WHICH PITT COUNTY TOWN WILL HAVE NEW OLDSMOBILE OR STAR NEXT WEEK? QUESTION ANSWERED IN THIS COLUMN

All of the Campaigners Are Working Hard and There is But One Way to Decide Race in Favor of Any of Them

BEAUTIFUL RACE AND VERY CLOSE

Interest Growing Stronger as Campaign Nearing Close and Friendly Rivalry Among Candidates and Friends Getting Warm

Coming down the home-stretch, nip and tuck, first one and then another forging to the front, to be overhauled and passed by a burst of speed from still another, the racers for the Oldsmobile, the Star touring car and the other valuable prizes to be awarded Saturday night on the stroke of 8 o'clock, when The Daily Reflector's great subscription campaign comes to a close are staging as pretty a race as one would care to see.

The question that is agitating many people in Pitt just now has to do with what part of the county will be the future home of the Oldsmobile and the Star, first and second prizes in the campaign. Naturally there are a great many who think that one or both of the prizes should stay in Greenville, but there other towns that are making strong bids for their possession.

If the citizens interested will gather and listen, the secret of where the Oldsmobile will go will be whispered in their waiting ears. Listen! It will be to the town that shows most interest in their entrant and rallies most strongly to her support.

All of the candidates are working hard and appealing to their friends for assistance and support. It will be an honor to have the winner in any community in the county and we believe most of the people appreciate that fact.

LORD ROBERT CECIL ADDRESSES FOREIGN POLICY ASSOCIATION

Has Come to America for a Series of Speeches in Behalf of League of Nations

New York, April 2.—(By Associated Press.)—Fear and suspicion, twin demons which have possessed the world and which can be exchanged only by one form of an association of nations, or the forces that stand between France and Germany, in the settlement of the reparations question, will remain as they stand, in the way of settlement of every other international question, Lord Robert Cecil, noted British exponent of the league of nations, declared in an address before the foreign policy association tonight.

Addressing his first American audience, Lord Robert, who has come to the United States for a series of speeches in behalf of the league, declared it was essential for world safety "to turn the minds of nations from force as the only remedy."

"Take the question of reparations," he said, "what is it that makes that question so intractable? It is that, thought, the French are anxious for the Germans to pay they are anxious lest—if they are allowed to get on their feet sufficiently to pay they will become again a danger of the security of France."

"Do not think I am attacking the French on that account. No one who has read the histories of these countries ever cursorily will state the fears of France are unreasonable—or for the matter of that the fears of Germany either." To allay international fear or suspicion, he said, the nations of the world must be taught that persuasion public opinion are far greater potency than mere physical compulsion.

Warning that the next war—if one came—would be far more terrible because of more scientific discoveries than the world war and that it was not inconceivable that American cities might be laid in waste and their populations destroyed by airmen flying from over the seas, Lord Robert declared that a crisis in world history had been reached—that nations must "learn or perish."

The recent Washington agreement for the limitation of naval armament was but a "first step" in the only direction that can save the present civilization from going the way of the civilization of Egypt, Greece and Rome, he said, adding that the three most terrible arms of warfare—air, craft, submarine and land forces had not been at all affected by the Washington treaties.

FOUR TRAILS NOW BEING FOLLOWED TO SOLVE MYSTERY

Authorities Confident That by Following Trails Arrest Will Soon be Made

New York, April 2.—(By Associated Press.)—Four trails leading to the slayer of Dorothy King Keenan, artist model, friend of John Kearsley Mitchell, wealthy Philadelphia clubman, were being followed tonight by detectives assigned by Police Inspector Goughlin, in whose hands rests the full responsibility for solution of the murder since the withdrawal Saturday of Assistant District Attorney Pecora.

One trail leading to the discovery of the conspirator who planned a $100,000 blackmail plot against Mitchell, and who is believed to have obtained the model's missing Palm Beach letter written by the Philadelphia a few days before her death, was admittedly nearing its end. Detectives, it was learned had ascertained the dwelling place of the man and momentarily were expecting to apprehend him.

Another trail led to drug stores and every patrolman in the city was ordered to canvass drug stores in his precinct tonight in an effort to trace the purchaser of the chloroform used to stupefy the model. The empty bottle with the serial number ripped off is guarded closely as the most valuable clue in the murder mystery.

A third trail, which has brought no results, led to shops and "fences" where the slayer of Miss Keenan is believed to have disposed of her jewels, valued at $10,000. Detectives were working on the fourth angle in a round-up of close friends of the model in the hope that one of them knew her secrets and could shed additional light in the so far baffling case.

County Commencement Here Yesterday Was Witnessed By Over Four Thousand People

Exercises of the Day Opened With Literary Contest at the Teachers College Which Was Sponsored by the Greenville Kiwanis Club. Track Meet Under Direction of Rotarians Closed the Day's Exercises

Bethel High School was the winner in the second annual Pitt County for the Literary Contest at the Track Meet yesterday. The Track Meet is sponsored by the Greenville Kiwanis Club. There was an immense crowd present at the Fair Grounds, and there was keen competition in all the events, a number of the events being so close that it was necessary to run them the second time. Farmville came second with a total of 63 points.

The Greenville school all together scored 57 points, but they do not rank third in the meet because they entered the meet on a separate building basis. Ayden came third in the meet with a total of 45 points; Grifton fourth with 39; Grimesland fifth with 22; Winterville sixth with 17; Arthur seventh with 15 points; Fountain eighth with 12 points; Clay Root and Pactolus each scored one point.

The Track Meet began promptly at 2 o'clock and was finished by 5. Although the crowd was very large it was very orderly. The police force of the town under the direction of Chief Jones rendered a piece of very efficient service in keeping the crowds in place.

The judges for the meet were Rev. Sam K. Phillips of Fayetteville, Dr. W. W. Dawson of Grifton, John Holmes of Farmville, and Mr. Raymond Turnage of Ayden. All the events of the afternoon took place directly in front of both grand stands so that it was possible for every one to see all the events while remaining in the stands.

The teachers of the schools and the contestants from the various schools stayed together in one place, and it was, therefore, very easy indeed to run one event immediately after another.

Mr. H. H. Duncan acted as official starter of events, assisted by Mr. W. H. Rogers.

Two boys in the small boys class, Alvin Bunting of Bethel and Fay Barwick of Ayden made the highest score, 12 points each, Albion Dunn of Greenville came next with 11 points. In the tall boys contest the largest individual point winners were George Moye of Farmville with 23 points, and Clarence Andrews of Bethel with 16 points. In the small girls contest the largest individual point winners were Emily Windham of Farmville 13 points and Emma Nichols of Arthur 10 points. In the all girls contest the largest individual winners were Martha Cameron of Grifton with 10 points, and Elizabeth Wichard of Bethel with 8 points.

HARDING TO SPEAK ON WORLD COURT

American Membership in International Court to be Discussed on Proposed Tour

Augusta, Ga., April 3.—(By Associated Press.)—American membership in the international court of justice probably will be used by President Harding as the subject of one or more speeches to be made on his proposed western tour, it was said by several members of the president's vacation party today. President Harding has been giving not a little study to the question since he recommended to the senate that the United States accept conditional membership in the international court.

United States membership in the international court was recommended by Dr. Charles Nicholas Butler, president of Columbia University, in a conference with President Harding last night.

GOT JURY FOREMAN BOOZE CASE DRUNK

Charge Brought in Philadelphia Court Causes Discharge of Jury by the Judge

Philadelphia, April 3.—(By Associated Press.)—The government asked withdrawal of the jury in the fraudulent permit liquor case on trial in the Federal district court here today because of the alleged tampering with the foreman of the jury, Terrence O'Loughlin. It is alleged that he was made intoxicated on Good Friday and induced to do what he could for William McConnel, former Federal prohibition director for Pennsylvania, one of the principal defendants. Judge Thompson dismissed.

Mr. A. G. Cox, of Winterville, was here for a few hours today on business.

METHODISTS WILL BEGIN MEETING ON NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

All Services of the Great Revival Campaign to be Held Under Tent

REV. C. M. DUNAWAY AND HIS PARTY WILL ARRIVE ON FRIDAY

Two Services Will be Conducted Daily One at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

A telegram from Rev. C. M. Dunaway to the pastor of Jarvis Memorial church announces that his party will arrive in Greenville next Friday, and the initial service of the great revival campaign will be held under the McAdams tent on Friday night, beginning promptly at 7:30.

Mr. Dunaway is at present in the midst of a great sweeping revival in Quitman, Ga. Copies of the local paper which are carrying extensive accounts of the great work that is being accomplished in the little South Georgia city have been received in Greenville, and the following extracts from editorials bearing on the meeting will give our people some idea as to the style of the great evangelist.

"Evangelist C. M. Dunaway, and Mr. Thos. Eden and Miss Ethel Eden, two perfect gospel singers arrived in Quitman last Saturday (17) to engage in an old-fashioned revival meeting. Evangelist Dunaway explained it on Sunday when he remarked 'I did not come here to hold a revival, but to turn a revival loose if professing Christians don't hold it back.' The evangelist is an able, effective preacher who handles his subjects without any apologies or unnecessary frills. Figuratively speaking he believes in calling a spade a spade, and if all were to take his advice this would be a much better and a far happier world.

ROBERT CHAPPELL DIES FROM INJURIES IN MOTOR WRECK

Lived Only Eight Hours After Being Hurt in a Collision of Automobiles

Raleigh, April 3.—(By Associated Press.)—Death claimed another victim out of the crash of two automobiles at the intersection of Hillsboro street and Park Drive at 1 o'clock yesterday morning when Robert Chappell, son of J. E. Chappell, died at 9 o'clock without regaining consciousness, and during the day yesterday the injuries of two others took a grave turn that makes their recovery doubtful.

Charged with manslaughter, William Bethune, a State College student, driver of the heavy Packard touring car that crashed into the Ford driven by Chappell, was taken into custody during the morning after he had left the hospital. He was later released under a bond of $1,000 furnished by his father, L. A. Bethune, president of the Bank of Clinton. Later in the day both left for their home in Clinton.

Chappell was riding alone in a Ford roadster and was turning into Hillsboro street from Park Drive toward Raleigh when the Packard touring car driven by Bethune headed out of Hillsboro street crashed into him. The Ford was pitched 50 feet along the street, and reduced to a crumpled mass of twisted steel and sheet iron.

The Packard swerved to the left and turned over, with its nose toward the middle of the street, and rolled over several times, coming to rest bottom-up 100 feet beyond the point of the crash. Naylor was picked up dead 20 feet beyond the wrecked Packard. Other passengers in the big car were strewn up and down the street for a hundred feet.

ROTARIANS ARE ENTERTAINED BY WIVES AT BANQUET

Second Event of Its Kind Since Organization of the Local Club

OUTSTANDING EVENT OF SEASON AND WAS GREATLY ENJOYED

Several Speeches, Toasts and Responses Featured the Evening's Program

Last night was an enjoyable one for local Rotarians when they were delightfully entertained at the Rotary Club by the wives of Rotary-Ann. This was the second event of its kind since the organization of the local club and all those present enjoyed the evening to the fullest extent.

After all the guests had arrived everyone repaired to the gymnasium where a large Easter chicken hovered over a nest. Each man was told to draw out one of the purple ribbons and each lady one of the yellow. On the ends of these ribbons were Easter eggs which were numbered and in this manner partners for the evening were designated. As soon as all had found their partners the dining hall was entered.

Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, toast mistress, presided and following thanks by Mr. Robert H. Wright and a song by the ladies, a delightful luncheon was given. A "Toast to our Guests" was given by Mrs. Judson Blount and was responded to by Mr. J. E. Winslow, president of the club. This was followed by another song by the ladies.

Stunts were next on the program and the bunny race proved amusing and enjoyable for all. The men were divided into three groups and issued cards which denoted whether they were "Bad Eggs," "Chicks" or "Bunny Rabbits." Each of these groups then selected one of their number to represent them in the race which followed to determine the winning team.

Charlie Porter was the "Bad Egg," John Hassell the "Bunny" and Mark Turnage the "Chick." The chicks won the race and each member of that team was allowed to cut for the prize. Queens were declared to be high and Alex Blow cutting the queen of hearts was declared the winner and presented with a beautifully decorated cage which contained a real live bunny.

Mrs. J. E. Winslow next gave a toast to the Spirit of Rotary setting forth the ideals of the worthwhile organization.

Next was a waltz dance by Little Misses Margaret Barden Hassell, Frances Morton, Mary Effie Patrick and Willie Verlie Lee. This was followed by a quartette composed of Mesdames J. Knott Proctor and W. Z. Morton, Dr. C. J. Ellen and Mr. W. W. Lee.

Rev. S. K. Phillips, of Fayetteville, former member of the Greenville Rotary Club was called on for a few remarks and his talk was interesting and inspiring.

Toasts to the Spinsters were next given by the unmarried men present and these were responded to by the unmarried ladies. The subjects of these toasts were "Why I Never Married" and various and sundry reasons were blamed for the single blessedness.

As the final stunt of the evening (Continued on page 6)

It appears to be a hard proposition to sell the people a sales tax.

The weather man was a mean old thing this Easter, and we can prove it by all the ladies.

Don't get impatient. Old Sol will make up for the cold Easter before August passes by.

Putting taxation on the rich is generally very popular proposal when presidential elections draw near.

Progressive republicans in Congress are planning a new tax law that will put the burden where it belongs. Move the democrats help 'em do it.

Those Germans who clashed with the French troops at Essen must be getting as impatient over conditions in Europe as in the rest of the world.

It's the farmer who "lives at home and boards at the same place" who has no occasion to worry over every danger to a crop or the price after the crop is made.

Cold weather threatens to kill the peach crop again. But there will be enough of a crop to sweep the speculators' pockets, and that's all they want.

It is leading to know Greenville is ready to join a new Eastern Carolina league. But what are we going to do about getting some other good towns in?

These scientists who are giving William Jennings Bryan an argument on evolution are wasting their breath insofar as that individual is concerned. But their remarks may bear fruit on less prejudiced minds.

Three years of Harding "normalcy" has not done much for the country, but next year being election time, probably the republicans will do something to make a show before the people and conditions will be better.

THE BOLL WEEVIL

It would seem that the boll weevil has arrived and the history of the states to the south of us and of the southwest would indicate that the pest has come to stay. Poisons that claim to rid the cotton crop of the weevil are on the market and it would seem that at least one of them have proven of some merit. But it is probable that the county down south which has raised a monument to the boll weevil because of the good it accomplished there in the way of causing the farmers to diversify their crops has the right idea.

Naturally a grower who has depended for years on cotton as his chief or only "money crop" does not like to change. It is very easy for poor of their life and work. We are so prone to follow in the footsteps of our fathers, and the farmers of this state are probably more "set" in their ways than the average mortal.

At the same time, every economist knows and has not been modest about publishing the fact, that the hope of independence among the farmers is to be found in diversified crops. The papers, and more especially the agricultural journals, have been preaching this for years and have succeeded in causing a great many of the better class of farmers to make results that have proven their contentions right.

However, a large majority of the farmers appear to be hard to move in this direction. Preaching and practical tests in their neighborhoods have not caused them to appreciate the advantages to be found in diversification. If the boll weevil can succeed in forcing the necessity for diversification upon these the pests will have served a good purpose and it may be that the whole south will some day join the pioneering county in making the boll weevil monument a national affair.

NEW FREIGHT CARS TOO WIDE TO GO THROUGH OLD TUNNELS

North Ams, Mass., April 3.—(By Associated Press.)—All the delays in freight shipments this winter have not been entirely to blizzards and embargoes. Western grain shippers have found that some of their trouble in delivering their product in Boston arose from the fact that the large modern freight cars cannot travel through the Hoosac tunnel.

When this tunnel was constructed it was believed to be large enough to accommodate any railroad equipment, but the car builders have outstripped it. While the oversize cars are not yet very numerous there are enough in service to necessitate frequent detours. When one is found in a train arriving at the tunnel's western portal it is necessary to cut it out and send it to Bellows Falls, Vt., a detour of 35 miles, and then back to Deerfield, Mass.

Another problem occasionally faced by the Boston and Maine Railroad is the arrival of flat cars loaded with huge pieces of machinery that tower too high to pass beneath some of the bridges on the road. This necessitates careful calculating to find a circuitous route that will avoid the low bridges, and involves considerable delay.

FARMERS' SUCCESS SETS NATIONS PACE, WALLACE DECLARES

Washington, Mar. 31.—(By Associated Press.)—The urgent need for a better understanding between the important groups of citizens engaged in agriculture, in industry, and in general business is forcefully pointed out by Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, in a statement discussing their relationship.

"As our civilization becomes more complex," he declared "the relationship between agriculture, industry and general business becomes more and more intimate. What hurts the one will certainly hurt the others. In general, what helps one will help the others. They must work together for the common good.

"There has always been a tacit recognition of our national dependence upon agriculture. We have given an intellectual assent to such statements as, 'The farmer is the backbone of the Nation.' A prosperous Nation depends upon a prosperous agriculture. Agriculture is the basis of national life, and so on. The truth of such statements has never been driven home to us so effectively as during the last two years.

"The drop in prices which began early in 1920 is familiar history. Farmers were the first to suffer and suffered most. Taking prices of 1913 as representing 100, the prices of farm products in May, 1920, stood at 238. During that month they began to fall, and before the decline could be arrested they had dropped below the 1913 level, standing at 94 in December, 1921. Then we had a terribly vivid illustration of our dependence upon agriculture and the intimate relationship between agricultural prosperity and business prosperity. Many farmers could not pay current expenses. The ratio between prices of things the farmers produced and sold and prices of the things they bought was so distorted that they were forced to practice the most rigid economy and reduce their buying to absolute necessities. Great industries which depend directly upon farm buying were plunged almost immediately into profound depression. Thousands of manufacturing plants had a similar experience. The railroads suffered through reduction in freight on things farmers buy. Business of every sort shared the disaster. Hundreds of banks failed. Thousands of banks tattered along the edge of bankruptcy. Perhaps three million men were thrown out of work. The financial depression was wide-spread.

"The turn was reached in the winter of 1921-22, since which time there has been a gradual increase in the prices of farm products. Gradually farmers have been able to pay some of their debts and resume their buying. As a result there has been a steady improvement in business, until now there is general optimism. The ratio between prices of farm products and prices of other commodities is still abnormal. Until this ratio becomes more nearly normal the full measure of prosperity will not be restored.

"While the experience of the last three years has brought sharply to our attention the intimate relationship between business and agriculture, the existence of such intimate relationship is no new thing. A comparison of the farmer's purchasing power with business failures during the last third of a century tells the story in a graphic way. During the 30 years 1890 to 1920 the purchasing power of the farmer was below the 30 year average; the percentage of business failures was considerably above. From 1900 to 1920 there was a gradual increase in the farmer's purchasing power. From 1901 to 1908 this purchasing power was almost the average of the 30 year period, while from 1908 to 1920 it was considerably above. The percentage of business failures dropped below the 30 year period average from 1890 to 1920 with the exception of two short periods, one in 1908 and the other in 1921 and 1922.

"We have about 6,500,000 farms. More than one-fourth of all our population work on the farms. The capital invested in farming is about 70 billion dollars. The money invested in farm buildings, machinery and live stock, not including the value of the farm land, would buy all of the railroads in the United States and in addition a considerable number of the mines.

"Some number of farms ceased in 1922. The number of farms ceased in 1922 is 30 per cent greater now than in 1870, but the volume of crop production in 1920 was 256 per cent greater than in 1870.

"Business and agriculture are dependent upon one another. A prosperous agriculture means a prosperous nation. It is to the advantage of the business man that the farmer be fairly prosperous. Conversely it is to the advantage of the farmer that business be fairly prosperous. It is not to the advantage of either that either the one or the other should be so prosperous that intemperate speculation and waste is stimulated, because adversity always follows such a period."

fever heat. It is a great revival that is now on if we are any judge of the outward symptoms of a general revival.

The two singers, Mr. Thomas Edca and his sister, Miss Ethel, possess rare musical talent, and their duets not only charm and inspire the audience, but lift one and all to higher planes of hope and endeavor. Miss Ethel's rich, liquid alto, is one of the sweetest, it seems to us, we have ever heard. One beauty of their singing is their superb expression and clear enunciation.

If possible, do not fail to attend each man present was given paper.

The big revival. The evangelist may get your measure and hit the bull's eye on the first shot. However, it will do you good in the round-up. Go early and do not be afraid to join the big Gospel excursion train that now has the right of way."

In a still later issue of the paper the writer has this to say: "Yes, there are those who criticize the evangelist for preaching the old-fashioned Gospel truths. Tramping on one's corns or taking one's scalp never did feel comfortable to the victim. He is pushing a vigorous campaign against divers sins. Many are the thrilling incidents the evangelist relates of lost opportunities and consequent retributions and punishments, all of which emphasize the points he drives home with force.

Rev. Dunaway is a remarkable evangelist, who brings Gospel messages in the simplicity of ye olden times, free from all veneer and shams. He uses no decoy duck, even tho he does not spare the lame ducks. Neither does he deal in camouflage to make things appear different from what they are."

Much more might be quoted from the Quitman paper, but the above extracts are sufficient to show the people of Greenville and surrounding community the type of preacher they may expect.

As stated in previous announcements the meeting will be held under the McAdams tent, adjoining the post office lot, and there will be two services daily, at 10 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. This tent will seat probably two thousand people, and everything possible will be done to make it comfortable from the physical standpoint—as to how comfortable it may prove for some of us from the spiritual standpoint is another question.

While the meeting is held under the auspices of the Methodist church, it is distinctly understood that the members of all the churches are most cordially invited to co-operate, and the public generally is assured of a warm welcome to every service.

Mr. Seville, the local pastor, is very anxious that all who can and will help in the singing come forward to the large platform and take their places without urging in the big chorus choir.

scissors and pins and told to make an Easter hat for the lady who sat beside him. A certain length of time was given for this feat and at the conclusion all the ladies passed in review before the judges who were to decide on the best hat. No greater variety of styles and colors have ever been displayed in this city. The hat made by Bob Crow and worn by Miss Hannah Dixon was declared the most beautiful and prizes were awarded to the couple.

Following this stunt, "Good Night Ladies" was sung by all present, and the delightful evening came to a close.

Will Investigate Officer's Charge

Mrs. Agnes K. Randle and Capt. E. H. Randle.

Secretary of War Weeks has announced, in Washington, he will investigate the charges made by Captain Edwin H. Randle, Twenty-Sixth Infantry, U. S. A., and his pretty wife, Mrs. Agnes Randle, formerly of Indianapolis, against Colonel A. L. Conger, commanding the regiment, which is stationed at Fort Sam Houston, near San Antonio, Texas. In the meantime the Randles have filed suit for $100,000 against Colonel Conger, alleging defamation of character. Captain Randle alleges that as the result of the complaint of a brother officer regarding two parties held in his quarters, Colonel Conger read Mrs. Randle out of the regiment and told the captain he would be a marked man in the army unless he separated from his wife.

NOTED FUN MAKER TO APPEAR HERE

EDWIN McCONNELL "The Georgia Cracker"

High School authorities have announced that Edwin McConnell, noted humorist and composer of Atlanta, Ga., has been secured to deliver his famous humorous and musical program, "Let's Have Fun," at the High School Auditorium in this city on Friday evening, April 6th.

Mr. McConnell has gained national fame as a fun maker and composer. He is the composer of many popular "song-hits," some of the most famous of which are: "Wonderful Girl," "Good-bye Germany," "Sunshine, Shadows and Rain," "Pretty Babies," "I Had a Wonderful Girl," "Heart-Breaking Blues," etc.

He is also well-known as a successful composer in the sacred field and it is said that his gospel songs are contained in the majority of revival song books published.

Grace Hammond McConnell, his young and talented wife, will assist him in a program here which will consist entirely of fun and light music.

Mr. McConnell is coming to the city heralded as one of the funniest men before the public and press reports of his work in other cities would seem to indicate a big time for all who attend the entertainment next Friday evening.
