)

Manila, Sept. 11.—Frank W. Carpenter, former department governor of Mindanao and Sulu, told members of the American Chamber of Commerce that he believes there is no better investment in the world than cattle investments in Bukidnon and Cotabato and neighboring provinces of Mindanao, where cattle grow and fatten the year around on the broad plains of public land, which may be leased at very low prices. Dr. Frank C. Gearhart, an Ames (Iowa) graduate, who has bred both cattle and horses in the islands for many years, backed up the statement. He himself is getting rich off cattle, horses and Berkshire hogs that he raises in Bukidnon. To reduce the danger of rinderpest he imports zebu from India and breeds up-grade cattle from native cows. Other Americans are doing the same. His horses are Australians and Arabians.

CRAVEN'S CROP OF COTTON EATEN UP

Boll Weevil Has Played Havoc in That County, Farmers Declare.

New Bern, Sept. 14.—Craven county farmers who disregarded warnings of hundreds of people who knew of which they spoke and went ahead and planted cotton instead of devoting that acreage to some other crop, are now bemoaning their luck and wishing to goodness that they had taken the advice which was handed out to them.

The boll weevil has certainly taken possession of the cotton planted in Craven and adjoining counties and not more than twenty-five percent of the crop will be worth picking, according to the statements of those who have made a thorough investigation of the situation.

Every cotton field that one passes, though is literally working alive with the boll weevil and they are eating up the crop at an astonishing rate.

Leading farmers who have expressed an opinion on the situation, declare that next year there will not be one tenth as much cotton planted in Craven county as was the case in 1922.

NO DEMAND IN BALKANS FOR FRAUD-PROOF VOTE MACHINE, SAYS INVENTOR

Paris, Sept. 14.—Paris is experimenting with a voting machine, which, with city traffic semaphores, is the latest fad to be discussed in Paris political salons. The machine is a pretty instrument. To work it one pushes a button, which gives the sensation of manipulating a penny-in-the-slot chocolate or chewing gum machine. The Rumanian inventor Russo, was asked why it hadn't been adopted in Rumania.

"My invention absolutely prevents fraud elections," exclaimed Russo. "That is why there is no chance that it will ever be adopted by any Balkan country."

PLOWS UP WATCH LOST 20 YEARS; STILL RUNS

Osborn, Mo., Sept.—Percy Rogers, a farmer living near here, noticed something bright in the fields he was plowing. Picking it up he found it to be a watch. He cleaned the dirt off the outside, wound it up and it started running. He discovered it was a watch he had lost twenty years ago.

START YOUR GARDEN FOR NEXT YEAR NOW

North, South East, West, autumn is best time to begin next year's home vegetable garden. Nature is never idle, even when the ground is hard frozen, and our efforts should be directed to aiding natural agencies. The greatest good can be accomplished by improving the soil and preparing it for growing bumper crops of potatoes, cabbage, tomatoes, beans, beets and other vegetables next season, says the United States department of agriculture.

At present many of our garden crops are maturing and may be cleaned off the land. In many parts of the north it is now too late to plant anything on this vacant land, except rye, barley or some other crop to improve the soil. Some of the most successful gardeners follow the practice of sowing rye on every foot of garden soil that becomes available. The roots of the rye spread through the soil and pick up every choice bit of plant food they can find. Next spring when the ground is spaded or plowed these same roots form a network of fibrous material which quickly decays and forms new plant food for the garden crops to feed upon. Don't let it get more than two or three inches high next spring before it is turned under. Other crops will give the same results, but rye is one of the most practical.

Spading or plowing clay soils in the autumn and leaving them lying in a rough state over winter is also a good practice. Heavy soils are broken up by the action of frost but care should be taken that they do not wash away. Sandy and all light soils are liable to wash or blow away during the winter if left loose and exposed and for this reason should be kept covered either by a green crop or by heavy coating of manure.

Nothing beats good stable manure for improving the soil of a garden. Manure is good to plow under in the autumn and it is good as a top dresser over the soil after plowing. Manure prevents the washing and adds fertility. As soon as the crops are off, plow the ground and give it a heavy coat of manure. The remnants can be turned under in the spring.

CATCHES FISH, BIGGER ONE SWALLOWS LITTLE ONE, AND HE CATCHES BOTH OF THEM

Mansfield, O., Sept.—A. H. Matson, of Concord, S. H., a visitor here, lays claim to first honors as the champion disciple of Izaak Walton, the "man of fishermen."

According to a story related by him to local lovers of the sport he recently caught twenty small perch in one hour at his summer home at Deer Island, N. H. Then, feeling a stronger tug on the line than usually given by perch, Matson began to struggle. When his catch was finally safely landed he found that he had caught two. A perch had taken his bait, and then a hungry pickerel, twenty-seven inches long, had swallowed the perch he had already hooked.

"Tiger Eyes" Society to Fight Ku Klux

Tiger's Eyes Society, Inc.

A new secret society, known as the "Invisible Knights of the Tiger's Eyes," is said to be gaining large numbers of recruits. Officials are here pictured swearing in new members. Its purpose is said to be to fight the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Everyone will be glad to learn that construction work on the hard surfaced road to Bethel will begin within the next few months, or few weeks it may be. This road is one of the most important in the county, and when completed will open up a way for greater business relations between people residing in that section and those in Greenville. When all principal towns of the county are linked with the county seat by hard surfaced roads, prosperity should be more general than in years. There is nothing that tends to awaken a spirit of thrift and enterprise in people more than good roads and this will certainly apply to Pitt county in other sections. Bethel is one of the best little towns in the county and will become even of greater importance when connected with the county seat by one of the best roads in the state. The sooner construction work begins, the better we will all like it.

Greenville people should make an effort to attend the community sing to be conducted here Sunday, September 24th, as an interesting program has been arranged for the occasion and everyone may be assured of a jolly good time. The sings have been increasing in popularity since the first was held here over a year ago and from all indications they will receive even greater attention in the days to come. The Women's club has been doing some effective work in behalf of the attraction this year and if given proper support each month will see a general improvement in the program. Every community should adopt the sing idea as they have a tendency of establishing better relations between every class of people.
