REV. S. K. PHILLIPS RESIGNS PASTORATE OF LOCAL CHURCH

Pastor of Presbyterian Church
Accepts Call of Highland
Church in Fayetteville

CHURCH HERE HAS GROWN UNDER HIS SPLENDID LEADERSHIP

Influence of Mr. Phillips' Work Will be Felt for a Long Time Throughout the County

Rev. Sam. K. Phillips, who for the past five years has been pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city, announced to his congregation yesterday, that he had accepted the call of the Highland Presbyterian church of Fayetteville, and would ask Albemarle Presbytery at its stated session in Goldsboro on October 10th, to dissolve the relations now existing between him and the Greenville church, that he might take up his new work in Fayetteville.

Mr. Phillips stated that he had given the matter careful thought and believing it to be his duty, asked the congregation to unite with him in his request to the Presbytery. The session of the local church has called a congregational meeting for next Sunday morning, to take action in the matter.

Mr. Phillips came to Greenville from Oxford, where he was pastor for nearly six years, and his decision to go to Fayetteville, ends for him a period of more than ten years service in Albemarle Presbytery, where he has been active in many departments of the Presbytery's work.

In some ways especially, the work of the Greenville church, has grown under his leadership. It has been thoroughly organized with the definite goal of giving a task in the kingdom to as many people as possible; its liberality which has always been fine, has developed until its budget and gifts have doubled; its Sunday school has made tremendous strides, its young people have been developed, and it has made itself felt in the city and county.

The influence of Mr. Phillips' work in Greenville and in this section of Pitt county, will be felt long after he has gone, not only among the men and women but among the boys and girls, our future citizens. He has identified himself closely with the boy and girl life of the city and county, taking an active interest in the Scout work and in the activities of the Rotary Club for our young people in both city and county schools. Last spring, he planned the first county-wide track meet, working out all the details so carefully that it was pronounced a great success. As an organizer, he is second to none. The value of such work in developing the characters of boys and girls and in creating a friendly interest and a co-operative interest, is recognized by all who have a vision for Pitt county. Mr. Phillips believes that if the church is to win in competition with the world, it must not only preach the gospel, but must assume a friendly and helpful attitude toward young people and direct their activities by Christian leadership.

That the young people of Greenville appreciate his efforts can not be doubted, and the High school football team of last year, insisted that his picture appear with them in their Annual as one of their coaches.

One special form of activity in which he has practically pioneered the way for this section, is rural Sunday school work. The Presbyterian church is now conducting with the aid of their friends in the county, three such schools, every Sunday afternoon, at Masons, Pollards and Hollywood, with a membership of nearly three hundred. These schools are led by the organized forces of the local church, and Mr. Phillips preaches at one of them every Sunday afternoon. The good work done in these schools has become noticeable by the fact, that several other churches have been organized in the county by people who caught the vision at one of these points.

As a preacher, Mr. Phillips' ability is recognized by all denominations, and many have been heard to remark, that he is a preacher who not

POSTERS ANNOUNCE NOVEL FEATURES FOR CIRCUS OCT. 5TH

Snappy Posters Flash Out Glad Tidings of Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus

Happy hours are ahead, judging from the snappy posters that now flash out the glad tidings of the coming of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus on Thursday, October 5th, radiating a feeling of happiness that circus days always bring.

The bright lithographs and banners announce many new and novel features for the lovers of the tented arena. Trained animals are in abundance, offering an exhibition of skillful mastering of wild beasts, that will amaze the grown-ups and bewilder the kiddies. The winter months were spent by expert trainers at winter headquarters in West Baden, Ind., teaching these animals to answer the snap of the whip in performing feats heretofore unknown.

Famous circus headliners are listed as well. Prominent performers have been secured from Europe, along with the best known acts of this country. Nothing has been overlooked it is announced, in giving a performance that will surpass all others of the season.

Many additional wild animals have been brought to this country for the menagerie, which is causing widespread attention owing to its size. It is reported to be one of the largest collections of wild animals in the world. A magnificent street parade, more than one mile long introduce the circus this season.

For the convenience of the public a downtown ticket office will be opened at Warren Drug Store, where tickets will be sold during the stay of the circus here at the same prices charged on the show grounds.

REVIVAL LARGELY ATTENDED SUNDAY METHODIST CHURCH

Two Large Congregations Attend
Opening Services of Revival Meeting

Two large congregations attended the opening services of the revival meeting which began at Jarvis Memorial on yesterday. Rev. A. J. Notevine, of Birmingham, Ala., soloist and musical director, is also doing the preaching till Dr. Patterson arrives. His sermons yesterday were of a high order and made a most favorable impression on all who heard them. As a soloist, Mr. Notevine ranks with the best in the country—and he will sing at each service. Plans are made for a large chorus choir to assist in the music, and the congregational singing will be a feature of the meeting. All who sing are cordially invited to join this choir.

There was another interesting service this afternoon at 3:30 at which Mr. Notevine used as a subject "Doing the Impossible." The service was very inspiring. He will preach again tonight at 7:30 tomorrow. There will be three services, 9:30 a. m., 3:30 and 7:30 p. m. Dr. Patterson is expected to arrive in the city in time to preach tomorrow night.

only delivers his message with enthusiasm and power, but teaches the Bible as he preaches. He evidently believes that as we pass this way only once, we should do all the good we can, and his life has exemplified this principle, ministering wherever he could to those in sorrow and distress. His heart of friends have suffered a loss in his leaving, and the Fayetteville people will soon realize that Greenville's loss is their gain.

One of the interesting facts in connection with his call to Fayetteville, is that Fayetteville was his father's second pastorate, and many of the older people now living there, still have memories of that pastorate and of the two year old boy and his baby sister who lived in the old Manse. A CHURCH MEMBER.

FARMVILLE MAN HIGHLY PLEASED GEORGIA TRIP

Mr. John H. Thorne Expresses Great Satisfaction Over Recent Automobile Trip

(Auspices Chamber of Commerce.)
Farmville, N. C.,
Sept. 16th, 1922.

Mr. H. J. Smith, Secretary,
Pitt County Chamber of Commerce,
Greenville, N. C.,
Dear Mr. Smith:

I have your letter asking me to say something of the impressions made on me by our Georgia trip.

First of all, I want to thank you for making the trip possible, and especially for inviting me to go along. I want to say right here that I believe that this trip will be worth to me all the dues that I have or will pay as a member of the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce.

I am thoroughly convinced that the boll weevil is the master of every man who undertakes to grow cotton for him to feed on—especially in large areas. I think careful and energetic farmers will be able to grow cotton, but it should be planted early; fertilized well before planting, planted on light, quick land, and cultivated rapidly. All squares that fall off during June and July should be picked up and destroyed.

I unquestionably think that the program you and Mr. Pace mapped out long before we went to Georgia is the finest weapon with which to fight and conquer the weevil—which is raising more cattle, hogs, poultry and other farm supplies.

When government statistics prove that the cotton farmer is the poorest farmer in the country it seems that we should begin to study the conditions in Kansas, Iowa, Wisconsin and other states that grow no cotton and yet the farmer is much more contented, has much more money and does less laborious work.

I believe that if our farmers and business men will follow the plan you have mapped out, that Pitt county will not only go broke, but will go forward to greater prosperity and happiness than it has ever known.

Sincerely,
JNO. T. THORNE.

36 FREE TICKETS TO CIRCUS FOR THE COUNTY CHILDREN

Daily Reflector With Nine
Merchants Will Present
Tickets to Winners

FULL PARTICULARS OF CONTEST WILL APPEAR IN WEDNESDAY PAPER

Every White Child in the County School Is Eligible to Enter for Prizes

Good news for the kiddies. Every child is interested in the coming of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus which is booked to show in Greenville on Thursday, October 5th. They all want to attend, and while some will be disappointed, The Daily Reflector in connection with nine merchants of the city are going to give away free to school children of the county 36 tickets.

A page ad will be carried in this paper on Wednesday, showing an outline sketch of nine animals, most of which will be seen here on circus day. Children entering the contest will have a chance to show their ability at coloring. There will be a first, second and third prize for each picture on the page. Get out your crayons, paint the animals what you think their original color. Send your drawings to this office not later than noon on next Monday, October 2nd. The best sketch for each picture will be awarded the first prize of two tickets and the second and third prizes one ticket each. Watch for Wednesday's paper and get busy to win those circus tickets free. Every white child attending school in Pitt county is eligible to enter this contest.

The following of Lee and Jackson will be elaborately entertained while in the city, the committees in charge having made arrangements that assure all accommodations without cost to the veterans. The United Daughters of the Confederacy, Sons of Confederate Veterans, Confederate Memorial Association, Chamber of Commerce, and other bodies have joined in the general plan to make the 1922 reunion a high spot in the memoirs of the veterans during their advanced years.

FORD MAKING MORE CARS AND PROFITS THAN EVER BEFORE

Detroit, Sept. 25 — Copyright — Henry Ford is making more cars and profits than ever before. The profits in 1921 were seventy-six millions. The latter part of twenty-one and early part of twenty-two, he reduced the prices of cars and tractors sufficiently to wipe out the seventy-six millions profits and leave a deficit of ten millions. If production, prices and price of raw materials remain the same, Ford says the average monthly profits this year will be in excess of six million a month. Ford's cash balance is around two hundred million dollars.

FERGUSON'S BODY FOUND NEAR TRACK

Chicago, Sept. 25—The body of H. Ferguson, chief clerk of the Illinois Central at Memphis was found today beside the Illinois Central track between Harvey and Riverdale, Illinois. He had evidently fallen or been thrown from the train. There was a large wound in his head. The police are investigating. It has been learned that he was returning from Chicago to Memphis after a vacation.

MR. A. A. FORBES QUITE ILL FOLLOWING A SECOND STROKE OF PARALYSIS

Mr. A. A. Forbes, Sr., who resides with his son, Mr. A. A. Forbes, Jr., about four miles west of the city is quite ill following a second stroke of paralysis which he suffered on Saturday morning. A few years ago Mr. Forbes was attacked for the first time, when he lost his speech and the partial use of his right side. Saturday's stroke affected the left side, and as a consequence Mr. Forbes is unable to move any part of his body. His condition today is considered worse than it was on Saturday or yesterday.

ASHEVILLE READY FOR THE RE-UNION OF OLD SOLDIERS

Business District Decorated in Southern Colors and All
Plans Made for Welcome

Asheville, Sept. 24.—General W. A. Smith, of Ansonville, N. C., commander of the North Carolina division, United Confederate Veterans, will arrive in Asheville tomorrow with members of his staff, to be here for the reunion of more than 600 Confederate Veterans from scattered points in North Carolina.

General Julian S. Carr, commander-in-chief of the U. C. V., will be unable to arrive before Wednesday, but the brigade commanders for this state are all expected sometime during Monday accompanied by their respective staffs.

The Vance monument on Pack Square, erected in memory of North Carolina's "War Governor," Zebulon Baird Vance, is completely surrounded with the Stars and Stripes and the Stars and Bars and practically every business establishment in the city has been decorated in honor of the veterans. Asheville is to welcome Tuesday morning for the first time in 20 years since a reunion has been held in this city by the wearers of the gray.

The followers of Lee and Jackson will be elaborately entertained while in the city, the committees in charge having made arrangements that assure all accommodations without cost to the veterans. The United Daughters of the Confederacy, Sons of Confederate Veterans, Confederate Memorial Association, Chamber of Commerce, and other bodies have joined in the general plan to make the 1922 reunion a high spot in the memoirs of the veterans during their advanced years.

PHILATHEA CLASS HELD INTERESTING MEET THURSDAY

Methodist Philathea Class
Plans to Undertake Important Issues Soon

The Methodist Philathea class met last Thursday evening at eight o'clock with Miss Eloise Ellington, with 40 members present. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. K. B. Pace.

Several matters of importance were brought to the attention of the class, among which was the donation of a fall box of clothes to the orphan which the class supports. Any member of the class who will donate money for this cause will please see the secretary. The treasurer was authorized to send a check for part of the state pledge and to send a donation to be used for buying bulbs for the government hospitals near Asheville.

A committee was appointed to write resolutions of respect on the death of Mrs. Rosa Quinley, a former teacher of the class. The business part of the meeting was closed with a prayer lead by Mrs. Ada Cherry, after which the meeting was turned over to the hostesses, Misses Bessie Harding, Martha Lee Cowell and Eloise Ellington and Mrs. Luther Herring.

A Shakespeare contest was much enjoyed after which an ice course was served.

CROWDS CONTINUE AT SALES AT OPPELMAN'S

Large crowds continue to attend the auction sales being conducted at Oppelman's three times daily. Saturday night proved another big sale with an enormous crowd in attendance. Three prizes were awarded at the conclusion of the sales. The first prize was won by Mrs. W. M. Paterson; the second by Mrs. Alice Atkinson, and the third by Mr. J. King. The sales will continue through this week.

HARDING ADMITS GOVERNMENT NOW FACES BIG DEFICIT

Republican Leaders Are Sore
As Result of Admission in Veto Message

Washington, Sept. 24. — Divided counsel in the Republican party is causing much worry and many corrugated brows among the G. O. P. leaders and there is waiting among them because of what they regard as a terribly bad "break" on the part of President Harding in his soldier bonus veto message to the congress. Many of the Republican members of the house were grouchy to a degree at the veto itself and did not hesitate to speak out in denunciation of it, but what hit them hardest on both the House and Senate side was when President Harding put in black and white in his message that there was a big deficit this year in the finances of the government, and that next year's record would also show a deficit.

That the Republican President naively confessed that the deficit this year would be above $650,000,000 came as a sockdolager to Republicans who have been harping gleefully on the subject of the wonderful economy shown by the congress just adjourned, and as how the government was getting along splendidly under the magnificent handling of its finances by the Republicans, that the Republicans are business folks and know how to take care of things. But this beautiful rainbow they spread across the political sky disappeared with the flat announcement of President Harding that one of the big reasons why he vetoed the adjusted compensation bill was because of a money shortage in the government, that there was a deficit of above $650,000,000 to be met, and that the country would go to the financial howl if the soldier bonus bill was passed.

The words of President Harding's message had not grown cold from their reading before Congressman Mondell, Republican floor leader, who is trying to defeat Senator Kendrick, Democrat, for re-election in Wyoming was out in print with the claim that this was all wrong and that the record was of Republicans having saved money not gone into debt for the government. He did not hesitate to challenge the statement of President Harding, evidently forgetting that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon had given the President the figures, and that Treasury statistics showed that President Harding is right, that the government is living ahead of its income, and that there is a deficit of above $650,000,000 that is upon the government. There was no pot of gold at the end of the rainbow that Congressman Mondell was chasing by which he could square his claims that the Republicans were living within the government income.

"Fat chance President Harding is giving us to win this year," said a Republican who was talking with his mouth open concerning the President's soldier bonus bill veto and his statement of a deficit of more than $650,000,000 for the present fiscal year, and continued: "It looks as if President Harding is working for a Democratic success this year and in the year 1924. He ought not to have dragged in that $650,000,000 deficit, for he could have assigned other reasons for the veto besides that. When we Republicans tell the voters that we have economized and saved money for the government the Democrats can come along and denounce us with handing out a large bit of bunk to them, and reading from the President's message shows that the head of the Republican party has admitted that there is now a deficit of $650,000,000. My own opinion is that the President has hurt the Republican cause, by his ill-vised statement about a deficit and that it will be a chicken that is sure to come back to roost on Republican doorsteps."

Messrs. James and Robert Little left this morning for Chapel Hill where they will resume their studies, officers.

COMMUNITY SING GREATLY ENJOYED HERE SUNDAY

King's Daughters Had Charge and the Sing Proved a Great Success

AYDEN COMMUNITY CHORUS PROVED A GREAT FEATURE

Rendered Several Selections Which Were Thoroughly Enjoyed

The Pitt County Community Sing could not have been held in a more appropriate spot than in the woods of the E. C. T. College. The afternoon was perfect and as the hour was four o'clock there were numbers of people present from out in the county who could not have come had it been held at a later hour.

It is a well known fact that it is infinitely harder to lead a sing out of doors because of the difficulty in ascertaining the volume, but Mr. J. H. Rose, as sing leader, kept things going in fine shape.

The King's Daughters who were in charge of the sing had asked the Ayden Community Chorus to give a special number and every one was delighted with the selections given. Mrs. R. F. Pittman, pianist, Ayden. Mrs. R. F. Pittman pianist, Ayden. People have shown such a lovely spirit of co-operation in all Pitt county work, that they are becoming more and more everywhere for their cordiality to all comers and their friendly assistance in every way. At the last sing Greenville merchants gave the sing sheets, and this month they were given by different firms in Ayden, for which the King's Daughters feel very grateful.

Greenville furnished the orchestra, Mrs. Ray Tyson pianist, Misses Eleanor Bass, Hennie Long, and Jeanette Wetmore, violists, and Mr. W. H. Rivers, alto horn.

Mrs. Ada Cherry played for two numbers sung by the negroes. Both were lovely old folk songs written in their dialect—namely "Swing Low Sweet Chariot" and "I've Gwine to Lay Down my Burden."

So many people have said to different members of the committee in charge this morning "The feeling of every one yesterday was lovely, as every one there was present because they wanted to be and because they wanted to get together and sing."

The Ayden community have asked to have the October community sing in Ayden and every one is expecting this to be one of the very best yet held. Good roads and the friendly co-operation and spirit now becoming so prevalent is doing wonders for Pitt county.

MRS. D. M'COY RECEIVES CHECK FOR NEAL ESTATE

Greenwood, S. C., Sept. 25—Mrs. D. McCoy has received a check for ten thousand dollars in settlement for the estate of her late husband, John Neal, the wealthy Winston-Salem, North Carolina tobaccoist. Mrs. McCoy thinks that the ten thousand check is only an advance on the millions which she will get eventually, as she says that when she married Neal it was understood that she was to share the estate with him.

Bert M. Jewel, head of strikers, in answering Attorney General Daugherty's injunction said responsibility for the strike of railroad shop crafts should be charged against the association of railway executives. That is probably the way Mr. Jewel and followers look at it, but it can't be said the rest of the country take the same view of the matter. The strikers are as much responsible for the serious situation as anyone, and efforts to extenuate their action is futile. They should have remained on the job and negotiated their terms. This would have prevented the serious interruption of traffic and the great loss which every branch of industry has sustained. They may talk about some certain set of men or organizations being responsible, but it looks to us like it can be charged to the whole bunch.

If the former soldiers who fought in the great war against Germany can eat that "sob" stuff handed them by President Harding in vetoing the bonus bill they won't need any compensation.

A MAN'S WORD IS HIS BOND.

It is to be deplored that several men who went eagerly into the Co-operative Marketing Association, and signed a contract to sell all their cotton or tobacco through that agency, have forgotten the binding force of a contract. Some of them have sold their cotton on the open market. If all should follow their course the market would be glutted, with the tendency to depress the prices.

For decades the farmer has been the only man who has had no voice in the price that products of his labor were to bring. In the heat of the day he toils, he labors to harvest his crop and he has been in the habit of bringing it to market as soon as it was ready for sale. His necessities have forced him to take what he was offered on a crowded market. The result has been that the prices he has received have been unremunerative. Last year and the year before farm products were so low that farmers were unable to pay expenses. In their extremity most of them woke up to the necessity of a better selling system. The co-operative organization was the result and it brought hope to the farmers.

This fall prices are up — partly due to the very small crops in Europe and partly to the organization of the farmers. Because prices are higher some farmers are tempted to sell. Their necessities increase this temptation. But if they follow their inclination and break their contracts what will be the result? They may get good prices this fall, but next year they and their neighbors will be again at the mercy of the buyers. From the earliest time "it is naught, it is naught, sayeth the buyer." He does not pay any more than he is compelled to pay.

The farmer's hope is in co-operation. Let this new method be defeated and what will happen? We shall return to the old system when practically all of the crop was dumped on the market as soon as it was ready, the buyers paying small prices as long as there was good production, heartening the farmer now and then with higher prices when production threatened to be low.

The farmer who is wise and respects his signed word, as he does his spoken word, will stand by his contract.

The result will be some inconvenience and hardship this fall, but in the long run he will receive more year by year for his crop, and will have the assurance that all who produce the same quality will receive the same pay. It is for this that farmers have long been hoping and working. The day of realization of long deferred hopes is near at hand. Farmers will win if they will make the necessary sacrifice.—New and Observer.

GREENVILLE TOBACCO MARKET

Greenville, N. C., Sept. 15.—Our tobacco market is strong on all good tobaccos. We are selling an average of 400,000 pounds per day at an average of 25 cents and the majority of our crop is very poor, in fact, the poorest crop we have ever seen in this section of the country. We hope to sell 25 million pounds on this market. The Co-ops are receiving about 10,000 pounds per day, and everybody connected with it and thoroughly disgusted.—Gentry.

The above was clipped from the Southern Tobacco Journal of Sept. 19th, having been sent them by one of Greenville's warehousemen.

Every one here knows the reference to Co-operative Marketing association is absolutely untrue but those readers of the Journal in the old belt and other sections where the signing up of new members is going on will not know this and no doubt there will be papers to copy same as was done in this section, all during the spring and summer when ever the opponents could get any thing detrimental to the working of the association.

It only shows to what extent the opponents of Co-operative selling will stoop in their efforts to weaken the morale of the members. A man who will deliberately misrepresent or try to get a man to go back on his word or contract is no friend of the farmer. J. N. GORMAN.

MR. JAMES LONG SUFFERS STROKE OF PARALYSIS

The many friends of Mr. James Long will regret to learn that he is confined to his home on Dickinson avenue, having suffered a light stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Long while out riding with a friend yesterday felt the stroke coming on and the friend not being able to drive the car had to wait for some one to come along who could bring him home.

His condition is some better today as he is able to talk a little.

His friends wish for him a speedy recovery.

She Looks Corsetless But Wouldn't Think of Going Without

Your figure may look all right for the time being without a corset, but some fine day you'll suddenly be shocked at what has happened.

It's a gradual letting down—but it's certain!

And since you can look lithe and corsetless with a corset on—why run the risk at all.

There is a Modart Front Lace Corset that delights every slim girl we show it to. She remains corsetless in appearance but is protected against corsetless results.

Strength from Ironized Yeast Simply Glorious!

It Follows a Natural Law Which Never Changes or Fails. The Entire Body Quickly Feels New Power!

"Two just about gone to pieces" do you know that getting back strength is comparatively easy? But do you realize that it is almost impossible to get back your strength by means of unnatural drugs? Do you know that about one woman out of every three is exhausted because of nerve and blood starvation? The remarkable power of yeast-vitamins-ironized has been proven. There is now no further excuse for being weak, sick, run-down. Ironized Yeast contains the tremendous natural building forces of vitamins and iron, and it builds and strengthens in half the usual time. Do you know why? Ironized Yeast is not a mere mixture of yeast and iron, but yeast ironized, which is a substance all by itself. That's what makes Ironized Yeast the most powerful, natural builder in the world today. You will find a new strength coming over you, your cheeks will get rosy, your eyes sparkle, your appetite will be sharp, you will digest what you eat, your blood will become rich, your energy will be more than equal to your ambition. Get a package of Ironized Yeast today, and beware of substitutes. Sold at all drug stores at $1.00 a package. Each package contains 60 tablets, each tablet is sealed. They never lose their power. MFG. by Ironized Yeast Co., Atlanta, Ga. Health and strength are now up to you.

Madam, Ironized Yeast Will Build You Up Amazingly and Quickly!

W. A. SHIVERS & HARRIS OF WINTERVILLE SECTION, MAKES RECORD TOBACCO SALE AT STAR WAREHOUSE.
