STRICKEN CHILE IS AGAIN VISITED BY EARTH SHOCKS

Strong Shocks Felt in Copiapo and Lasere Districts of Country

RELIEF ACTIVITIES GOING FORWARD IN ALL PARTS COUNTRY

Gratitude Expressed at Sending of Supplies by President Harding

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 16.—Strong earth shocks were felt at 12:25 o'clock this morning in the Copiapo and Lasere districts, where great loss of life was suffered in Saturday's quake, according to National Telegraph dispatches.

The inhabitants of Santiago were much alarmed early this morning when a slight earth shock was felt here, the motion apparently being vertical. The tremor began at 1:42 o'clock.

The director of a private meteorological institute had forecast an earth movement at 2 o'clock, due to the conjunction of the moon and Saturn.

Dispatches from Copiapo report the arrival of a medical and relief party, bringing a large stock of food and medicines. The party found a number of the injured lying in the open air, as the hospital, which was built in 1848, had been ruined. Other victims to the number of fifty, mostly aged persons, were huddled in a motion picture theatre, lacking proper ventilation facilities.

These conditions, however, are stated to be surpassed by those in Vallener, where decomposing bodies still beneath the ruins constitute a serious menace to the public health. The inhabitants, without food, are in a continual state of terror and sleep on the near-by hills. Breaking of the pipes has left the town without water.

The news that President Harding is sending warships to Huasco with supplies was received here with gratitude. While doubtless the vessels cannot arrive for another week, it is considered certain the aid will still be timely.

Despite the railroad connections to the north, the quickest means of communication with the district, even in normal times, is by ship, and it is believed some weeks will elapse before it is possible to deliver all the supplies to outlying districts.

Much appreciation was expressed for the offer of assistance from the American Red Cross, but so far as known no decision has been taken.

Announcement yesterday that it had been accepted apparently was due to misconstruction of President Alexandri's message of thanks to President Harding. It is understood the authorities, before accepting, are endeavoring to ascertain more definitely the extent of the damage and the number of persons in need of assistance.

TO PRESS AMENDMENTS TO TRANSPORTATION ACT

Washington, Nov. 17.—Following a conference with President Harding on the railroad situation Senator Cummins declared his intention to press the series of amendments to the transportation act. There will be favorable acceptance without delay, he predicted.

FIND WAGON THAT PIG WOMAN SAW NEAR THE SCENE

Attorney Mott Gathering Final Facts Before Going Before Grand Jury

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 16.—Another loose end of the tangled evidence in the Hall-Mills murder case was gathered today, according to investigators who said they had found the wagon which Mrs. Jane Gibson claims she followed through De Russy's lane the night of the tragedy.

Discovery of the wagon has added strength to the story told by Mrs. Gibson who said she saw the double murder under the tree on the Phillips farm. She claimed she was seeking corn thieves when she set out on her mule the night of the murders. She pursued the wagon for several miles, decided it did not carry the thief and was returning home when her attention was attracted by the scene under the tree.

Deputy Attorney General Mott is centering his efforts to present to the grand jury next week testimony to rebut the denial of Mrs. Frances Steven Hall of knowledge of the intimacy existing between her husband and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills prior to their murder on the night of September 14th, it became known today.

Through two maids in the Hall home and the rector's chauffeur it was stated, Mr. Mott will seek to show that Mrs. Hall had knowledge of the relation at least four weeks before the murder.

Says it is Not Up to the United States to Settle Ills of Other Countries

(By International News.)
Washington, Nov. 17.—While business conditions in the United States and throughout the world are generally unsettled because of uncertainty over the European situation, nevertheless it is not up to the United States to call a world economic conference such as has been proposed from time to time, Charles Schwab, steel magnate said today in an interview with the International News service.

"I am a firm believer in the principles laid down by the men who founded the country of no entangling allowances abroad."

BE KIND, FIRM WITH KIDDIES, SAYS EXPERT

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Nov.—"Be kind, but firm" is the recipe for the control of children offered by Missouri's oldest school teacher.

She is Mrs. C. W. Williamson, of this city, known to more than 3,000 school children who have been enrolled in her classes during the last thirty-six years. Mrs. Williamson began teaching in Poplar Bluff in 1886. A new $75,000 school building has been named after Mrs. Williamson.

G. O. P. ARRANGING PLANS FOR BATTLE OF SHIP SUBSIDY

Method of Treatment of Bill is Being Discussed at Capital City Now

Washington, Nov. 16.—There was a suggestion from some republican quarters today that the administration's ship subsidy bill—certainly as regards the manner of its consideration in the house—might be passed along for determination by a party conference.

Reports that the merchant marine committee, which framed it, would ask for a rule giving it the right of way without opportunity for consideration of any amendments except those presented by the committee itself, provoked some outspoken opposition within the party.

Representative Mondell, the republican leader, discussed the legislative program with the president, but without opportunity meanwhile of talking over plans with his colleagues. Mr. Mondell said the principal measure to be taken up at the special and regular session were ship subsidies, appropriations, rural credits, and possibly some change in the transportation act.

ROLL CALL CAMPAIGN MAKING PROGRESS IN GREENVILLE TODAY

The membership of the American Red Cross Roll Call passed the six hundred mark today. Winterville has reached her quota with the exception of three members and Mrs. B. T. Cox, chairman, has reported that they expect to get them before the week is over. Bell Arthur with Mr. A. Yates Dowell, chairman, went over their quota and sent in names by special delivery last night. Farmville and Grifton have not been heard from as yet, but good reports are expected from both places.

LAST FOOTBALL GAME OF THE SEASON WILL BE SEEN HERE TODAY

Greenville Tigers to Play Tarboro Here for Final Honors of Season

The Greenville Tigers are in excellent trim for the final game of the season to be played in Greenville this afternoon at three-thirty o'clock with Tarboro, Coach Duncan stated this afternoon. The boys have been going through gruelling practice the last few days and will be ready to battle stubbornly for honors at the first shrill note of the whistle.

This will be the last game of the current season to be played in Greenville, although the Tigers are due to play one more game in Wilson sometime next week. They will do their best to capture these two last games and quit the season with a remarkable record. The club so far this year has only dropped one game, that being the championship elimination contest in Goldsboro two weeks ago. This is considered remarkably fine and Coach Duncan is proud of the showing.

Lovers of the sport are urged to attend the final game to be played at the fair grounds today and in this way show their appreciation of the hard working Tigers. This is the completion of Greenville's second year in football and rapid development of the club has attracted considerable attention.

YOUNG'S SALE OPENS WITH LARGE CROWDS IN ATTENDANCE TODAY

Young's sale opened this morning with a large crowd in attendance. One of the features of the sale will be a jar of money to be given away next Friday at four o'clock. Every one spending a dollar will be entitled to one guess at the money. The jar was taken to the Greenville Banking & Trust Company and the money placed in it by W. H. Woolard, cashier of the bank. This assures everyone of a square deal in every sense of the word.

WOMAN EVANGELIST DELIVERS FORCEFUL SERMON AT REVIVAL

Another Large Crowd Hears Inspiring Message on Subject of "Faith"

Mrs. McAdams last night preached a strong message on Faith at the tent meeting in progress under the tent at the corner of Third and Colanah streets. She proved to her hearers by Bible facts that God is still on the throne and able to shake Greenville. "All that is needed to make this possible is a little more co-operation on part of the churches," she declared.

The evangelist said it is necessary to mix a little fasting with prayer and then unite forces before storming the devil's forts.

Mrs. McAdams goes out in the highways and hedges and hunts the lost. She is not afraid of the criticising world. She promises to bring a great message to her audience tonight on the subject of the "Biggest Liar in Greenville."

Another large crowd attended the services last night despite the change in weather, and to say everyone was inspired by the forceful sermon would be expressing the matter mildly.

SPLENDID CROWDS ATTRACTED TODAY BY REMOVAL SALE

Store of Blount-Harvey Co. Swarmed With Shoppers at Opening of Great Event

The great Removal sale of Blount-Harvey Company began this morning shortly before ten o'clock and the store was crowded to its capacity by bargain seekers from practically every section of Pitt county. In fact, the crowd was so large that the sale force was unable to cope with the situation and additional clerks will have to be secured to care for the large crowd expected to swarm the store all day Saturday.

Blount-Harvey Co. is one of the largest stores of its kind in Eastern Carolina and the stock of goods being offered the public during the Removal sale is probably the most complete to be found anywhere in this section. Practically everything to be found in an up-to-date department store is carried in stock by this progressive firm and all of it will be offered at bargain prices during the sale.

It was expected the new Blount-Harvey building would be completed in time to take care of the large stock of goods now on hand and for this reason the present building is literally crowded with goods of all kinds. Everything in this splendid stock, therefore, will be offered the public while the sale is in progress, making it one of the greatest merchandising events probably in history of Greenville.

The first sale of this firm was conducted August 25th by Mr. C. H. Schaut, of the Carolina Trade Bureau. It was such a great success that Mr. Schaut was recalled to conduct the Removal sale—an event that promises to eclipse the other in many ways. Mr. Schaut believes in giving the public real value for its money and those attending the sale can easily see that this statement is borne out.

The doors were late in opening this morning and the rush was so great the doors had to be locked from time to time in order give the sales force ample time to care for shoppers. This condition will be relieved tomorrow, however, as additional clerks will be dispatched more rapidly than ever.

EARTH SHOCKS ARE FELT IN CHILE AGAIN TODAY

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 16.—Strong earth shocks were felt at 12:35 today in the Copao and Lasere districts where great loss of life was suffered in Saturday's quake.

NEGRO PRISONER STEALS SHERIFF'S CAR AND ESCAPES

Robert Brown Leaves Good Job at Court House for Life in Unknown Parts

Robert Brown, 18 year old colored boy, is being sought today by county authorities for the theft of a reeve passenger Rio automobile belonging to Sheriff Ernest Dudley. The automobile is believed to have disappeared sometime Wednesday night as Brown was seen with it at that time. Every effort has been made to apprehend the thief but he evidently made good the speed of the high powered car and left for unknown parts.

Brown was serving a twelve months sentence in the county jail for the larceny of electric fans from the Christian church about a year ago. He suffered from rheumatism and was permitted to help the janitor at the court house. He appeared to be living up to the faith which county officials had placed in him until earlier in the week when it was discovered that he had stolen an automobile tire from the basement of the court house.

A warrant had been issued for this crime, but officials were waiting until the coming Saturday to serve it, as Brown's jail sentence would have been up at that time.

Sheriff Dudley's car was parked in the garage at his home on Second street when the theft occurred. Members of his family heard the car as it was driven from the yard, but thought nothing of it as the car of the time went out any time of night. Not until yesterday did Sheriff Dudley find that his car had disappeared and when he began to investigate found Brown also left the county.

Continuing his investigation Sheriff Dudley found a few colored people who had talked with Brown a short time after he had stolen the car. They said he told them the car had been turned over to him for sale and that he was to get half of what it brought. This excited suspicion of course, but nothing was said of it until the car was missed yesterday about twelve o'clock.

Officials in other towns have been notified of the disappearance of the car and Sheriff Dudley is hopeful Brown will be taken in custody soon.

PARTIAL LIFTING OF LIQUOR LID IS CONSIDERED NOW

(By International News.)
Washington, Nov. 17.—Partial lifting of the liquor lid to allow more liberal whiskey withdrawals from medicinal purposes will be the next step to relation of liquor laws by the treasury department.

It was learned today that results of the next election, involving both wet and dry issues, added support to appeals from letting down the arbitrary barriers in a way of legitimate permit holders.

GEORGE YOUNGER WINS FIGHT OVER MR LLOYD GEORGE

Unionists Come Out Victorious in Election in Great Britain It is Said

BONAR LAW WIN. HAVE MAJORITY IN PARLIAMENT, SAID

Prime Minister Has Majority of Eighty Thousand Over All Other Parties

London, Nov. 16.—The long drawn out fight between former Premier Lloyd George and Sir George Younger has, for the time, ended with victory for the chairman of the Unionist Party. Younger and his adherents staked their political fortunes at the famous Carlton Club meeting which smashed the coalition and sent Lloyd George into the wilderness on the conviction that the country was ripe for a return to straight party politics, and in the firm belief that the nation would support their conviction by sending the Conservatives to the House of Commons with a good working majority.

Their confidence has amply justified. Yesterdays election returned a Parliament all along the same overwhelming predominance of Conservatives as the last Parliament elected in 1918 on a wave of grateful enthusiasm to Lloyd George as "winner of the war."

In the new Parliament Prime Minister Bonar Law will command a majority over all parties combined of approximately 80.

While this cannot be properly described as a landslide, as the Conservatives at the time of the dissolution of Parliament numbered about 100, it is a significant result, considering the peculiar circumstances of the time and the high hopes held by the Labor and Liberal parties of the return of the country to progressive views, and it may be supposed that the Conservatives themselves hardly expected such favorable results.

It means a Parliament with little changes, except that Mr. Bonar Law replaces Mr. Lloyd George as Prime Minister and that the former Prime Minister's attenuated following of National Liberals, reduced by the elections to under fifty, will presumably henceforth be in opposition instead of working in co-operation with the Conservatives.

The downfall of Lloyd George is the most outstanding feature of the elections. The Coalition Liberals at the dissolution numbered 129; they are represented in the new Parliament by only forty-four members. There will be many regrets among the former Prime Minister's admirers that he failed to take the advice of some of his well wishers and retired temporarily or altogether from the political stage.

WHEELER SAYS HARDING IS WRONG IN SAYING PUBLIC IS SHIFTING

Washington, Nov. 17.—If President Harding has written letters saying the public is shifting toward liberalization of prohibition laws, he is wrong, Wayne Wheeler, anti-Saloon league representative stated today. He expressed belief that the letter did not justify statements printed because there is no evidence of shifting.

CLOTHES LINES SAVE LIFE OF BOY IN 2-STORY FALL

New York, Nov.—Clothes lines probably saved the life of Salvatore Zolotano, eight, of No. 434 East Thirteenth street, when he fell two stories from a fire-escape.

The boy sustained only a few bruises. Business is better. After being closed three years the Dover, N. H., jail has sixteen prisoners now.

Peace is four years old and will amount to something if it lasts.

Friday, November 17th, 1922

It is said President Harding is very much in doubt as to which way to wobble and wobble as result of the recent election. It looks to us like he has been in doubt ever since election as wiggling and wobbling have been in evidence in every issue in which he has taken part.

It is very noticeable that members of the Republican party who opposed the bonus were the ones that "rot it in the neck" at the polls in the recent election. The president evidently has an idea that some such fate awaits him and is rambling around in the dark trying to find himself out of the woods. The bonus could be paid a hundred times by unnecessary legislation which the Republicans are trying to get safely through before the end. The American Legion knows this and that's the reason its members have so stoutly opposed the position of the president and his followers. The president had better wiggle out of this predicament before the thing causes a disastrous conclusion of his wobbly administration.

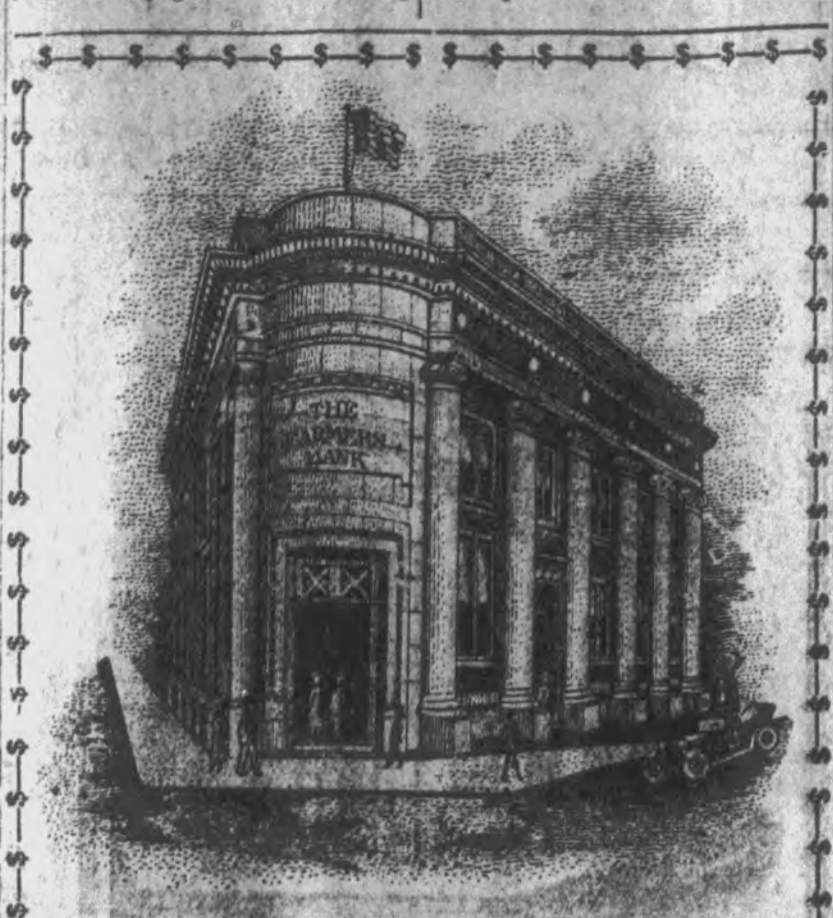

Daniel E. Rhyne, Lenoir manufacturer, has made Lenoir college a gift of $300,000, and in so doing cause election among the student body of the institution. Such gifts mean much to the educational development of the state, and the generosity of Mr. Rhyne is something to consider. Not many men are liberal enough to give so freely to education. In fact, thousands amass great fortunes, but instead of giving to causes such as Mr. Rhyne, leave what they have to relatives. Many great men have contributed in this way and by doing so enabled some institution to expand as it never dreamed of doing. North Carolina is going forward by leaps and bounds in an educational way and such gifts prove inspirations in this great work.

We hope the committee considering the feasibility of a curb market for Greenville will do everything possible to make the thing an actuality. We know of nothing the city has been in greater need of and will welcome the day when wagons pull up at the curbs and begin selling their products. If other towns and cities find the curb market advantageous it is easy to believe Greenville would do the same. We have housewives who are forced to worry about what they will have for dinner every day. There is no fixed place for them to buy their products and maybe they have to try several places before getting what they want. Think what a great help it would be to them if they could go to a certain place and purchase whatever needed at standard prices. They would be able to estimate the cost of a meal as easily as deciding upon what they want and what a relief this would be. The Kiwanis club did something really worth while when it proposed the curb market and its members may rest assured of receiving the hearty thanks of the public when the market is actually established.

Bethel is one of the most progressive towns in Pitt county. It not only has a thrifty lot of business men, but its organizations are wide awake and really alive to the great issues at hand. The Bethel Red Cross chapter is the first in the county to raise its quota in the roll call now in progress. One hundred members were reported to county headquarters here yesterday, and naturally Bethel people feel elated over their success. That other towns will follow close behind these progressive people cannot be doubted. The campaign has been carried on vigorously in every community and before the week ends it is safe to say the entire county will have measured up to expectation. The work of the Red Cross the last few years has commanded attention of the world, not the United States alone and it is only just recognition of this that the people of ever community respond to the roll call. It is an honor to be a member of this great organization and those who give their dollars for this purpose may feel well rewarded.

"LIGHTNIN'" STRIKES IN THE SAME PLACE

John Golden Production With Milton Nobles Repeats at Colonial

That old axiom about lightning being unable to strike in the same place is all wrong. It was disproved at the Colonial theater, last night, where John Golden's production of the quaint and charming comedy from the pens of Winchell Smith and Frank Bacon is playing a second engagement. It was seen here last season and it made a hit. It was seen again last night and the hit was repeated.

"Lightnin'" can strike twice in the same place—and make a hit each time.

Time has but mellowed both play and players. The art of Milton Nobles was ever a rare and valued vintage and his plying of the whimsical, trifling, gentle, old beloved vagabond is so natural that one wanders from playhouse and puppet to the enchanted land where the story on the stage is being unrolled with a verity and realism that holds the mind thrall—until disturbed by a hacking cough or a gurgling laugh. And then, of course, the spell is forgotten until Mr. Nobles comes again, like the ancient mariner, to hold "him with his glittering eye." From twinkling comedy to simple tender pathos and back again, last night Mr. Nobles ran the gamut and felt all the steps of "Lightnin'" Bill Jones. It was a delicate flute-like performance. Art, the supporting company is much the same as that which appeared here last year with the notable exception that Dolly W. Nobles plays the part of Mrs. Jones. Of course all the supporting players are picked chiefly because they are true to type but Dolly Nobles invests the role with a distinct, morthely personality that ends additional realism.

Good old Barney Gilmore was delightful as Judge Townsend. Lydia Westman had all the naive airs of a rustic ingenue and her trick of speech was most natural. Stuart Fox, Frank Thornton, Sarah Elizabeth Reynolds—but to commend all is but to give a roster of the cast—and perfunctory commendation is without savor.

"Lightnin'" has been given more consecutive performances than any other play in the history of the American stage. It is a direct confirmation of the fact that this column has always contended: that the public ever buys clean, wholesome plays; that it is not true that it will buy only stage dirt. "Lightnin'" has broken every record and yet it is clean literally clean. Men, women and children enjoy it. Hardened playgoers delight in it. The unsophisticated revel in it and the sophisticated and bored are ever renewed by it. Long may it last.

It will be here the rest of the week. There are two matinees. Go and be convinced that "Lightnin'" can strike not twice but three and more in the same place.—Douglas Gordon in Ledger Dispatch.

MRS. SWINK WAS BLUE OVER HER HEALTH

Among thousands of North Carolina people who have realized the fact that Taniae brings health, strength and happiness is Mrs. Janie Swink, Myers Mills, South Gastonia, N. C. Mrs. Swink says:

"Before I took Taniae I could not work half my time, and when I did work night would find me completely exhausted. I could hardly eat enough to keep alive, and night after night I would toss and roll with an awful headache. At times I felt so discouraged and blue I could hardly stand it.

"If it had not been for Taniae I would still be a sick woman, for nothing else did me a bit of good. I have taken four bottles now and haven't a trouble in the world. I eat anything I want, sleep good every night and don't know what a headache is any more."

Taniae is sold by all good druggists.

YOUR DRUGGIST IS MORE THAN A MERCHANT
Your health, safety and life are seldom, if ever, things for which merchants are responsible. Your life, however, may depend absolutely upon the accurate filling of physicians' prescriptions. It may depend upon the quality of drugs used in formulating the medicines. Skill in merchandising may be easily acquired. Skill in compounding prescriptions is the result of years of expensive training in technical schools where pharmacists are trained in accuracy, and taught the knowledge of drugs and chemicals, so that when they enter the commercial field they will be equipped to help preserve and protect the health of the public which forms their clientele. Your druggist is more than a merchant.

NATURAL ENEMIES OF BOLL WEEVIL

(Auspices Pitt County Chamber of Commerce.)

"Virtually every kind of animal, from man to boll weevil, has its enemies, diseases and drawbacks," says Mr. Sherman, chief in Entomology, "and it is fascinating to study the ways and means which nature herself uses to prevent any one kind from monopolizing the earth."

"Take the slowest breeding animals, and you may figure it out that in a few hundred years the offspring of one pair would crowd the earth. It is a favorite trick to catch the attention by saying to kill one housefly in March is equivalent to killing a million in August, or to make like statements with regard to boll weevil, or other pests."

"But while such statements may be theoretically possible by mathematics, they are not actually true in biology, for there is always a mortality rate which may veer now and again amount to an epidemic, and there are other factors such as sterility, starvation, lack of mating and the like."

"The very idea of a natural enemy to the boll weevil catches the fancy. Our people are new at the weevil game and have not yet learned to weight it accurately in the scale of life. There are already many natural enemies to boll weevil doubtless many of them operating right now in North Carolina. Even this summer I reared a parasite from the boll weevil in Anson county and found 13 per cent of the weevils being killed by it in one field, but there is no probability that it is anything startling, for no less than 23 distinct kinds (species) of parasites of boll weevil are already on scientific record."

"Excessively hot, dry weather checks boll weevil. The Bureau of Biological Survey of the U. S. department agriculture lists 66 species of birds which have been proven to feed on boll weevil, yet in case of Bob-White) often mentioned in this connection) only one weevil was found in one bird out of every 200 examined from cotton fields. At least 12 species of ants are known to attack boll weevil, and also at least 10 other species of predaceous insects."

"And yet," Mr. Sherman reminds us, "it is the Biological duty of boll weevil to multiply and replenish the earth, and it is doing it with a fair degree of success, it must be classed among the successful species, its life-history and habits are such that only a moderately small percentage, in the general average, are destroyed by these enemies, and that is one reason why it is such a persistently destructive pest. Yet every winter around 90 per cent die, and it starts out the next spring with greatly reduced numbers"

MIGHTY GOOD FISH STORY FOR THIS TIME OF YEAR

It may be rather late in the season for a fish story, but J. K. Spivey, affable manager of the Chero-Cola Bottling Company yesterday presented The Reflector such a good one that it must be passed on.

Mr. Spivey went fishing in a nearby stream Wednesday and used one of James Heddon's Sons Vampire Minnow hooks. After casting about an hour and a quarter he reeled four strikes and a total of five fish. He pulled two fish at one time the first strike, one weighing 3 pounds and the other a pound and a half.

There were two or three fishermen along with Mr. Spivey who will gladly substantiate this story, although not a single one will divulge the location of the stream where bass strike as soon as the hook hits the water.

RUSSIA WHEAT CROP O. K., SAYS SOVIET

M. Bruchanoff, Commissary for Food, Says Production Above Average

(By International News.) Moscow, Nov. — Russia's harvest this year is satisfactory, according to a statement issued by M. Bruchanoff, People's Commissary for Food. "The rye harvest is now finally known," he says. "Only in one district, Petrograd, is it below the average. In most places it is good or very good."

"The final wheat report is not yet available, but there are no bad reports from any part. Although the area sown in the famine region is 50 per cent below the previous year, yet the harvest throughout the Republic is 35 per cent higher. Last year the total amounted to thirty-one million tons; this year it will be forty seven millions."

"The Volga area will feed itself, although some districts are still badly off for food. The whole region is also suffering from having to support a great number of orphans and from a shortage of livestock. The food tax in this area is therefore being used to relieve the distressed district and increase the amount of land being sown.

"There may be about three million tons of grain available for export, but personally I advise the establishment of reserves against the possibility of a recurrence of famine at some time."

BAD BREAKS CAUSE OF AUTO ACCIDENTS

Los Angeles, Nov. 16—Breaking all records by nearly 10,000 smashups, there have been more than 32,000 auto and traffic accidents in Los Angeles so far this year, according to a report issued by the safety bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The great increase in accidents is due to automobile owners who neglect to keep their brakes in proper condition, according to the Auto Club.

TO DROP BOMBS ON TOP, NOT UNDER SHIP

General Mitchell Says Depth Bomb Will Be Death Knell of Big Craft

Philadelphia, Nov.—The knell of the present-day battleship has been sounded by the airplane, but not by the dropping of bombs on its decks, as popularly supposed, according to General William A. Mitchell, chief of the Army Air Service, who stopped off here recently in his plane for a few minutes.

New developments in air bombs the general said, have proven that it is practicable to sink battleships not by direct hits, but by hydrostatic pressure created by the explosion of the bomb at a predetermined depth beneath the water in the neighborhood of the ship being attacked.

The modern dreadnought able to stand up for hours against heavy gunfire, and protected with heavy armored decks from bombs from aloft, is vulnerable on its unarmored bottom. The open intakes of the condensing system which admit sea water to the engine room condensers provide an "Achilles' heel" by which the greatest battleship may be put out of action.

The terrific force exerted by depth charges is well known, the general said. During the world war the breast of a diver at work was crushed in by hydrostatic pressure from a depth charge exploded eleven miles away. The one ton bomb of the Army Air Service, designed to explode beneath the water, according to General Mitchell, will crush in the bottom of most modern ships of war. A two-ton bomb has also been developed, which is thirteen feet six inches in length, capable, the general believes, of lifting a dreadnought bodily out of the water by the force of its submarine explosion.

With such weapons as these and an efficient air force at strategic points, General Mitchell claims no enemy fleet could safely approach within two hundred miles of the American coast.

Could Not Raise Her Head

When injury to any portion of the spine is severe paralysis may develop above or below the affected part—usually below. Even in cases where there is a slight slippage of one of the spinal joints you may, and often do, have all kinds of disease and sickness.

In the case referred to below, the injury to the spine was in the neck and the child had never been able to hold its head up.

GREENVILLE CHILD NOW ENTIRELY WELL

My little girl, Evelyn Marie, had not been able to hold her head up since birth, the head resting on the right shoulder all the time.

Finally, after I had given up all hope of ever getting the child well, I took her to Dr. Ball, the Chiropractor, here in Greenville. He found that there was a slippage in the middle cervical (middle neck) region of one of the vertebra (joints) due to injury at birth.

Dr. Ball adjusted the little baby only three times before marked improvement was noted. After the fourth and fifth adjustments the trouble had disappeared entirely. Now the baby is entirely well.

I want this published that other sufferers may know what Chiropractic has done for my little child.
