FEATURES OF ARMY BILL ASSAILED BY SECRETARY WEEKS

Says Appropriation for River and Harbor Plans Should be Restricted Budget Estimate

Washington, Jan. 25.—Several features of the army bill as it passed the House were assailed by Secretary Weeks today before the Senate subcommittee having the measure in charge.

The stipulation that boys under twenty-one cannot enlist in the army without the written consent of their parents was declared by the Secretary to be such a blow at the recruiting service as to make it doubtful whether the army could be kept at authorized strength. Mr. Weeks also objected vigorously to the provision which would bar Major General Harbor, who recently retired to become head of a radio concern, from drawing retirement pay. The stipulation, he said, constituted a reflection on the integrity of army officers.

Opposition to the river and harbor plans of the House was expressed by the Secretary, who insisted that the appropriation for such purposes should be restricted to the budget estimate. He further stated that he wanted to emphasize the importance of restoring reserve officers' headquarters which had been eliminated by the House, and he also favored a more liberal appropriation for the training of reserve officers.

In asking that the National Guard appropriation be increased to the budget estimate, Secretary Weeks stated that the guard is now in fine shape, with a better quality of enlisted men and with better officers who are better trained.

Consolidation of army posts throughout the country in the interests of efficiency and economy was suggested to the sub-committee by Secretary Weeks who stated that he was having a study made with that end in view. He, therefore, urged that no further appropriations for permanent establishments be made at posts which might in the near future be abolished.

The World War had demonstrated, the Secretary said, that it would be feasible to consider a new plan of fortification defense under which many of the present forts, now obsolete, should be abandoned.

SCHEDULE OF CROPS FOR PITT COUNTY HAS BEEN APPROVED

Leading Men of County, Discuss Farming Situation for 1923; Draft Schedule

(Auspices Pitt County Chamber of Commerce.)

At a recent meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, a number of the leading men of the county met for the purpose of discussing the farming situation for 1923. Attending this meeting were farmers, merchants, bankers and professional men.

After a thorough discussion of the subject, the schedule of crops as shown below was drafted and unanimously approved, with the desire that same be employed by Pitt county in so far as it can be practically done. This is a recommendation coming from some of the clear thinking men of the county, and is at least worthy of thoughtful consideration.

Three acres to cotton, 4 acres to tobacco, (Followed by peas after tobacco, then crimson clover or oats.) Six acres to corn. (Soy beans, velvet beans or running peanuts planted to every acre; 1 acre to sweet potatoes; 1-2 acres to oats. (Followed by peas, etc, for hay.) 1-2 acre to millet; 1 acre to wheat to be ground into flour or crushed for chicken feed. Two acres to permanent pasture. (Bermuda grass, followed by bur clover or other grasses, 1-2 acre to family garden; m e ydrage! shrdlu cmfwyp ppp 1-4 acre to melons; 1-4 acre to amber cane. The above schedule of crops was arranged with a one-horse farm as a unit and with twenty acres to the plow.

Further recommendation: All land should be stumped as soon as possible. Farmers should protect all grain from rat and weevil damages. Farmers, by necessity, must begin at once to use all labor-saving machinery possible. At least one good brood sow to every farm. A good milk cow on every farm. 25 to 50 standard-bred hens on every farm.

This program was drafted with a view to making our Pitt county farms self-sustaining and thereby preventing an import bill of more than $4,000,000 annually.

VERDICT IN THE CHRISTMAN CASE EXPECTED TODAY

Embezzlement Charge Made by Horse Dealers of Virginia has Attracted Much Attention

The case of J. M. Christman, charged with the embezzlement of more than $15,000 from the firm of Smith Brothers, of Richmond, Va., has occupied the entire time of Superior court since shortly after the noon recess hour on yesterday. When the trial was begun it was thought that the hearing of evidence and argument of the counsel on both sides would not consume more than two hours, but as the case progressed new evidence was entered for both the State and the defendant.

As we go to press, his honor, Judge Grady is making his charge to the jury, and in all probability a verdict will be rendered before the close of today's session of court.

The trial is the outcome of a business transaction occurring when the accused was in the horse and mule business in Farmville. And the charge was brought upon evidence secured following the bankrupt plea of Mr. Christman.

The case has attracted a great deal of interest especially in the Farmville and Fountain sections of the county where the accused is well known.

Mr. Thomas J. Hickey, President of the American Baseball association, says: "Prohibition has been the greatest blessing we ever enjoyed. The passing of the saloons increased our patronage wonderfully. It was a great business booster for us."

VOTE INDICATES HARD FIGHT AHEAD ON SHIP LINE BILL

Senate Referred Ship Measure to the Appropriation Committee

Raleigh, Jan. 25.—The $2,000,000 ship line bill proposed by Governor Morrison received its first test on the floor of the Senate yesterday, proponents of the bill winning a moral victory by defeating a motion to refer the matter to a special committee, while those seeking to amend the measure gained from a practical standpoint when the bill was re-referred by consent to the committee on Appropriations, headed by Senator Giles, who is leading the opposition in the Senate. In the House an eleven minute session was virtually without feature.

When the ship bill was reported favorably by Senator Charles U. Harris, chairman of the committee on Water Commerce, Senator Giles at once made his motion that the bill be referred to a special committee of five to be named by the Lieutenant-Governor in order that it might confer with the Governor relative to amendments to the bill and secure more definite information.

The Senator from McDowell disclaimed any purpose to attack the committee or reflect upon the committee on Water Commerce, but urged his motion on the ground that the legislation is of vast importance and had not been given full examination. He wanted a committee appointed also that it might confer with the Governor "with authority."

Senator Harris led the fight against the motion, arguing that the committee on Water Commerce had given an opportunity to everyone to be heard who wished to appear before the committee and construed the motion as purely dilatory in character and calculated to unduly embarrass the passage of the measure. He appealed to the Senate to let the measure be passed upon on its merits.

Senator Baggett said he favored re-reference but wanted all amendments that are to be proposed to the bill offered first so that the committee might act with the amendments before it.

The vote on the motion to appoint the special committee was lost by a vote of 14 to 29, with one pair announced making a total recorded vote, 33 to 15. However six of those voting against the motion explained their votes by saying in substance that while they opposed the pending motion they would favor amendments to the bill or thought it ought to go to the committee on appropriations.

Senator Parker, who offered the motion to refer to the appropriations committee did not vote nor did Senator Holmes, of Warren, who has missed most of the sessions on account of sickness. Senators Zachary, Haymore and Jones, of Edgecombe, were absent. These shifts reveal a practically even alignment with a minimum of 24 apparently favoring the bill as written, a maximum of 22 apparently favoring amendments and Senator Jones, of Warren, and the three absentees not accounted for.

"EVE" ONE OF BEST MUSICAL COMEDIES PRESENTED IN CITY

Nyra Brown and Johnny Getz, Principal Stars, Welcomed by a Capacity House

"Eve," one of the best musical comedies presented in Greenville, in a long time, played to a capacity house in White's Theatre last night. It measured up to the expectation of every-one and then some.

Nyra Brown, and Johnny Getz, the monkey man, who have been seen on the local stage, several times were the principal stars. The play was well sung, costume: beautiful, stage setting; magnificent, and from an electrical viewpoint it was beyond description. Miss Brown had with her one of the prettiest and youngest choruses, seen here in a long time.

There was a plot to the play, although, not a very deep one. Nyra Brown, as a Gypsy Girl had been kidnapped in her youth by a Gypsy band and although knowing that she wasn't a real Gypsy was unable to establish any facts concerning her early life. Finally after falling in love with a young American, who is forced to give her up, believing her a "nobody," her father who is a king finds her. She is carried home and takes her rightful place as princess. Of course the lover returns and all ends well.

One of the outstanding features of the play was the dancing of lovely and dainty little "Baby Richards." She was just a tiny little bit of humanity, but her graceful dancing would do credit to a much older child.

The Harmony Quartette rendered several selections which were thoroughly enjoyed and received a large number of encores.

Quite a number of electrical effects were displayed which were rather unusual, especially Nyra Brown's presentation of the peacock song.

Johnny Getz, as usual, made a splendid comedian. He brings forth a laugh before he says a word. In his kindly scenes, with his romantic ideas and hootch pills he was a scream. He always brings an entire change of jokes and pulls them off in a manner peculiar only to himself.

Other characters in the play, deserving especial mention are Edith Monet, as "Cuta Cura," Aubrey Allbright, as "The Dancin' Fool," and Doc Brown, the lover. All the others were splendid in their respective parts.

The play was one of the best seen here this season and was in keeping with the shows which Mr. White has been bringing to Greenville. He is endeavoring to give to his patrons the highest class of entertainment.

BAPTIST TRAINING SCHOOL WILL COME TO CLOSE TONIGHT

Has Had a Most Successful Session and Has Been Great Help to Workers

Attendance at the Training School at the Immanuel Baptist church last night reached the highest mark of the week. A number of new faces were seen, and a very keen interest manifested.

The closing session will be held tonight. After the usual periods of study, lunch, etc., an examination will be given those who are prepared.

The inability of Dr. Spilman to return for his part on the program has caused general regret, and yet Mr. Middleton and Mrs. Hilliard have made a wonderful contribution toward the success of the week, and one which is thoroughly appreciated by every one attending. They are both specialists in their work and as such make for more efficient Sunday schools wherever they go.

The usual large attendance is expected tonight at 8:00 o'clock.

THE GRAND JURY SUBMITS REPORT COUNTY CONDITION

Offers Resolution of Respect for the Late Secretary of State, Col. J. Bryan Grimes

State of North Carolina, County of Pitt. In Superior Court, January Term, 1923.

To Honorable Henry A. Grady, Judge: We, the Grand Jury at this the January term, 1923, of Pitt county Superior Court, beg to submit the following report:

First, we have passed on all bills presented to us, except those in which we were unable to secure witnesses and have promptly submitted said bills to the court.

We have visited the offices of the Sheriff, the Clerk of the court, Register of Deeds, Board of Education, the Treasurer's office, the office of the County Auditor, and find them well kept.

We also visited the County Jail, and we find that the condition of the jail is not as good as it should be, but this condition in our opinion is due to the crowded condition of the jail and under these circumstances it could hardly be otherwise.

We have visited the County Home and find conditions there very good. All the inmates say they have plenty of good food and are well clothed. We recommend that the plastering in the dining rooms be repaired, as well as some parts of the front porch to the main building. We find that some of the old buildings are in bad condition and we recommend that this be remedied.

We have visited convict camp No. 1, and found the same well kept and in good condition. We also visited camp No. 2 and found it in fair condition, but we recommend that the prisoners in these camps have more blankets in cold weather and that the mattresses have cases made for them, made of some material similar to homespun, as we believe that they will last longer if so protected. We found that the prisoners have good wholesome food in both camps.

We desire to thank the presiding Judge, the Solicitor and all court officers for the courtesy and kindness extended to us during our work as Grand Jurors at this time.

Respectfully submitted,
L. E. ELKS,
Foreman.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father, the Ruler over all and Giver of all, has seen fit to take from us our countryman, J. Bryan Grimes, secretary of State, of the State of North Carolina; and whereas, this body of grand jurors, representing the good people of his county, recognizing his interest in and love for his county; his interest in and love for all mankind; his strong character; his noble virtues, and patriotic and devoted service to the state of North Carolina, desire to record a tribute to this noble son, who died in Raleigh, North Carolina, January 11th, 1923:

Now therefore be it Resolved:

1. That in the death of Hon. J. Bryan Grimes, who has served the people of the state so admirably, we have lost an officer who served with a heart full of love for his people and his state, whose character typifies and exemplifies every ingredient that goes to make a real man, and whose private life as well as public life was an open chapter.

2nd. That to the family of the deceased, this grand jury, voicing the sentiment of the people of Pitt county, extend their sincerest and deepest sympathy in their great loss.

3rd. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the court; that a copy be given to the press of Pitt county, and a copy be sent to the family of the deceased.

A GOOD SIGN.

One of the most satisfactory conditions reprot in connection with the paying out of the second installment on tobacco handled locally by the cooperative association was that a large amount of the money received by the growers was placed on deposit in local banks. It had been generally supposed that owing to the fact that payments on the tobacco were made in installments, the farmers selling their crop by that method would be in need of the cash and would take it out of the bank to apply to obligations they are supposed to be carrying. But, when the tobacco farmers converted their installment checks into bank deposits a situation was realized as existing among the farmers that is much better than had been expected. In view of the fact that only one-third of the tobacco money had been received by the growers up until yesterday, it was the reasonable expectation that the season and the delay in getting their pay both would have created a need for immediate use of the money. The fact that instead of taking that money away with them the farmers put it on deposit indicates that they are in better financial shape than had been thought.—Duram Herald.

THE ORIGINAL QUESTION.

Sometimes a blunt statement by a soldier puts a case better than the arguments of statesmen. Colonel Owsley, National Commander of the American Legion, declared on the day that the last American soldiers were leaving the Rhine that France has "the entire support" of the American Legion "in her efforts to make Germany pay her war debts." As asserting that Germany must be made to live up to her obligation to make reparation to France, Colonel Owsley went on to say that "she has sulked and has blocked the way." He added: "I believe she did not intend to pay on the day she signed the treaty, and do not believe it is in her mind now to pay if she can keep from doing so."

Whether this attribution of motive be warranted or not, it has at least the merit of calling attention sharply to the original question. This has been too much lost sight of in the controversies springing out of the French advance into the Ruhr. The law of the case has been much debated; protests and counter-statements have flown back and forth; prophecies about the result have clashed with each other; but we have heard little of late concerning Germany's duty to pay, and the fact that the whole avowed aim of French pressure upon her has been to make her admit that she ought to pay and seek to arrange the terms according to which she will pay.

In all the dispute about the facts under French occupation, in all the debate on the wisdom or folly of France in acting as she has done, this is the main point to keep in mind. Berlin has some glimmerings of the real crux of the situation, for it is announced by the Cuno Government that it remains willing to negotiate with the Allies, and to work out an agreed plan of reparation payments which Germany will be able to carry out. The French, on their side, profess readiness at any time to enter into the larger negotiation, though they point out that the conditions to be laid down now will necessarily be more stringent than those offered the German government before. But these things are minor details. The main question, the original question, the cause of all the trouble, the motive prompting the adoption of forcible measures by France—all have to do with German reparation. Solve that one problem, and you solve all the rest.—New York Times.

CHEAPER HOMES FOR AMERICAN PEOPLE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—Cheaper and more durable homes for the American people is the object of a report made public today by the Building Code Committee of the Department of Commerce. The Committee was appointed by Secretary Hoover to investigate building practice and code requirements in the United States and to prepare standard building regulations based on the latest and best information which might be recommended to cities and states adopting or revising building codes.

Secretary Hoover characterized the report of the committee which deals particularly with one and two-family dwellings, as "having a value far beyond any similar work undertaken to date."

The Committee has recommended in its report the minimum requirements which it believes should be enforced by cities in their building codes for one and two-family houses and in an appendix discusses good practice in small house construction. The one hundred page printed report now made available at a nominal price to all interested in better and more economical housing construction, by the Department of Commerce, not only presents a model ordinance which cities may adopt, but serves as a guide to all those interested in showing where to save and where to spend in order to obtain a safe, substantial and durable house at a minimum cost.

In a letter of acknowledgment addressed to Ira H. Woolson, Chairman of the Building Code Committee, Secretary Hoover states:

"I am confident that the generous and voluntary contribution of time and energy which you and your colleagues have given to this work will result not only in a very appreciable money saving to millions of American families, but that it will have a positive influence toward better housing that can not be counted in dollars.

"This report has been built up by cooperation of the Government and the public, which I feel will appeal to everyone. The Committee itself represents the great voluntary organizations most interested in public service in this direction, but beyond this you have consulted with many other associations, and you have submitted the report in its preliminary form to over 500 municipal officials, architects, engineers, officials of trade associations and incorporated their criticisms into its final form. I believe this method of legislative action is unique and gives the report a value far beyond any similar work undertaken to date.

"I join with you in the belief that it will be helpful not only through practical use by municipalities in building codes and in promoting greater uniformity in codes throughout the country, but that with its appendix it will prove directly useful to owners and builders of dwellings generally. The Building Code Committee includes representatives of the principal architectural, engineering and other interested professional societies and was constituted as follows:

Start NOW just like the leading business men of today started at one time—with a small bank account that grew; we welcome you to this bank.

Ira H. Woolson, chairman, Consulting Engineer, National Board of Fire Underwriters, New York, N. Y.; Edwin H. Brown, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.; William K. Hatt, Professor of Civil Engineering, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.; Duldolph P. Miller, formerly Superintendent of Buildings, New York, N. Y.; John A. Newlin, in charge of section of timber mechanics, U. S. Forest Products Laboratory, Madison Wis.; Ernest J. Russell, Architect, St. Louis, Mo.; and Joseph R. Worcester, Consulting Engineer, Boston Mass.

This first report of the committee deals with the construction of one and two-family houses of masonry, concrete and frame types, the latter including veneer and stucco. The value of such construction in the United States amounted to well over a billion dollars in 1922. It is expected that general adoption of the code, with consequent modification of present unjust and wasteful requirements, will result in substantial conservation of materials, and the saving of many millions of dollars.

In addition to the requirements in the code itself, the appendix contains valuable information on the quality of materials and workmanship which should be used for good results. The report may be obtained from Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., for fifteen cents.

ASA BIGGS DIES AT HOME IN ASHEVILLE

Asa Biggs, formerly editor of The Daily Reflector, and at various times connected with newspapers in other cities of this state, died yesterday afternoon at Asheville, where he had been since last March in an effort to regain his health. Mr. Biggs was twenty-six years old and is survived by his widow, who was Miss Mary Kennedy, of this city. Tuberculosis of the throat was the cause of his death.

Mr. Biggs was in Germany when he was declared between France and Germany. He was, at that time, doing newspaper work in Germany.

In 1914 he returned to the United States and in 1915 accepted a position, as editor of The Reflector. He held this position two years. He was one of the most fearless editors of the State and always expressed his views as he saw them. About two months ago he was offered a position on The Reflector, but on account of ill health, did not accept.

News of his death will be learned with regret by his host of friends throughout this county.

Interment will take place in Asheville this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

TWO AUTOS MEET WITH NO INJURY RESULTING TO THE OCCUPANTS OF EITHER CAR

About one o'clock this afternoon a Ford automobile driven by Miss Mobley and the Cole "8" of J. L. Starkey driven by his son, James, collided at the intersection of Washington street and Dickinson avenue. The front of both cars were damaged considerably, but fortunately for the occupants no one was hurt other than a general shaking up. In his effort to miss the Ford, Starkey turned his car into one of the white way light posts.

Those witnessing the collision state Mr. Starkey was going out Dickinson avenue, when the Ford made a short rapid turn out of Washington street, making it almost an impossibility to avoid a wreck.

American Legion

Pitt County Post American Legion Working For 100 Per Cent. Renewals by March 1st

The Pitt County Post of the American Legion is planning on putting on a campaign during February to get 100 per cent. renewals on their 1922 membership.

This post is now leading the first district in renewals from a report received from the state headquarters, dated January 20. It is hoped that they can continue to lead the district and thereby assume the lead of the state.

The post has a good lead and in view of the fact that they have the jump on the other posts if all members of last year will take it upon themselves to send in their three dollars for their renewal this post will have no trouble in keeping the lead.

The post is not only after renewals but it is anxious to have all ex-service men who have not joined do so. The American Legion is solely an Ex-Service man's organization. It holds monthly meetings and hopes to this year get a home of its own. It has great possibilities for service if the men who served in the war will only support and boost it.

The post last year had 186 members. So far this year, only 80 have sent in their renewal fee of three dollars. This three dollars entitles each member to membership in the legion for one year, a year's subscription to the American Legion Weekly and an American Legion Button.

Seventy five cents of the three dollars goes to maintain state headquarters, seventy five cents to National headquarters for the Legion Weekly, The Greenville Banking & Trust Co., and a dollar and fifty cents remains in the post treasury to pay for the button, pay for all correspondence, postage, and notices mailed to members of its meetings.

The legion has a ward at Oteen Hospital that it sends gifts and donations to. It is planned to have a home and conduct a relief fund for disabled and needy veterans and their widows. It hopes to be able this year to establish a scholarship to the East Carolina Teachers' College for some veteran's sister or daughter. It hopes to maintain an employment bureau where veterans out of employment might be assisted in getting profitable work. Any other assistance that it might render for the veterans of the world war for the poor and needy of Pitt county, the American Legion stands ready to render. The legion wants to take its place with the other organizations of the county for promoting good fellowship and serving this community.

The legion can be as big as the members make it. The larger it is the greater service it can render. It needs every ex-service man in the county as a member. It is your organization. If it is not what you think it ought to be, join and help make it so. Don't stand on the outside and knock what the other fellows is doing. Get in the harness and pull together for a better American Legion and a better and more prosperous Pitt county.

If you are interested in the American Legion and want to learn more, send your name to National headquarters, see Mr. J. H. Waldrop at headquarters for the Legion Weekly, The Greenville Banking & Trust Co., and a dollar and fifty cents remains in the post treasury to pay for the

WHEN FRANCE DECIDED TO INVADDE THE RUHR

This series of photographs was taken at the final split between the Allies in Paris, after France had announced her intention of invading the Ruhr district — a move opposed by the United States and England. Despite the break between them there was apparent cordiality between the Premier Bonar Law and Raymond Poincare when Mr. Law, accompanied by Lord Crewe, British Ambassador to France left Paris. Marquis Della Torretta, Italian Ambassador to Great Britain, was the Italian delegate. Sir Eyre Crowe, Permanent Secretary to the British Foreign office, was another delegate, as was

Disobedient Youth Indulgent Age Flayed By the Evangelist

Binghamton, N. Y., "We have too many 'wont's' from the young; "And not enough 'don't's' from that old; "Too much time to be gay "And not enough time to pray; "Too much drug store complexion "And too little home connection. "Too many cars; not enough cradles "In our supply of good-lookers; "And an under-supply of good cooks. "Many a fellow thought he married a cook "Soon discovered he married a can-opener." That's the philosophy of "Gypsy" Simon, evangelist, who is conducting a campaign here.. Gypsy Simon like his kinsman, Gypsy Smith, comes from real Roman stock. The former's wanderings have taken him across the ocean forty-one times. He was a cab driver in London for five years before he felt the call to evangelism. For another six years he was a London city missionary. His travels and his labors have given Gypsy Simon a philosophy of his own. He says: "Be out-and-out optimists. Don't talk about hopeless cases. We should blot out forever from our spiritual dictionary the word hopeless. "The home is the place to start the young on the right track. Take these young people under your wings present to them the sunny side of religion, and some day you will be proud of the fact that you had a part in their step upward. "Don't talk about fallen women, unless you are willing to talk about fallen men. If you are a true follower of Him who said 'neither do I condemn thee, go and sin no more,' you will say likewise to the lowest: 'Let us forgive as we hope to be forgiven.' "It is fine to go to foreign fields and convert the heathen, but I want to tell you there are heathens right at your doors. Thousands of them never darken the doors of a place of worship "Little children, whom nobody will guide' aright unless you do your part are among them. "Get busy and the unexpected will happen. "The boy or girl by your side may become mighty in the land. Their names maybe handed down on the scroll of fame. "Help to cultivate the gifts within them; they are looking to your guidance "Half of the delinquencies of youth to-day must be laid at the parents' doors."
