SEVERAL CASES GIVEN HEARING IN CITY COURT

Mayor Clark Disposes of Heavy Docket in This Morning's Session of Court

Julius Williams, colored, charged with driving mule and wagon in a reckless and careless manner and damaging buggy of Isiah Corey, fined $10.00 and cost, including damages to buggy.

Annie Brady, colored, charged with receiving, possessing and selling intoxicating liquors. This defendant is one of the most notorious blind tigers in Greenville and upon numerous occasions she has been caught by the police and taken before the courts, but somehow still manages to retain her liberty and continues the traffic in intoxicating liquors. However this is not so hard to understand when considered in connection with the fact that she always has plenty of cash on hand and the demand of $500.00 cash bonds does not faze her any more than a paper string would retard the progress of a charging elephant. She is always represented by able counsel who are inevitable able to accomplish the desired results. The police are well aware that some of her staunch supporters and frequent visitors are white men whose reputation for moonshine is doubted only by those demanding strict proof. One of her safest methods of concealment was discovered upon this arrest when a quart bottle of liquor was found hanging under her clothing suspended from her waist by a string. Her cash register, or money drawer being suspended in like manner. Defendant was bound over to county court under $500.00 cash bond and gave it without the bailing of an eye.

Grandall Pitt, colored, charged with driving insufficiently lighted auto, allowed to pay the costs.

John Dupree, colored, charged with assault with deadly weapon, bound over to county court under $100.00 bond.

John Dupree, colored, charged with carrying concealed weapon, to wit, a pistol. Bound over to county court under $200.00 bond.

Doc Little colored, charged with false pretense. Bound over to county court under $20.00 cash bond.

M. J. Favre, Raymond Stocks, Guy Baker, W. B. Trip, A. Hill, white, charged with gambling. Allowed to pay $10 each and the cost.

M. J. Favre, white, charged with operating slot machine or gambling device. Allowed to pay the cost under promise that machine would not be further operated and would be removed.

Bruce Warren, white, charged with driving auto from Pitt street into Dickinson Avenue. without bringing same to full stop. Allowed to pay the cost.

Mrs. W. T. Bryan, white, charged with speeding. Allowed to pay a fine of $10 and cost.

DR. PEACOCK MAY RETURN WITHOUT REQUISITION PAPERS

Lakeland, Fla., Jan. 21.—Dr. J. W. Peacock, who escaped from the criminally insane department of the North Carolina State Penitentiary and who recently was declared sane at Arcadia, Fla., will return to North Carolina without requisition papers provided he is assured no technical charge is placed against him and he would be tried only for insanity, it was reported tonight.

The decision is said to have been arrived at last night at a conference between Dr. Peacock and his attorneys. Dr. Peacock has been visiting here, but could not be located tonight.

Dr. Peacock, who was seen by newspaper men last night, was quoted as saying in regard to the move to extradite him that it was "a political move, pure and simple."

One of Dr. Peacock's attorneys left tonight for Tallahassee to inspect the charges on which North Carolina authorities are seeking to extradite him.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOLS OPEN A TRAINING SCHOOL

First Session Held Sunday Afternoon With Fifty-five in Attendance

The Training School for Sunday school workers held its first session in the Immanuel Baptist church yesterday afternoon with twenty-nine members of the Immanuel Sunday school present and twenty-six of the Memorial Sunday School present. Dr. Spilman who could not be present yesterday on account of illness, will arrive today and be present at the training school tonight.

Three courses of study will be given. Mr. Middleton who arrived yesterday and preached in the Immanuel Baptist church last night, will teach, "Building a Standard Sunday School." Dr. Spilman will teach, "What Baptist Believe," and Mrs. Hilliard will teach, "Plans and Programs," for Cradle Roll, beginners and Primary workers.

Beginning this evening at 6 o'clock the following schedule will be followed for the entire week:

6 p. m., worship held by pastors; 6:15 p. m., classes as named in course of study, 7 p. m., lunch, 7:30 classes; 8:30, General Address and at 9:15, adjournment.

This Training school will prove of invaluable aid to all Sunday school workers and every one interested in the work is requested to attend.

A lunch will be served at 7 p. m., and business men and those who work are invited to go directly from their work to the Immanuel Baptist church.

TRINITY CHURCH OF DURHAM IS DESTROYED FIRE

Beautiful Edifice Burns With Estimated Loss of $125,000, According to Report

Durham, Jan. 21.—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, totally destroyed the handsome Trinity Methodist church in this city at an early hour this morning. The damage is estimated at $125,000. One hundred thousand dollars of the loss resulted from destruction of the building, and the additional $25,000 loss is suffered through the destruction of a handsome memorial to the late Mrs. Julian S. Carr, erected some years ago by her husband, General Julian S. Carr. The church carried $75,000 insurance.

The fire, discovered shortly before 7 o'clock this morning by the church janitor, had gained considerable headway before the firemen arrived, and before lines of hose could be stretched the main portion of the structure was a roaring mass of flames. Fireman James Freeman was seriously injured while helping to place a stream of water on the blaze. The nozzle on the hose broke away from the firemen knocking Mr. Freeman to the pavement. He suffered a broken arm and three of his ribs were fractured. He was taken to the Watts hospital.

Although no definite plans for continuation of the religious work of the church have been formed, Rev. A. D. Wilcox, the pastor, said this morning while the fire was at its height "We will carry on."

The congregation, it is said, has rallied to the pastor and church, and it is expected that no delay will be occasioned in the erection of a handsome and modern structure to take the place of the one destroyed this morning.

YOUNG GIRL LEAPS FROM FIFTH FLOOR OF HOSPITAL

Atlanta, Jan. 22.—Helen Vaughan, seventeen years of age, ended her life Sunday by leaping from the fifth floor of a hospital here. It was learned that mental depression resulting from an illness was given as the cause.

SPLENDID SERVICE AT COURT HOUSE SUNDAY EVENING

Prayer Meeting Tuesday Morning Will Be Held at Smith's Sanitary Pressing Club

Another splendid service was held at the courthouse last night. A large crowd was present to hear the message: "Set Thine House in Order."

The congregation felt the message was for them and that many didn't have their house in order. People like to hear of the sins of Abraham and Isaac, but not their own. The evangelist had no respect of persons and said many homes were filled with secret sins that the next door neighbor didn't know about and now was the time to prepare to meet with God. So many have seen death staring them in the face, and promise, God if he would spare them they would live better. God in his mercy heard them and raised them up, and they go right on serving the devil. Fathers and mothers are wondering why their children are so far away in sin. They are just as they have been taught. Very few children taught right ever get away from it so far, but what they will come back. So, parents, set your house in order and the children will follow. Only one was converted when the call was made.

Subject tonight will be: "Moving into 'Own'."

Prayer meeting schedule Tuesday afternoon as follows:

Mrs. Ralph Collier, Summit St.; Mrs. Denton, 1012, Diverson Ave.; Mrs. Lawrence, 1114, Cotanche St.

Tuesday morning at ten o'clock, Smith's Sanitary Pressing Club, 109 4th St.

BASKET BALL TEAM OF AYDEN TO PLAY LOCAL QUINT TUESDAY NIGHT

The first basket ball game scheduled with the local highs for this week will be staged tomorrow night Ayden as their opponents on the court at Forbes & Morton's warehouse. It is said the Ayden quint has the best team this season that they have yet put out. This means that the contest tomorrow night should prove quite interesting throughout.

On Friday night New Bern is to appear for the second time this year before the local boys. New Bern on Friday night of last week administered unto the Greenville team the first defeat of the year. And with this facing them, the locals are determined to turn the tables on their opponents.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Although his condition is much improved Harding remained in his study today nursing a severe cold. Inclement weather impelled Sawyer to order the president to stay in the mansion. Lodge and Watson called but did not see Harding.

FIVE DIE IN HOTEL FIRE IN PENNSYLVANIA

Homestead, Pa., Jan. 22.—Five are dead as a result of a fire which destroyed hotel Davies. Among the dead are Mrs. John Winnie, her three children, David, William, twins six years of age, and Catherine age thirteen, and Thomas Davies, proprietor of the hotel. Joseph Brice, chief of the fire department was seriously injured.

MRS. JACOB McCOTTER DIED IN GRIFFON TODAY

Mrs. Jacob McCotter died at her home in Griffon this morning after an illness of several days with influenza-pneumonia. The interment will take place tomorrow afternoon in the McCotter burying ground.

Mrs. McCotter was one of the most beloved ladies of the Griffon community. She was a member of the Episcopal church and a devoted wife and mother. She is survived by her husband and four children.

MUSICAL COMEDY PLEASES AUDIENCE IN MONTGOMERY

"Eve" Will Be Presented in White's Theatre Thursday, January 25th

With no pretensions except just colorful, clean entertainment, laughable comedy and the kind of music that folks like to listen to, "Eve," appearing at the Grand Theatre for both matinee and night performances, Saturday, fulfilled every expectation in each of these very diverting things—and then some. Nyra Brown's singing voice was quite in keeping with her most striking and attractive appearance, and that's saying a lot, while Johnny Getz was funny without finding it necessary to be suggestive either in word or gesture.

The stage effects were unusual and most appealing to the eye. The costumes were rich and, if not new, were marvelously well kept and altogether pleasing, and if there was a single member of the company, from the ladies of the chorus to the co-stars already mentioned, who should not have been cast in other than their respective parts, it was not noticeable. Many novels innovations throughout the performance, served to intensify the general satisfying impression which the show made upon its audience, an impression which the show made upon its audience, an impression which was given audible expression in frequent encores.

Even the thread of a plot that is woven into "Eve," is attractively presented. It is about a girl who thought she was a gypsy, and while still under that impression, falling in love with a rich young man. It develops she wasn't a gypsy at all, but a princess, and after some misunderstanding she and her lover are united in the final scene by the "king" Johnny Getz. Nyra Brown, also possesses a very excellent and appealing voice. In addition to these three principals, one of the big features of the show is the dancing of tiny, lovely, little Baby Richards, whose every appearance, was the signal for encore after encore. Next to Miss Brown, perhaps the most attractive feminine figure on the stage was Miss Edith Monet, who appeared as "Cutie Cutura."

Of the scenes, quite the most spectacular was that which served as the setting for the presentation of the "White Peacock" song. In this scene, Miss Brown wears a marvelous costume, which though the house is plunged in darkness, continues to glow with a white, luminous light. Much fun was created by the Harmony Quartette, who were called back time after time by insistent encores, and the song, "Home-Remorse," proved a veritable knockout. "Eve" is a show that carries good looking ladies, appealing music and laughable comedy. What more could you ask.—The Montgomery Advertiser.

CAPTAIN SKIPWITH RECEIVES THREATS UNKNOWN PARTIES

Bastrop, Jan. 22.—A series of poison pen letters carrying death threats have been received by Captain Skipwith, exalted Cyclops of the morehouse parish klan, it has been learned. The letters printed in scrawling characters have been mailed from Monroe since the hooded mob hearings started. The aged klan chieftain showed no concern for his personal safety but friends, it is understood, have established a vigil.

REV. V. P. SCOVILLE SUPERIOR COURT SPEAKS ON MISSIONS TO COLLEGE GIRLS DURING THIS WEEK

Delivers Interesting Sermon to Y. W. C. A. on World Evangelization

Mr. Scoville gave to the college girls Sunday evening one of the most interesting talks of the school year. He spoke by request on the subject of "Missions Or World Evangelization."

The Scripture reading was taken from the tenth chapter of Romans which deals with missions.

Mr. Scoville gave as his interpretation of the expression "World Evangelization" as not meaning our bringing the world to Christ, but carrying Christ to the world. The speaker frankly stated that he did not believe this world as a whole would ever be brought to Christ because as long as people had their choice as to whether or not they would accept Christ just so long would some reject Him.

He added that the responsibility of the church was to make Christ and His saving grace known to the world. Until this is done the church people are responsible for those who have never heard of Christ. The mission of the church is to evangelize the world.

Mr. Scoville discussed the question that has been asked by so many people who do not believe in missions: "Why should we send missionaries to other countries when we have so many heathens at home?" A thorough explanation was made when the speaker stated that the heathens in our country are heathens by choice and not because they have never heard of Christ. Mr. Scoville having been a missionary himself gave many true incidents in which he came in contact with people himself who had never even heard of the Bible.

Many of the girls were deeply impressed by the service as a few of them have already decided to volunteer as missionaries.

Miss Cleo Richardson rendered beautifully a vocal selection, "Closer Still With Him."

SUPERIOR COURT CONVENES HERE DURING THIS WEEK

Civil Term Brought to Close Last Friday; Criminal Term Begins Today

Pitt County Superior Court for the trial of civil cases which convened last week under Judge Henry A. Grady ended Friday evening after a very successful term. Although one day was lost on account of witnesses being unable to appear and two others being taken up entirely with two cases and a few minor ones, the term proved a great help in clearing the calendar.

The term for the trial of criminal cases convened this morning with Judge Grady presiding. The calendar contains a number of cases of more or less importance and now that the "flu epidemic" is improving it is expected that the term will prove to be very successful.

This morning's session was taken up entirely with fixing the calendar and empanelling the jury.

Judge Grady, although handicapped last week by failure on the part of witnesses to appear, deserves high praise for the speed with which he cleared the docket.

The following men were selected to serve on the grand jury for this week's term:

W. M. Pargmore, W. B. Randolph, H. D. Tucker, Fred Haddock, C. L. Moore, J. T. Bundy Charles Lewis, J. P. Fleming, J. E. Whitehurst Bruce Cobb, J. B. Smith, O. W. Harrington, Bert Summerell, N. C. Vick, J. D. Stokes, H. F. Worthington, W. F. Fleming, L. E. Elks, Foreman

SUTTON IS BOUND OVER TO SUPERIOR COURT UNDER BOND

Guy Sutton was given a preliminary hearing on the charge of manslaughter here Saturday afternoon before Justice B. F. Tyson and bound over to the present term of Pitt county Superior court under a cash bond of $2,500. The charge is the result of the killing of Phillip Jefferson, of this city, but Sutton about three years ago when he ran over Jefferson with an automobile.

Though the court room was filled to capacity, the trial was unseasonal and no testimony was offered by the defense. The case will in all probability go to the grand jury today and just what day during the week it will come up before the court has not yet been decided.

IRISH AROUSED TO WAGE WAR ON CANCER; 4,000 NOW ANNUAL DEATH TOLL

Dublin, Jan.—The Irish Government has awakened to the fact that 4,000 people in Ireland die of cancer every year, and a vigorous campaign to raise funds to combat the disease is being organized.

Students from the Dublin hospitals, clad in grotesque costumes and wearing masks, have paraded the sidewalks appealing for funds and the authorities claim that they have already raised $20,000 in this way.

The Government is considering a suggestion of initiating a scheme whereby every industrial worker in the Free State should contribute to a national fund to fight cancer.

MRS. AND MRS. C. H. FORBES LEAVE FOR NORTHERN MARKET

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Forbes left yesterday for northern markets to purchase their spring stock of ladies' ready-to-wear and millinery. Mr. Forbes stated that he expected to return with one of the most beautiful selection of dresses, coats and hats that it has been his pleasure to show the people of this community.

GERMAN LABOR IN THE RUHR REFUSES MINE MORE COAL

Following Orders From Berlin and Union Leaders Miners Defy the French

Essen, Jan. 22.—The German labor in the Ruhr coal fields, following orders from Berlin and dictators of union leaders, has defied the French, by refusing to mine more coal. Large numbers of railway and mill workers have already quit. Coal production and transportation are paralyzed. French troops are being utilized to man trains, and run machinery. The military authorities have warned the unions that drastic measures will be taken unless the men resume operations. It is threatened that there will be a tie up of food supplies for the occupied zone.

Sunday was a quiet day in the Ruhr, but beneath the calm there was French and Belgian determination to force through their measures, and the German determination to oppose occupying forces by a complete cessation of work, and what is known as "passive resistance" but which may develop along more active lines unless some sort of settlement is reached.

Fritz Thyssen and his colleagues, the leading industrialists in the Ruhr, will be placed on trial immediately for their refusal to obey the orders of the economic mission. The penalties imposed upon them may be the measure of the retaliatory action by the Germans.

Berlin still insists that German action is entirely passive, but an ultimatum has been delivered to the workmen in the Ruhr that they must refuse to haul coal or bring it to the surface under penalty of severe penalties. At the same time Berlin is discussing the possibility of exacting indemnification for the present invasion of the Ruhr.

M. Barthou will present before the Reparations Commission Monday a new French plan relating to a moratorium for Germany.

The Separatist Party discussed at Aix La Chappelle, without Belgian or German interference, the secession of the Rhineland provinces from the Reich.

Behind the policy of Germany stands primarily the Ruhr's great economic army of laborers, while the chief support of the allies rest with some 70,000 armed troops. Up to the present labor has proved its loyalty to the Fatherland by balking at every allied attempt to obtain its aid in carrying out the program of occupation.

Up to Sunday seven mines were idle on protest strikes and with the closing down of all the other mines the spectre of a general railway strike hovers over the region. The strikes up to today were confined to properties seized and whose officials were among the arrested and the seizures of the mines extended only to State possessions. The strikers based their principal demand on the release of the officials, though they added that occupation as a whole must be lifted before work is resumed. They refused to ply the pick in the shadow of the French and Belgian bayonet.

A TRIAL OF ENDURANCE

Several members of the German Government profess a determination to go to all lengths of "moral resistance" to France. There will be no military clashes; but a disarmed Germany, it is said, will be able to make the French occupation of the Ruhr futile. Mine owners will go to jail rather than obey French orders. The railroad service will be dislocated. No coal can be mined with bayonets. The miners will at best work only as slackers, and it need be will strike and throw the whole region into disorder. When the French find out that they are getting no money and little coal from the Ruhr, they will be ready to listen to reason, according to this German theory. But first, it is admitted, must come the long and severe trial of endurance.

Which nation is the better able to hold out to the end of it? France, undoubtedly. She is placing a virtually unanimous public opinion behind her Government; she is much more nearly self-contained than Germany, has an infinitely stronger financial position, has national pride as well as national self-interest enlisted on the side of the Ruhr venture; and can see the thing through with entire confidence that, if suffering and labor troubles and revolutionary movements show themselves anywhere, it will not be on French soil. In Germany, on the other hand, the Cuno Government lives on sufferance, and may be turned out any day; both for food and raw ma-ment of some other could properly be offered. That would seem to be the common-sense solution of the difficulty. Why inflict misery upon millions in Germany when it could be averted by an honorable settlement, obtainable by conference?—New York Times.

Philathea Class Meets.
The Senior Philathea class of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church met on Thursday evening, Jan. 18th, at the Vines House, with Mrs. K. B. Pace, presiding.

The hostesses were, Mrs. L. A. Randolph, Mrs. W. W. Casey, Misses Edith Harvey, Virginia Sledge, Lillian Purvis and Allie Williams.

Mrs. Herring, teacher of the class, explained the new Sunday school attendance record which Mr. Austin is succeeding in making not only workable but practical and the class was asked to co-operate with him in making this record accurate. The new roll and the associate roll was incidentally explained in Mrs. Herring's forcible and efficient way.

It was suggested that the time for the regular monthly meeting be changed, because it so often conflicts with public affairs and ladies night of the Rotary and Kiwanis club. It was voted to change the time of this meeting from Friday evening following the first Sunday to the second Tuesday evening in each month.

This being the first meeting of the new year and it being largely attended, the president called for suggestions from any one that would possibly help the class to grow and to be better class in 1923.

Many suggestions were forthcoming, all of which were brilliant, timely practical and helpful ones. The class, believing it has the best possible teacher and president, expects to grow in membership, in resources, in Christian character during the years of 1923.

Mrs. Martha Lee Cowell reported the $100 pledge to the building fund paid.

Mrs. Pace announced that Mrs. W. L. Upshaw of Asheville was sick and it was suggested that Philatheas all over North Carolina shower her with post cards, Saturday.

Mrs. Herring invited the class to meet with her on Tuesday evening, Feb. 13th, at the home of Mrs. Corey on Third street, with Mrs. Gross and Mrs. Chas. Cobb, assisting hostesses.

At the close of business, everyone was occupied for several minutes with a very clever and interesting contest, "Who Takes the Cake." Mrs. J. G. Peck and Mrs. W. C. Harris tied for the prize. Mrs. Peck drew the highest number, and was presented a box of nabiscoes.

GREAT Majestic Range

"The Range with a Reputation"

Ranges may come — and Ranges may go But the Great Majestic Sails on forever.

In brief there is no range built that can equal in any respect the Great Majestic. In quality—durability and service it stands as high above other makes as does the top-most peaks of the mountains over the beds of the ocean. It will bring satisfaction in the kitchen for years and years.

Let us explain to you the superiority of the "Range with a Reputation"

Quinn-Miller & Company "Live Furniture Dealers."

Final Clearance of all Overcoats

You can make real money for yourself by looking ahead to next Winter—and anticipating your need for a good overcoat.

We never do have "freak" styles, so there are none in this group of good overcoats that we've priced so low for final clearance.

You can make money by getting one at these prices to "hold over." But it's "turnover" that makes money in a store. Of course, if we could buy them at half the makers' cost it would pay us, the same as it pays you to buy one (or more) at half or less than half what you'll pay for overcoats of equal quality next Fall.
