Realization of Immense Possibilities Presented in Big Subscription Drive Attracting General Public Attention

Awards Are So Attractive and Worthy of Best Effort of Any Man or Woman That Interest of All is Aroused and Goodly Number Have Already Entered Race

ENTER NOW AND GET THE CREAM

Advantage is All in Favor of First Chance to Ask Support of Friends and the Public and Votes Are Larger for Amount of Money Turned in Now

It would not be exactly the truth to say that The Daily Reflector's Great "Salesmanship Club" Subscription Campaign had the people so excited that they could not enjoy their meals or a good night's sleep, but the interest manifested in the proposal to present two automobiles, fine furniture and jewelry to several active workers in the campaign is sufficient to make the managers feel good over the prospects for a great success and to encourage the publisher in the belief that the result will be a material increase of the already large subscription list and add many friends and readers to the extended circle already enjoyed by The Reflector.

The Oldsmobile, first prize in the campaign, is a car that anyone would be proud to possess and it will go free to someone for a single month of pleasant work.

The Star touring car, second prize, is also fully worth an ardent effort, and will be good pay for the pleasant work for the short period of the campaign. In addition to the two automobiles, there are two fine suits of furniture, jewelry and cash commissions for the workers who enter the race. Everybody wins—there are no blanks.

The campaign is made one month in length in order that the soliciting will not grow tiresome and the candidates can afford to make an intensive canvass of the territory. Therefore, the advantage of an early start is made greater than in a longer campaign. The wise candidate will enter at once and see as many people as possible during the first few days. Not only will this enable the first in the field to see more people first, but the vote schedule is arranged so that the money turned in prior to March 21 will secure more votes than will the same amount later—four times as at the close—and votes is what wins the automobiles and other prizes.

Everybody in The Reflector's territory would like to win one of the automobiles or other prizes, and now is the time to begin. It is easy to enter the campaign. Sign one of the nomination blanks printed elsewhere in this issue and send it to the office by mail or hand, phone the campaign manager, or call in person at the campaign headquarters on the second floor of The Reflector building and talk the matter over. This is the better way, for the manager will be glad to furnish all the information and advice possible. However, all that is necessary to get into the race is to let the campaign manager know you so desire—he'll do the rest.

But don't forget that NOW is the time to start.

GREENVILLE FIVE PROVED TOO EASY FOR RALEIGH HIGH

Capital City Baskeeters Administer Worse Defeat of the Year on the Locals

Raleigh, Mar. 3.—Raleigh High School's "Whirlwind" basketball team closed its 1923 season in true tornado fashion here last night when it nozzed through the Greenville High team 67 to 11 at the City Auditorium. The game was played immediately after the contest between the Raleigh girls and the Chapel Hill High girls.

From the initial whistle the outcome of the game was never in doubt and the road from center to the iron hoop seemed well-greased at all times of the game for the Raleigh quint. Only near the end of the game when they decided to rest on their laurels and pass the ball from one player to another did the consistent volley of goals come to an end.

Young for Raleigh was under the basket continually and shot ten goals from the field and fourteen from the foul line for a total of 34 points. Spence was close behind him in the matter of field goals with eight. The Raleigh machine worked like a piece of well-oiled machinery and was in far better shape than in its disastrous run-in with the Durham quint at Chapel Hill.

Gaskins for Greenville led his team in the scoring with two field goals and five from the full line. The Raleigh guards worked like leeches and Greenville's shots came from far, far away.

ENGLISH OFFICIALS IN PALESTINE PAID LARGE SALARIES

Palestine Budget for Coming Fiscal Year Calls for Expenditure of $11,000,000

Jerusalem.—(Associated Press.)—The Palestine budget for the coming fiscal year calls for an expenditure of nearly $11,000,000. Comment has been caused by the high salaries paid to English officials, and the relatively small amount allotted to education.

Two and one half million dollars are for the maintenance of prisons, and public security. This, however, is not surprising in view of the large number of Indian troops kept here whose presence is deemed necessary because of the hatreds engendered by the Balfour declaration. Less than half a million dollars is appropriated for education and half of this sum goes to administrative expense. The country would be in a bad way indeed, from the standpoint of education, were it not for the excellent schools maintained by the Christian mission, and the good work done by the Zionist organization in looking after the education of Jewish children.

The head of the department of education draws a salary larger than that of the secretary to the president of the United States and the salaries of all the English officials are correspondingly large. The British High Commissioner is paid $35,000 a year, and then in addition a expense allowance of $7,500 annually. These high salaries have created discontent among the people. In judging the situation it should be remembered that Palestine is a poor country, with an area about equal to the state of Vermont. Until recently all the heads of governmental departments had their own automobiles, maintained at great expense by the government. But an Arabic newspaper in Jerusalem made such an outcry against this practice that it was speedily abolished.

TOWNS OF RUHR ARE FINED FOR MINOR DISORDERS

French Troops Cross Rhine Apparently With Intention of Cutting Off Harbor

Essen, March 2.—(By Associated Press.)—The town of Bochum has been fined 35,000,000 marks because two news dealers were beaten by Germans for selling French newspapers.

The town of Kettwig, near Essen, where military telephones were cut, has been fined one million marks.

These fines are in accordance with an order by General De Goutte, French commander, that cities and towns throughout the Ruhr shall be held responsible for sabotage of other acts of disorder designed to hinder the French and Belgian armies of occupation.

German officials of such towns will be liable to arrest and trial by court martial in serious cases.

The Bochum fine was collected quickly. French troops swooped down upon the Rathaus, took the amount and left.

In Duesseldorf Harr Wenzel, assistant director of posts and telegraphs, has been sentenced to six months imprisonment. He is charged with being implicated in sabotage on the military telephone apparatus.

The French and Belgian forces of occupation are adding to their rolling stock for the operation of the German railroads. Yesterday at Muelheim French troops seized 115 locomotives, 60 car loads of coke and 30 car loads of coal and took over the round house and repair shops.

It is reported that Lord Mayor Haverstein of Oberhausen and Vice-Lord Mayor Scafer of Essen, who were recently given prison sentences of two years, have been jailed successively at Duesseldorf, and Mayence. The report states that they are soon to be taken from the latter city into the Sarre Valley.

HOUSE CONTINUES WORK IN EARNEST AS WEEK CLOSES

Sams Substitute Passes on Third Reading; Also Varner Substitute or Sinking Fund

Raleigh, March 2.—(Associated Press.)—Patching of the constitution by proposed amendments continued in the House here tonight with the passage on third reading of the House substitute of the Sams Senate bill to limit bond indebtedness of the state to seven and one half per cent of the taxable values of the state and the House substitutes for the Varner Senate bill which would make a sinking fund law, passed by the session of the General Assembly, irrevocable. The former finally passed a vote of 76 to 32 and the latter was unanimous by 109 to 0.

Declaring that passage of a bill to limit the bond indebtedness of the state would eventually bring a higher tax valuation on land or turn backward the wheels of progress in North Carolina Representative Bowie, of Ashe county, today led the fight against the Sams constitution amendment to limit bond indebtedness to five per cent of the state's taxable valuations to the measure passed carrying an amendment which would make the limitation seven and one half per cent.

The measure came up for third reading in the lower branch tonight and upon final passage will be sent to the Senate for concurrence in the House amendments.

Representative Connor put on an amendment which would provide that the limitations should apply only to the bond indebtedness "recognized by the state."

Representative Everett led the fight on the floor for the proponents of the measure and after explanation of the act Representative Burgwyn, of Northampton severely opposed the bill and said it would mean nothing other than a revaluation of the land and an increased burden on the farmers. His arguments was supplemented by Mr. Bowie who explained that if the bill was submitted to the people for a vote they innocently would vote because "limitation of bond appropriations would appeal to them." He declared they would not see the other side, the side he said which would mean that a revaluation of taxable property would have to be made in order to meet further appropriations or the progress the state was making in roads and the schools would be stopped.

BILL PROVIDING ASSESSMENT OF PROPERTY FOR TAXATION PASSED BY THE SENATE TODAY

Raleigh, March 3.—(By Associated Press.)—A bill providing for an assessment of property for taxation as a necessary companion to the revenue bill, has been passed by the Senate with concurrence of the House amendments it only needs the signatures of the presiding officers of the House and Senate, to become a law. It provides for a quadrennial revaluation and leaves the action of county commissioners final. The assemblymen indicate the belief that the legislature will continue through Monday.

"The more money a man has the more he wants" should be changed to "the more money a man has the less tax he wants to pay."

Bond issues seem to be the order of the day. No bonds should be issued unless they are approved by the people.

From all indications the Legislators in Washington and Raleigh will vote bonds for "dry measures" but against "wet measures." Harding's ship subsidy and Morrison's ship bill for instance.

That a man's deeds aren't appreciated until after he is dead doesn't hold good with Woodrow Wilson. His deeds are being appreciated more and more every day and people are realizing as never before that he is a man whose very thoughts are worthy of emulation.

Ex Postmaster-General Work, who says how that politics should not come in the post office appointments, should have practiced what he preaches. He served quite a while, why didn't he start something while in office. It is easy enough to tell people how to do a thing, but doing it yourself is quite different.

It is regrettable that the petition asking for an extension of the corporate limits of the town, had to be withdrawn on the ground of opposition. A town is as large as its citizens make it and if more territory isn't taken in, then it cannot and will not grow. It is to be hoped that the opposition will soon be removed so official acquiescence in the decision to we can grow and expand to our heart's content.

There are so many "Lame Ducks," who must be cared for, and the roosts are so few that we are thoroughly convinced that some office holders, of the present administration, are trying to assist Mr. Harding by clearing their house of "Democratic Pedigree," so as to have the roost vacant for the "Lame Duck." It is a great pity that they all can't have a roost, because those who miss it now, will in all probability, not have the chance after the next election.

There are people who will receive all coming their way and never consider it their duty to return the good deed for another. Nothing is any meaner or more degrading than for "a dog to bite the hand that feeds him." Some people will exert all power they have when they know that they can but sooner or later they will reap exactly what they sow. Right always triumphs, even if it is delayed.

EVERYBODY HAPPY BUT THE SENATE

Italy Hails the Return of the United States to the Affairs of Europe." This headline over a dispatch from Rome, is typical of much comment coming from Europe upon President Harding's message urging American membership in the International Court of Justice. French opinion about it is reserved but hopeful. The English think of it as one sign more that the United States will be led by the very force of events to abandon the policy of isolation. Lord Robert Cecil, whose devotion to the League of Nations has become almost a political passion with him, is clear sighted enough to perceive that the action proposed by President Harding would not bring this country into the League, whether by the front door or a back entrance, but is clearly of the mind that our joining the Court of Justice would help toward the consummation for which he hopes.

Turning to evidences of American sentiment, we have to note a remarkable unanimity of the press in supporting the President's position in this matter. With a few feeble exceptions, the newspapers of the United States are ready to pledge their aid in bringing America into the International Court. And from men and women prominent in various walks of life has come a great chorus of approval. Everybody seems ready for the step advocated by the President, everybody appears to be happy about it except the Senate of the United States. Even there a discrimination must be made between Senators who have learned something since 1920 and those who remain in that year's gall of bitterness as respects co-operation with Europe. The power of the latter to block any action by the Senate before March 3 is conceded at Washington, where there is now opposition will soon be removed so official acquiescence in the decision to we can grow and expand to our heart's content. By the time it meets, the pressure of public opinion may be counted upon to move even some of the heroic irreconcilables in the Senate to change their attitude. In the end, the country will get what it wants despite the majestic use of a temporary power of veto.—New York Times.

Tobacco Farmers!

At a recent meeting of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, it was decided to exert their fullest efforts in the campaign that is being waged against the tobacco bug or beetle by the tobacco interests generally throughout Eastern Carolina.

This beetle has become such an alarming pest to the tobacco industry that it is comparable to the boll weevil menace to cotton, in the damage they do, and it is of mutual interest to the farmers, warehousemen and buyers to take immediate steps to combat the evil.

All factories and warehouses in Eastern Carolina are now conducting a thorough clean-up campaign of their buildings and the farmers are also hereby requested to take similar action in cleaning up their barns, pack-houses, etc. These insects breed from accumulations of trash tobacco, dust, etc., in the corners, crevices and cracks of any place where tobacco has been handled, but once they become active they will leave the common tobacco to feast on the very best grades available, as they seem to be good judges of quality.

As tobacco infested with bugs or borers, which is the worm stage of the insect, is greatly depreciated in value, it is therefore to the farmer's interest to protect himself by helping to eliminate these pests, since they are present in greater numbers this year than has ever been known before.

STRANGE SKELETON IS THE LATEST OF CURIOS ADDED TO REFLECTOR COLLECTION

The Reflector has had brought to the office in the past many curios and freaks of nature for some mention to be made of. But if our mind is clear, and we think it is, yesterday was the first time that a skeleton has been offered for our opinion as to what family it belonged.

The skeleton referred to resembles that of an alligator or scorpion, still there is no way of determining its exact identity. It was found between the roof and ceiling of the old Bernard building located at the corner of Cotach and Second streets, which has been standing for more than a century. The part which is supposed to represent the back extends under the bones of the head to a sharp point probably an inch beyond the nose. The frame is about twelve inches in length and shows no signs of a cell about the head for the brains, should there have been such. Many have guessed, but none yet are satisfied that they are correct. While there is no way of telling just how long the skeleton had been in the building, judging from its condition it had been there for many years, probably a half a century or more.

ANNA CASE AND HER PETS.

Anna Case, the famous American soprano who will sing at Eastern Carolina Exposition and Auto Show March 17, 1922, is claimed to be a great lover of nature in its varied forms. A lower or a landscape will make a stronger appeal to her than the handsomest gown or loveliest ornament dear to the feminine heart, and her love for horses and dogs amounts to a passion.

A talk with her of her early life will always introduce as an important character of that period Daisy, the old family horse, on which she rode every Sunday to the church in the little town of Neshanic N. J., where her playing on the organ brought her $12.50 a month, her first musical earnings. Miss Case had steadfastly held that Daisy understood her musical ambitions better than anyone and when the faithful old creature died several years after Miss Case had moved to New York, Miss Case was heartbroken.

Her next pet was a French poodle named Sherwood, the gift of a friend. He was a great little fellow, and ruled the Case apartment with an imperious bark, being extremely jealous of visitors. What was his anger amaze then, when Miss Case aded a magnificent Russian wolfhound to her family. This beautiful animal she named Boris for it was at that time that she had just created the role of Feodor in the opera "Boris Godunoff" at the Metropolitan Opera House. A feud immediately started between these two dogs with Miss Case in the role of an unsuccessful mediator. Finally she had to send the poodle to her mother's home in the country. Sherwood was just beginning to pick up in spirits out there, when Miss Case started a long concert tour, and was forced to send out Boris, too. So the feud started all over again, culminating, as many feuds do, in a firm friendship of the two dogs when they realized that it was inevitable for them to be together.

AGED TORTOISE LEFT IN STORM, RESCUED

By IRENE CORBALLY KUHN, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Honolulu, March.—"It's up to a tortoise to take care of himself in a flood. Whoever heard of a tortoise that couldn't swim, anyway?"

Such was one-half of the conversation that ensued between Otto Ludloff, superintendent of the society for the prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and an overworked keeper at the Kapiolani Park Zoo here recently, following the rescue by the former of a 100-year-old land tortoise which had been forgotten when the terrific storm which hit Honolulu recently drove all the keepers distracted in their efforts to get the emus, kangaroos, camels cockatoos, bears and what not, to safety when a veritable cloudburst flooded the park and the Zoo.

Tortoise Abandoned.
What Ludloff said isn't recoded. Were it not for his self-sacrificing efforts, however, the centenarian tortoise, presented years ago to the late King Kalakaua, would have passed out much to the regret of those old residents who take tourists to the Zoo to show him off.

While the storm was at its height and the water was rapidly rising in Kapiolani Park there were frantic calls from the Zoo for assistance in getting the animals and birds to safety. Ludloff, safe at home a few miles away from the park was one of those called in to help. When he arrived at the park he asked if the land tortoise had been removed to a place of safety.

To his horror he learned that the Zoo officials, believing the old shell back could swim and would enjoy the storm, had left him to his own devices. Ludloff went to the place where the tortoise's home used to be. There, making a brave fight, clinging tenaciously to a wall and with only the tip of his snout sticking out, the S. P. C. A. superintendent found the old fellow. He plunged in and rescued him, which in itself is a worthy feat when one remembers that a 100-year-old tortoise weighs as many pounds usually as he has years. Mr. Ludloff got behind and "pushed" with a plank, with the result that the granddaddy land-lubber was rescued.

VICTIM OF INJUSTICE IS FREED

Mrs. Le Roy McKinney

Married only two months, Le Roy McKinney, of Cincinnati, Ohio, was torn from his bride's arms and sentenced to life imprisonment in Wilmington, O., for the murder of a policeman in a hold-up. His wife, who knew he was at a motion picture theatre at the time the crime was committed, never gave up hope and worked night and day for his release. Now, after serving six months in prison, he has returned to his bride, the actual slayer, conscience-stricken, having confessed the crime and received a life sentence.

BISHOP DEFENDS DEATH PENALTY FOR MURDERERS

By DAVID M. CHURCH, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London.—Capital punishment has found a champion in Bishop Well-don. Prejudice against capital punishment "is not a prejudice justified by reason," the Bishop declares.

Since the hanging of Mrs. Edith Thompson and Frederick Bywaters, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Thompson's husband, there has been a constant and growing agitation throughout England for the abolition of capital punishment.

"There seems to be an epidemic of crime," said Bishop Well-don in discussing the agitation which is going on. "It is probably due to the reaction of war. Society's bound to defend itself against malefactors. Old attacks upon capital punishment are being renewed, though the renewal is faint hearted."

Penally Deserved.
"Looking at the most recent of all murders, I cannot escape the feeling that no punishment short of death would have satisfied the moral sense of righteousness in the heart of the nation. To take even a worse case, what other punishment could have proved even approximately equal to the crimes of a man like Landru?"

"Moral indignation is a sound element in the life of the nation, nor can I doubt capital punishment acts as a deterrent to crime, not so much crimes committed under the sudden impulse of strong passion but as making men and women hesitate before yielding to passions exciting them to murder."

Women Not Immune.
"There has been a strong prejudice against the infliction of capital punishment upon women, but it is not a prejudice justified by reason."

"If women are capable of crime as bad as men the same punishment is due equally with men. They must be ready not only to enjoy the advantages but to accept the penalties of such equality."
Bishop Well-don's defense of capital punishment, and particularly capital punishment for women, has caused a mild commotion in circles opposed to capital punishment, and numerous answers to his arguments have flooded the newspaper offices.

PAPER FURNITURE NOW IN VOGUE IN GERMANY

Berlin.—An addition to the list of substitutes for which Germany has become famous since the war has been made by the development of a process for making furniture out of paper.

The inventor, Karl Abt, declares that the finished product is thoroughly substantial and serviceable. Preparations are being made for large scale production.

Paper, as a substitute for less easily obtained materials, played an important part during the war, when raw materials could not be imported. Paper clothing was commonly worn, and the upholstery in railroad cars was made of paper.

RICH GEMS FOUND IN INDIAN MOUND

Chillicothe, O., information that a necklace, valued at $15,000, containing 300 fresh-water pearls, was unearthed from the Hopewell Indian Mound, near Chillicothe, last summer has just been made public.

Dr. W. C. Mills, Director of the Ohio State Archaeological Society, said: "This is the finest necklace ever found among the mound builders' relics." The gems are the property of the State. An offer of $15,000 for them was refused.

Several of the gems were polished and in perfect condition. The majority, however, were imperfect.

At the big ricer mound, near Bainbridge, another valuable find was made recently, when a ceremonial quartz spearhead, over 14 inches in length, was dug up. This is the largest spearhead ever found in Ohio. The valuable relic had been washed out of the mound onto the property of Mrs. Mary Wood. It is now in the possession of the State Archaeological Society.

A grand rush of mound openers is expected in this vicinity this Spring and summer due to the recent valuable finds.

GANGSTERS LURE GIRLS, GUILD WORKER CHARGES

Montreal.—Young girls are drugged and lured into immoral resorts by a gang of dope peddlers and white slavers who flourish here, according to Miss Lillie E. F. Barry, director of the Catholic Service Guild.

"We have many girls who come under our supervision who have been innocent victims of drugging and trapping. Many who come into the towns from the lower provinces, young and ignorant of city ways and, too independent to solicit aid of charitable institutions when in want, are lured into immoral lives by criminals," Miss Barry said.

MRS. W. A. DARDEN ENTERTAINS

Complimentary to Miss Bertha Estelle Moye, Bride-Elect.

Yesterday afternoon at her attractive home on Ninth street, Mrs. W. A. Darden delightfully entertained at five tables of bridge complimentary to Miss Bertha Estelle Moye, who will on Thursday, March 8th, become the bride of Mr. James Ralph Patton, Jr. of Durham.

The library and dining room were beautifully and artistically decorated with potted plants, pink tapers and pink roses carrying out the pink and white color scheme. The rooms were darkened and the shaded lights cast a mellow glow over the pretty scene. The place cards were attractive cupids. Each asked a question the answer to which was found fastened to the card. The table covers and markers, which were hearts also carried out the color scheme.

Upon arrival the guests were welcomed by the hostess and guest of honor. Several interesting progressions were enjoyed.

Mrs. Earle Carter, making the top score, was presented a hand painted bridge score while the table prizes, pots of blooming hyacinths, were won by Mrs. Swanson Graves, Mrs. S. E. Gates, Mrs. Josephine Phillips, Mrs. W. T. Bryan and Miss Annie Higgs. The consolation prize, a duck filled with candies, was awarded Mrs. B. E. Wilson, of Cliffside, N. C., who is the house guest of Miss Moye. Mrs. Darden then presented the bride-elect with a half dozen embroidered linen tea napkins.

After the games the hostess assisted by Mrs. William Darden and Mrs. Earle Carter served an ice cream in pink and white, the cream being frozen in shape of hearts, wedding bells and lilies.

This was one of the most delightful of the pre-nuptial parties and was greatly enjoyed by the large number of guests.

POULTRY RANKS HIGH IN FOOD EFFICIENCY

Hen Follows Cow and Pig Producing Human Food, Leader in Profits
By SETH W. SHOEMAKER,
Director, The School of Agriculture, International Correspondence Schools, Scranton, Pa.

In these days when efficiency is eagerly sought after and extolled many extravagant statements are made in regard to the efficiency of farm animals in producing food for mankind.

Although there are various ways of figuring this, the following table, compiled by one of the highest feed authorities in the country, will prove interesting reading:

Human food produced by farm animals from 100 pounds of digestible matter consumed.

Animal	Marketable Product	Edible Solids
Cow milk	139.0 lb	18.0 lb
Pig dressed	25.0 "	15 "
Cow cheese	14.8 "	9.4 "
Calf dressed	36.5 "	8.1 "
Cow butter	6.4 "	5.4 "
Poultry eggs	19.6 "	5.1 "
Lamb dressed	9.6 "	3.2 "
Steer dressed	8.3 "	2.8 "
Sheep dressed	7.0 "	2.6 "

According to the figures of this table (which, of course, presents only one side of a rather difficult problem), the cow easily leads all other domestic animals as a producer of human food. A cow for 100 pounds of digestible nutrients in feed will yield 139 pounds of milk containing 18 pounds of solid matter, practically all of which is digestible. The pig ranks second and poultry third.

On the same basis of comparison, the pig stands second with 25 pounds of dressed carcass. When the water, bone and gristle is deducted there still remain 15.6 pounds of edible dry meat.

The steer and sheep yield less than 10 pounds of dressed carcass per 100 pounds of feed consumed and nearly one-half of this is water. Deducting this and the bone and gristle there remain only from 2.6 to 3.2 pounds of water-free edible meat.

Big Vitamine Source.
It has been shown in the experiments of Dr. E. V. McCollum of Johns Hopkins University that vitamins in sufficient quantity can be secured only from milk and its products, butter, ice cream, etc., from eggs, almost entirely from the yolks, and from the glandular parts of an animal's body. Although animals do not produce these vitamins they obtain them from the green leaves of plants and concentrate them for the use of human beings.

In vitamine production, the cow comes first and the hen second.

The financial aspect is still more favorable to the hen and puts her in first place. Her marketable products have a higher value than those of the cow, as 100 pounds of digestible matter consumed in the feed amounts to about 13 dozens of eggs, figuring 1 1-2 pounds to the dozen. Although market prices vary widely in different sections of the country, the present value of the hen's production on this basis would be from $4 to $5 and that of the cow would be about $3.

The hen in addition possesses greater advantages to the city dweller in that a comparatively large number can be kept on a small area in the city and can be more easily handled than any other domestic food producing animal and with less objection from the neighbors.

On the farm the hen also is a very efficient creature as she picks up and makes use of a large quantity of feed that would probably not be utilized by any other livestock.

stove has long since gone out of business, Hammann went to considerable trouble to trace its history. It was first bought by a man named Shingler, who sold it to another family named Lauver. Hammann bought the stove from Lauver 46 years ago, and in that time has never spent a cent on it for repairs.
