NEAR EAST SITUATION HINGES ON SUCCESS OF MUDANIA CONFERENCE HELD TODAY; TURK PROPOSAL CONSIDERED IMPOSSIBLE

Allied High Commissioners to Meet Turks in Effort to Clear up Situation

FRENCH ENVOY SAYS PROSPECTS OF PEACE MUCH BRIGHTER NOW

Believed Kemal Will Make Greater Effort for Peace Than for War

Constantinople, Oct. 2.—The Kemal proposals, which will be laid formally before the Mudania conference tomorrow, are "discussible, but not acceptable." This was the decision of the extraordinary council which met at the British Embassy this afternoon. It included the Allied High Commissioners, ambassadors, generals and admirals.

M. Franklin-Bouillon, the French envoy, through whose efforts with Kemal Pasha the conference was made possible, expressed his confident belief that an agreement would be reached tomorrow at Mudania.

"Kemal will make an even greater effort for peace than he has made for war," he said.

Two of the most important questions to be discussed at the conference will be demarcation of a new neutral zone on the Asiatic shore of the Dardanelles and at Ismid, and the evacuation of Thrace.

The Allies hold that Kemal's demands as outlined by M. Franklin-Bouillon are of such a nature that the Angora assembly would thereafter be in a position to reject the Allied note. Kemal Pasha insists on settlement of all military questions before replying to the Allied proposals. He and four of the ministers at Smyrna accepted the Allied note in principle, but the attitude of the Angora assembly is not known.

Hamid Bey, representing the Angora government accompanied by M. Bouillon, will leave tomorrow for Mudania in the cruiser Metz. General Mombelli, who will represent Italy at the conference, will proceed on the Victor Emmanuel General Sharpe for France, on the Jean Barix, and General Harrington on the Iron Duke.

The Mudania conference will begin at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The British naval authorities have ordered the cessation of all marine traffic in the neighborhood of Mudania and newspaper correspondents are to be excluded from the meetings. Daily communiques will be issued on the results of the conference and transmitted by wireless to Constantinople.

FEDERAL OFFICERS ARE CHARGED WITH REMOVING LIQUOR

Justice Department Members Said to Have Used Liquors Personally

Washington, Oct. 2.—Charges that certain representatives of the Department of Justice converted to their own use large stocks of liquor seized here in the enforcement of prohibition, were made in a special report filed today by the District of Columbia grand jury.

The report asserted that the liquor was removed from the warehouse used by the department for storage purpose; and was used by the officials involved for their private consumption; for distributing to personal friends and as gifts to favored institutions. There was no charge that any of the liquor was disposed of for financial gain.

Illegal withdrawals covered in the report were declared to have occurred between July 20 and September 11, 1920. The jury did not name the individuals who were involved, but declared that their conduct "can not be too severely condemned."

At the department of justice officials indicated that no action was in prospect, since the offenses complained of were by "former attaches of a former administration" of the department.

The first intimation of such a situation, William J. Burns, chief of the investigation bureau, said, came to him when counsel for a defendant in a liquor case which had lapsed under the statute of limitations, filed claim for return of the several cases of whiskey involved. Mr. Burns said he ordered that the property be returned at once and then learned that it was no longer in the warehouse.

Simple Rites Held Yesterday for Veteran Newspaper Editor of the City

Kinston, N. C., Oct. 3.—The funeral of Charles W. Forlaw, who passed away Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, was held from the residence of his brother-in-law, John J. Bizzell, where he made his home, at 112 S. Independence street, yesterday afternoon at 4:30, the interment taking place in the family burial plot in Maplewood cemetery immediately afterwards.

Rev. C. L. Read, pastor of Queen Street Methodist church, assisted by Rev. F. M. Shamburger, presiding elder of the New Bern district, conducted the ceremony, which was simple—as Mr. Forlaw would have had it. A fair-sized crowd, consisting of relatives and close friends, were present to pay their last respects, his passing on not having been given any publicity, and hundreds of his friends being unaware of his demise. This, too, was as he would have had it, being in keeping with his life—retiring in disposition and unobtrusive.

The floral designs were numerous and beautiful, the grave being literally banked with them, and attest the love and esteem in which he was held.

Charles W. Forlaw was born in Duplin county near Kenansville 52 years ago, but has made his home in Kinston since early manhood, with the exception of a few years when he was engaged in his chosen profession, newspaper work, in New Bern, Rocky Mount and Oklahoma. He was one of the best known newspaper men in Eastern Carolina, and was possibly known by and knew more people in this section than any other man, prior to his retirement from the newspaper business a few years ago. He was unmarried and is survived by three sisters, Mrs. J. J. Bizzell, Mrs. Henry Dunn and Mrs. Mark Brown, all of Kinston.

Mr. C. Washington returned today from Richmond where he visited Mrs. Washington who is confined in a hospital there. He reported her much improved.

MAYOR CLARK ISSUES A PROCLAMATION FOR FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

His Honor Cameron Morrison, Governor of North Carolina, has by proclamation daily issued, designated Monday, October 2nd, 1922, as Fire Prevention day, it being the 51st anniversary of the great Chicago fire, and, Whereas, the State Insurance Department has seen fit to set apart this week, October 2-9 as Fire Prevention week, and, Whereas, many of the cities and towns of the State have issued proclamations and are making use of the occasion for the purpose of cleaning up and reducing the fire hazard; and, Whereas, it behooves all of us as patriotic, loyal citizens of Greenville to fight the fire demon with every means at hand; Now, therefore, I, D. M. Clark, Mayor of Greenville, do hereby declare and proclaim the week beginning October 2nd, and culminating October 9th, Fire Prevention Week, and ask that all citizens good and true clean their premises of rubbish, trash and any other waste materials of a combustible nature, and place the same in a or in a convenient place on their premises so that it can be readily reached and carried off by the town carts. It is also requested that all merchants look to the cleaning of their back lots and the destruction of any waste materials such as boxes, crates, excelsior and paper, for the existence of such debris is only an invitation to the fire germ. It is also requested that all persons make it a point to co-operate with the building and fire inspectors in every way possible and carry out such instructions as may be given from time to time by these officials, especially as to the erection or repairing of buildings and flues.

Let's make Fire Prevention Week for Greenville, every week of the year. Issued this 2nd day of October, 1922.

D. M. CLARK, Mayor of Greenville, N. C.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HERE TO OBSERVE PREVENTION WEEK

Public is Urged to Co-operate With Department in Every Way Possible

The Greenville Fire Department will observe Fire Prevention week, and the public is urged to co-operate in every way possible. The state loses thousands of dollars annually as result of fire, and this can be reduced to no little extent by more care on part of the public.

The fire department yesterday presented the following suggestions for the prevention of fires and loss of life: Ashes should be taken up and kept in metal receptacles and never in paper or wooden barrels or boxes. Oily rags or waste should be kept in standard metal waste cans and contents removed and burned each night.

Rubbish should never be allowed to accumulate in or near buildings. Gasoline, naphtha and other volatile oils should not be kept in buildings, and used only with extreme care. Gas brackets should have rigid fixtures, where necessarily to use swinging brackets, all exposed woodwork should be protected with sheet metal, leaving an air space. Metal bells should be placed over gas jets on low ceilings.

Steam pipes should be kept clear from all wood and other combustible material. Open flue holes should be protected with sheet iron or, better, be bricked up.

Electrically when improperly installed is hazardous; lamp cords should not be hung on nails or wrapped around any piping; paper shades should never be used. Confer with your city electrician when changes are contemplated. Do not allow employees to tamper with electrical installations.

Stovepipes should be securely riveted and run direct to brick chimneys, never through floors or partitions; protect floors under and about stoves with brick, cement or sheet metal. Stairways should be kept closed and clear at all times; never place any stock or sheving thereon.

Aisles of good width should be maintained at all times; never pile stock in front of windows or against doors, as it handicaps the firemen in case of fire.

Fire doors and shutters should be closed every night, and stock should never be placed so as to hinder the ready closing of these fire-stops. Better to use metal frames and sash with wire glass.

See that all fire-extinguishing apparatus is in good working order. Damp lamp black will ignite spontaneously. So will slack and pulverized coal and charcoal when wet.

LOVE JOY PORTRAYS VIVID PICTURE OF SMYRNA SUFFERING

American Woman Says Real Story of Stricken City Has Not Been Made Public

DECLARES LIVES OF THOUSANDS IN CONSTANT PERIL

Sanitary Conditions of City Adds to Horrors Confronting Helpless Thousands

Constantinople, Oct. 2.—The cries of the Christian refugees of Smyrna for water and food are met by a Turkish lach, said Dr. Esther Lovejoy, of New York, president of the Women's Hospital, who has just returned here after a week's survey in the stricken city. Dr. Lovejoy declared that the world has not been told the real story of fire and horror.

There are still several hundred thousand Christians in Smyrna and the interior whose lives are in peril, for the time limit of their evacuation has expired," said she. "Only the Providence knows what their fate will be. The crowds on the quay are so great that some of them are pushed into the sea. Women stand waist deep in the water, holding their babies aloft in their arms to save them from drownings.

"Turkish soldiers are systematically robbing the men and wrenching rings from women's fingers. The wretched sufferers are willing to be robbed if the robbing can purchase life.

"At night the Turkish soldiers commit excesses against women and girls. Only when searchlights from the ships in the harbor are turned on them do they abstain. In terror of Turks, the refugees are packed in thousands in front of the American consulate.

"There are more than 100 mothers who gave birth to babies. Some were delivered while standing. I attended many. Some of the infants died within a few hours from exposure, but the mothers, clung pitifully to the bodies of the little things."

JUDGES ANNOUNCE NAMES OF WINNERS IN ANIMAL CONTEST

Thirty-six Tickets to Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus to be Awarded Thursday.

WINNERS EXHIBITED SPLENDID TASTE IN COLORS AND FINISH

Winning Pictures May be Seen at The Reflector Office at Any Time

The "Animal" page contest conducted by The Reflector was brought to an end yesterday afternoon and last night the judges decided who were the winners. The best of each animal was picked from the 125 animal pages returned, and the winners today will be awarded 36 tickets to the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus to exhibit in this city Thursday.

While many of the pages showed excellent thought on the part of the youngsters, there were others that failed to portray the colors in an accurate way. There were some black sheep, red and green cows, green alligators, red beavers, yellow camels, in fact, the entire menagerie on some of the pages were complete failures, so far as colors are concerned.

The winners brought out their colors in a highly interesting and noteworthy way, and their work can be seen at the office. They can not be placed on public display because of the number and size of the pages, but those desiring to see the work may do so by calling at the office.

Tuesday, October 3rd, 1922

The disturbed condition of the Near East has had a bad effect on cotton prices in the United States, but prominent members of the industry are looking for a revival as soon as things clear up. Farmers should hold their cotton until an improvement is noted. They can't afford to sell at prices that will give them slightly above the cost of production, and the man that holds back will be the one to come out at the top to come out at the big end of the horn.

Cotton storage warehouses and potato storage warehouses are essential to every community where the two crops are produced in huge quantities. Pitt county is a large producer of both crops and it is up to our farmers to get busy and erect such buildings as they find necessary. Thousands of dollars are lost annually as result of potatoes going to the bad. Much cotton is also destroyed and wasted because it isn't properly housed from the weather. Adequate storage facilities will mean enormous savings to our growers, and the sooner they provide them the sooner conditions will improve.

Next Sunday will be known as "Father's Day" throughout the country and various churches will observe the occasion by appropriate exercises. We have observed mother's day the past several years in a commendable way, and it would be unfair and unthoughtful to neglect "dear old dad" the other parent who means so much to us. Greenville people should not let the day pass without proper observance, and it is hoped every church will outline some special program in honor of the day.

Judging by the amount of tobacco consumed in the United States alone it looks like prices should remain in good for this year's crop. Good tobacco especially should demand high prices and it is up to the grower of this kind to carefully prepare it before marketing. This fact assures better prices than under ordinary conditions. No farmer that hastily markets his crop can expect to receive prices as good as his neighbor who takes more time and carefully prepares his offerings. The demand for good tobacco will remain steady throughout the entire season, and farmers may be assured of prices in proportion to cost of production.

Kemal's agreement to an armistice meeting gives hope for ultimate peace, we are informed by late reports. While this agreement has been reached, the Turks continue movement of troops as if they intend to accomplish whatever objective they had in view. Mustafa Kemal cannot be expected to deal squarely. The fact that he is a Turk should cause the British to become suspicious of his activities and to always be on guard against an emergency. The Turkish leader should realize, however, that he has set out to accomplish something impossible so long as the Allies oppose him. He wouldn't be able to make any progress even with the support of Russia. The odds are too great for a nation so small and they would be overwhelmed even before any progress could be made. The British shouldn't deliberate until the Turk is given another opportunity of murdering Christians. They should act immediately and thereby avoid further crime.

The dairy campaign started in Pitt county yesterday, and it is likely to terminate with good results. The prime motive of the campaign is to interest the farmer in raising more cows, or to place a cow on as many farms as possible. The value of milk as food for growing children is recognized to greater extent today than ever before and it is hoped every farmer able to do so will give the matter proper attention. It has been found that a large percent of defective children are underfed, or get the wrong kind of diet. Milk can be digested by the most delicate kind of child, and is recognized as the most nourishing thing of food value. The chamber of commerce and the county agent are to be commended for bringing this matter before the public's attention and everyone should co-operate with them in making the issue a success.

This is fire prevention week in North Carolina and everyone should do what they can to make it a success. Prevention of fires that cost the state thousands and thousands of dollars yearly may be prevented by hearty co-operation on part of the public. The best way to cheat the fire demon out of his annual toll is for everyone to be on the lookout. The careful man or woman is the best preventative to be found and without them the annual loss would grow by leaps and bounds. The Greenville fire department is making an effort to get the public to operate with it in every way possible and will this week use its influence in that direction. The city alone has suffered only slightly from fire in the last few years, but unless we are vigilant all the time a destructive conflagration may break out at any time. So, let's all do what we can to help the fire department establish the best record in the state.

Your Figure Looks a Thousand Per Cent Better Lately--

And the answer will vibrate back over the wire—"Well, I've had the good sense to put on a corset again!"

No matter how long-waisted or unfitted the mode might be—the figure has to have definite beautiful lines or the gown loses exactly what it must have to give it character.

It doesn't take long for the figure that is uncorseted to become nondescript. A woman absolutely needs the support it affords. And that doesn't mean she must be uncomfortable—instead it means she should go to a corsetiere who will assist her in choosing the right corset.

FIRE CAUTIONS.

Follow these suggestions and reduce the fire waste and its attendant loss of life and property.

1. Keep matches out of the way of children. Teach them the dangers of playing with fire.

2. Avoid throwing lighted cigars, cigarettes and matches into waste-paper baskets or other places containing inflammable materials.

3. Make it a point to know how to get out of every building you enter. This precaution may save panic and much confusion in case of fire.

4. Avoid the filling of lighted lamps. Avoid the use of kerosene to light fires. The application of heat to kerosene results in the generation of gases which are very explosive.

5. Provide a sufficient number of metal cans near stoves and furnaces to receive the hot ashes. Provide a different type of can for rubbish—never mix.

6. Avoid toy wax candles. Each year the number of deaths of children due to placing candles on Christmas trees produces a sad ending for an otherwise joyful season.

7. Keep greasy and oily rags in tightly closed metal boxes provided in one place for the purpose.

8. Avoid hanging lace curtains and other draperies near gas jets or other open flames. The draft from nearby windows may cause fires quick to spread and difficult to extinguish.

Use gasoline, naphtha or benzine for cleaning, if at all, out-of-doors and during the day. These liquids quickly evaporate, and the heavy inflammable gases formed quickly settle in space below windows and in corners.

9. Place substantial fire-resisting guards in front of all woodwork about sources of heat. The open flames of gas, kerosene, alcohol and gasoline stoves should be particularly shielded.

10. Keep all open flames away from gas leaks. Explosive mixtures of gas and air are quickly formed at such places, and they only need a lighted match or taper to cause disastrous results.

12. Permit only experienced persons to install or repair electrical fittings and appliances. There are definite rules for wiring, which if known and observed will prevent electrical fire.

13. Avoid placing articles made of celuoid, pyrain, xylonite, fiberoid, viscoloid and similar materials, such as collars, combs, toilet articles, etc., upon ornear sources of heat as they are very likely to cause fires. Great caution should also be exercised when articles made of such materials are worn upon the person.

14. Turn the current off after using an electric pressing iron. Avoid leaving portable electric heating devices unattended.

NEW FEATURES TO BE SEEN IN CIRCUS THURSDAY, OCT. 5

Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus Has Many Things Different From What Used to Be.

"Hold your horses, the elephants are coming" can no longer be the cry to penetrate the air on circus day and no doubt will have to be changed to "Park your car, the elephants are coming."

No longer are the horses tied about the circus lot while their owners enjoy the spasms of mirth afforded by a visit inside the big tent, but in their places can be found lines of automobiles.

Time certainly has changed Old Man Custom and with the change outside the big top, there are the many changes inside. When the majestic Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus pitches its tents here Thursday, October 5th, there is promised to be proven that the time-worn phrase, "Every circus is alike," cannot be implied to this show, for much money and efforts have been used in creating new features and novelties for this season.

Expenses are declared not to have been spared in the preparing of the trainers were obtained and their skill is denoted through the feats being performed by the beasts. And many wild animals have been added to the big menagerie that now ranks among the largest in the world.

Careful choosing of equestrian acts is said to be repaid by the success they are meeting in every city and among these features are to be found famous performers of Europe and this continent.

A downtown ticket office will be opened during the show's stay here for the convenience of the public at Warren drug store, where the same price will be charged as on the show grounds.

Lame Duck Recruits Washington Problem; President Perplexed

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

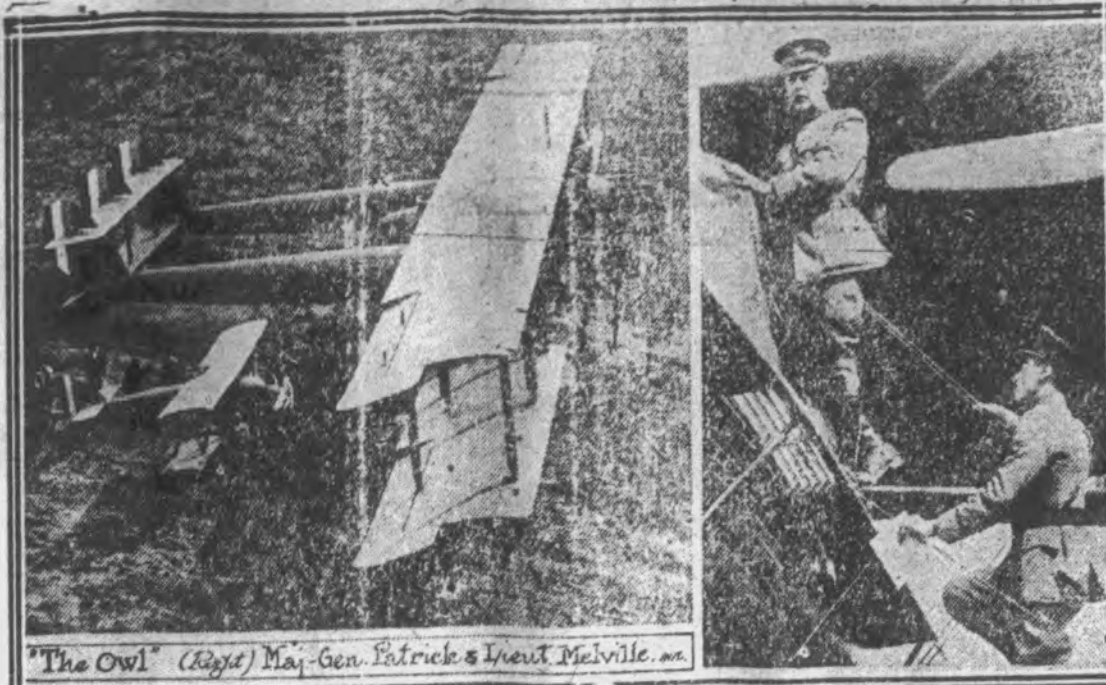

Washington, Oct. 2. — A burning question in Washington these autumnal days, when congress is out on the political firing line, is what disposition President Harding will make of his "lame duck" problem when the final curtain drops on the political show next November 7.

The Lame Duck Brigade already has a number of recruits—Senators and Representatives whose constituencies have turned them down in the primaries after years of service in Washington—and it is readily agreed that the numbers will be enhanced when the chill winds of voters' displeasure wafts across the country next November.

If President Harding follows precedent, jobs will be found for many of them, and the political tongues of the capital already are picking out berths.

The most conspicuous member of the famous bridge now in Washington is Senator Harry S. New, of Indiana, who was defeated in the Indiana primaries by Albert Jeremiah Beveridge.

Because it is known that President Harding tried to get Senator New, his close personal friend, into his Cabinet the gossips have been busy selecting a Cabinet berth for the Hoosier statesman now that he has been defeated for renomination. President Harding offered Senator New the Post Office Department during the Cabinet-picking days in Florida that preceded his inauguration, and the Senator's attachment for the senate was stronger than his desire to be postmaster-general.

So strong have been the rumors that Senator New is headed for the given rise to a story that the present postmaster-general, Hubert Work, accepted the post when Will H. Hays, resigned with the understanding that he would give way to Senator New should the occasion arise that New's services could be utilized.

Yanks Have Slight Edge Over Giants

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

(International News Service)
New York, Oct. 3.—Team for team and man for man, the New York Yanks outrank the New York Giants and should come home on the bit in the majority of games in the impending world's series, confined exclusively to what incurable inmates of the places are pleased to call "the big town", for the second successive year.

"It isn't what you used to be, it's what you are today" is the refrain of a once popular song. That applies to the teams in question.

The Giants were the better ball club last year and won. They are nothing of the kind this year and should lose perhaps before the limit of seven games is reached.

They suffer by comparison in five of the nine positions but that hardly tells the story. In pitching alone, counted as only one position, but in reality more than 60 per cent of the game, the Giants are beaten to an audible whisper.

Even their so-called million-dollar infield is topped in three positions. In brief, the Yanks have been improved from season to season by trades, purchases and in isolated. The Giants, meantime, have retrograded, particularly in pitching.

Offensively, they are a much more polished and consistent club than the Yankees. They are better hitters, faster on the bases and more versatile all around, but the margin of the Yankees' defensive superiority is so pronounced that it overcomes everything. Pitchers will always win a short series, and the Yanks have them.

Following is a comparison of positions:

Catchers

Wally Schang, who will handle all the games for the Yankees, is a better catcher than either Frank Snyder or Earl Smith, the Giant first stringers. Mechanically he is no better than Snyder and doesn't think any quicker or more clearly, but he can get much more out of a ball club by his hustle and fight.

There is such a thing as a catcher keeping a team keyed up, for he handles the ball more than any other player and can inspire his mates by the fire and energy he puts into his work. Schang can do this; Snyder cannot.

Smith doesn't figure. He is nothing but a mechanical catcher, equally dangerous with Schang and Snyder as a hitter, but not the best man in the world in a big series. Too irresponsible.

As a second-string proposition he tops Hoffman and Ed Vornor, of the Yanks, but neither of these latter will show, unless Schang is injured.

Wally is just as consistent a hitter as Snyder and will hit them just as far when needed. He gets our vote.

Pitchers

Nothing to it but the Yankees. They can muster Joe Bush, one of the league's leading pitchers; Bob Shawkey, who won more than twenty games; Cary Mays and Waite Hoyt, stars of the 1921 series and coming back to form after an indifferent season, and Sam Jones, likewise improved, against Nehf, J. Barnes, McQuillen, Scott and Ryan. It should be more than enough.

Traveling at their present speed, Bush should win two games and Shawkey at least one. That would leave a single victory to be divided among Mays, Hoyt and Jones.

The Giants' pitchers are not what they were in 1921. Art Nehf seems to have caved under the strain of carrying the club all season; Tony and Douglas are gone. McQuillen is a consistent loser and Ryan and Scott are uncertain propositions.

Only Jeff Barnes, who beat the Yanks twice last year, is a possibility to upset calculations. Jess has enjoyed a none to successful season, but it takes a curve ball pitcher to stop the Yanks, and Jess is all of that. For this reason young Jonnard, who has won six out of seven on the season, may not get by. He has nothing but a good fast ball.

If Barnes can repeat his 1921 performance and Nehf comes back to his best, the Giants' stock would boom accordingly. These are "if" premises, however.

Infield

Offensively, the Giants carry the credit by some considerable margin; defensively, the Yanks enjoy a slight edge. Taking both departments together, the Giants are the pick.

At first base Pipp holds Kelly even in hitting and, judged on his present form, is a better fielder. At one time neither could go to his left for a batted ball, but Pipp has learned the secret somehow. Kelly has the better arm, but the opportunity to make use of it may never arise.

A second baseman, cannot hit with in forty points of him, is a clubfoot on the bases by comparison and altogether loses caste when mentioned in the same breath.

A shortstop Scott is the best defensive man in the game. Bancroft having flopped a bit on his season's work, Bunny will outbit his rival fifty points on the season, but will get no more hits in the pinches than Scott. And a world's series is just one pinch after another. Score this one for Scott.

Dugan was a good third baseman before he came to the Yanks. He is the best in baseball now, bar none. Heine Groh has slipped in both hitting and fielding and is prone to injury.

If he does not play in the series Frisch will go to third and Rawlings to second, without affecting the status of the two infields to any extent. Ward and Rawlings are about even as second basemen, while Frisch at third is a better hitter and not as good defensively as Dugan.

Outfields

Give the decision to the Giants. Ranging across from left to right, you have Emil Meusel hitting .330, Stengel .354, Cunningham .347 and Young .325 in the Giant outfield, as against Bob Meusel .321; Witt .306 and falling rapidly, and Ruth .321 by the latest available averages.

The danger always lurking in Ruth's bat, of course, counterbalances some of the difference in percentages, but the Giant outfielders are more consistent.

Taken individually, Emil Meusel covers more ground in left field than Brother Bob, cannot throw as well, but is a better hitter in the pinches; in fact, the best in the Giant array.

LARGE REGISTRATION FEATURES OPENING OF CHRISTIAN COLLEGE

Wilson, N. C., Oct. 3.—Atlantic Christian College began its twenty-first session on Sept. 13. Registration of students on the two preceding days had resulted in the enrollment of large numbers of students from all sections of North Carolina and every southern state.

The prospects for the college are brighter than ever before. The faculty has been strengthened and science laboratories furnished with the most modern equipment and apparatus.

Miss Laura Beach of New Haven, Conn., is the new professor of Modern Languages. Miss Beach is a graduate of Vassar College, and has done graduate work at Yale University, and in Paris and Berlin. She has had a successful teaching experience.

Mr. W. T. Mattox of Stantonsburg has been appointed professor of Philosophy. Prof. Mattox graduated from Atlantic Christian College in 1918 and then attended Vanderbilt University for three years where he received his Master's degree.

Misses Frances and Myrtle Harper who were on leave of absence for one year have returned to take up their work on the college faculty. Miss Frances Harper is Professor of Mathematics and Miss Myrtle Harper is Librarian.

The new teachers in the high school department are Miss Alice Watson and Mrs. G. A. Williams, both of Wilson.

Miss Watson is a 1922 graduate of Salem College. Mrs. Williams graduated from Radford State Normal College, East Radford, Va., and has been teaching for several years.

The town of Wilson has welcomed the students with open arms and every effort is being made to make the students feel at home during their stay in Wilson.

At the opening chapel exercises on Wednesday morning Mr. S. B. Denny, president of the Merchants Association; Mr. A. B. Carroll, representative of the Rotary Club; Dr. Charles Woodard, president of the Kiwanis Club; Mr. W. A. Lucas, representative of the Chamber of Commerce and Dr. Mercer, president of the Ministerial Association; all made speeches in which they gave the student body of A. C. C. the heartiest welcome and urged their respective organizations.

The annual convocation service was held in the college chapel on Wednesday night. Rev. W. C. Foster, of Raleigh made the annual address to the student body at this time.

"JUDGE KERR IS RIGHT."

(News and Observer, Sept. 28.) Officers of the law must respect the law and fire only to protect their own lives. In passing sentence on Policeman Twiddy, of Elizabeth City, Judge Kerr said:

"According to the evidence here this man Twiddy had killed one man previous to the shooting of the little negro in his case. He should have taken off his uniform and sought some other vocation in life when he killed his first man. Once an officer sheds human blood in the pursuit of his duties, his efficiency as an officer is destroyed and his uniform should be taken from him."

There was, of course, much pressure on the Judge to act otherwise, but he held to the right course.
