ALLIES MEET TO PAVE THE WAY TO ULTIMATE PEACE

Conference Meet at Mudania,
But Defer Action Until Greek
Delegation Arrives

GREEKS WILL REACH
CITY IN TIME FOR TODAY'S SESSION

General Harrington Has Free
Hand to Act as He Sees Fit in Military Issues

Constantinople, Oct. 3.—The preliminary conference for the settlement of peace in the Near East began at Mudania today, with the Allied Generals and Ismet Pasha, representing the Turkish Nationalists, present. The meeting was called to order at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, but was shortly adjourned to Wednesday to permit the attendance of the Greek representatives.

General Mazarakis and Colonel Sarriyannis, who were yesterday appointed by the Greek cabinet to act in the Mudania conference in behalf of Greece, arrived at Mudania on a Greek destroyer this evening, and will take their places at the conference table tomorrow.

General Harrington, commander in chief of the Allied forces, will deal with the military question in the negotiations as he deems best, a free hand having been given him by his government in these matters. Subjects of a political or economic nature will be deferred to the Allied High Commissioners, who will communicate with their governments. The commissioners will be in continuous contact with Mudania by wireless.

The Allied Ministers in Constantinople are understood to have drawn the attention of the Greek government to the necessity of keeping the Greek troops in Thrace under control so as to avoid the possibility of a conflict. This was due to representations of the Ankara government that the Mohammedan population in Thrace were suffering exactions at the hands of Greeks, and the Greek troops are in a dangerous state of unrest.

Up to the present the Turks have made no real preparation for them withdrawal from the neutral zone, and according to an official report, their slight retirement today was not of appreciable depth.

LONG PARADE TO FEATURE CIRCUS HERE TOMORROW

Mammoth Pageant to Form Promptly at Ten-thirty and Pass Over Principal Streets

The Hagenbeck-Wallace circus will arrive in Greenville via the Norfolk Southern railroad at an early hour tomorrow morning and begin preparations for showing at the Higgs field in the afternoon and at night. The circus is one of the largest that has visited Greenville in years and it is expected hundreds of people will be here to witness it.

One of the main attractions of the circus will be the mammoth parade to begin about ten-thirty o'clock and pass over the principal streets of the city.

The line of the pageant has already been decided upon. It will move down Dickinson avenue from the show grounds. From Dickinson avenue it will turn into Ninth street, pass down Ninth to Evans street, down Evans to Five Points, from Five Points down Fifth to Cotanch street, up Cotanch street to Third, from Third to Evans, down Evans to Five Points then out Dickinson avenue to the show grounds.

This will probably be the only large circus with a parade to appear in Greenville this season, and for this reason it is expected the largest crowd in many years will be present to witness both shows. The show has an unusually large collection of animals, and numbers of these will be seen in the parade which will probably be the longest ever seen here.

WARNS AMERICA TO STAY OUT OF THE NEAR EAST FIGHT

Senator Ladd Says lend Them
Moral Support, But Beyond
That, Keep Hands Off

(By International News.)
Washington, Oct. 4.—"Beyond looking after our own interests and using the moral influence of the nation to help preserve peace we should keep out of the Near East situation."

Fresh from an extended tour of Europe which he visited as a member of the congressional delegation to the inter-parliamentary union conference at Vienna, Senator Ladd, Republican of North Dakota, made this declaration today to members of the International News.

He expressed belief that the Turkish crisis would be adjusted in the near future, but said if it were not that war once started would likely involve all southeastern Europe and bring about widespread destruction and revolution.

He declared that he blamed France for leading the Turks her support morally and with guns. He said the situation was critical, but that peace would be restored through combined action of the allies.

SPLENDID CROWDS ATTEND SERIES OF REVIVAL SERVICES

Sermon by Dr. Patterson Prove of Great Value to Large Congregations

The series of revival services which have been in progress at the Methodist church the past several days continue to increase in interest with each succeeding day and the gospel as expounded by Dr. Patterson is proving inspirational to the large crowds thronging the church at every service.

Last night Dr. Patterson used as his theme "Sin." His text was taken from the latter part of the 15th verse of the first chapter of James. He brought out in an interesting way the part which sin plays in the human life, and declared that it is impossible for a person to continue to sin and reach the kingdom of God. The sermon was one of the most forceful of the entire series and proved a source of great help to those not affiliated with the church as well as regular members.

At the morning services, Dr. Patterson continues to speak on the book of Ephesians. These talks have proven a source of great help to the congregation and each talk is looked forward to with interest.

The lectures on China in the afternoon have been filled with a number of thrilling pictures of conditions prevailing in the heathen land. Each lecture contains matter of a highly informative nature and leaves no one in doubt concerning the work various denominations are accomplishing in behalf of christianity. The song services conducted by Mr. Notestine have created much enthusiasm among members of the choir and the congregation, and each service the singing is one of the outstanding features.

WAREHOUSE OPENED WITH PRAYER SERVICE

Reidsville, Oct. 3.—The Reidsville co-operative warehouse was opened today although the new building was not quite completed and the managers notified the growers not to rush their tobacco, there was an unusually large amount on the floors, in fact it was coming in all through the day. At 10 o'clock this morning appropriate exercises featured by a prayer were held. The large warehouse was crowded with farmers and town people. Not a long face was seen. Already approximately nine million pounds have been pledged to this one house. The Reidsville auction market never before has sold as much as eight million pounds.

GREENVILLE HIGHS PLAY WASHINGTON FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Club Determined to Wipe Out
Three Defeats Inflicted Last Season

Determined to wipe out the three defeats inflicted on them last season by Washington High School, Coach Duncan's team has been hitting a gruelling stride this week in preparation for the game against Washington on Friday.

Last year's team was Greenville High's first, and consequently their inexperience made them game for the more experienced teams. This year's team has profited by the mistakes of last year however and have shown marked improvement.

In the two games in which the local team has played their opponents have been unable to pierce their defense and Greenville High's goal line remains uncrossed.

The local boys are out for revenge for the defeats inflicted on them by Washington and Friday's game promises to be a hummer. The game will be called on the Fair Grounds gridiron promptly at 4:00 and a large number of fans are expected to be on hand to back up the high school boys against their rivals.

The line up for Friday's game has not been announced but the chances are that the Greenville High backfield and line will be shifted and some new men given a chance to show their wares.

GRIMESLAND MAN SAYS BOLL WEEVIL ACTUALLY TODAY

A. O. Clark Says Trip to Georgia
Convinced Him of the Reality of the Pest

(Auspices Chamber of Commerce.)
The automobile trip to Georgia convinced me beyond all shadow of doubt that the boll weevil is an actual reality. We found that the people who had been hurt worst were those individuals who had made light of the situation and had continued their program as they had done for the past half a century.

The people who had made the most progress were those folk who listened to every suggestion promulgated for the solution of the boll weevil problem and who took action before they became down and out.

By starting now and making preparations for the problem with which we are now confronted, we can save thousands of dollars and can continue to take a lead in the agricultural development of the state.

To set forth what we can do to offset the damages of the boll weevil, I would say buy nothing that can be raised on the farm and then raise all the cotton and tobacco we can.

STATE EXPECTED TO WIN IN RATE CASE AT ASHEVILLE, N. C.

Considerable Interest Centered Around Fight Now in Progress

Asheville, Oct. 3.—Here on the eve of the Southern class rate investigation which opens tomorrow at the Battery Park Hotel, before J. B. Eastman, member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, we are confident of having the unjust rates proposed by Virginia stopped. J. S. Griffin, attorney for the North Carolina Traffic Association, said here tonight. A. J. Maxwell is enroute here through the country and will probably arrive tomorrow. M. R. Beaman, of the State Traffic Association, is also here and he too is very enthusiastic over the prospects of winning the case for North Carolina. Messrs. Beaman and Griffin express the opinion that this is the most vital thing now before the state shippers and affects all shippers in the state far more than they apparently understand. They have a trunk full of evidence which will be offered at the hearing, which is scheduled to last for at least three weeks.

There are more than 75 railway men, attorneys and shippers from all sections of the South and east here ready for the hearings.

"If this petition is successful," Mr. Griffin said, "it will mean an increase of 53 per cent to North Carolina shippers over the present rates and 128 per cent higher than before the war. The plan is to raise the North Carolina rate within the state and out of the state through the west, but not to raise Virginia in the state or out to the west. This we believe is unfair."

The Southern Traffic League has joined the railways in petitioning the Interstate Commerce Commission for this hearing, the result of which, if won by this state, will mean a saving of millions of dollars for this state.

NEW FERTILIZER PLANT TO BEGIN OPERATION HERE

Virginia-Carolina Fertilizer
Co., Purchases Plant of Carolina
Phosphate Co.

PLANT TO BEGIN
OPERATION ABOUT
FEBRUARY FIRST

S. R. Ziglar, of Salisbury, Superintendent, Here Looking After Completing Plant

The fertilizer plant erected here several months ago by the Carolina Phosphate Company has been purchased by the Virginia - Carolina Chemical company, according to an announcement made this week. It is understood that the plant is valued at approximately $50,000, and will be one of the most complete and up-to-date in this section of the state.

The new enterprise is located on the Big Mill site at the end of the Sheldahl railroad. There are two large frame buildings now being completed. The main building is four stories high and has a storage capacity of 6,000 tons of fertilizer every ninety days, which constitutes a season. This building will be installed with modern machinery capable of producing approximately ten thousand tons of fertilizer every season.

Both offices and factory have about 13 thousand square feet of floor space. A large force of workmen are at the present time engaged in completing these buildings and getting everything in readiness for installation of machinery. The plant will begin operation about February 1st, and will operate at full capacity from then until end of the season.

It is understood that from 75 to 100 men will be employed in all departments and these will be in charge of Mr. S. R. Ziglar, of Salisbury, who will be superintendent of the plant. Mr. Ziglar has been with the company for ten years and is already in Greenville doing everything to rush construction work to completion.

Local representatives of the Virginia Carolina Chemical Company are L. W. Tucker and G. B. Holaday. They succeeded the late G. E. Harris, who acted as representative for a number of years prior to his death a few months ago. These gentlemen stated yesterday that the company had decided to establish a plant here in order to be able to give quickest service to their large number of customers scattered throughout this immediate territory.

Mr. J. W. Dickson, of Charlotte, is in charge of construction work now in progress at the factory. He stated yesterday that he would probably complete his work within the next several days when installation of machinery will begin. The concern will also install a Koehne printing press for printing the labels of the concern on bags containing the various products to be produced here. Considerable space has been devoted to this department alone, as several thousand bags will be printed and stored away before operation in main factory actually begins.

The establishment of a branch of this large concern means much to the industrial development of Greenville. It opens up a way for employment of more labor and will thereby help relieve the unemployment situation prevailing among common class of labor.

Wednesday, October 4th, 1922

Wake county plans to begin a campaign looking to the education of its adult illiterates. This is very commendable indeed and deserves attention from other counties. Education of adults was given a trial through the moonlight school system several years ago, but it was dropped so soon that very little benefit was derived from the experiment. If Wake county should organize the right kind of system and keep it working from year to year great good should be accomplished. On the other hand their effort will prove futile and large sums of money will be wasted.

Collector of Internal Revenue Grisom is planning a campaign to collect delinquent income taxes. Complete tabulation of figures on hand shows there are some six thousand persons who failed to file any returns at all. Those will be required to pay a slight penalty beside the tax and it may be the majority will wish they had come across in time. The government may be cheated out of its share of income for a while, but not all the time. There is, however, just room for complaint of the public in the income tax issue. Taxes are high enough without having to pay out a part of the income. The burden is so great that the average salaried man finds living problems more complex than in years, and unless he gets some relief things will become even more serious. Taxation must be decreased in this country if we are to be as prosperous as we deserve to be, and it is the duty of officials to bring this about as early as possible.

Don't forget Father's Day to be observed nation-wide next Sunday. The day is just as important as when we celebrate in honor of mother. Dad is a figure that millions of homes would be lonely without and the least we can do for him would be to set aside this special day in which to pay tribute to his true greatness. It isn't often we have such an opportunity to recognize the quality of that personality as sublime almost as mother herself, and it is the duty of every child to attend some service Sunday where "dad" will be recognized and duly honored by appropriate exercises. It is hoped all churches of the city will arrange a program befitting the day, as it would have a tendency of inspiring the children to more fully admire the character that comes next to mother. We owe it to our fathers. It's as little as we can do for them, and everyone should turn out and do what they can for success of the occasion.

This is fire prevention week in North Carolina. Yesterday Mayor Clark issued a proclamation calling on the people to do everything possible to decrease the annual loss resulting from disastrous conflagrations. The local fire department also urges cooperation in avoiding further loss of the kind and if everyone should heed the warning conditions would be better than in years. The careful man or woman is the best preventative we could have. It is as easy to be careful as careless and any sane man or woman should exert certain precaution around the home and in the business house.

Mrs. Watson, wife of the late Senator Tom Watson of Georgia, has declined the honor of filling the unexpired term of her husband in the senate, so Governor Hardwick appointed another woman in her place. The action shows that the chief executive recognizes the ability of our women to fill public offices and this appointment marks the beginning of more extensive participation of the fair sex.

WHY TALK HARD TIMES?

We hear so many people complaining of hard times these days that we almost forget the figures sent out by federal bureaus showing that existing hard times are merely imaginary. These figures indicate that more money was spent for automobiles and unnecessary things the past year than for the previous year. If this is so, and we have little right to doubt it, where in the world do people get the idea times are hard.

Farmers are receiving larger loans from the government this year than ever before. Crops are selling for prices higher than the cost of production. Wages in practically every line of industry are as high as they were several months ago and necessities of life are cheaper. Now, where in the world does the hard time claim come in? Isn't it more in the imagination of a certain class of people who talk it merely for the purpose of staving off someone whom they owe and have owed for months. From general observation this has been the experience of a number of well posted business men and members of government departments.

When people talk hard times these days, it should be remembered that they have some object in view and do so merely to try to lighten the load on their own shoulders by placing it on another.

A CHAMPION COTTON PICKER.

Walter Jones, cotton planter living a few miles from Raleigh, claims he is able to pick 512 pounds of cotton a day, according to a story recently carried in the News and Observer.

When it is considered that the average picker's record is from a 150 to 200 pounds a day the Wake county planter seems to have established a record to be proud of. In fact, he has accomplished something so remarkable that he might start a correspondence school and teach others "how to make better time and more money in the cotton fields" or something to that effect.

Would they bite? You bet they would, and the proposition would be as beneficial as some other correspondence courses we know and have had intimate knowledge of to our sorrow.

"Learn to pick cotton by mail" would prove a great attraction to those always seeking something new and it wouldn't be long before the champion picker would be able to retire from the fields and live in comfort the remainder of his life.

It wouldn't hurt him to try, and the experience might certainly prove interesting.

WARNINGS AGAINST FIRES.

By observing the following suggestions much of the immense loss of life and property in the state can be averted. Read carefully and observe them:

Stoves. Place a metal stove-board on the wood floor under the stove, and extending at least twelve inches in front of the ash-pit door. Protect all walls and partitions within two feet of any stove with a metal shield, leaving an air space between the shield and the wall. Leave no kindling or other wood in the oven overnight. Do not hang clothes too near the stove or stove-pipe.

Pipe. See that the lengths of stove-pipe are well fitted together, free from rust holes and parted seams. Wire firmly, and fitted perfectly into the chimney. Stove-pipes passing through partitions, walls, floors, attics and roofs are dangerous at best. Where these must pass through partitions, walls or floors, always use a large, ventilated double thimble. You cannot observe the stove-pipe in the attic. They may come apart or rust. Fluff and spider-webs are likely to gather on or around them, to be set on fire when you least expect it.

Chimney. Chimneys should be built from the ground up and never rest on wood supports. The settling of the woodwork will cause cracks in the chimney. Nor should the chimney walls be used to support joists or other woodwork. Soft brick and poor mortar are often responsible for defects in the chimney. Use a good quality of brick and cement mortar up through the first floor and above the roof. Chimney walls should be at least eight inches thick, the flue of ample size, and lined with fire-clay or terra-cotta. Never stuff up flue holes with rags or paper nor cover them with cheese cloth, paper, or anything but a metal stop. Chimneys should be cleaned frequently.

Furnaces. Protect all woodwork above and around boiler, if within three feet, with a metal shield, also all woodwork near furnace pipes. It is best to rivet the lengths of pipe together to prevent disjoining. The pipe should fit perfectly into the chimney. Examine the pipe frequently for rust holes or other defects. Keep them free from dust, fluff and spider-webs, which are easily ignited.

FLAPER SOOTHES NEGLECTED YOUTH

Girl Comforts Boy Abandoned Temporarily in Train by Guardian

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 3.—At last the use for the "flapper" has been discovered. When the Birmingham Special, the Southern's crack Washington-Birmingham Limited, rolled into Brookwood Station forty-five minutes late members of the train crew failed to remember that a seven-year-old lad had been entrusted to their care for delivery to his aunt in Atlanta. Five minutes later, when Atlanta was becoming a memory as the heavy train puffed its way through the suburbs outward bound, passengers in their day coach awakened to the fact by the wailing of the neglected passenger.

Efforts to pacify him were unavailing. He spurned the attentions of a motherly looking woman who essayed the role of comforter, and a brotherly looking chap who succeeded her had no better luck. Even a traveling man failed.

And then it was that the flapper came into her own. From her seat in the rear of the coach she came, a brown-haired, short-skirted, bobbed-haired girl. Slipping up the aisle, she put her arm around the the crying child, and its walls were hushed. All was peaceful again as she slipped a nickel into soiled fingers.

Tribute to Mrs. Rosa Quinerly.

At the meeting of the Missionary Society of the Methodist church Monday afternoon, Oct. 2nd, the following resolution was adopted:

"Since our last meeting together, the angel of death has entered the home of one of our members and borne forth one of our members.

Rosa Forbes Quinerly was a former teacher of mission study class, and chairman of one of our circles. She was a regular attendant at our meetings, a faithful worker and a generous contributor in every missionary effort. The Woman's Missionary Society of Jarvis Memorial church will greatly miss her presence among us, but we will continue to feel her influence.

"No stream from its source,

Flows seaward, how lonely soever, its course,
But what some land is gladdened—no star ever rose.

And set, without influence somewhere who knows—

What earth needs from earth's lowliest creature? No life.

Can be pure in its purpose and strong in its strife,

And all life not be purer and stronger thereby."

We wish to record in our minutes, and send to the bereaved family a testimonial of the love and esteem in which she is held by us. We believe—she died as she lived—full of faith in the love and saving power of Jesus Christ, and that she has gone to hear the Saviors, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant," and to be with Him forever."

Bryant Tripp's Death.

Bryant Tripp was born in 1836 and lived to be 86 years old Wednesday the 12th of July the death angel visited the home and took him to be his guest to which he was the most humble and faithful to his God.

He entered the Civil War 1861, and served to the close in April 1865, to which he was faithful to the end. After the war for his life work milking and farming to which he was successful.

After 1865 he was married to Miss Abbie Nelson to which were born three girls and there has not been three better in North Carolina, in any home and seven boys of which 6 are living today. He was a man beloved of all. He was never known to do an unkind act, honest in all of his dealings. While his children were small fire swept his home and all of the contents, leaving him neither bread or meat or clothes to wear, but he trusted God and never gave up.

He united with the Free Will Baptist church before the war which he continued to stay with until death and loved it to the end.

While he was sick I visited him after reading God's word and having a heart to heart talk he was strengthened for the final conflict and he went through death so calm and easy like David said "that he would fear no evil" which he did I can say that death was only a dream calling him home where no pain nor sorrow will never come to disturb him, any more so I say to his dear wife don't weep, children look up to God and after awhile Jesus will send after you. I know that the girls are looking to that day with joy so I say to the boys prepare to go where papa is.

Written by one who loved him like a father.

ELDER W. B. NOBLES.

Sleep on father we love you yet,
The memory of you we do not forget
Sorrow may come in all of its power,
We expect to meet thee in that glorious hour.

Sweet thought of thee
How can I do without thee?
Parting is so sad, but I shall be glad
When to meet thee in Heaven.

Meeting of the U. D. C.

The regular monthly meeting of the U. D. C. was with Mrs. A. H. Taft on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 28th, with nine members and one visitor present.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Ned Laughinghouse, 1st vice president, Mrs. Ed. Harvey read the minutes of the previous meeting and called the roll, as the secretary was absent.

The treasurer reported $30.58 including $7 collected for books. It was announced that the books "The Women of the South" had come and would be delivered.

The chapter voted to send $2.00 to the Cunningham Memorial. It was moved and carried that the chapter rescind the vote taken at last meeting in regard to the Mary Cuth's Lee Chapter in the matter of the Lee Memorial Chapel. This being done, the delegates to the State convention were instructed to vote as they see fit.

Two new members were enrolled. Next month is the time for the election of officers—Mrs. Ficklen, Mrs. Hassell and Miss Ward Moore, was appointed a nominating committee. After the business, the meeting was turned over to the program committee, Mrs. Harvey read a paper on "The Women of the Civil War," and Miss Doles delighted the chapter with several enjoyable readings.

After delightful refreshments the chapter adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. N. Gorman in October.

CHINESE WOMEN STRIKE MORE PAY

Desperately Poor, Their Fare of Rice and Tea Cut Still Further

Shanghai, Sept.—Ten thousand Chinese women employed in various silk filatures in Shanghai are striking for better pay and shorter hours of work.

The workers, who at present work twelve hours at a wage of thirty-eight cents a day, are demanding a ten-hour day, an increase of five cents per day in their pay.

Early this morning more than one thousand workers, including young girls and old women, attempted to enter a number of filatures to enlist the sympathy for the workers, but a hurry call from the employers brought a detail of police, and the women were frightened away.

Prior to the attempt to enter the filatures the strikers paraded through the Chinese city carrying banners. The demonstrations were orderly, so the police did not interfere. The banners which the women carried bore Chinese characters, which are translated as follows:

"This is a Republican world, where men and women should be equal. We are striking for the promotion of morality and the protection of the rights of humanity."

The women are uneducated, desperately poor and practically leaderless, so there is little hope of their winning the strike. Out of it is growing, however, the first efforts to form a kind of women workers of China.

Seeing the wonderful Chinese silks and satins in the Shanghai silk stores—roll after roll—rainbow hued, broad, edged, flowered and striped, the tourist seldom thinks of the suffering and toil of the little slaves of China who helped produce the beautiful fabrics.

Often before sunrise the squeak of the wheelbarrows on which the filature workers are riding to work—ten or twelve on one wheelbarrow pushed by one coolie—is heard. The women begin their long day of toil at sunrise, relieving the night shift.

The workers range from kiddies of five and six, whose little fingers are blistered from the work, to bent and wrinkled grandmothers, who must toil if they would live. The women handle the baskets of silkworms, eating the worms into great vats of boiling waters, and it is up to them to wind the silk from the silkworms, and in doing so their fingers and hands are burned and scalded.

Tiny babies lie at the feet of many of the women. They are kept at their work so closely, however, that there is little time to care for their little ones.

The women carry their teapots to and from the filatures and bowls of rice and chopsticks in their lunch baskets, although in a number of the filatures the women are able to purchase hot rice. Just now rice is very expensive, and the bowls grow smaller and smaller. The rice and tea make up the mid-day meal of the workers.

The women come to Shanghai from the country. Many of them have accompanied their husbands, who are for the most part, "ricksha coolies, hawkers and street workers."

The police have arrested six of the leading women in the strike and are holding them in prison. According to report, the strikebreakers are going among the strikers and telling the women that their leaders will be shot unless they go back to work.

DO YOU WONDER? ASKS THIS LADY

"That I'm a Believer in Cardui?"—Got So Weak She Had To Go to Bed—But Read Her Story.

Oswatimie, Kans.—Mrs. E. E. Keast, formerly of Illinois, residing here, says: "We moved to this State eleven years ago, and I had good health for a long while; and then some year or so ago I had a bad sick spell."

"I got so weak I couldn't go. I couldn't stand on my feet at all. I had to go to bed."

"I suffered a great deal. I was so nervous I felt I couldn't live. I tried medicines and everything; had the best of attention, yet I wasn't able to get up."

"I lay for three months, not able to do anything."

"My husband is a bill poster and has circulars distributed. One day there came to be a Ladies Birth-day Almanac among his circulars. I read it, and told some of the family to get me a bottle of Cardui. They laughed and said I wouldn't take it. But I did. I began with a tablespoonful every two hours."

"I quit all other medicines and took it (Cardui) faithfully, and two weeks from the time I began to take Cardui I was out of bed—better than for months."

"I kept it up and continued to improve until I was a well woman. Do you wonder that I am a believer in Cardui? I certainly am. And I am sure there is no better tonic made for women than Cardui."

All druggists sell Cardui, for women.—Adv

Note how much cleaner William Tell is than other flours—due to the costly equipment of the Ansted & Burk Company's mills for protecting the grain and flour in grinding.
