REVIVAL SERVICES UNDER TENT BEING LARGELY ATTENDED

Evangelist Dunaway Delivered Strong Sermon Last Night on the "New Birth"

A congregation of over six hundred people last night gathered in the McAdams tent back of the post office to hear the Rev. C. M. Dunaway swing his powerful personality into action against sin, and to give their support to the great Methodist Revival that is gaining momentum every day and every meeting.

After a soul-stirring song service, led by Prof. Eden and sister, Rev. Dunaway read several verses from St. John, and then without any preliminaries swung into one of the most logical and compelling sermons ever delivered in this city.

Reformation, education, social hygiene and sanitation are good things, the speaker said, but soap, and sunshine will never land you in heaven, unless in conjunction with a regeneration of the heart, born again and cleansed in the blood of God.

Then, taking up some of the evils of the day, he chided parents who allowed their children to run wild. He denounced dancing with the most terrific tongue-lashing ever heard here.

No one who heard Mr. Dunaway last night could fail to be impressed with his earnestness and power as an Evangelist. Able, virile, compelling in manner and action, he leaves off all artificial actions and movements and preaches straight from the shoulder the word of God.

There will be two services every day, the morning service at ten o'clock, and the evening service at 7:45. Everybody is invited and urged to come out and hear this distinguished preacher preach the gospel of the Bible.

MR. WILL HOOKER CONDUCTS SERVICE TEACHERS COLLEGE

Says Greatest Step of Progress Was the Enfranchisement of American Women

On Sunday evening April 8, Mr. Will Hooker talked to the college girls. Ruth Barbee had charge of the services. The scripture lesson was taken from John 15:1-15 and was read responsively.

The speaker began by saying that the greatest step of progress was the enfranchisement of the American women, and that giving woman the ballot should help the country. They can use this privilege wisely if they will vote according to issues instead of parties as most men do.

The next statement was, that the killing of the league of nations was a great calamity to the Christian nation. All the men who went to Paris to settle this were from Christian nations except those from Germany. As we look across the world and see the sorrow and distress in it, we should realize what we have to do. There are so many boys and girls with no religious training or without Christian leaders. If we do not better these conditions, in the end we shall be condemned because of our failure to do rather than because of the sins that we have committed. If each person were to give ten per cent of his time it would take only a short while to Christianize the world. The world needs the open Bible, the plain simple gospel truth instead of so many personal opinions without authority. Faith is also a great need of the world. This is what Christ depended on to save the world. Without faith but little is accomplished.

In closing Mr. Hooker read a short story which gave an insight into the

McDiarmid, pastor of the local church, invites all here who wish to attend to do so.

WOULD HAVE HOLIDAYS ALL FALL ON MONDAY

Honolulu, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—Complete dislocation of the calendar, at least so far as holidays in Hawaii are concerned, is sought in a bill introduced into the house of the territorial legislature by William J. Coelho.

The bill provides that each holiday observed in the territory, Christmas, Thanksgiving, Fourth of July, New Years and all others, shall be celebrated on Monday, and that it be declared on the Monday nearest the date upon which it ordinarily would fall.

The purpose, Coelho explained, is to provide "two days of feasting and rest every time a holiday comes along."

In another bill, Coelho suggests that certain dates be designated as the times at which historical events happened in Hawaii. He explained that no one now living can give testimony as to the exact dates of these occurrences, and that such dates must be established for the benefit of court proceedings.

THE TURKISH NATIONALIST ASSEMBLY RATIFIES THE CHESTER RAILWAY CONCESSION

Angora, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—The Turkish Nationalist Assembly has ratified the so-called Chester Railway and Mining Concession. Negotiations for the concession which includes the development of Mosul Oil region and construction of a hundred miles of railroad in the Mesopotamian fields were first instituted by President Roosevelt and takes its name from rear Admiral Chester who was sent to Turkey in 1908 to obtain for the United States certain valuable priority rights.

GREENVILLE NINE AGAIN DEFEATED BY CLOSE SCORE

Washington Collegiate Institute While Securing Only Four Hits Are Victorious 2-0

The baseball team of the Greenville High School dropped its second game of the season yesterday to the Washington Collegiate Institute on the latter grounds by the score of 2 and 0.

It was a close and hard fought game throughout, and each pitcher worked his utmost to outdo his opponent. Brown for Greenville was in superb form and had a golden opportunity to win had his teammates been able to hit the old apple even now and then. They landed for only two safeties, Satterthwaite and Bob Forbes securing these. The former hitting for two bases which for a moment many thought would mean at least a score for the locals. The Collegians hit Brown's delivery for four safeties from which they circled the bases for two outs.

The entire Greenville team played their respective positions well, and they had been able to find Satchwell who was doing the twirling honors for their opponents, the story would have been different. But this they were unable to do.

Friday of this week the locals will go to Red Oak for their third game of the season, and are putting in some honest to goodness practice with the hopes of winning.

VISITORS' NIGHT GREATLY ENJOYED AT ROTARY CLUB

Letters Regarding Convention to be Held in Saint Louis in June Read

Last night was visitors night at the Greenville Rotary Club and the meeting was well attended and greatly enjoyed. The meeting was presided over by J. E. Winslow, president of the club, and following thanks by E. B. Higgs the regular meal was served.

After the reading of the minutes Paul Clodfelter, acting secretary, during the illness of W. L. Hall, read letters regarding attending the convention to be held in Saint Louis in June. A personal invitation to Haywood Dall from the Governor of Indiana for the Greenville members to stop over at Indianapolis as the guests of that club was read.

The most important committee report of the evening was that of Prof. June Rose regarding the Pitt County Track Meet which was held in this city on Monday April 2. The event according to the report was a great success.

Following the committee reports and business matters of minor importance the club practiced several songs which will be sung at the Inter-City meet to be held in Raleigh next month. Each year a cup is awarded the club which does the best singing at the conference and the Greenville members are determined to bring the cup back with them.

The following visitors were introduced and made short talks: Messrs. J. S. Willard, Fred P. Bryan, J. L. Moore and Rev. W. S. Harden.

LARGE CROWDS ARE ATTENDING REUNION

Sons of Veterans Hold Their Convention Today; Official Program Begins Tomorrow

New Orleans, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—Trains were crowded to capacity with gray uniformed Veterans coming here from all directions to attend the thirty-third annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans which officially opens tomorrow. Officials believed that the attendance would eclipse any since 1893. The sons of Veterans began their sessions today. Among important matters considered was the selection of permanent headquarters, Richmond, New Orleans and Denver bidding for the honor.

STINNES LOCKED IN BAGGAGE CAR

He and Mrs. Stinnes Taken From Berths on Berlin-Essen Train by Guards

Berlin, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—Hugo Stinnes and his wife were taken from their berths in the Berlin-Essen train by French railway guards last night and locked up in a baggage car according to word received here. The incident occurred at Seharhorst where Stinnes was on his way to Muelheim where his principal industrial interests are centered.

RAILROADS WILL SELL INTERCHANGEABLE MILEAGE BOOKS AT REDUCED RATES

Washington, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—Petitions asking for reconsideration of the recent ruling requiring the railroads to sell interchangeable mileage books at reduced rates was denied by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The action closes the record in so far as the commission is concerned and unless the petitioners take objections into courts, books will go on sale May 15th on nearly all class one railroads except those in the eastern district.

LIQUOR AND DOPE DISPENSER WRITES BACK TO OFFICERS

George Jenness Who Recently Escaped Hopes to Meet Local Police in Heaven

George Jenness, the negro corn liquor dispenser and cocaine peddler whose booty fell into the hands of local officers here about two weeks ago, when his deserted automobile with four kegs of whiskey was taken after he fled to the bushes, being closely pursued by the officers, has reached Waterbury, Conn., according to his letter addressed to Chief of Police Lester Jones received yesterday, which reads as follows:

"You made a bad mistake. You sed you four 80 gallons, how can you put 80 gallons in 4 ten gallon cegs? But you got enuf to make you all drunk one time. So save me some ill I come back. Tell Mr. Gie Caton if he trace his bird dog to run rabbits instead of me he will make better time, so I am gone Will you all pray that I may keep going. I will ask the Lord to take care of you all, an meet me in Heaven an we all will be the same, aint no jail thar."

Judging from the part of his letter with reference to the dogs, Jenness must have been perched in a tree top on the north side of the river observing the operations of the officers who with two blood hound puppies were scouring the swamps with hopes of getting the bootlegger's trail. It has since been learned that the negro came back to Greenville that very night, went to a friend in Winterville and had papers prepared showing that this friend had purchased the car which the officers had taken in the road. After doing this he made his getaway and his whereabouts were unknown until the above letter was received, and the possibilities are that he was many miles away from Waterbury before the friendly note reached its destination.

WAGES CANNOT BE FIXED BY LAW IS RULING OF COURT

Decision Was Delivered by Justice Sutherland While Justice Homes Read Dissenting Opinion

Washington, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—Wages cannot be fixed by law, the supreme court held today in a case brought to test the constitutionality of an act of congress fixing the minimum wage for women and minor girls in the District of Columbia.

The decision was delivered by Justice Sutherland, Chief Justice Taft delivered an assenting opinion for himself and Justice Sanford while Justice Holmes read a dissenting opinion which followed in its main features that of Chief Justice Taft.

The majority of the court based its opinion broadly upon the right of contract, insisting that while laws could be enforced to regulate working conditions, the employer and employee must be free of restraint in determining between themselves what wages are acceptable.

The minority contended there was no greater police power in congress and the State Legislatures to regulate working conditions than to regulate wages and that as there had been wide uniformity in holding that working conditions could be prescribed by law-making bodies, it followed, in their judgment, that wages were also a proper subject for legislation.

Justice Sutherland pointed out that the minimum wage law was "attacked upon the ground that it authorizes an unconstitutional State interference with the freedom of contract, included within the guarantees of the due process clause of the Fifth Amendment." The right to contract "about one's affairs," he stated, "is a part of the liberty of the individual protected by this clause." The fact, he asserted, was "settled by the decisions of this court and is no longer open to question."

"Within this liberty are contracts of employment of labor," the majority opinion continued. In making such contracts generally speaking, the parties have an equal right to obtain from each other the best terms they can as the result of private bargaining.

Legislative authority to abridge the right of contract can be justified, Justice Sutherland stated only by the existence of exceptional circumstances.

LOCAL AND AYDEN MERCHANTS TO HAVE JOINT LUNCHEON

Event Will Take Place in Basement of Christian Church Tomorrow Night

On Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock there will be a joint luncheon of the Ayden Merchants Association and the Greenville Merchants Association held in the basement of the Christian church in this city. The affair will be an employer-employee get together meeting and each of the members of the two associations will have a large majority of their employees present. There will be talks on relations between employers and employees and the meeting should prove of great benefit to both.

The principal speaker of the evening will be Mr. William Perlestein, of Raleigh, who is an excellent speaker and will no doubt have something to say of real interest and benefit for all those present. Mr. Perlestein is well known here having been present at the annual banquet of the Greenville Merchants Association recently held.

Already word from Ayden has been received that fifty or more from that city will attend the luncheon and the affair should prove one of the greatest of its kind ever held in this section.

The annual re-union of the Confederate Veterans will be held in New Orleans this week. Many of the "old soldiers" will be in attendance and the re-union promises to be a most enjoyable one.

President Harding in endorsing May 12th, the anniversary of Florence Nightingale, as National Hospital Day said, "One of the finest and and most humane products of our civilization is the hospital and every activity which aims to assure its advantage to an increasing number of people deserves all possible encouragement." Never was a greater truth sounded and it is distressing to think that one of the most intelligent and best counties in the state should be without one. Hospitals are absolutely essential in this enlightening age and our country will never be what it should without one.

Senator Pepper announces that he wants Lord Robert Cecil and various Republican senators to confer. If this takes place and those certain senators happen to be opposed to the League of Nations, there will be no room for Pepper, as Lord Robert Cecil who is a leading figure in the activities of the League of Nations, will make the facts spicy enough.

Now it is reported that the Republicans want to take Will Hays out of the movies and have him lead the 1924 fight. If Will is as wise as he pretends to be he will stick to his "movie contract" every time in preference to a contract with the Republican Party.

Dr. Hubert McNeill Potat delighted a large audience in his song recital at the Teachers College Saturday night. Dr. Potat has a splendid voice and the people of Greenville consider it a great pleasure to have him give recitals here. The literary societies, of the college, endeavor to give the people of this community the highest class entertainment and their efforts are greatly appreciated at all times.

Business men, bankers and farmers of Eastern Carolina will attend the first annual membership meeting of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, which will be held in Goldsboro on tomorrow. The Eastern Chamber has grown rapidly since its organization and has accomplished many undertakings. A splendid program has been prepared and many prominent men will speak on issues which confront the organization. Dr. Jos. Hyde Pratt, of the University, and who is a splendid speaker will submit a plan for development. The business men of this section are vitally interested in matters which not only affect this generation but which will play an important part in the next generation and they should receive the encouragement of every man and woman throughout Eastern North Carolina.

The county commissioners in one county have conveyed an old court house to the county school board to be used as an annex to a high school.
What a pity that all the court houses can't be turned into schools and children be taught how to obey laws, rather than have them for places in which those who violate the laws are given sentences. If people would obey the laws there would be no need for court houses and jails.

The Wendell section has been visited by a most terrible calamity, too horrible to be told and the people of that part of the state are making a desperate effort to help in every way possible to alleviate the suffering.
Hundreds are without homes. Their farms are laid waste with not even a vestige of anything left, it having been taken away by the winds.
The people of Wendell and other towns which are helping are to be commended for their untiring efforts and their desire to make the unfortunate victims of the storm as comfortable as possible. They are trying to handle the situation locally, but the people of every section of the state will no doubt be glad to unite and help the people of the devastated section.

It is quite appropriate that Miss Margaret Louise Carr be named as sponsor for the South at the Confederate Re-Union in New Orleans.
She is a granddaughter of General
Julian S. Carr, the beloved Commander-in-Chief, and being named as sponsor isn't only an honor for Miss Carr
but for the General as well.

DANISH FAMILIES OFFER TO ADOPT RUHR CHILDREN

Copenhagen, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—Since France invaded the Ruhr, the average Dane has softened his heart a little towards Germany, which to most Danes was always the traditional enemy. In the make-up of the Danish character there has always been a great deal of sympathy for any underdog. Perhaps this common in most small countries. At any rate, the very fellow who cheered ever victory of the allies during the war now feels that the German is the under-dog and is being treated cruelly. Consequently, organizations are being formed throughout the country which propose to bring to Denmark the children of the Ruhr who are said to be starving. The news of their distress pours in every day to this country, flowing with milk and butter and eggs and other good things which Danes are told the tiny tots in the Ruhr know nothing of. Already, it is reported, 2,000 of these little German children have been brought to Denmark.

It is reported that the French do not like this "sloppy sentimentalism" on the part of humble honest Danes. A section of the press reminds the public that the invasion of the Ruhr has sobered the arrogance which German elements in Slesvig have been showing to Denmark. It also gives striking evidence that a bitter war against Danism is still raging in reactionary circles of Germany. The Danish recovery, after the war, of part of the old crownland of Slesvig, which the Germans had taken away many years ago, is at the bottom of this ill feeling.

Amur Mines Lack Capital.

concessions on advantageous terms.

FISHING BOATS OF DEAL LAND HEAVY CATCH

London, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—One of the largest harvests of sprats ever recorded was caught by Deal fishermen lately, and is estimated to number 2,500,000 fish. Owing to the recent heavy catches the sprats became massed in abnormal quantities, and the fishermen had great difficulty in landing their catches so weighted and choked were the nets. Many of the boats reached shore almost submerged. Thousands of hungry seagulls swept down on the floating nets and devoured many of the fish, despite the efforts of the fishermen to drive them away.

FOREIGN TRADE COUNCIL WILL ANALYZE EUROPE

New Orleans, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—European conditions as relating to world trade will be the theme around which the National Foreign Trade Council's tenth annual convention here on May 2, 3 and 4 will concentrate, according to an announcement made by O. K. Davis, secretary of the council. "This subject is by all odds the overshadowing factor in our foreign trade and domestic prosperity today," said Mr. Davis. "In spite of all that has been said on the subject, there does not yet seem to be a clear understanding of the part which Europe plays in our daily life. More than one-half our exports are sent to Europe; more than one-third of our imports come from Europe. Under such circumstances every man, woman and child in the United States is vitally interested in present European developments."

The first session on May 2 will be devoted almost exclusively to reports on the European situation and conditions, trade barriers and trading in the face of depressed exchange.

The May 3 session will take the farmers' interest in foreign trade, the need of foreign trade zones and foreign trade facilities of the Federal Reserve System.

The inland waterway transportation, railroad service and the general shipping situation throughout the world will be the subject before the convention on May 4th.

SAHARA DESERT WAS GARDEN OF EDEN, SCIENTIST DECLARES

London, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—In the past there have been many guesses and speculations as to the location of the Garden of Eden. Professor Sir Arthur Keith, lecturing before the Royal Society, treated a scientific audience to some original ideas of his own on the subject.

He said that in the "far distant past" the Sahara and the vast deserts of Arabia and the area stretching to Mongolia were "blooming."

"That large tract was really the Garden of Eden, man was driven from it not by a flaming sword but by a flaming sun. Every type of man could be found round that Garden of Eden."

"It is possible to go far beyond the days of Abraham and Tubal Cain and Egypt and Babylonia were only remnants of a past civilization. Civilization, I am convinced, is far older than is at present generally believed."

LONDON DEAN ARRAIGNS CO-ED SPINSTERHOOD TENDENCIES

Oxford, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—Speaking on the question of sex equality and equal educational opportunities for women, Dean Inge of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, declared that out of 2,600 women students at Oxford University only 657 had married. The rest—77 per cent.—had taken vows of perpetual maid-hood. "I hope," said the distinguished London ecclesiastic, "that this deplorably low percentage is not final. When I walk through the streets of Oxford and observe the very attractive-looking young students in their very fetching caps and gowns, I cannot believe that such a large proportion of them can be so hard-hearted as to ignore the other sex."

ORIGIN OF MAN DATES FAR BACK TO REMOTE BORDERLAND OF TIME

London, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—Much speculation as to the age of man has arisen as a result of the recent discoveries of fossil human skulls in South America, Patagonia and the island of Jersey. The estimate race range all the way from ten thousand to a million years. Dr. Wolf's discovery in Patagonia of a fossilized human skull of the tertiary period, however, may nullify all previous scientific calculations on this subject, and the public is now getting a little chary about accepting even scientists' estimates regarding the date of the origin of the human race.

Ever since the unearthing of the ashes of King Tutankhamun, who, in the view of anthropologists, is to be reckoned only as an "infant" as the age of man goes, startling discoveries have been made all over the world which upset all well-established anthropological foundations.

Dr. A. Smith Woodward, director of the geological department of the British Museum, makes some interesting commentaries on the latest discoveries in skulls and bones. "For a moment," says he, "the public seemed to assume that we had found at last the first man who lived on earth. I fear, however, that these conjectures are as baseless as they are interesting. Since the skull from Jersey is said to have been found near a neolithic burial chamber, it is probably much nearer our period than any of the skulls of fossil men which show resemblance to their ape-like ancestors. And since the specimen from Patagonia comes from a country which has furnished more 'man's nests' in the study of prehistoric and ancestral man than any other part of the world, it will not excite interest among anthropologists until some geologist admittedly skilled in such matters has satisfied himself that this is a true fossil, definitely associated with the remains of extinct animals."

Who, then, Dr. Woodward asks, was the first man on earth? "To be strictly accurate," he replies, "we have not yet found him, although we have some reasons to think we know where to look. In the dim borderland of time which separate man from monkey there roamed, somewhere in Central Asia, a form of large-brained ape destined to be the precursor of man. It is impossible to fix a date for his appearance, but we do know that when he became into being the Himalayan Mountains had not yet reared their peaks."

The eminent British geologist says nothing has yet been discovered respecting the habits and life of these apes. A party of American naturalists is now searching for them in promising localities in Mongolia, he adds.

It was in the Neanderthal, near Dusseldorf, Germany, writes Dr. Woodward, that the remains of the earliest man of whom anything is really known were discovered. "Compared with our knowledge of his ancestors," he says, "he is an intimate acquaintance. But it is impossible to assign him a date in years. Swedish geologists reckon his age as about 12,000 years."

"Neanderthal man," continues the British scientist, "was definitely a man. He lived in caves from which he sallied forth to hunt the animals, such as mammoth, rhinoceros, reindeer and bison, which then roamed over Europe. We have found his tools, flint and bone, and we have found even the bone pins with which possibly the early women fastened the rough skins which served them for petticoats. We have also found remains of paint and rouge, which seem to signify the dawn of vanity."

"Most remarkable of all, we have ascertained that these early human beings believed in a future life, an enormous advance in thought. They buried their dead, and with the dead we have found both stone implements and the bones of animals which had been buried with them still covered with flesh, and were doubtless intended to be used as food in case the departed spirits should suffer the pangs of hunger."

VALUABLE ESTATES OF IMPERIAL RULERS ALLPTED TO BAVARIA

Munich, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—Bavaria finally has won a long-fought battle for state possession of the old castles, palaces, and other properties once held by the Wittelsbachs, her imperial rulers up to the 1918 revolution. Now she is busy casting about for the funds necessary to their upkeep, and for ways and means to keep them from becoming so many "white elephants." Even those which are not habitable must be kept in suitable condition as sight-seeing objects for the many Americans and other foreign tourists who visit them annually.

Probably no other royal house in the German empire ever assembled such vast and valuable possessions as did the family whose reigning rights ended when Ludwig III renounced the throne about the time the world war closed. The most coveted of these for the new Bavarian state have been the palatial residences and the luxurious pleasure-seats of the erstwhile mighty.

All now fall to Bavaria, excepting a plot of ground in Munich, a small tract in Berchtesgaden, the Ludwigseiche estate in the Palatinate, and a piece of land at Berg on Starzberg Lake, where Ludwig II met his tragic end by drowning. Of the buildings erected under the Elector Max Emanuel, the imperial family retains the right to live in the middle section of the Nymphenburg castle and in the southwest wing of that at Wuertzburg, while the state acquires Schleissheim castle, near Regensburg, entirely.

The Munich imperial residence, which rivals any other royal building in Europe for splendor and appearance, falls to Bavaria. Its treasures have been open to the public for several years as museum exhibits. The state also receives title to the castle in other districts, including Landshut, Amstach, Bayreuth, Bamberg, Wuertzburg and Aschaffenburg. The Wuertzburg edifice is particularly renowned as one of the most magnificent buildings of the world in the baroque and rococo style of architecture. Aschaffenburg is noted as a prime example of renaissance design.

Among the new state properties is the castle Neuschwanstein which Ludwig II put up at enormous expense. Herrenchiemsee castle, which is modelled on the palace at Versailles and the charming Linderhof castle nestled in the mountain woods near the Pasaden Play village of Oberammergau.

In addition to buildings and estates Bavaria will be considered enriched by the acquisition of the many Wittelsbach collections of treasures in art and science. Some of these have long been turned over to the state. The royal family devoted many millions of marks to the support and maintenance of these, and one of the chief worries attaching to their new architecture.

CHEAM PARISH COUNCIL HAS DREAM OF TOURIST INFLUX

London, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—At least one English village is planning to pay its share of the war debt to America, and incidentally to orient a new town hall, by means of the money spent by American tourists.

The Cheam Parish council recently decided to rent as a council chamber a 400-year-old cottage. Opponents of the scheme were silenced by a member's proposal that the town clerk should charge American tourists a guinea to show them over the building.

The council has rented the house and will now lie in wait for such descendants of the Pilgrim Fathers as reach Cheam next summer.

A party of Americans visited the cottage last summer and made a generous offer for the place, intending to ship it bodily to the United States as a specimen of the fine old English architecture.

DEATH WATCH OF JUNGLE ENACTED IN TOLEDO ZOO

Toledo, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—A jungle death watch, overwhelming in its tenderness, yet awe-inspiring in its savage intensity, has terminated after four days in the lion house of the Walbridge park zoo here.

The watchers were Sahara, the beautiful lioness lent to Toledo by the Cleveland zoo, and Fern, the jungle giant, pride of the Toledo collection.

Between Sahara's two powerful forepaws, caressed tenderly at intervals and guarded by two half-closed eyes, dimmed by grief, were two chubby, fat cubs—both lifeless.

Sahara would not believe they were dead—or knowing it, could not calm the overwhelming urge of mother love that has aroused all the tenderness, and recall the savagery, of her jungle nature. Only an occasional whim escaped the lioness to indicate her grief.

For four days the death watch was maintained—after the great stork of the lion world flew over the animal house and left the lifeless bodies of a lion son and daughter.

Crouched, ready to spring at the first sign of danger, Sahara hardly moved a muscle during her long vigil. Now and then she smoothed the fur on their little bodies with her tongue, and again she caressed tenderly the still faces. Only twice did she leave them—when Keeper Louis Scherer, anxious to put an end to the heart-rending watch, entered the lion house to see if there was an opportunity to remove the two bodies.

On both occasions Sahara, in a terrible rage, sprang fiercely against the great iron bars of her cage in an effort to drive off the intruder.

King, in a frenzy such as Scherer never had seen him display since he took him as a cub to rear, tried to get at his keeper, frothing at the mouth and sending forth the terrorizing roar of the enraged jungle master.

"It was the old call to protect the young," Scherer said. "There was no use in trying to take the lifeless cubs away from Sahara."

So the big lion house was locked to all but the keepers. Sahara was permitted to keep her death watch undisturbed until that mysterious death of animal heartaches stole quietly into this mother's grief-stricken consciousness with that instinctive knowledge of the hopelessness of the struggle, when she permitted the bodies to be removed by the keeper.

MINNEAPOLIS HOTEL TO HAVE RADIO PLUGS IN EACH ROOM

Minneapolis, April 10.—(By Associated Press.)—In keeping with the rapid progress of the radio movement it will soon be possible to "listen in" from rooms of a large hotel here, which has contracted for the connecting of each to several hundred rooms with radio plugs. The guest will not have to invest in a receiving set, a fee is added to the hotel bill for the headphones may be rented for a small use of the receiving phones.

fee from the clerk's office. According to the plan of engineers who have worked on the scheme for several weeks, a massive aerial and three power receiving stations will be equipped in one of the top floors of the hotel. Each room will have a radio plug connected to one of the three receiving sets. Feasibility of the plan was proved recently when more than 100 rooms listened in on one concert.

The guest who wishes radio entertainment may call the office and a set of phones will be sent to him. Once connected in the plug, the set cannot be removed until released by a hotel employee, thus insuring against theft with radio plugs. The guest will not have to invest in a receiving set, a fee is added to the hotel bill for the headphones may be rented for a small use of the receiving phones.

Business Cycles Committee Reports Expansion Period Is Proper Time To Guard Against Pitfalls of Depression

MATTHEW WOLL

HERBERT HOOVER

OWEN D. YOUNG

The time to guard against the recurrence of a business depression like that which threw 4,000,000 Americans out of work in 1921 is during just such periods of business expansion as the country now experiences, according to the report of the committee on Unemployment and Business Cycles appointed by Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, in his capacity as Chairman of the President's Conference on Unemployment.

After four months of exhaustive study, the committee, headed by Owen D. Young, president of the General Electric Company, has reported to Secretary Hoover that unless the individual business man informs himself constantly as to the true state of supply and demand in his particular commodity line he inevitably will be led to over-buying again at high prices, and that means a dangerous and costly slump, draining the dollars earned in "good times."

General measures recommended to aid the business man in safeguarding himself from inflation include control of credit expansion by banks and the Federal Reserve system, control of private construction during peaks of building, avoidance of competition with private business during boom times by control of governmental construction, and perhaps the institution of unemployment reserve funds.

The committee's report asks for comment by business men on the findings it has made public. It urges enlargement of such current fact-giving organs as the Survey of Current Business, issued by the Department of Commerce, and it pleads for full co-operation from the business public in the matter of furnishing governmental authorities with full and up-to-date figures on commodity stocks.

Besides the Chairman, the investigators included Joseph H. Defrees, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Mary Van Kleeck, of the Russell Sage Foundation; Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor; Clarence M. Wooley, president of the American Radiator Company, and Edward Eyre Hunt, secretary of the President's Conference on Unemployment. Economic experts say that the report points the way to a safer future for the pocketbook of every citizen of the United States.
