SEVERAL BILLS ARE INTRODUCED IN LEGISLATURE

General Assembly Breaks Up for Sunday With Many Members Going Home

ANTI-KLAN BILL PROBABLY MAY BE CHANGED SOMEWHAT

Sentiment Not Yet Well Expressed Regarding Hooded Circles of State

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 5.—Looking forward to a brief session tomorrow, at which no business is expected to be transacted, members of the North Carolina General Assembly in session here were either leaving or already en route to their respective homes tonight. Both sessions were brief today. The House handled the most business. Twenty-one bills were introduced into that body while but four were read in the Senate.

The legislative calendar is beginning to take healthful proportions for so early in the assembly. Already a mass of local bills have been presented with many more to come up within the next few days. By reason of both Houses adjourning until 10 o'clock tomorrow, as is the usual custom, nothing is expected to come forward in tomorrow's session. According to the motion presented today, the House and Senate will meet in the morning only to adjourn until Monday night at 8 o'clock, to give members an opportunity to spend the week-end at home.

The tax revision measures, with the exception of a bill introduced today by Representative Burgwyn, of North Hampton county, have met with little outside discussion. Representative Burgwyn's bill introduced into the House today would provide for the lowering of tax exemption throughout the State.

Another piece of legislation, which is expected to occupy much attention within the next few weeks and which is expected to assume general proportions, was forecast today with the introduction of a bill for the protection of game fur-bearing animals and fish in Jackson county. The bill was introduced by Representative O. B. Coward. Several members in both houses have openly stated they favored such game protection in a general way and forecast the enactment of a state-wide law.

About the only real spot in the legislative introductions today, however, was the joint legislation which is directed against public masking. Members have expressed the opinion that such legislation would not likely go further than the committee unless the measure contained some sharp features which would make them stand out prominently for the public good.

HEARING CONTINUED IN BASTROP MURDER CASE

Bastrop, Jan. 6.—The wizardry of modern science will be used to prove that Wyatt Daniels and Thomas Richards were slowly tortured to death by a hooded mob in a series of barbarities unequalled since the days of Spanish inquisition. Pathologists, Drs. Langford and Huvall, will take the stand and give deductions made at the inquest over the masses of decayed flesh and crushed bones.

A large crowd was on hand at the second day's hearing. It was revealed that the entire case was pulled up by federal operatives. Feeling is running high against them. It is a recognized fact that with their removal the state's case would be an absolute failure. McKoin has been released upon bail but has been restricted to Moorehouse. Burnet has been refused bail. He has been visited by his wife.

FRENCH AIRPLANES BUSY OVER RHINELAND

Berlin, Jan. 6.—French military airplanes are active over the Rhineland, indicating the troop movement is imminent. Several planes flying over the occupied zone crossed over to unoccupied territory.

HEAVY BLOW IS LANDED AGAINST LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Two Stills Captured by Deputy Sheriff in Belvoir Township

Another heavy blow was landed against the illicit whiskey traffic of this county this week when Deputy Sheriff J. O. Bryant succeeded in capturing two stills on the Ashley Bullock farm in Belvoir township. While no operator nor whiskey were taken in the raid, the officer poured out about 750 gallons of beer.

The stills were of the usual kind used by traffic members in this section of the state, one being a 80 gallon copper affair and the other an ordinary gasoline drum of about 60 gallon capacity.

The stills were brought to Greenville and placed in the confiscated cell at the county jail and will later be sold as junk. This was the first capture made by local officers in several weeks, although numbers of traffic members got in touch of the law during the holiday season.

WANTS MEMBERS TO INVESTIGATE STATE BOAT LINE

Representative Pharr Wants to Know Cost Before Proceeding Further

Raleigh, Jan. 5.—A special committee to investigate Governor Cameron Morrison's state shipping line corporation proposal and report back to the next session of the North Carolina general assembly is favored by E. W. Pharr, representative of Mecklenburg county.

"If the governor's proposal is practical, I believe it would be wonderful for the state," he said. "I am not yet familiar with the complete details of the proposal, but I am against clothing a committee or commission with authority to proceed with the organization of such a state-owned corporation until after it has reported the results of its investigation of the next session of the assembly for decision.

"The principal question which will be considered by the people of the state is whether or not the returns of the local boat line would be direct. The indirect returns would be good for North Carolina, I believe, but we also must be assured that it would be a paying enterprise.

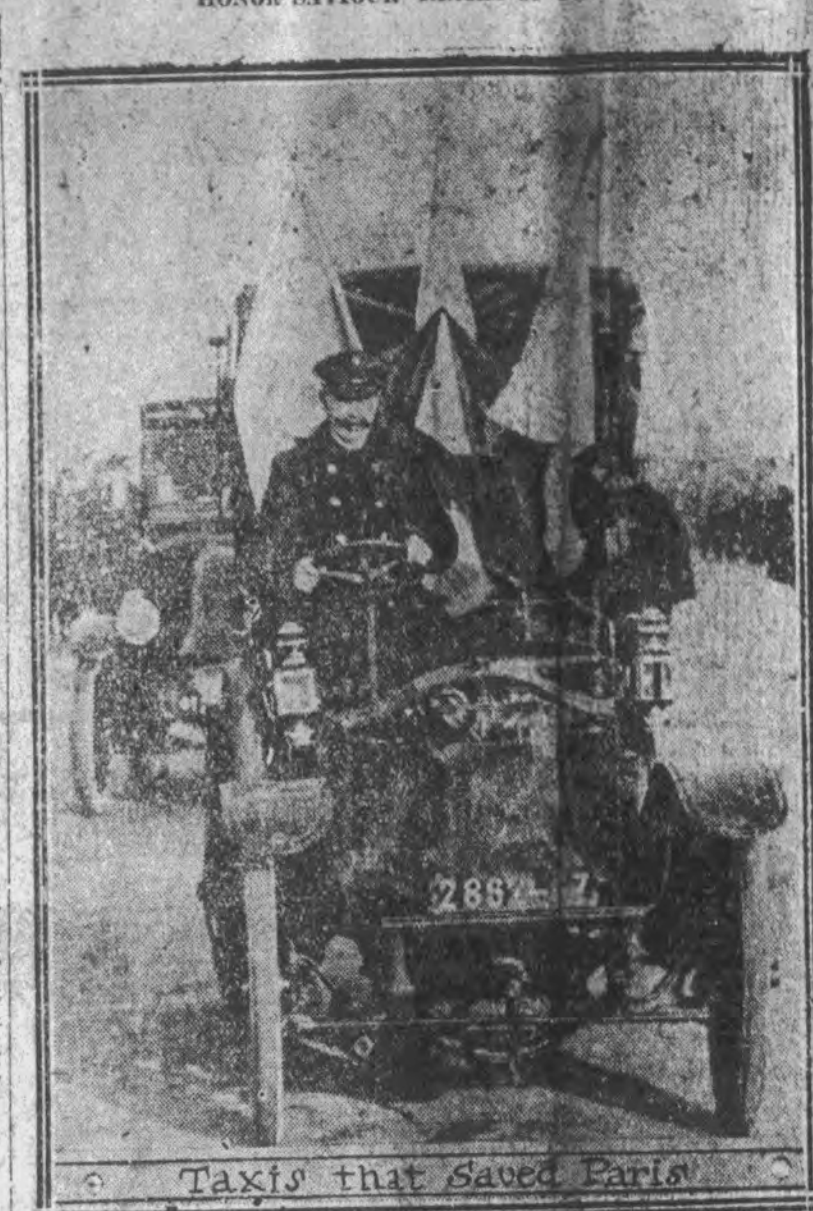

Relative to the highway commission's program of legislation, the chief part of which is a proposed $15,000,000 bond issue, Mr. Pharr expressed the opinion it would be passed. He stressed the importance, however, of distribution of highway funds on a basis of county road mileage, population and area in proportion with the state. The funds should be distributed so as to keep any of the counties from feeling they are being discriminated against.

"I have been a member of the general assembly since 1917," he said, "and during this time I have learned that it is best not to reach final decision on a measure until it has been outlined in full detail and debated. I believe we should give judicial consideration to all proposals before passing final judgment."

The taxicab was driven, with much solemnity, through the streets.

DEFINITE PLANS FOR OCCUPATION OF GERMANY ISSUED BY THE FRENCH

Paris, Jan. 6.—Definite plans for extending French occupation of Germany, including the exact date, will go out when orders are given by Premier Poincare and cabinet. Bulgarians have been advised that all troop movements have been held up until January 15th, the date when the next gold indemnity payment is due. Poincare, however, insists that France act immediately.

This may be an awful country; but in Paris it is considered effeminate to laugh.

FURTHER TROUBLE IS FEARED TODAY IN FLORIDA TOWN

Posse Continues to Hunt Negro Charged With Assaulting White Girl

Gainesville, Fla., Jan. 6.—Reports from Rosewood state that negroes numbering about twenty-five, who escaped from the besieged house it was set afire, are now surrounded in a nearby hammock by a posse of about three hundred.

Hurried calls for ammunition were received here last night from Rosewood. The trouble was precipitated when a negro assaulted a young white woman. The negro is thought to be among those surrounded. The sheriff here says that further bloodshed is inevitable.

Four negroes and two white men were killed in rioting which occurred at Rosewood yesterday. Several persons were also reported injured. The negro who assaulted the young girl is believed to be named Jesse Hunter.

TOBACCO MARKET TO RE-OPEN HERE TUESDAY, JAN. 9TH

Tobaccoists to Return to Market Greatly Invigorated by Holiday Season

The Greenville tobacco market will open for the last half of the season Tuesday January 9th.

It is expected numbers of planter will be on the marketing when warehouse doors are thrown open Tuesday morning, although the greater part of the crop has already been disposed of.

The market has already sold over nineteen million pounds of bright leaf this season, and it is estimated that more than a million and a half pound will be sold between now and the closing day of the season.

Growers from many sections of the state have patronized the local market this season and it is expected many more will bring their offering here at an early date. The market made the highest price average of any other in the state and this was one reason so many people were attracted here.

Local warehousemen have spent a pleasant holiday season and will return to the market greatly invigorated by the many diversions of the holidays. Every warehouse will have its usual force and sales will be conducted with the same speed and precision as ever.

INJUNCTION ISSUED AGAINST THE TOWN OF AYDEN OFFICIALS

Order Preventing the Cutting Down of the Sidewalk on Railroad Street Signed.

(Ayden Dispatch)

An injunction has been issued against the Town of Ayden restraining the officials from cutting down the sidewalk on West Railroad street more than 10 inches below the level of old sidewalk. The plans recommended by the resident engineers of the street work were to cut down sidewalk level with street curbing.

The order was signed by Judge Horton last week, the complainants in the proceeding being Dull & Dull, Woodie McLawhorn, Dr. J. W. Taylor et al. The injunction allowed the Town Commissioners 10 days in which to file their answer, after which time the same becomes permanent.

We are advised that the Board will not fight the case in court but will skip over the property involved and leave the sidewalk as it now stands paving on each side of same. Attorney M. B. Prescott represented the plaintiffs.

BARTER IN KIND NOW IN VOGUE IN GERMANY

Berlin, Jan.—Paper marks dwindling daily in buying power, several ingenious German business men and organizations have returned to the old method of payment in "naturals." The daily paper of Langensalza, a small middle German town, announces that the monthly subscription price has been fixed at 6 pounds grain or 10 eggs.

Naturally, a hen-pecked man feels like a worm. Some people's object in life is objecting.

SUNRISE PRAYER SERVICES TO BE HELD ON SUNDAY

Mrs. McAdams Will Also Deliver Two Sermons Tomorrow Afternoon and Night

Another splendid service was held last night at the court house with many asking for prayer. Mrs. McAdams uncovered self-righteousness and exposed sin in the high place. Her text was "Our righteousness are as filthy rags." The Christ was held up in power to save from all sin and how we could help others if we were really saved, she said.

Jesus found lots of church folks that were not saved and not willing to be by his plan, and we have them still. A number asked for prayer, but to one was saved.

The subject tonight will be "Conversion." Sunday afternoon Mrs. McAdams will use as her subject "Greenville Sold Out to the Devil, Lock Stock and Barrel." Sunday night the subject will be "The Unpardonable Sin," or the sin against the Holy Ghost.

Sunday morning there will be a sunrise prayer meeting at the court house and everyone interested is urged to be present and take part.

AMERICA WILL NOT LEND ANY AID IN REPARATIONS

Washington Government Waiting Developments in European Crisis

Washington, Jan. 5.—The Washington government is waiting on developments in the reparations crisis. It sees no present opportunity to make American help available to Europe. This was the substance of authoritative glimpses of the situation given today both at the White House and at the State Department. It was said flatly at the White House that the administration had no plan at this time for calling an international conference.

At the State Department it was said with equal emphasis that the American government could not properly go beyond what it has already in Secretary Hughes' suggestion that international financial leaders be asked to propose a reparations solution.

That suggestion, made in Mr. Hughes' recent speech at New Haven, will be before the allied governments. It was intimated today that Washington officials were without knowledge as to whether the French authorities were inclined to take it up and develop its possibilities before resorting to the drastic measures of the French reparations plan upon which the Council of Premiers split yesterday in Paris.

With action thus halted on the reparations question so far as administration officials are concerned, Senate consideration of the crisis also came to a temporary stop during the day. The resolution offered by Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, to authorize official American representation on the reparations commission was before the foreign relations committee, but action and even debate was deferred until Chairman Lodge could confer with Secretary Hughes and obtain official word as to the desires of the administration on the proposal. He is expected to see the Secretary tomorrow morning and report back to his committee.

Direct comment on the Robinson proposal was withheld both at the White House and at the State Department. At the White House, however, the significant statement was made that the question of representation on the reparations commission had ceased to be of pressing importance in view of developments in Paris. It was indicated that the view taken by administration officials is that the rupture at Paris on reparations plans has dislocated the whole relation of the commission to the problem as that relationship was planned in the treaty of Versailles.

DENIES MOTION OF SHOP GRAFTS IN STRIKE ISSUE

Federal Judge Wilkerson Refuses to Set Aside Injunction Now

RIGHT OF TRIAL IN OPEN COURTS GRANTED STRIKERS

Attorney General's Conspiracy Case Upheld by Presiding Judge

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson in United States district court here today denied a motion by attorneys representing 400,000 Federated shop craft employees who went on strike last July to dismiss the bill introduced by Attorney General Daugherty on which the injunction restraining the strikers from interfering with railroad transportation was based.

The shop crafts' motion for a trial in open court was granted, however, although decision on the defense motion for a jury trial in the equity case was reserved by the court until the calling of the trial. The trial date was fixed for May 2. The order directing that a special examiner take evidence in the case in various cities was set aside.

The court in its decision refusing to dismiss the preliminary injunction and the bill upheld the government conspiracy case introduced by the Attorney General at the time the injunction was asked as the basis for its action.

Referring to the contention of Donald Richberg, attorney for the shop crafts that the injunction was now practically null and void because the workers are back at their jobs and the strike no longer exists and to his argument that the Federal district court has no jurisdiction outside the district for which it is appointed, the decision said:

"The settlement of the strike on the part of the railroads and the alleged territorial limitations upon process in contempt proceedings furnish no stronger grounds for dissolving the injunction than for dismissing the bill.

"The defendants are here asserting their right to do the things which are forbidden by the injunction. Questions of procedure in case there are violations of the injunction can be disposed of if and when they arise."

Funeral of Klan victims.

This is the first photograph of the funerals of F. Watt Daniels and Thomas F. Richards, alleged victims of the Ku Klux Klan whose mutilated bodies were found by troops in Mer Rouge, Louisiana. J. L. A flag on the casket testifies that Daniel saw service as a volunteer soldier in France.

Mr. Ficklen thinks executions at the state prison should not be printed in detail because of the bad effect it has upon the public mind. That he is right cannot be questioned. Too many times in the past newspapermen at the capital have dwelled too elaborately upon executions which might have been fully covered with a few brief statements.

Mr. Ficklen is also right when he says that not so many people should be admitted to the prison to witness the executions. No one can possibly derive any good from seeing the life taken from another and the legislature would do nothing amiss to deprive them of this right.

Capital punishment is necessary if crime is to be reduced within certain limits. As long as a man or woman know they must die for taking life of another or for other crimes of serious import they will be slow in letting the criminal instinct get the better hand of them. But simply because capital punishment is a law is no reason why the death cell should be filled with inquisitive men and women at every execution. If spectators desired any benefit from attending it would be all right.

The legislature would make no mistake to issue only such facts to the press as it sees fit to print and to bar spectators from attending the executions. At least that the way we see it and we believe others will see it the same way.

The conference at Lausanne has failed and delegates representing the various powers will return home as greatly perplexed as when the conference first opened it is to be regretted the reparations could not be settled, but since they were not it may be something may be decided upon at a later date. Conditions in Germany and other countries demand immediate settlement of the matter, and the sooner the nations can get down to business with this end in view the sooner we may expect a settlement. One good feature of the split is the fact that the delegates were on friendly terms. England said she would not give up but was more determined than ever. So long as this spirit is in evidence there is some hope for success of the negotiations.

The riot reported down in Florida is to be regretted, but they are bound to occur at times even in the best of communities. It is very regrettable, however, that white people can't hold their temper in case of provocation. They derive no good from taking the law in their hands. In fact, they cause the public to have a bad impression of the community. It is always much better to let the law take its course no matter how heinous the crime may be. Every man, it matters not how low or mean he may be, deserves fair and impartial trial before our courts, but this cannot be given if the mob spirit is to prevail. Everyone interested in rooting and lynchings should be punished severely when detected. In this way alone can we expect to kill the spirit which seems to exist in every community.

Pitt county banks are to be commended in their movement to supply our people with cows. The bank has made it so every responsible family in the county may have plenty of milk and all those without a cow should take advantage of the opportunity. A section with plenty of milk will be far more healthful than the ordinary one. Children given plenty of milk will develop much more rapidly. Milk, and plenty of it, is absolutely essential to good health of the children these days and it is to be hoped Pitt county people will take advantage of this opportunity presented through the various banks.

necessary, but exclusion of press representatives will not be altogether necessary. The press might be requested to print the more prominent facts and leave off the details. But if anyone is desirous of seeing the executions, they should be allowed to do so. It has a tendency of killing the criminal instinct and newspaper stories with only bare facts will leave a spirit of uncertainty among criminals that should act as a deterrent to crime.

Final effort to settle the reparations squabble will be made by delegates at Lausanne this week. Whether success will crown this last attempt cannot be said at this time. One thing, however, is certain. The delegates should cut out controversy and indecision and get down to real business. They will be right there next Christmas if they listen to Turkey, so there is only one effective way to settle the question and that is to banish Turkey from negotiations. The Turks are determined to hold out as long as they can. They would demoralize the conference if this were possible and if success is to be achieved the delegates must go to work and not listen to Turkey any longer.

Speeding can be greatly reduced in Pitt county if road sentences instead of fines are imposed by our courts. Fines have been dealt out in hundreds of cases, but if conditions have been improved in the slightest sense of the word it isn't in evidence. Draconic measures should be taken by the courts this year in order that the situation may be materially improved by time our entire hard surfaced road program has been completed. It would be a pity for speeding to continue with such a splendid system of roads as Pitt county eventually will have and it is to be hoped our officials will take immediate steps to bring about an improvement.

The Pitt county chamber of commerce has adopted an ambitious program for 1923 and if it is carried out as it likely will be conditions should be greatly improved in the near future. This county is one of the greatest in the state. The chamber of commerce is one of its greatest promoters. If the public should assist the chamber in every way possible the program would be put over in greater form than anticipated. Every issue considered is of vital interest to every person residing in Pitt county and we trust no one will fail to use their influence. The present year can be made a great one if our people go about their business in a determined way, and we trust everyone will fully realize the fact and do what they can.

The Pitt county welfare department is doing much to assist the King's Daughters in their work and expression of appreciation has been published by the daughters. The welfare department is doing much for the children of the county and if the public would co-operate as it should be able to accomplish even more. Mr. Futrell is desirous of reaching every child or family in need. He has assisted hundreds the last two years and work of the department has assumed great proportions the last several months. Public co-operation is necessary in this branch of work and we trust this will be given unstintedly in every community.

Mr and Mrs McAdams plan to stay in Greenville until they have a real reviv and clean up the city. This determination, it is hoped, will be crowned with greatest success. That there is room for a religious revival here cannot be doubted, and if the evangelists have undertaken the enormous task of "cleaning up" they should receive the heartiest co-operation from those doing the Lord's work. The mission is a great one and deserves attention of everyone interested in the spiritual welfare of our people.

That people are becoming satisfied and contented is evidenced in the small number of changes made in business circles of Greenville the first of the year. Heretofore numbers of persons made it a point to change jobs the first of the year, if for no other reason than to say they changed. It is gratifying to note that the spirit of unrest is being replaced by the old time spirit of content. It means great things for the future and the business circles of the city. No one can make a success by constantly changing jobs. That old saying about a rolling stone gathers no moss is as true today as it ever was and the man or woman that sticks to their job may rest assured of eventually becoming a success. Constancy and determination to do a thing are great assets to anyone desiring to make a success of any branch of business and those inheriting the qualities may be assured of coming out at the big end of the horn. The future is not as dark as some would believe and the man and woman with confidence in the future, their county and their God need have no fear.

Mr and Mrs McAdams plan to stay in Greenville until they have a real reviv and clean up the city. This determination, it is hoped, will be crowned with greatest success. That there is room for a religious revival here cannot be doubted, and if the evangelists have undertaken the enormous task of "cleaning up" they should receive the heartiest co-operation from those doing the Lord's work. The senate paid a splendid tribute to President Wilson on the occasion of his 66th birthday recently. This is the first time he has ever been so distinctly honored and the senate is to be congratulated upon doing so. Mr. Wilson is undoubtedly one of the greatest men the country has ever produced and nothing we may do in way of honoring him will be an adequate reward for what he did during the war. The great weight of duties during the struggle did more to break his health than any other one thing and it is only proper our people should pay tribute to him during his physical breakdown. If he should ever re-enter politics, and it is very unlikely, his following will be even larger than when he was elected to the presidency. It was not dislike that brought about defeat of his party two years ago. It was a general desire for a change resulting from war. The people have had this, much to their regret, and when the next election comes a different story will be told.

The opening of the curb market here in the spring will greatly increase the demand for fresh country eggs, and any enterprising house wife would find it directly advantageous to try raising chickens for a time at least. This section needs far more thrifty people, and the sooner it gets them the earlier conditions will undergo and improvement.

Pitt county farmers should diversify this year. In fact, it might be a paying proposition for a number of them to do a little truck farming. With the opening of curb markets at Greenville, Farmville and Ayden there will be a greater demand for products of the truck farm than ever before. Housewives will visit these places daily and demand those things Pitt county has not been producing in proper quantities. Cabbage and many other vegetables shipped here from other parts of the country could be produced here in abundance if our farmers would only plant them. Tobacco and cotton are our principal crops, to be sure, but why not increase our earnings by raising some food crops also. Many growers are going to find their row hard to do unless they diversify this year, and even then things won't be the best in the world. It's a pity not to use our natural resources and the farmer that fails to do so may wish he had in the near future.

Poultry raising will prove lucrative to any family in Pitt county willing to give it an experiment. The demand for chickens and eggs cannot be filled because not enough people are raising chickens. The public demands fresh eggs. They are not obtainable only at times, and anyone producing them will accumulate a small fortune in the course of a few years.

Why One Advertising Appropriation Was Increased TWO partners were debating their advertising policy—planning the campaign for the next six months. Theirs is a retail store which spent in one year $12,000 on its advertising which was 5 per cent of their yearly volume, a fair expenditure in their line of business. In growth of sales they could easily point out the homecoming of the $12,000 with a fair and reasonable profit in its train. For these two partners that expenditure was a profitable short-term investment. One of the partners spoke up: "John," he said, "we have a cash profit in the bank from that $12,000, but we have a greater intangible profit by far—it is piled up for us in the minds of every man and woman in the city. "It is reflected in the attitude of our bankers. "It is present in the minds of the manufacturers who sell us. "It is working on the minds and purses of every one of our customers" "Why," he continued, "this business, because of the advertising we have done, is worth $12,000 more than it was before we began. The two partners increased their appropriation, modestly, it is true. That was five years ago. Today, for it is in a large city, their appropriation is eight times their original amount. Their standing, with bankers, manufacturers and customers is A-1. Their business has grown and grown in a healthy way. And still as one of them put it— "In the last five years advertising has made money for us. Every cent we've spent has come back to us, and brought another with it. But, our real profit—our big profit from that advertising is banked in the minds of the people. Ours is the best known business of its kind in town. And that is worth a lot of money to us." MORE TRUTH THAN FICTION.

Mr. E. B. Ficklen thinks executions at the state prison should not be printed in detail because of the bad effect it has upon the public mind. That he is right cannot be questioned. Too many times in the past newspapermen at the capital have dwelled too elaborately upon executions which might have been fully covered with a few brief statements. Mr. Ficklen is also right when he says that not so many people should be admitted to the prison to witness the executions. No one can possibly derive any good from seeing the life taken from another and the legislature would do nothing amiss to deprive them of this right. Capital punishment is necessary if crime is to be reduced within certain limits. As long as a man or woman know they must die for taking life of another or for other crimes of serious import they will be slow in letting the criminal instinct get the better hand of them. But simply because capital punishment is a law is no reason why the death cell should be filled with inquisitive men and women at every execution. If spectators desired any benefit from attending it would be all right. The legislature would make no mistake to issue only such facts to the press as it sees fit to print and to bar spectators from attending the executions. At least that the way we see it and we believe others will see it the same way. The conference at Lausanne has failed and delegates representing the various powers will return home as greatly perplexed as when the conference first opened it is to be regretted the reparations could not be settled, but since they were not it may be something may be decided upon at a later date. Conditions in Germany and other countries demand immediate settlement of the matter, and the sooner the nations can get down to business with this end in view the sooner we may expect a settlement. One good feature of the split is the fact that the delegates were on friendly terms. England said she would not give up but was more determined than ever. So long as this spirit is in evidence there is some hope for success of the negotiations. The riot reported down in Florida is to be regretted, but they are bound to occur at times even in the best of communities. It is very regrettable, however, that white people can't hold their temper in case of provocation. They derive no good from taking the law in their hands. In fact, they cause the public to have a bad impression of the community. It is always much better to let the law take its course no matter how heinous the crime may be. Every man, it matters not how low or mean he may be, deserves fair and impartial trial before our courts, but this cannot be given if the mob spirit is to prevail. Everyone interested in rooting and lynchings should be punished severely when detected. In this way alone can we expect to kill the spirit which seems to exist in every community. Pitt county banks are to be commended in their movement to supply our people with cows. The bank has made it so every responsible family in the county may have plenty of milk and all those without a cow should take advantage of the opportunity. A section with plenty of milk will be far more healthful than the ordinary one. Children given plenty of milk will develop much more

SUNDAY SCHOOL AT RED OAK CHURCH

This is being written with the hope that all the friends and members especially of Red Oak Union Sunday School will see it and take notice that we intend to have Sunday School next Sunday morning at our usual time—9:45 o'clock.

Now, friends, it is up to those of us who live in this Red Oak community to say whether we are going to have Sunday School in our neighborhood or not. We realize that most of the members have either influenza or other sickness in their homes, and for that reason we haven't had Sunday School in over a month. Now it is up to us, since most every one is about well, to pull together and have just one of the best Sunday Schools anywhere. Let's quit dragging. Let's come together next Sunday, the very first Sunday in the year with the determination to have a good Sunday School. And friends, let's boost, don't knock. If you don't go yourself, don't criticize what others do. We need the support of the old as well as the young.

Next Sunday is the time to elect new officers, and we want everybody who possibly can, to be present.

In the business meeting of the troop, finances were discussed and it was announced that the next test to be worked on would be the "knife and hatchet test" for second-class scouts.

$6,000,000 IS ESTIMATE FOR 1923 BUILDING PROGRAM

New York, Jan. — Based upon a survey which has just completed, the Copper and Brass Research Association estimates the total building construction for the year 1923 at $6,000,000,000. The potential market for copper in building construction in this country next year (including sheet copper for roofing, leaders and gutters, etc., as well as the copper contents of the brass used in plumbing pipe, hardware and lighting fixtures) is estimated at approximately 780,000,000 pounds.

In 1922, statistics for eleven months of which are now available, the total expenditure for building construction is placed at $4,910,000,000. In addition, there were projected (but not built) other buildings of a total estimated cost of $2,480,000,000.

In estimating the amount of building construction in 1923, the carry-over from 1922 has been reduced to $1,240,000,000, because experience indicates that in making preliminary estimates the cost is usually placed on the safe side, and allowance is also necessary for the percentage of such projects as have been indefinitely postponed or will not come up in 1923.

Taking the known accumulated shortage as a basis, after deducting work completed during 1922 and adding increment of building for the year 1923, the actual building requirements of the nation are estimated at $7,830,000,000.

To complete such a vast amount of building during the year 1923 supposes that the entire shortage plus the normal increment for the year will be carried out in 1923 and that we shall enter 1924 with a clean building slate. It is believed by the Association, however, that neither the financial nor material and labor resources of the country are in a position to carry this entire program to conclusion in twelve months time.

NATURALIZATION WORK HAS WIDE SCOPE

Washington, Jan.—Figures made public by the Bureau of Naturalization of the Department of Labor, show that during the fiscal year the public school authorities in 3,625 communities took advantage of the opportunity to obtain the textbook and other naturalization aids, prepared especially for use in the conduct of citizenship classes.

During the period referred to 245,800 students were enrolled in the English and citizenship classes conducted by the public schools of the country. Almost a quarter million people whose educational status ranged from almost total illiteracy to a deficiency in the language only were afforded an opportunity to learn not only to read, speak, and write in the language of the country which they have adopted, but to become familiar with our Constitution, principles of Government, and traditions.

Practically every class of organization and society in the country has been invited to participate in the work of supporting the public school authorities in the vital work of educating and training the foreign born.

Foreign-born residents here are naturally timid and easily discouraged. They are prone to live in groups, composed of nationals from their own countries and cling tenaciously to the ideas and ideals of the lands of their nativity, which includes the un-American principle of subjugation. Before any progress can be made in the Americanization of any foreign born it is necessary to overcome these adverse conditions and instill into him a spirit of confidence, and a belief that the activities in which he is invited to participate are intended for his welfare and advancement. It is this work which the Bureau of Naturalization strives to accomplish.

The work of instruction is a responsibility which devolves upon the local educational forces to perform. The bureau acts as a stimulating force, to render every possible assistance to the public schools in the advancement of their work. The name of applicants for naturalization are forwarded on cards, prepared for this purpose, to the superintendents of schools in order that the school representatives may get in touch with aliens and endeavor to obtain their enrollment in the classes conducted for their benefit. Simultaneously with the sending of the cards, letters of invitation are mailed to the applicants advising them of the interest of the Federal Government in their welfare and urging them to become members of the local citizenship classes.

WOMAN'S CLUB HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF YEAR

Thursday afternoon ushered in the first meeting of the Woman's Club of the year 1923. The Sunday school rooms of Memorial Baptist church were really crowded with interested members, who had come to start the New Year with the proper club spirit and enthusiasm. It is to be hoped that this spirit will permeate the club for the entire year, and if this be the case, there will be no question as to the amounts of work that will be accomplished.

As the executive board was late in coming together, and there was very little business, requiring especial attention, both meetings were merged into one.

After reading the minutes Mrs. H. E. Austin secretary, read a letter from Mrs. Palmer Jermon of Raleigh, asking the club's co-operation in passing certain bills, through the legislature that is now convening in Raleigh and financial support, to the state federation for the same purpose. Ten dollars was given this cause. Also twenty five dollars was voted upon to be donated the city library.

When the president called for committee reports, Mrs. P. T. Anthony and Mrs. E. B. Ferguson reported for Ways and Means for the months of October and December something around forty dollars. Speaking for the February Ways and Means, Mrs. C. D. Tunstall stated that a rook and bridge tournament would be given at the Wayside Tea Room, Wednesday for the purpose of raising funds.

Mrs. J. K. Brown, chairman of Health, reported two hundred dollars made from the sale of Christmas seals. She also gave out the information that the health lecture to the club women and high school girls to be given by Dr. Parker would fall on the fifth of February at nine o'clock in the morning in the high school auditorium.

Mrs. James Moore in speaking for the civics committee, said that the matter of the garbage cans had been taken up with Mayor Clark and that he had promised to put forth efforts to remedy conditions.

Mrs. Moore brought to the club a very attractive proposition made them by the ladies of House Station to the effect that they would plant Crepe Myrtle trees on either side of the road from House to Greenville, if the Woman's club would meet them half way. The club assured Mrs. Moore that they would be only too glad to thus help beautify the county.

After the disposal of all business the meeting was turned over to the literary committee of which Mrs. E. B. Ficklen is chairman. She had planned for the afternoon a program on County Government, with Mrs. J. B. Kittrell as speaker.

In an easy, fluent and attractive manner Mrs. Kittrell, with the aid of a map spoke of the size, population, and wealth of Pitt county, saying that it is fifth to the richest county in the United States. She then took up the thread of thought of county government and for an hour or more entertained, interested and informed her audience.

She told how the work of the county is under the guidance and supervision of the board of county commissioners, which is composed of five men, these she named. That these five men have the levying of taxes, the dispensing of all moneys and in fact are the guardians of the county's interest, in all matters. Then it is who introduced into the county the budget system that has proven such a success. Next in the line of expansive work is the board of education, composed of three men, these were named in turn. It is the duty of this board to see to the interest of the schools throughout the county to decide as to where the money is to be spent, etc., and to advise and consult with the county school superintendent who is under their supervision and is hired by the county to visit schools, hire teachers and attend to all the details of school work. He has as his helper a school supervisor.

The third and last board is the county highway commission also composed of three men. This is a new thing in county government and is a part of the state educational program in road building.

Much road building is in progress in Pitt county and the commission has planned for one hundred and sixty-three miles of paved road. An engineer is hired to oversee the road work and to act as secretary to the board.

Having told so clearly of the three important boards of the county and their various duties, Mrs. Kittrell then turned her attention to the county officials. Naming the sheriff first, who keeps the peace, summons juries, collects taxes and attends all courts. The clerk of court who keeps account of all court proceedings and is judge of the juvenile court. A fine thing for the county, the existence of which many people are ignorant.

The register of deeds who issues records, all deeds, etc. The auditor who keeps account of all collections the assistant auditor who checks after the auditor and collects delinquent taxes.

The county treasurer who holds the county purse a very responsible position, a surveyor, a coroner, a county judge, a solicitor, a health officer and a welfare worker compose the county officials.

Dr. Chester has brought Pitt county to the front in health work to such an extent that it is recognized by the state as a model. And Mr. Futrell has rendered such efficient service in his line of work that he now has the county jail, and the county home in his charge.

In this splendid talk, Mrs. Kittrell proved herself an interested and enthusiastic citizen of the county of her adoption and the Woman's Club as a whole thanked her on an hour of real entertainment.

Note of Thanks.

We wish to express our hearty appreciation for the many kindnesses shown us during the recent illness and death of our mother, Mrs. Fannie Jenkins.
Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Everett.

JOHNSON'S BILL WOULD LIMIT R. R. MELONS

Western Senator Would Make Them All Report Before Declaring Dividends

Washington, Jan.—Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, has introduced a bill in Congress that is destined to cause a lot of commotion in railway-financial circles since Congress gets around to considering it.

Senator Johnson's bill provides, in short, that NO railroad in the United States shall be permitted to declare a dividend until it has first obtained from the Interstate Commerce Commission a certificate to the effect that its equipment and service is sufficient for the needs of the people served by the road.

It is one of the most far-reaching bits of railway legislation ever proposed, for, properly enforced, it would bring all railway dividends under partial control of the Government. The Government could say when and under what conditions railroads would be permitted to proclaim dividends to thousands of shareholders.

The bill is the direct outgrowth of the railway shopmen's strike of last summer, which brought the whole railway system of the country to the brink of collapse. The effects of that strike are still apparent on all the railroads of the country in the shape of broken-down equipment, bad-order cars and incapacitated locomotives. There are no men to make repairs, consequently no repairs, and the condition of rolling stock went steadily downward.

Then came the great seasonal movement of crops, coal and other commodities. Embargoes prevailed on some roads for months; coal began to move in great volume to a country menaced by fuel famine, with winter coming on; farmers in the west began sending their crops to seaboard and to the industrial East; shippers long denied cars began flooding the terminals with goods for shipment. All this, added to the impaired condition of equipment on many roads, due to the strike, combined to create a condition of rolling stock that the country will be years in overcoming.

How Newspapers Help

The newspaper starts in When you are born; Relates about your sweetness. It follows you to school, And prints the honor roll If your name is found there. It tells of your graduation And speaks of the excellence of your magnificent essay. It tells of your progress During your college career And then dilates much about The choice of your location Then it gives a nice notice About your marriage And praises up the blushing bride Till her folks don't know her. Then, in due course of events, It tells about the bouncing baby That happens in your family— Thereby beginning its life work All over again. The newspaper does all this And it also does much more. It tells of the progress Made by the city and county And boasts all enterprises; Gives free advertising Worth thousands of dollars To its own home town. There are seeds of things— That all good newspapers do For which they cannot be paid. That is why every citizen Should do his darndest To support the newspapers. In every possible way In every possible way. And all the time. Yassum. I thank you—Palatka, Fla., News.

WOMEN ABROAD ARE PUZZLED OVER NATIONALITY NOW

U. S. Gives Them Right to Retain Citizenship, Though Wed to Foreigner

(International News) London, Jan.—The Women Without a Country" is the theme of a doleful song that is heard all over London these days whenever American women gather to sip tea and chatter. Since the passing of the United States law, giving American women the right to retain their American citizenship even though they marry a foreigner, there has been great discussion here as to choice of citizenship.

London is full of American women who became British subjects when they married British men. Now they don't know whether they are British or American, nor whether they have dual nationality, American notonality in America and British nationality in Great Britain.

Lady Astor may sail for home and vote in America and then return to England to take up her seat in the House of Commons, according to one interpretation of this new American law, which hasn't been received with reciprocal recognition from Great Britain.

"What am I?" "Can anybody tell me what I am?" cries out Crystal Eastman, sister of Max Eastman, a woman who is well known throughout the United States. "Year and years ago I started life as an American citizen, and I have in America all my life," she explains.

"But in 916, by marrying and Englishman, I became willy-nilly a British subject. "When I left New York I carried a British passport. On September 22, however, while I was on the high seas President Harding signed the Equal Citizenship bill, which gives an American woman the right to retain her citizenship, no matter who she marries. And I became an American once more! So far so good. I have enjoyed being a British subject, but I cannot deny that I was happy to be taken back into Uncle Sam's family once more.

"Now, again all is confusion. So long as I stayed at sea on an American ship I knew that I was. But at the end of ten days I was put off at Tilbury Docks—I stood on the soil of a country which has not recognized this new right of married women, where the wife of a British subject is perforce a British subject, no matter where she was born. So am I not once more a faithful subject of King George?"

"All sorts of questions arise: Shall I register as an alien or trust to luck that I am what my passport says I am? When I get ready to go back shall I go to the British Home office or to the American consul? Will both offices refuse me a passport? (I shall I get two passports, one to get out and one to get-in on? "On the whole, I think I shall let the lawyers worry over this problem of dual citizenship. I am busy enough rejoicing at the genuine feminist achievement involved."

It is small wonder that when American women meet in London they ask, "What are you today—British or American?" Attorney General Daugherty ought to speak up and stop this discussion.

PREACHER SAYS REDS WOULD OVERTHROW ALL CHURCH WORK IN U. S. Dedance, O., Jan.—Agents of Soviet Russia have invaded every large city in the United States and, by means of an organized propaganda, are endeavoring to overthrow all Christian interests and everything in American life that has been developed and sponsored by the churches, according to Dr. Martyn Summerbell, Lakenont, New York, president of Stauker Seminary and vice-president of Dedance College, addressing local clergymen. He said, cooperation among all Christian forces is needed as a means for thwarting the work of paid Russian, Bolshevik and Communist agents.

FOOTBALL STAR FAKED WEIGHT TO MAKE THE TEAM

Syracuse Candidate for All-American Center Was Too Light

Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 5.—Frank Culver, "unkissed hero" of Syracuse University, retiring captain of the Orange eleven, and Syracuse's candidate for All-American center, won his pivot berth by tampering with the scales of the weighing machine in the Syracuse gym.

That's the story that has just leaked out here, and which has been confirmed by Head Coach "Chick" Meehan, of the Orange gladiator forces. It's a story of pluck from the ground up and of nerve.

Culver's weight has been given out consistently as 165 pounds during the last season. That's five pounds more than it was listed at during 1921.

But the truth of the matter is that Culver at no time has tipped the beam at 145 pounds.

And yet he's All-American lumber, in spite of the handicap.

Culver came to Syracuse from Toledo, where he was a sensational prep school center. His light weight kept him off the 1920 Orange team. In 1921 Culver reported, looking little changed so far as weight was concerned. He seemed doomed to the scrubs.

Culver did a little quick thinking and then consulted the assistant manager, who was in charge of weighing in. The net result was that when Culver stepped on the scales nightly the weight chart showed 160 to 162 for Culver. If it hadn't that assistant manager would have received a fine wallop.

The "added weight" told, and Culver got his chance. Then came the Pitt game, and Meehan did some close personal weighing. He discovered Culver's trick, and the Orange center pleaded guilty, but begged for a chance to face Stein, of Pitt. He did,

SHORT JACKET NOW POPULAR IN PARIS

Paris, Jan.—Generally speaking, the short jacket seems to have gained the upper hand over the long coat this winter. Two reasons have made madame choose the fur jacket instead of a great coat. It is much lighter in weight and infinitely less expensive. Shaved caracul, with bands of gray lamb, makes a charming short jacket, and there are others in brietschwarztz, gazelle, monkey, bison and pony. Gray squirrel and moleskin probably claim the greatest number. Moleskin is best suited to incrustations, gathers and little folds. The jackets are mostly hip-length, straight in cut and drawn in above the hips with a belt, many of them in metal, closed by an old-fashioned buckle. Supple suede and cire frappe the new material, which suggests beaten Oriental metal, is often chosen for these jackets. The surface is covered with braiding and metal workmanship together with flat Oriental embroideries. One, made of black crepe de chine, has a strong Indian flavor. It is covered with small steel rings which clatter when one walks. There are two steel discs in front and fastened to the chin. Chanel uses many short jackets and crepes for her tailleurs. They are often made of fur and are sleeveless, barely reaching the waistline. Others are of velvet, edged with deep fur. SELLS MORE "WAR CRIES" THAN ANY OTHER LASSIE Kansas City, Mo., Jan.—To a Kansas City "Salvation Lassie" goes the honor of having sold, unassisted, the highest number of copies of The War Cry—the official publication of the Salvation Army—in the United States in 1922. COLORADO FACING PROSPEROUS ERA

(By International News.)

Denver, Jan. 6.—Recent prosperity is predicted for the Rocky Mountain region in numerous gigantic building and construction programmes outlined for the coming year.

Expenditures approximating $100,000,000 are provided for in new building, railroad expansion and highway construction in Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico.

While authorized expenditures in some cases cover three and four year programmes, much of the work will be completed during 1923.

A programme involving the spending of $20,000,000 in the next three years in Colorado is announced by the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad for new rails, increased shop facilities and equipment.

The Colorado State Highway Department's programme for four years totals $20,000,000, and other large expenditures scheduled are the Moffat Tunnel, $6,720,000; United States forest service roads, $4,000,000; Pueblo flood conservancy, $4,000,000.

Denver's building permits passed the $15,000,000 mark in 1922, and it is expected the figure for dwellings and business buildings in the city in 1923 will exceed $16,000,000.

A bond issue of $6,150,000 for construction of additional schools in Denver was recently authorized by the taxpayers, and work will commence on this project early in the year.

The Burlington Railroad is putting up new shops here to cost $2,500,000 and two hospitals at a total cost of $2,000,000 will be built during 1923.

Extensive building programmes are also reported from various cities in Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico.
