SAYS INDEPENDENT BODY COULD SETTLE THE REPARATIONS

Secretary Hughes Believes Competent Citizens Could Do More Than Conference

FIRST WORD FROM ADMINISTRATION ON ECONOMIC ISSUE

Secretary Tells Historical Society of His Opinion of European Affairs

New Haven, Dec. 29.—A suggestion that an independent commission of men competent in financial affairs could accomplish more than a general international conference toward solution of the European reparations tangle was put forward by Secretary Hughes here tonight in the first public pronouncement on the economic crisis to come from responsible officials of the administration at Washington.

The Secretary, who spoke before the American Historical Association, added that he had "no doubt" distinguished Americans would be willing to serve on such a commission, which he said might well be kept free from any responsibility to foreign offices or any duty to obey political instructions. Once advantage had been taken of the opportunities thus afforded, he said, "the avenues of American helpfulness cannot fail to open hopefully."

Referring to suggestions that the United States assume the role of arbiter in the reparations dispute, Mr. Hughes said a sufficient answer to that was the fact "that we have not been asked." He went on to say he did not believe the government should take such a burden of responsibility.

Throughout his discussion the Secretary recognized that the questions of German reparations lay at the root of an economic settlement. The problems abroad, he said, are world problems, and could not be disposed of "by calling them European." He declared the United States would "view with disfavor measures which instead of promoting reparations would threaten disaster" and said no one could foresee the "serious consequences" which might ensue if forcible means were adopted to obtain reparations from Germany.

The full text of Mr. Hughes' discussion of economic problems follows:

"The economic conditions in Europe give us the greatest concern. They have long received the earnest consideration of the administration. It is idle to say that we are not interested in these problems, for we are deeply interested from an economic standpoint as our credits and markets are involved, and from a humanitarian standpoint, as the heart of the American people goes out to those who are in distress. We cannot dispose of these problems by calling them European, for they are world problems and we cannot escape the injurious consequences of a failure to settle them."

NATIONALIZATION OF COAL MINES PROPOSED

New York, Dec. 30.—Nationalization of hard and soft coal mines in the United States is continued in a proposal which would follow eight months research work by the national committee, according to a statement issued today, by Christ Golden, president of district mines. Miners oppose the interstate commerce commission mines with the secretary of mines in the cabinet.

NEW YEAR WILL BE QUIETLY CELEBRATED AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington, Dec. 30.—Advent of the New Year will be celebrated quietly at the White House. No reception is being planned as Mrs. Harding is still weak and will not be able to be about the house. She will possibly be able to assume her duties as first lady of the land within the next month or so.

Absence of presents doesn't make the heart grow any fonder.

BORAH ABANDONS PROPOSED PLANS TO HELP EUROPE

Plea of Senator Watson Meets With Instant Response From Borah

WASHINGTON, DEC. 29.—The fight over the proposal of Senator Borah that President Harding call an economic conference came to a sensational climax in the Senate today when the Idaho Senator announced that he would withhold his proposed amendment to the Naval Appropriation bill, on administration assurances given by Senator Watson, of Indiana, that the President already was rounding out the situation in a way which might lead to some movement which would aid the adjustment of conditions prevailing in Europe.

Senator Borah made known his decision during the debate after Senator Watson, one of the administration spokesmen, who was instrumental in lining up the administration force; in opposition to the proposal, appealed to the Idaho Senator not to press his proposed resolution for substantially the same reasons, outlined in President Harding's letter of yesterday.

Senator Watson disclosed that administration "feelings" had been made as to European policy and referred to the statement in President Harding's letter that it was necessary first to ascertain whether overtures for a conference would be "welcomed."

"And I go so far as to say," the Indiana Senator stated, "that that has been done and that the things that have been undertaken may be if successfully continued go so far as to result in the holding of a conference in the future."

Senator Watson then suggested that Senator Borah withhold his amendment on the ground that the administration course would be embarrassing. Senator Borah asked whether the administration's negotiations were for the purpose of calling "this conference."

LAST MEETING OF THE YEAR HELD BY LOCAL KIWANIS

Addresses and Reports of Committees Were Outstanding Features of Session

RISING VOTE OF THANKS EXTENDED PRESIDENT JAMES

Rehearsal of Songs to be Sung During Ladies' Night Followed Program

The last meeting of Kiwanians for the old year was held last night at the Rotary building with President J. B. James presiding. After invocation by N. O. Warren, H. L. Hodges was appointed sheriff for the evening. Minutes were read and approved and visitors introduced, then H. L. Smith, who had charge of the program for the evening, started things off.

At the beginning of the roll call each member was required to give his first name and relate the most embarrassing experience of his life. Many of these proved to be rich and spicy and at times it was thought it would be necessary for Sheriff Hodges to act.

There were several short talks made. These bordered on Kiwanis. The first was made by Kiwanian Victor Davis, his subject being "A thought on Christmas and its meaning." He brought out several splendid ideas in connection with the Yuletide season and not only what it should mean to Kiwanis, but the world at large.

Colonel Albion Dunn was the next speaker, his subject being "Kiwanis and Childhood." His talk was especially strong and appropriate. Colonel Dunn spoke of the great need of companionship between father and son, and mother and daughter. He said the ideals for which Kiwanis stood were likened unto those of the teachings of the bible and the teaching and training of children.

J. L. Leggett talked on the subject of Kiwanis and education. He presented some interesting figures, possibly surprising his hearers. He stated that 6 percent of the entire population of the United States were illiterates. Twenty-five percent of the illiterates are white, thirty-seven negroes, thirty-eight foreigners. He said during the census years of 1910 to 1920 there were 12 states that increased the number of illiterates. Not a single one of these were in the south, except Texas and that only by a very small percent.

He commended the school system of Pitt county and the compulsory laws that have improved the school attendance conditions. He said conditions in our county were such that we should feel proud of.

The next speaker was J. L. Little, whose subject was Kiwanis and optimism. Mr. Little used many appropriate illustrations in presenting his subject which proved interesting as well as timely on eve of the New Year.

At this juncture President James asked for reports of the various committees, at which time the Kiwanis committee, appointed to confer with the city and highway officials, stated that progress was being made in their efforts to concrete the connecting links between the city and the county concrete road on the various highways leading to and from Greenville.

A motion was made for a rising vote of thanks to the retiring president, J. B. James, for the services rendered, not only the club in the capacity of president, but for the community at large.

At conclusion of the program, under direction of Ed. Williams, a short rehearsal was held of songs to be rendered at the next meeting which is ladies' night January 12th. The committee in charge of this program is going forward with view of making this the greatest and best meeting ever held by the club. Several out of town people will appear on the program at this meeting.

You hear arguments over football coaches for 1923, but nobody cares who college presidents are.

DAUGHERTY AND FALL MAY RESIGN

Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, of New Mexico, and Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, of Ohio, are reported considering resigning from President Harding's cabinet, for political, as well as financial reasons.

NEGRO MURDERER TAKEN BY SHERIFF HERE YESTERDAY

Robert Howard Jailed on Charge of Killing Nain Sneed Near Grimesland

Robert Howard, Grimesland negro charged with killing another negro by the name of Nain Sneed, was captured yesterday afternoon and brought to Greenville and confined in the county jail to await preliminary hearing.

The shooting occurred in the Norfolk Southern passenger station at Grimesland Tuesday. Howard escaped with the assistance of a brother, who was arrested in Washington yesterday, charged with aiding and abetting in the escape.

The killing is said to have resulted from an argument between the two negroes while they were waiting for a train.

SPLENDID GAMES FEATURE MEETING OF BOY SCOUTS

Wildcats Defeat Panthers in Fast Game at Rotary Club Thursday Night

Troop Two had its regular weekly meeting at the Rotary Club on Thursday evening. After work in calisthenics, military drill, and regular basketball practice and games, the troop was served with refreshments by the Wildcat Patrol.

With two regulars out of the lineup, the Panthers were unable to cope with the leading Wildcats and were humbled by a score of 23 to 14. The line-up with the number of points scored by each player is as follows:

Panthers—Taft, 5, Rice, 7, Harvey 0, Wilkinson 2, Everett 0, Wildcats—Forbes 13, Critcher 4, Moseley 0, Hicks 0, Brown 6.

In the last game of the evening, the Wolves were unable to stop Burnette and took the short end of a 15 to 7 score. The line-up and points scored were as follows:

Eagles—H. Perkins 0, Skinner 0, Tripp 3, Saled 2, Burnette 10, Wolves—M. Hearne 4, W. Hearne 0, Albritton 2, Lassiter 1, Staton 0, Overton sub. for Staton 0.

The next meeting of Troop Two will come on Friday, January 5, when they will enjoy a candy feed prepared for them by members of the high school faculty.

They are recruiting soldiers by radio now, the only drawback being recruits can't drill by radio.

It takes one to start a fight, which is always the other one.

WHISKEY SCANDAL REPORTED AMONG RICH NEW YORKERS

Thirteen Indictments Issued as Result of Bachelor's Dinner at Washington

New York, Dec. 29.—Investigation by a federal grand jury into a bachelor's dinner at the fashionable Racquet and Tennis Club on Park Avenue, at which liquor was alleged to have flowed freely, today brought indictment of thirteen men, including four members of the La Moutagne family, prominent in society.

Two indictments were returned, charging a conspiracy to violate the Volstead and internal revenue acts, through which approximately thirty thousand gallons of assorted liquors were alleged to have been illegally sold. Some of those indicted also were charged with having forged liquor permits and other papers.

In a statement made public in connection with the indictments, United States Attorney Hayward asserted that his office had followed the trail of alleged bootlegging even though it led to select circles and exclusive places and charged that liquor had been sold on a wholesale scale to exclusive clubs and the homes of the wealthy.

Federal Judge Knox received the indictments on a day which two other juries—one in the court of general sessions in New York and the other in Brooklyn—had handed upon presentment urging repeal of the state prohibition enforcement act on the ground that it was ineffective and wasteful of public funds.

The principal defendants, according to Mr. Hayward, were Montague La Montagne and his three younger brothers, Rene, William and Morgan, Rene has long been in the public eye as one of the foremost American polo players, having several times appeared in international competition.

The other defendants were described by Mr. Hayward as the agents of the brothers, listed by the United States Attorney as owners of the Green River Distilling Company, Eminence Distilling Company, Inc., and E. La Montagne's Sons, Inc., and E. La Montagne's Sons, Inc., an importing concern.

AMERICAN K. K. K. HAS HARD TIME OF GETTING FOOTHOLD IN FRANCE

Paris, Dec. 30.—The American Ku Klux Klan is having a difficult time in getting a foothold in France, according to Paris newspapers. Advertisements from New York had quoted the Imperial Grand Dragon as saying that the movement was on foot to extend the organization to the other world and that he would soon open headquarters in London. European newspapers have lately been filled with dispatches from the United States detailing the Klan's activities.

TIMELY SERMON DELIVERED HERE FRIDAY EVENING

Mrs. McAdams to Preach Tomorrow Afternoon and Night; All Night Prayer

The message delivered by Mrs. McAdams last night went home to the hearts of her hearers. She made them feel that it is just as impossible to be a Christian and not know it as it is to be born into the world and not know it. Many passages of Scripture were quoted to prove that we know when God sows.

Paul said "I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him."

John says many times in his epistles about knowing the father and knowing that we shall be like Jesus when he comes. Job said he knew his Redeemer lived years before Christ came. God loves all and gives all the same chance. The call was made last night and a number came forward and accepted Christ. The subject of tonight's sermon will be "Deceit."

Sunday afternoon Mrs. McAdams will preach on the "Dry Bones of Greenville," Sunday night she will talk on the subject of "The World Passing Away." An all night prayer meeting will follow the regular service.

Both sermons Sunday will be of an exceptionally fine nature and those who attend may be assured of hearing something out of the ordinary.

TO BUY CARLOAD OF JERSEY COWS FOR THIS COUNTY

A. C. Kimbrey to Make Purchases for the Banks of Pitt County

(Auspices Pitt County Chamber of Commerce)

According to information given out by Secretary Smith of the Chamber of Commerce he is in receipt of a letter from Mr. J. A. Arey, of the Dairy Extension Department, State College Station, Raleigh, in which he states that Mr. A. C. Kimbrey, Assistant Dairy Husbandman, will leave on Jan. 16th to select a car of high grade Jerseys for Pitt county banks.

The Chamber of Commerce and the county agent were successful in getting the banks to agree to purchase a car of Jerseys to be distributed over the county among their customers. The banks are to be commended for taking this progressive step. It is but an initial move toward a better day for Pitt county farmers.

Mr. W. B. Pace, county agent, has agreed to join Mr. Kimbrey on the 16th, to help in the selection of this car of cattle and accompany the car home, so as to insure arrival in good condition.

Farmers throughout the county who are interested in purchasing a good milk cow are asked to confer with their bank, the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce, or the county agent as to details.

GOVERNMENT CHARGES JUNK DEALERS WITH MANIPULATING PRICES

Washington, Dec. 29.—Charges that junk dealers in manipulating bids have deprived the United States government of a million dollars in the sales of surplus property will be laid before grand juries here as basis for indictments, department of justice officials announced today.

DRUG SALESMAN JUMPS TO HIS DEATH FROM WINDOW

Detroit, Dec. 30.—James Cunniff, drug salesman, jumped to his death from the window of a room on the sixth floor of a local hotel last night. The reason for the rash act had not been ascertained by the police today.

HUNDRED INJURED IN SNOW STORM IN CITY OF NEW YORK

Hospitals Crowded With Persons Injured in Worst Blizzard of Year

PROPERTY LOSS HAS NOW REACHED BIG PROPORTIONS

Problem of Taking Care of the Injured Considered Very Grave

New York, Dec. 29.—Thousands of volunteer snow handlers were called to the shovels today to help dig New York City out of its first big storm of the season—a blizzard of snow and sleet which, starting yesterday under moderate temperatures, became overnight an icy grade which threatened to paralyze all transportation.

The storm took its toll of hundreds of injured. From early last evening until daybreak hospital ambulances were bringing in pedestrians with broken arms, fractured legs or cracked skulls who had fallen on ice covered streets. Most hospitals were crowded, and the problem of caring for new arrivals became increasingly grave as the list of injured mounted.

At least two persons are reported to have been killed in falls on the city's thoroughfares.

The wind reached high velocities. Combined with the unaccustomed burden of snow, it worked havoc with above ground electric and telephone lines, street car cables, roofs of buildings and large trees.

Lives of pedestrians in some sections were endangered by falling signs, tumbling chimneys and smokestacks. Thousands of dollars of damage were believed to have been sustained on Long and Staten Islands, where numerous small craft were washed ashore. Along the water front the toll of damaged buildings was reported heavy.

City officials were out bright and early today, in a personal canvass of Bowery "soup-kitchens," "flap houses" and "bread lines," recruiting snow shovelers with which to augment the force of 24,000 advertised for last night.

Throughout the storm some 6,000 reinforcements, armed with shovels, labored with the city's snow removing engines, but the mechanical plows were unable to do more than keep the thoroughfares passable. Street and elevated car lines were partially incapacitated, despite the brave efforts of night crews to keep the tracks clear.

The sleet encrusted the tracks so thickly that part of an elevated train left the rails. The slow speed at which it was crawling through the blinding storm is believed to have saved its several hundred passengers from a serious accident.

NEW SETTING OF PAGEANT TO BE GIVEN HERE

Sunday night the young people's classes of the Christian church will render a new setting of the Pageant—"White Gifts for the King"—illustrated and pantomimed in a most interesting manner.

The costuming and displays to indicate the various stages of the pageant are better than ever. The program has been prepared under the direction of Mrs. James H. B. Moore and every effort has been made to make it worthwhile.

Some of the old hymns that everybody likes to sing will be among the very interesting things that appear. Some of the new selections also feature.

The Walla Walla, Wash., man cutting his third set of teeth will wear them out saying where he lives.

Government securities are about the safest investment a man in moderate circumstances could possibly
buy. The non-taxable feature of the securities enhances their value to no little extent. Then, too, Uncle Sam pays a pretty good interest rate, and when it is all figured together he offers the best investment on earth.
There is no other government on earth that can compare with the United States financially, and every investor in government securities has this to console him. The chance of losing money this way is less than other offered at the present time and no one can be blamed for investing in this kind of security.

The Greeks are not fooling with Turkey this time. If they ever declare war again there won't be any other Asia Minor massacres. Greece has done away with the traitors that caused her to lose so heavily, and when they go on the battlefield again things will be altogether different. It is a pity enlightened people like the Greeks should be eternally persecuted by their troublesome neighbor, but the day of peace is not far distant.
Turkey holds her head mighty high at the Lausanne conference but the chopping block is nearer than they think for.

Several million dollars worth of whiskey was smuggled into the United States during the holiday season, according to prohibition forces. This was consumed in the larger centers of the nation and hardly reached the rural sections where monkey rum and corn whiskey are produced in enormous quantities. Eventually government agents will be able to handle
the smugglers with greater success.
The day isn't far distant when they will be more fully acquainted with surreptitious movements of the rum runners, and the business then will be far more dangerous than at the present. Prohibition will be fore fully enforced in American than in the past. Of that fact we feel assured because of the inroads which officials have already made into ranks of the distillers. That conditions will improve when whiskey has been entirely done away with cannot be questioned and when that day comes this country will be far greater than it has ever been before.

The Federal Reserve board is optimistic concerning the future as result of a general increase in various branches of industry in the United States.
It is far better to be sanguine and hopeful than to be downcast and dispirited. Conditions will be all right if we make them so. It is the duty of every business man to push forward more determinedly than ever.
If this is done things are bound to be all right despite even the most unfavorable conditions. The country has as much money as it ever had before, but it will do no one any good unless it is released and allowed to pass through the usual channels of business. Some people have become frightened and are holding every dollar they can get their hands on. They imagine something will happen and that they won't be able to live as they once did. If industry is to be what it should finances must be handled as usual. Money must pass from hand to hand and everyone must get their share. The only trouble with America is the slight scare resulting from the drop from inflation and when everyone recovers things will be better.

Pitt county growers naturally want to make a success of their business
next year and to do this it is imperative that they give more attention to diversification. In past years we have confined our time to the cultivation of two or three principal crops, neglecting the things which we consume ourselves. It is all right to raise the thing we can get the most money for, but we should also produce what we consume instead of buying it after it has passed through several hands before reaching us.

Each buyer has to have his profit and by the time it reaches us the price is exactly three times what it would cost to produce it. Diversification eliminates this. It will give us plenty of money crops and the things we consume from day to day. Other sections of the country have found this kind of farming the most profitable
yet and there is no reason on earth why Pitt county should not. We should experiment one year at least,
and be satisfied that we have done
our best to improve conditions.

The prospect of war in the Near East is very imminent at this time and all because those stubborn Turks decline to yield to terms of the allies. The situation is to be regretted in every sense of the word, but who could expect any better as long as the Turks are permitted to say what they shall do. The allies should take charge of things and do exactly like they want to despite Turkey or any other country having an axe to grind. It is for the good of the world and this justifies even the most drastic kind of action.

The Welfare department of Pitt county is making an effort to better conditions of those whose environments are not what they should be.
This applies especially to children who haven't been given the proper training in life, and whose advantages have been limited. If this work should reach the great proportions it should it is necessary that the public
co-operation in every way possible.
Money and personal assistance are two important factors to the success of this work, and if Mr. Futrell is given this it is certain the coming generation will be much better than the present. This is one of the greatest institutions in the country and demands attention of those interested in advancement of civilization.

Washington will entertain the next gathering of Shriners. This decision was reached at the recent ceremonial held at New Bern. Washington will do everything possible to make the day a big one for the Shriners and it is a settled fact that the ceremonial will eclipse anything held in this section of the state in many a day. The Beaufort capital always does things
in a big way and it is an assured fact that they will live up to expectations this time.

highway up Eight Mile Creek toward Dufur, Ore., while blasting the roadway through the steep hillside, uncovered a ball of closely entwined snakes recently.

J. E. Peck, resident engineer, said the ball was almost a foot through and that rattlers were generously mixed through the mass of grass-snakes. The reptiles were found in a fissure through which water was running, where they had "denuded"
up for the winter.

Workmen also found two other smaller balls, each with four or five snakes.

LADD SOUNDS WARNING OF FARMERS' DISTRESS

(By Senator Edwin F. Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, Spokesman for the Non-Partisan League)

Washington, Dec. 26.—From a farmer's viewpoint, the outlook for 1923 is dark and gloomy. The future, though more hopeful.

In the Northwest more than 40 per cent of the farmers in many sections are unable to pay their taxes, and their farms are advertised for tax sales. They are unable to pay the interest on their mortgages. They are not able to buy the necessities to carry their families through the cold winter. If the agriculture of the Middle West is to be saved it must be through emergency legislation that will assure them a price for their products which will bring them not only the cost of production but a fair profit as well.

Rural credits and foreign export corporations, as valuable as they will be for the future, will afford the necessary relief to our farmers over this emergency. The farmer does not ask for a subsidy. He does not believe in subsidies, but he does ask for a square deal and emergency legislation that will turn him the profit taken away by deflation and lack of purchase power among his own people as well as European nations.

Such emergency legislation would give farmers hope and courage, would save their farms and make it possible for bankers to afford them financial relief during the coming years.

The outlook, while dark today, is hopeful for the future.

GREETINGS

Once more we pass another milestone in the history of the world! Once more another year of progress in civilization! And once more we stand on the threshold of another year!

What 1923 will bring forth none of us can foretell. Such vision is not within our province. But every indication points to the fact that the work of reconstruction will proceed—go onward with a determination, known only to America.

We face the next 365 days with an optimism that is certain to bring us to the coveted goal—an optimism that will eventually make America a better and happier nation.

Let us remember that our goal can only be reached through co-operation, a unity of purpose and a feeling of brotherly love.

To you—our friends—we extend the greetings of the season!

AN APPEALING STORY OF SAHARA DESERT IS "BURNING SANDS"

Dramatic Theme Interpreted By Popular Paramount Players With Excellent Results

A desert story which treats the native Arabs as human beings, and which is tremendously appealing and dramatic, is "Burning Sands" a George H. Melford production to Arthur Weigall's, successful novel adapted by Olga Printzlau, and Walde mar Young. This Paramount picture has as its central character Daniel Lane, a student and philosopher who lives among the Arabs and who, by his insight and sympathy, learns to know them as the ordinary man never does and so finds in them much to admire. Lane is a splendid character sympathetically portrayed by Milton Sills. The other featured part, that of Muriel, was allotted to Miss Hawley. Muriel is the present-day type of pleasure-loving, materialistic young woman; who refers to herself as an "emancipated," but who is really a slave to her whims and desires. She is an English girl, the daughter of Lord Blair, His Majesty's "Chief Commissioner to Egypt and the Soudan." Muriel, petted and spoiled, accustomed to admiration and flattery from every man, meets Lane, and out of the encounter of these contrasting characters grows the drama. Lane does not flatter; he admires, but in silence, because while he realized Muriel's great charm he is convinced that it would be a great mistake for him to yield to it. Muriel is fascinated by this man, so different from any in her circle of courtiers.

As time goes on, she finds him "too good to be true." His apparent indifference to her, so unprecedented in her experience, piques her interest. She decides that he must prefer the native woman, and jumps to the conclusion that he has a harem in the desert. His enemies maliciously corroborate her theory. Meanwhile, she is falling in love with him. As a back ground to this love interest, there is a visualization of the disagreement between the British government and the native leaders which looms so large in Egypt today. The story rises to its climax as Muriel, in love with Lane and baffled by his indifference, determines to break it down by flouting convention and going to him at his oasis in the desert. When she arrives there and offers herself, Lane is put to the supreme test. But he conquers himself, and proves to Muriel that there is no harem, no weakness in his character—and no woman in his life. Convinced, she prepares to return to Cairo, when she receives her surprise. The oasis is attacked by renegade Arabs, led by the Sheik's traitorous son, who seek to kill Lane and negotiate with the British government for the return of the oasis for a large sum. In the fierce battle which ensues, Muriel reveals that she is at heart, a genuine and true woman, and such an one as Lane could love. So they are brought together on a sound footing of mutual admiration and esteem.

An excellent cast supports Miss Hawley and Mr. Sills in "Burning Sands," including such well-known players as Jacqueline Logan, Robert Cain, Winter Hall, Louise Dresser, and others.

POLICE PUSHING INVESTIGATIONS INTO BOMB PLOT

Guards Are Placed About Dwellings Marked by Plotters in Letter

Columbus, Ga., Dec. 29.—Investigation into the alleged bomb plot against city officials of Columbus, which was unearthed here Wednesday by the police, will be vigorously pushed, said Walker R. Flournoy, solicitor general, in a statement made public here today. The solicitor general and city and county officials will hold a conference probably today, at which time a definite decision will be reached as to how the investigation will be continued.

A cordon of police and sheriff's deputies again last night were placed around the homes of the five city commissioners, the Dimon Court Apartments and the factory of the National Showcase Company, said to have been marked for destruction. The police reported early today that the night passed quietly.

The police were silent today as to whether any arrests of those suspected of being members of the party who met in a cemetery, and, according to the police, formulated a plot to bring about wholesale destruction of property were to be made. The authorities, however, claim they have the names of every man who attended the meeting.

Muscogee grand jury called into special session yesterday to investigate the alleged plot adjourned after two hours conference without returning any indictments. No announcement was made as to when another session of the grand jury will be held.
