

JOHN T. THORNE IS CONVINCED WEEVIL IS GREAT MENACE

Former Mill Man Says Trip to Georgia Will be of Value to Pitt County Growers.

(Member of Pitt County Chamber of Commerce.)

The following letter from John T. Thorne of Farmville to H. L. Smith, secretary of the Pitt county chamber of commerce, regarding the trip to Georgia will be of interest:

I have your letter asking me to accompany you to the important meeting to be held in Georgia.

First of all, I want to thank you for making the trip possible and especially for inviting me to go along. I want to say right here that I believe the trip will be worth to me all the dollars that I have or will pay as a member of the Pitt county chamber of commerce.

I am thoroughly convinced that the boll weevil is the master of every man who undertakes to grow cotton for him to feed on, especially in large areas. I think careful and energetic farmers will be able to grow some cotton, but it should be planted early; fertilized well before planting; planted on light, quick land and cultivated rapidly. Also pick up all squares that fall off during June and July.

Behold the big Hippopotamus, with the Haggard-Wallace Circus, which will be here Thursday, October 5th.

Grifton Man Says He Derived Great Benefit From Trip Through Georgia

I was persuaded to take the Georgia trip. I cannot say how thoroughly pleased I am that I was persuaded to go. It was a source of great information to me. I saw things that I can put into operation here.

Among the new things that can be learned with a reasonable degree of certainty is the poultry industry. Properly handled, it is bound to be a good thing. The trouble with us here is that we are not willing to give the same thought and attention to the chicken that we must give to corn and tobacco.

There is absolutely no question about the boll weevil being a real menace to the cotton industry, especially where we try to raise it as before. We must reduce acreage and cultivate under new conditions and instructions given by the Extension Department.

WEAK, NERVOUS, OUT OF HEART

Louisiana Lady Says She Has "Never Found Anything Better Than Cardui For a Run-Down Condition."

Morgan City, La.—"It would be hard for me to tell how much benefit I have derived from the use of Cardui," said Mrs. J. G. Bowman of 2519 Front street, this city.

"I was so run-down in health I could hardly go."

"I was thin."

"I had no appetite."

"Could not rest or sleep well."

"I was so weak and so very nervous, I was no pleasure to myself or any one else."

"I suffered some pain, but the worst of my trouble was from being so weak and easy to get tired and out of heart."

"This nervous condition was worse than pain."

"Some one told me of Cardui, and I decided to use it."

"After using a few bottles, I regained my strength. I wasn't so nervous and began to eat and sleep and grew stronger and was soon well."

"I have never found anything better for a run-down condition."

If you suffer as this Louisiana lady did, it is reasonable to suppose that you, too, will find Cardui helpful for your trouble, as thousands of women have.

Take Cardui, the woman's tonic. Get a bottle from your druggist, today.—Adv.

BERLIN'S 'MARKET' CHEAP LOVE FLOODS

(By International News.)

Berlin, Sept.—Fashion-touring in Germany, and especially in Berlin, are now the favorite objects of cheap "love at first sight" on account of their high exchange, and very often fall an easy prey to unscrupulous semi-moraines.

District police stations almost every day are the scene of tragicomedies performed by foreigners reporting and complaining about the loss of jewelry and cash after a pleasure trip in fashionable restaurants and bars ending in a tele-attete "some obscure hotel."

While studying the social and economic conditions of Germany in such a peculiar way a Swede recently had stolen from him some 700 kroner, or 200,000 marks, which his girl friend immediately "invested" in goods, namely costly robes, two hats and lingerie. She was hunted up by the police and found unconscious from sniffing cocaine together with other friends, and the Swede was given back his 60,000 marks in cash and the recaptured outfit of the girl, containing odd advertisements in the "wanted" columns. The following represents a significant example:

"French industrial shortly Berlin, wants young woman secretary, 15-25 years old, intelligent, representative, able to take French dictations, thorough knowledge French not required, highest salary, etc."

Berlin paper commenting on it writes: "We wish to God this for other finds his match."

RAIL STRIKE HAS NO EFFECT IN HONOLULU

(By International News.)

Honolulu, Sept.—Oahu Railway is unaffected by the nation-wide railway strike now in effect. Its 80 miles of narrow-gauge track which forms the complete railway system of the Island of Oahu, Hawaii, are clear to the normal traffic of sugar cane, pineapples and tourists. The several hundred employees and the miniature moguls which daily labor on island haunts, are blissfully content and unaffected by strike conditions of unrest.

Mrs. Bessie Drehms, mother of two children, trailed her violinist husband, William Drehms, 5,000 miles from their native Prague, in Czechoslovakia, to Wheeling, W. She found him living comfortably with two women in a studio apartment and begged aid for herself and their two children, but he spurned her.

TRADING AMERICAN MANUFACTURES FOR FOREIGN RAW MATERIALS.

The growing disposition of the non-manufacturing world to exchange its raw material for American manufactures is apparent, says the Trade Record of the National City Bank of New York, by a close study of the import and export figures of the fiscal year just ended. While the value figures often fall below those of recent years, the quantities of individual articles show in many cases large percentages of gain, even in the "lean" international trade year 1922 when compared with the year immediately preceding. Though the strikes troubles of the past few weeks may have checked the disposition to lay in stocks of manufacturing material, the figures of the full fiscal year ending June 30, 1922 make quite apparent that the quantity of raw material being brought into the country is increasing and that the countries sending them are willing to accept our manufactures in exchange.

China, which is sent us chiefly from the opposite side of the globe (for we produce none ourselves), is a striking evidence of the encouraging situation in our manufacturing industries and of the willingness of the foreign producer to accept our manufactures in exchange for his natural product. The quantity of pig iron imported in the fiscal year 1922 was, in round terms, 100 million pounds as against 80 millions in the preceding year but the stated value of this 100 million pounds is only 29 million dollars while that of the 80 million pounds of the preceding year was 42 million dollars. In other words, imports increased 25 per cent in quantity but decreased 30 per cent in stated value.

This striking characteristic, of an increase in quantities of imported manufacturing material but a reduction in stated values, extends to many of the articles for which we must rely on the other parts of the globe, and the fact that this increase in quantities is accompanied by a decrease of stated value suggests that our manufacturers will continue to successfully compete in world markets for the finished products.

That the non-manufacturing world is ready to accept our manufactures in exchange for its raw material is also strikingly evidenced by the figures of our exports of tin plate and other manufactures to the very countries from which we draw the tin. Most of the pig tin comes to us from the Straits Settlements, the Dutch East Indies, the Malayan Peninsula, Hong Kong and China, and all of these countries and colonies take in exchange our tin plate and many other manufactures, and this is also true as to Bolivia and Chile from which we receive the tin ore of the Bolivian mines and pay for it in manufactures of tin and many other articles.

WHAT A WILLIAM DE MILLE PRODUCTION MEANS

The strongest dramatic quality in every idea-situation, pictorially expressed, the most direct conveyance of the thought involved, by players, to the audience artistic grouping and composition, and talented, famous players enacting the principal roles, are the ingredients which characterize every Paramount Picture which is itled, "A William de Mille Production."

William de Mille is a thorough student of the drama, a pastmaster in the art of direction. He does not destroy the individuality and personality of his players by pantomiming to them just how they are to act, but he carefully guides and draws from them their individual conceptions of the characters they portray. This is one of the secrets of the distinctiveness of William de Mille productions.

No wiser choice could have been made for the screen translation of George Broadhurst's stage success, "Bought and Paid For," than William de Mille. He is one of the few producers qualified to bring this great play, with its drama, pathos, comedy, and striking theme, to the silver screen.

(Conducted by C. R. Hudson.) Slogan: A Cow for Every Farm, A Pasture for Every Cow, A Fence for Every Pasture.

Although there are thousands of undersized boys and girls with weak bones, bad teeth and dull intellects, starving for the cheapest and best of foods—milk, yet, there is only one cow to every fifteen persons in fifty of our eastern counties. Dr. W. S. Rankin, State Health Officer, says that failure to use milk in sufficient quantity and of pure quality with infancy, and childhood, is, in all probability, the greatest sin that parents commit against their children. Upon an adequate milk supply, the future of the child and of the race is dependent, more, perhaps, than on any other single thing.

The Remedy. Obviously the remedy is to get more milk cows, not necessarily pure bred, but good milk cows. The average family, consisting of three children and two adults, should have for best nutrition, a quart of milk each for the children and one pint each for the adults, or one gallon per day. This is just about what the average cow produces.

But be careful. Before getting too many cows we must first have pasture for them. Every family, be it tenant or otherwise, should at once get ready to plant two or more acres for every cow it has, or expects to have. This should be sown right away, if conditions are favorable, but not later than the 1st to 10th of October. Don't delay. Get the soil prepared, get the seed and have them ready to sow when there is moisture in the soil. For a formula for pasture grasses, call on your county agent, or write to your agricultural Extension Service at Raleigh, N. C.

R. V. C. Smith, the Sillyad man, visited several of our prominent merchants this week. Mr. Smith is the composer and originator of close to one thousand Silly "ads" or advertising jokes. He claims his ability in getting up jokes is due to the war, as he was gassed in taking part in it. "This gas," says Mr. Smith, "is still coming out of me in the form of these jokes." Beginning this Wednesday and continuing each Wednesday and Friday, we will distribute some of Mr. Smith's gas in the way of a column of Sillyads in this paper. We believe you will like this column of humor, and that you will actually enjoy advertising made up in this up-to-date way.

A DRASTIC REVISION.

A chorus of indignant and emphatic negation greets the labor proposal to amend the Constitution of the United States so that "The United States Supreme Court will have the power to review an act of congress and to declare such an act unconstitutional. But in the event congress for a second time enacts the legislation in question it will be beyond the power of the court and will stand as the final and unassailable law of the land."

An army organizations and editorial writers vehemently protest against any such drastic revision of the fundamentals of the government of the United States as would put in the hands of congress alone, without any concurrence by the forty-eight states, the power to change the constitution.

With all due respect to the congress, it is nevertheless true that it does make mistake, and that probably in the future as at times in the past it will be swayed by passion, prejudice, self-interest, and partisan politics. Congress is made up of human beings and can not, of course, as a body, be more perfect or more wise than the average of its membership. The United States has grown in one hundred and forty-six years from a baby nation to the mightiest on earth. Our people are more free, have more property, less war, greater opportunities, more justice, less governmental ills than any other people. This growth and these results have come under the beneficent and wise laws which spring from a Constitution unalterable save by a long, difficult, and thought-taking program of State acquiescence. To substitute for this proved successful plan a new scheme by which we will have no fundamental law not changeable at will by Congress is a proposal which will not only never be accepted by the American people, but which will injure, not help the cause of those who propose it.

Why is education in the United States fighting so hard for existence? Why is it that children have too little opportunity? Why is it that so many illiterates are permitted to grow up to take their ineffective places in society to the detriment of us all? Why is it that this, the richest and most prosperous of nations can do so little to aid itself educationally?

There can be only one answer; because the nation, as a nation, has no education plan policy, or organization devoted to education; because as a people, we regard educational facilities and programs as local issues; because we have no department of education, as we have a department of agriculture or war or interior.

Washington, D. C., is the nation's property; it is generally regarded by us all as our pride, our beauty, our very own. But only from a standpoint of architectural beauty; not from a standpoint of leading in civic improvement. Washington's schools are neglected; many of them run two shifts a day in order to accommodate the children which crowd them. Portable buildings, insanitary buildings, buildings so old and out of date they are shamed by the schools of municipalities of twenty-five thousand people, are pressed into service. Teachers are underpaid; education suffers.

Washington people have no vote; Washington people do not appropriate their own money for their own school; congress does, or rather does not do it. And congress shelves the Towner-Sterling bill, which will create a department of education to look after not only Washington's, but the nation's interest in education, spite of the insistent and well-nigh universal demand that it pass.

Mr. and Mrs. Parent, you can help. You have a representative and two Senators in congress. They listen to what you say. Therefore, in the interest of your country, its people, and your own children, say it and say it strong!

The city aldermen have taken a long stride toward prosperity in their and improve certain streets which and improve certain streets which at this time present a mighty bad appearance. Extension of the sewer will add to the health of the facilities, and the streets will cause a general increase in traffic. While a fairly large sum of money may be necessitated in completing this work, it is worth the price and no one will have the slightest cause for regret. We would like to see improvements continue until every section is provided with the things so essential to ideal residential and business communities.

Postmaster H. R. Mumford is urging the people of Greenville to provide mail receptacles for their homes in order to expedite the services of the various carriers throughout the city. Only a very few realize how much the city carriers are helped when there is something at the door in which to place the mail. It saves them the time of stopping to knock and the fear of losing the mail in case it should be placed under the door or somewhere on the porch. Time is very valuable to the carrier who starts out from the office with his bag loaded to its capacity, and if there should be a receptacle at every home a long route he would be enabled to cover his territory and be back to the office in less than half the time under present circumstances. There are numbers of homes on each city route without anything to receive the mail and they are proving such a drawback to the carriers while business is increasing that the postmaster's forced to ask the public to co-operate. Everyone should do what they can to co-operate with the department and in this way show their appreciation of the splendid service rendered by the carriers.

GREENVILLE, N. C.

Personal

Mesdames R. L. Humber, Lula Fleming and Miss Louise Fleming, delegates from the Memorial Baptist church, are attending the W. M. U. of the Roanoke association which is convening in Rosemary.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Duggan left this week for Goldsboro where they will make their future home. They have won a host of friends during their stay in Greenville who regret to see them leave.

Mr. Clement Washington left this morning for Richmond to be with Mrs. Washington who underwent an operation at a hospital there.

Master William Riddick, of Ayden, spent several hours in the city today.

Mr. K. W. Cobb returned to day from Fayetteville where he completed a very successful land sale.

Mr. E. L. Mays, of Washington, was numbered among business visitors in Greenville yesterday afternoon.

Mr. E. W. Moye, of Goldsboro, spent a short while in Greenville today.

Dr. G. G. Dixon, of Ayden, was in the city last night where he attended a meeting of the Pitt county post of the American Legion.

Mr. J. E. Hess, of Durham, was in the city a short while today.

Mr. M. M. Haynes, of Rocky Mt., was numbered among business visitors in Greenville yesterday afternoon.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Carol A. Manning on Wednesday, Sept. 20th, a daughter.

Rose-Dupree.

On September twentieth, nineteen and twenty-two. There was a wedding of interest and of perfect grandeur. At the residence in Pitt county of James T. Dupree.

The contracting parties were Wede Ledger Rose and C. M. D. Elder S. B. Denny, of Wilson, N. C., performed the ceremony.

And set the two hearts free. The bride was a charming daughter and most beautifully gowned in white satin.

With a bride's veil all around. The bride's dress was beautifully beaded in design of silver gray which was the bride's own handwork. Not long before this day.

And there was the lovely bridesmaid dressed in a charming style, which helped to make the wedding of interest as she was sister of bride.

And too the little ring bearer, in accordion plaited taffeta dress which was too lovely to mention as she was one among the rest.

But owing to the weather the crowd was somewhat small, smaller than was expected but notwithstanding all seemed to have a good time.

As the rain saw fit to fall. The presents were most numerous of which most was silver ware, which show the esteem in which both were held.

What with this can compare? There was a sumptuous feast spread for those who lived far away that saw fit to go there.

On that dainty day. Good old country ham and yam potatoes, bread, biscuit and cake too, and lots too numerous to mention but most palatable was the "cue."

Then after the marriage came congratulations, which were not numbered few. Wishing them all the good luck that could befall the two.

They motored to the station, to go on their bridal tour, to New York and Washington City and perhaps to Baltimore.

The groom is a prosperous farmer, and a jolly, good fellow too; while the bride was one of Edgcombe's fair teachers, from Greenville Training School.

—Tarboro Southerner.

MORE THAN 1,200 BALES OF COTTON BEING DELIVERED DAILY TO CO-OPERATIVE ASSO.

Raleigh, Sept. 22.—More than 1,200 bales of cotton are being delivered daily to the North Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-Operative Association, according to General Manager U. B. Blalock who expects the daily average to pass the two thousand mark before the end of this week.

In line with the policy adopted by the board of directors to make an advance of approximately fifty per cent of the market value of the cotton at the time of delivery, the association management has arranged to make a further advance on long staple cotton to bring the total advance up to that mark. The additional distribution will be made in about ten days after delivery and will be based on government figures for the Charlotte district. Cotton of an inch and one-sixteenth or over is known as long staple.

The advance of fifty dollars per bale was decided upon by the board of directors as being approximately fifty per cent of the market value of a standard bale of cotton. The definite figure was selected to facilitate the handling of accounts of members. Further advances will be made as fast as sales will permit.

Receiving agents have been appointed for more than two hundred points and contracts have been closed with sixty-nine warehouses with prospects of securing at least a score more. This will provide the association with more than three hundred points for receiving cotton, according to B. F. Brown manager of the cotton department. Where members do not live near enough to a receiving point to deliver their cotton conveniently they may ship to the nearest warehouse and have their bills of lading honored at the nearest bank, Mr. Brown states, though it is preferable to deliver at designated receiving points or warehouses.

Conferences with receiving agents were held by department heads at various points throughout the State during the past week, Mr. Brown stated today, and all arrangements are now completed for receiving cotton.

General Manager Blalock returned to the office today from a trip into the Piedmont section and reported that cotton was being delivered in large quantities to the association Saturday. He is very much gratified over the prospects.

North Carolina banks have arranged to loan the association two million dollars for its revolving fund. The association has a credit of ten million dollars with the War Finance Corporation, which will be available when needed.

UNDERTAKER HEADS G. O. P. COMMITTEE

Reno, Sept.—Boy, page Mr. Charon, superintendent of the Stry Ferry!

An undertaker is chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Nevada and, between funerals, is Republican State Central Committee actively engaged in prosecuting the campaign for the G. O. P. ticket.

His name is Silas F. Ross. He is a member of the City Council, but there his professional qualification does not stand out so prominently, as there is a printer, an insurance man, a civil engineer and member of other pursuits working with him.

But as chairman of the Grand Old Party's State Central Committee he is declared to be the only "mortician"—the word which appears on his neat gold-and-black sign—in the United States to be the active head of a political campaign.

The Democrats say that it is quite proper that an undertaker have charge of Republican affairs in Nevada.

The Republicans retort that "S." Ross will officiate at the funeral of the Nevada Democracy in November.

Mr. Ross does not wear white gloves when presiding at meetings of the State Central Committee.

This part of the bequest was in addition to the residue of the estate left to Ziegler after charitable gifts and Mrs. Stern's share of the hotel property had been deducted.

OPIMUM SLEUTHS FOILED BY WILEY CHINESE GANG

Honolulu, Sept.—Customs officers were startled here when $2,000 worth of opium disappeared virtually before their eyes at a small Chinese drug store in the heart of the city, supposed to be operated by a member of the powerful inner ring of opium dealers. A Chinese girl was hired by the revenue officers to make a decoy sale. The girl went aboard the Pacific mail liner President Wilson brought the opium down the gang-plank and carried it to the drug store trailed by the customs officers. She was in the building two minutes when the officers raided it, but a two hour search of the place failed to reveal where the opium had disappeared to.
