CRIMINAL TERM OF SUPERIOR COURT IS BROUGHT TO CLOSE

Adjournment Taken Yesterday Afternoon Following Almost Clearing of Criminal Docket

Pitt county's two week's term of criminal court was brought to adjournment yesterday afternoon, leaving the docket with possibly fewer cases than has been known for many years.

The major part of yesterday afternoon was spent in his honor passing judgment on several defendants that were in waiting—in the jail, or at large under a good bond.

The case of R. E. Currin received its final reading when judgment was ordered that defendant be sent to the county roads for four months.

Under a charge of false pretense George Johnson was allowed to pay the cost.

W. T. Sanford, a local white man, for giving a worthless check had judgment suspended upon payment of cost and his paying to A. Dunn the sum of $21.00 which was the original check in question.

Jesse Stancill for simple assault, judgment was suspended upon payment of cost.

The jury failed to agree in the case of G. L. and Jesse Stancill for allowing stock to run at large, and the court ordered a new trial.

Blount Leggett was found not guilty of assault. The court finding that the prosecution was frivolous and malicious ordered that Thad Brown the principal prosecutor be taxed with the cost of the case.

Morton Mills pleaded guilty of affray. Judgment suspended upon payment of cost.

Dock Perkins, colored, pleaded guilty to the charge of abandonment. Judgment of the court was that defendant give bond in the sum of $208.00 to secure payment of $2.00 a week for a period of two years for support of child, and further judgment was suspended upon payment of cost.

Amos Mills pleaded guilty to giving worthless check. Judgment suspended upon payment of cost.

Theodore Bryant charged with abandonment was sentenced to serve two years on the county roads at hard labor.

At the completion of the trial of criminal cases Judge Grady upon request gave hearing to a few civil actions. Among them being the case of Violet Hobstetter who was granted absolute divorce from W. W. Hobstetter.

EDUCATIONAL MEETING ATTENDED BY 125 REPRESENTATIVES HELD HERE YESTERDAY

The First of a Series of Five Educational Meetings Held in Greenville; Dr. E. C. Brooks Delivers Timely Addresses Along Lines of Public School System

One hundred and twenty-five representatives from twenty-five counties were in attendance at the first of a series of five educational meetings, which will be held in this state, in Greenville yesterday. The representatives composed the County Boards of Education, Superintendents of County Schools, County Commissioners and Superintendents of City Schools. Three sessions were held at the Teachers College, the morning session being featured with an address by Dr. E. C. Brooks, who spoke on the organization of the public school system.

The five meetings are being held for the purpose of a study and discussion of the provisions of the new school laws as they effect the county board of education and the county commissioners. They promise to be of untold value to school officials as well as those interested in educational work.

Dr. Brooks in his address covered the organization of the public school system, bringing out the duties of the county boards of education and county commissioners, also with others connected with the operation of the schools. He likewise covered, in a most interesting way, the financing of the public schools and stressed the need of the use of the best business methods. Dr. Brooks who is recognized as one of the best informed men of the state along educational lines, left nothing unsaid that could help improve the work of the school officials and they listened to his address with undivided attention.

The afternoon session which was held at 3 o'clock was featured with an explanation of the budget system by Dr. Brooks. He told of the new rulings in the budget system and recommended the adoption of the state salary schedule by the county boards. The budget is divided into two parts, the salary fund and the building and incidental fund. Many questions were asked by the school officials and were answered by Dr. Brooks.

A round table discussion took place at the night session at which time short addresses great importance were delivered which proved most helpful to all those interested in the public schools of the state. Mr. Best, of Franklin county, gave an outline of the work which his county had accomplished in working out a county unit of school.

The meeting was one of the most interesting of its kind ever held in this section.

HEARING IN MORSE CASE TAKES ON A PECULIAR TURN

Subpoena is Issued for Barton Payne, the Newly Appointed Commissioner to Mexico

Washington, April 25.—Events today in the Morse trial in the District of Columbia Supreme Court included issuing of a second subpoena for John Barton Payne, newly appointed American commissioner to Mexico and former chairman of the shipping board; the conclusion of the opening statement of the government's case, and the beginning of the reply of the defense.

The serving of the subpoena for Mr. Payne to appear as a witness will delay his departure for Mexico City, to confer with Mexican commissioners relative to American recognition of the Obregon government.

The summons was issued at the request of counsel for the defense, who called attention that Mr. Payne was about to leave the jurisdiction of the court. The departure of Mr. Payne for Mexico City would await the fixing of a date for beginning of the joint sessions of the United States and Mexico commission. At the state department it was suggested that in his appearance in court some time would be lost, with carrying out of the mission entrusted to him by Mr. Harding the court might expedite his examination.

Mr. Payne is listed as a witness for both the government and defense.

Just before his departure from Washington last March 5, as a guest in Florida of President Harding, a subpoena was issued for him by direction of Justice Stafford, but before being shown an agreement was made not to insist on his appearance at that time.

Concluding the opening statement to the jury, District Attorney Gordon said evidence would be offered, tending to show that $1,035,000, advanced by the government to the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation, a Morse concern, on account of ship construction, had been converted to plants and housing construction in violation of the contract.

DUKE OF YORK AND LADY E. LYON WERE MARRIED TODAY

Second Child of King and Queen of England to Marry Outside Realm of Royalty

London, April 26.—(By Associated Press.)—Albert, Duke of York, united in marriage with Lady Elizabeth Bowes Lyon in solemn old Westminster Abbey at noon with pomp and pompously reminiscent of the days of Midvictorian era amid tumultuous demonstrations of vast throngs that gathered under threatening skies to witness the wedding pageant.

It was some time a little more than a year that the King and Queen, of England, gave one of their children in wedlock to a person outside of the realm of royalty. Archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by England's most distinguished Prelates solemnized the union.

It is authoritatively announced that King George, last night, conferred upon Lady Elizabeth Bowes Lyons, the dignity of princess.

"GREENVILLE'S GREATEST SIN," WILL BE UNCOVERED AT WAREHOUSE TONIGHT

Rev. Louis Entzminger Will Deliver Sermon on Local Sins at Tonight's Service; Preached Strong Sermon Last Night on Punishment of Lost; Singing Was Excellent

Declaring that sinners who are finally lost will be punished according to their opportunities, transgressions of the law, and the rejection of Jesus Christ, Rev. Mr. Entzminger, who is conducting the revival services in Forbes and Morton's warehouse, preached one of the strongest and most forceful sermons, last night, ever heard in Greenville. The singing was a feature of the services and the special selections by Mr and Mrs. Butler, with Mr. Holloway, at the piano, were enjoyed by the several hundred people in attendance.

The evangelist based his sermons on a verse from proverbs, and developed his subject, "Shall all who are finally lost, be punished alike," by quoting scripture after scripture showing where the wicked shall be punished according to the three points mentioned above. The speaker showed clearly that there will be degrees in hell, and said that if the heathens went into everlasting punishment, that their hell would be a heaven in comparison to the hell of people who had advantages and opportunities to hear the word and still rejected Jesus Christ.

Yesterday afternoon Rev. Mr. Entzminger continued his sermons on the "Judgment," which was heard by a large congregation. Mr. and Mrs. Butler are bringing real gospel sermons in song. Mr. Holloway who plays their accompaniments, is a splendid musician and has played his way into the hearts of the Greenville people.

Tonight at 7:45 o'clock, the evangelist will preach on the subject, "Greenville's Greatest Sin." The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

COURT SPEECH BY HARDING STIRS UP MUCH OPPOSITION

President is Warned That the Plan Will Cause Big Split in Ranks of G. O. P.

Washington, April 25.—The reflex upon Republican leaders in Washington of President Harding's New York pronouncement on American membership in the world court became clearly noticeable today soon after the return of the Executive to the capital. It ranged from open opposition with warnings of a party split if advocacy of the world court membership was continued to whole-hearted approval and endorsement, with a middle ground suggesting a compromise.

Some leaders called at the White House during today to convey their views to the President in person, others let their reaction to the Executive's address be made known in formal public statements, and still others refused to go farther than to discuss privately the impression made upon them by Mr. Harding's unequivocal commitment to the world court proposal.

The President during the day became acquainted with much of this reaction upon party leaders here, and in addition received a large number of telegrams from leaders in various parts of the country. Most of these messages were said at the White House to convey an endorsement of the Executive's stand.

Administration officials generally appeared to be satisfied with the reception accorded the address, but the President himself was said by some of those who talked with him today to be somewhat disturbed by the opposition to the court plan as expressed in some quarters and as extremely anxious to avert any schisms in the party. This anxiety, some White House visitors said, seemed to be strongly felt by Mr. Harding as possibly to bring about cancellation of his Western speaking trip.

The most open disagreement with the President's stand for American adherence to the world court protocol expressed publicly today was contained in a statement issued by Senator LaFollette, Wisconsin, who ascribed to advocacy of the proposal two motives, "equally sinister and subversive to the best interests of the American people."

PORTUGUESE MAIL STEAMER HAS BEEN FOUND ABANDONED

Was Grounded Several Days Ago and No Sign of 137 Passengers Can Be Found

London, April 26.—(By Associated Press.)—Reuter's dispatch from Capetown says that the Portuguese mail steamer, Mossameder, which grounded several days ago at Cape Frio, south west Africa, has been found abandoned with no sign of the two hundred and thirty seven passengers she carried. Thus far the dispatch adds no boats have been picked up and there is no indication of the fate of the passengers and crew. There are no landing places in the neighborhood and a heavy sea is running today. Grave anxiety is felt for the safety of the boat.

DENBY EXPLAINS NEW NAVAL PLANS

Washington, April 26.—(By Associated Press.)—An appropriation made by congress at last session for elevating the guns of the American fleet will not be used for that purpose Secretary Denby announced because of unintended erroneous statements made by navy representatives in recommending the appropriation. Secretary intimated that the department would go before next congress with a new program in order that the record might be kept straight. He said that the course had the approval of the president.

STEAMER BRUSH IS IN DISTRESS

San Francisco, April 26.—(By Associated Press.)—Wireless stations have picked up distress calls from shipping board steamer Brush in danger off Cape Arago. Brush believed to carry crew of forty two sailed from Aberdeen, Washington for San Francisco last night.

FEDERAL AGENTS AFTER GRAFTERS

Considerable Data Concerning Craft Laid Before the Commissioner

Washington, April 26.—(By Associated Press.)—An investigation into charges that graft is being practiced on or among Federal prohibition agents has been begun by the internal revenue bureau under which the prohibition unit operates. Treasury officials said that considerable data has been laid before commissioner Blair, but thus far the inquiry had disclosed no losses to the government.

RUSSIANS TO BE ADMITTED TO U. S.

Washington, April 26.—(By Associated Press.)—The President decided to permit the transportation to the United States of five hundred Russian refugees who recently landed in the Philippines after a stormy voyage in their own ships from Vladivostok.

Time to Halt Activities of Unlicensed Labor Agents

Labor of Pitt County should not be influenced without thorough investigation to accept the alluring promises of unlicensed labor agents of better pay and "splendid living conditions" in the industrial districts of north and middle west.

A group of these self styled "ambassadors of prosperity" are at work in this and adjoining counties. A number of laborers recently left this district on nothing more than colorful promises.

Drastic action should be taken to immediately halt the operations of agents of the "Promised Land." If this is not done without delay a serious problem will shortly confront this district along with the entire South.

More than 3,000 negroes recently deserted farm and road construction work in South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama to accept employment in the mill district around Chicago.

Here is what they found: Vermin ridden box cars for sleeping quarters; poor food and in many cases putrid meat. Virtually the entire group were without funds. They were required to work 10 hours a day, at the hardest sort of manual labor. Twenty one days elapsed between the time of starting work and the arrival of the cherished anticipation of the "fat pay envelope." When received it contained a notice of credit on account of transportation and board with a reminder that there REMAINED AN UNPAID BALANCE, which, under the law they could be forced to work out.

Dreams of prosperity and affluence were ruthlessly shattered. This is merely one instance of how southern labor is treated in the north and middle west. A few stick it out long enough to obtain funds for transportation home. Others find employment not as congenial as they left. In the last analysis they all regret the move.

Big industrial interests never worried about employing the southern negro until the federal immigration law put the bars against the flood of aliens landing in this country to do the hard work of these concerns at low pay and unspeakable living conditions.

Now, however, in desperation to maintain operations the southern negro is being exploited as the only alternative in the circumstances.

The Chamber of Commerce suggests that every citizen of the county should undertake it upon himself to investigate the subtle activities of unlicensed labor agents. In this way their secret work may be uncovered. The law provides a remedy when this is disclosed.

In the meantime Pitt county labor should weigh well the representations made to leave a certain and comfort living at home, to accept POVERTY and its accompanying DISTRESSES.

GREENVILLE'S GREATEST NEED

"Perseverance thou art a jewel"—and believing this with all our heart, we expect to preach and advocate a hospital until Greenville and Pitt County has one. We are not satisfied with anything but the best along business, social and educational lines, then why should we be satisfied with anything but things which are absolutely necessary for the promotion of better health? A hospital is a necessary asset, one which if a community is without, the people will suffer. Why can't we have an up-to-date hospital? It isn't for the lack of money. Pitt County is one of the wealthiest counties in the State. It isn't because we don't have people who are immune to disease. Every day, some one from some section of the county is hurried to a nearby town for an operation. It isn't for the lack of interest. The citizens of this county are vitally interested in the project. One of the greatest troubles is that we just don't wake up, cooperate and get busy. We are sleeping, so to speak, and dreaming that life is beauty. Let's wake up, get down to work and make our long dream, a hospital, come true. All together for the best that is possible for the best people on earth.

WHO IS GUILTY—VIOLATOR OR WITNESS?

The courts of our country are for the purpose of trying men who violate the laws, and not the innocent man who has been called as a witness in a case. When the lawyers reach the point where in order to win their case they do everything in their power to intimidate the character of the man on the stand, then to ask a plain question, how can they expect justice to be meted out? In cases where the characters of the men are questionable and are known to be bad, then the lawyers are justifiable in their argument, but in numbers of cases they are not justifiable in trying to shoot a man's reputation into bits before the jury.

The old saying that, "you do not go to court for justice," should be changed to "go to court to justice," but just as long as some things continue which have been going on in court circles for years past, then justice will be the reward of a man, and witnesses, who value their reputation, will go on the witness stand with fear and trembling.

NO REASON FOR ASTONISHMENT

Mr Harding indicates by the tone of his New York address that he is grieved and not a little perplexed by the reaction to his proposal of American participation in a world court. Out of the suggestion, he declares, "has developed so much of mystery, so much of misunderstanding, so much of protest and approval, so much of threatened muddying of the political waters, that I welcome the opportunity . . ." and so on.

Without unfriendliness for the President or for the step he proposes, attention may be directed to the fact that he and his associates in the Republican leadership, particularly those who were entrusted with the framing of a platform, made the present situation, with all of its mystery, misunderstanding and muddying, inevitable by their course during the last presidential campaign.

The platform plank, of 1920, which Mr. Harding quotes as evidence of a party pledge favorable to a world court is itself a significant reminder of the care with which the Republican sails were set to catch all winds. Earlier platforms, quoted by the President, referred specifically to the Court of International Justice. But a more delicate situation had developed in 1920; the party was called upon to face, not a mere theory, but a condition. Reference to the 1920 plank which Mr. Harding quoted yesterday will show that it may fairly be paraphrased thus: "We pledge the Republican party to oppose the league of nations—but to do whatever is right about it."

The foreign policy advocated by the Republican party in 1920 was essentially destructive. It contained only the vaguest suggestions of any constructive step, though committing the party to work for international peace, justice, happiness and everything nice. Primarily, hostility to the league of nations was its theme. The league and its works were denounced from one end of the country to the other as things of evil. Every possible source of suspicion was drawn to the utmost.

Mr. Harding should not now be surprised if the distrust so laboriously created during that campaign is found turning upon the proposal of participation in a court created by the league of nations. As had generally been expected, the President undertook yesterday to relieve the minds of the antileaguers of any apprehension on the score of possible attachment to the league itself. The league may be serving the Old World usefully, he declares, but it is not for us. However, we are ready and anxious to take advantage of its existence and the means it offers of a world court.

A large section of thoughtful Republican leaders will gladly follow the President in this proposed step. Democrats generally will certainly not hesitate to declare it a move—if only a half-hearted move—in the right direction. The statement of Senator Robinson is indicative of that. But the real seat of trouble is going to be found among those whom the Republican leaders, not excluding the President, drilled in the code of isolation more than two years ago.—Richmond Times Dispatch.

HOW TO LIVE 100 YEARS

Happiness in Every Song

"Sing a song every day and you will live one hundred years or more," says Florence Macheth, prima donna of the Chicago Opera Company. She does and intends to keep on past the century mark. "Nobody needs a vocal teacher for this, just sing, on key or off key, a hymn or a comic, sotto voce or aloud, and you'll be surprised at how happy it will make you. And happiness is the real key to longevity." Miss Macheth is forming a league called the "Sing a Song a Day" League.

As the wheels turn so progress is measured

WHEN man invented the wheel he straightened his back and lengthened his stride. Wheels milled his grain. Wheels helped him to lift burdens. Wheels moved him from place to place. But with wheels came friction and the need for lubrication.

Friction holds back; lubrication urges forward. Today millions of motor-cars, trucks, tractors and launches would be dead machines without a lubricant such as Polarine, the "Standard" oil for motor lubrication. Polarine is made from crude petroleum specially selected for its yield of lubricating stock. It lifts the load from delicate bearings, freeing power for the work to be done. Let Polarine protect your investment in automobiles from the attacks of friction.

SCOTLAND NECK TO PLAY LOCAL HIGHS FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Tomorrow's Game at Fair Grounds Expected to be One of Best of the Entire Season

The baseball team of the Greenville High School will be seen in action on the local diamond again tomorrow when they have as their guests and opponents the team of the Scotland Neck school.

This contest should prove one of the most interesting of the year as the game played by these two teams on Friday of last week was close and fast, and it required the use of a little inside tactics for the locals to finally win. The visitors have what is considered one of the strongest crews of the whole of Eastern Carolina as they have defeated teams that were prominently in the lead as contenders for the championship honors of the east.

So far this year Greenville has played a brand of ball that excelled in many respects that of previous seasons, and in each game they show improvement that will in the end have telling effect as to the winners of this circuit. In the beginning of the season the Greenville boys were unable to connect, and about the only way they could win was by superb fielding and the twirling of the invincible Brown. But their stick work now features in each game.

Local fans are not supporting the home boys as they should, when the team is at a heavy expense each time that a visiting nine comes here. Let us turn out and by our presence and small cash admission give our team the support they deserve.

Hodges and Overton led the Sluggers in batting with two hits each while Brown and M. Hearn connected the most times for the Giants. The fielding feature of the game was a running catch by Dunn.

FUNERAL OF MRS.

L. S. BARNHILL

Stokes, April 26.—The funeral services for Mrs. L. S. Barnhill were held in her home, Monday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock. Rev. B. S. Cowan, pastor of Brier Swamp Primitive Baptist church, conducted the services which were attended by a score of relatives and friends. She was not a member of any church but a strong believer of this one.

Mrs. Barnhill died Sunday morning, April 22nd at three-thirty, being in bad health for several months. She left a husband and eight children, seven grand-children, five brothers, one sister, and a host of friends to mourn her death.

She was born April 15th, 1868 and was married to Lamb S. Barnhill in 1886.

Before her marriage, the deceased was Miss Arcenia Catherine James, the popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bithel James of Pitt county.

Since her marriage she has always lived in this community. Mrs. Barnhill was a loving and devoted mother, made innumerable friends, and was a splendid neighbor.

The floral designs were beautiful. The pall bearers were as follows: Messrs. G. D. Tetterton and Tom Leamon, Willie Bullock, Billie Brown, Tom Moore, Frank Randolph and Jane Cayton.

The road will extend from The Pas, Man., on the Canadian National Railways, to Port Nelson on Hudson Bay, a distance of 434 miles. Plump Cheeks and Bright Smiles Mark Russian Children Saved by A. R. A. From Perils of Famine

An infant industry whose gross returns for the first seventeen months of its existence were in the neighborhood of $14,500,000 is being liquidated. On March 15 the American Relief Administration of which Herbert Hoover is chairman discontinued its sales of food and clothing remittances to Russia. The sale of food remittances began late in the fall of 1921 and the sale of clothing packages started in November of last year. More than a million $10 food packages were sold and close to forty thousand $20 clothing packages.

11,000,000 Russian lives were saved. It was carried on without profit, the excess of selling price over cost being used to extend the child-feeding operations and to pay the administrative costs of the whole relief operation so that, as Mr. Hoover wrote in his report to President Harding, "there has not been a deduction of one penny for A.R.A. administration purposes either from the funds provided by Congress or from funds provided by public charity in the United States."

The A. J. A. is continuing its work of child-feeding in Russia, and will continue it at least until the next harvest. Provision has been made to give a supplementary meal daily to as many as 3,000,000 children, principally those in government homes, orphanages and hospitals, where malnutrition is still much in evidence. Medical relief will also be continued among the 12,000 hospitals and institutions to which supplies have already been distributed, selection to be made in accordance with the degree of efficiency in management and with the need which exists.

The delivery of the packages continues even though the sale of the remittances has ended, for, although some deliveries are completed sooner, three months from the time of purchase is the usual allowance made for the receipt of the package by the designated consignee in Russia.

The operation was conducted by the American Relief Administration in connection with its elaborate and extensive feeding program by which, it is estimated that no less than bound for Europe from the prairie provinces.

The development of Western Canada will, it is expected, be greatly stimulated by the opening of the new route to tidewater. By way of Port Nelson, the road will shorten by 1,000 miles the railway haul of grain, and other commodities bound for Europe from the prairie provinces.

NEBRASKA CAPITOL MAY TEAD TO NEW PERIOD DESIGN NOW

Omaha, April.—(By Associated Press).—The astonishing influence that the new capitol of Nebraska, now under construction, seems to be having on present day architectural design, leads to the suggestion that Nebraska may be destined to be the cradle of a worth while American architecture, according to Thomas R. Kimball, of this city, past president of the American Institute of Architects.

"Nebraska has blazed the pathway that is leading the world to aesthetic architectural freedom in this new state capitol," states Mr. Kimball. "The influence of this new building is being felt, as is shown in the recent Chicago Tribune competition, where among 200 or more submissions, most of the noticeable efforts were clearly traceable to this capitol."

"Extreme simplicity has taken the place of elaboration, resulting in great saving in cost without loss of dignity. There are several points of arrangement that are peculiar to this building, one of which is that the usual useless dome is replaced by a spacially monumental and wholly useful tower, wherein space for storage of state records is provided, adequate for a century."

"The architect has drawn from nearly every-known style, type and period of architecture and in their combination at once defied precedent and achieved a striking success."

Mr. Kimball stated that it might well lead to a new and lasting type of architecture.

"This new capitol not only shatters accepted tradition in its plan but presents a most enlightening example of how to adapt, intelligently and covering, we may avail ourselves of our full heritage of design," he added. "This new capitol has at least challenged the assumption that this age of material things, with its new client 'the people' may be going to have a worthy and lasting architecture of its own, accomplished both because of and in spite of the commercialism that so dominates the here and now."

The new capitol will be approximately 410 feet square, covering almost four acres, and will cost the state about $5,000,000. The basement will be below the grade, a first floor forming a terrace entirely around the building, and a main floor, bringing the parapet to a height of 51 feet from the ground level. The tower rises from the center to a height of 400 feet and is surmounted by a colossal figure called "The Sower." It will be 80 feet square at the base and taper only slightly as it rises. It is a square severe shaft, pierced on each of its four sides by long continuous windows, terminating in a graceful dome. The lower portion of the tower will contain the main rotunda. Above will be a dozen floors of offices housing many of the state departments.

The main entrance from the north, by means of a broad flight of steps, immediately inside is the hall of state, a vaulted apartment about 50 feet high. At the left are the governor's chambers while at the right and left of the rotunda are the senate and house chambers, respectively. The supreme court rooms and library are in the rear.

Four courts opening to the sky will admit light and air to the interior. The entire structure is unique in that no artificial lighting is required in any department.

It is estimated that the tower will be seen from 30 to 40 miles in every buff tone and the tower is of steel.

Hoover Committee Recomends Action Now To Prevent Hard Times in Future

EDWARD EYRE HUNT

CLARENCE M. WOOLEY

JOSEPH H. DEFREES

The special committee on unemployment of the depressions in the business cycle appointed by Secretary Hoover, as chairman of the President's Conference on Unemployment, has made public the conclusions reached after more than a year's study.

The committee comprises: Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric Company (Chairman); Joseph H. Defrees, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce; Mary Van Kleeck, of the Russell Sage Foundation of New York; Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor; Clarence M. Wooley, chairman of the American Radiator Company, and Edward E. Hunt, Secretary.

The committee enlisted the services of more than 200 employers, labor leaders, economic experts, financial advisors and social workers. It was requested by Secretary Hoover that they make an exhaustive investigation into the facts and causes of periodic business depressions—hard times—and to see if suggestions could be made of remedial steps that might be taken by the business community to avoid such interruptions to prosperity and employment.

The committee has now issued its own summary of conclusions and suggestions. This will be followed at an early date with the complete publication of the facts and material collected.

The committee analyzes the various economic phenomena of the periodic business boom and subsequent depression and its conclusions are that preventative measures must lie in the better handling of business in boom times because depression and hard times are due to over expansion, inflation, loss of efficiency, waste and extravagance of the boom periods; that therefore the first point of attack on the problem must be more informed action by individual business men in periods of rising markets in order that excessive expansion may be prevented and the extent of the decline reduced. Stress is laid upon the necessity for better understanding of the business cycle by the business executives generally. The suggestions for control of excessive expansion embrace recommendations as to the control of credit by individual banks, possible control of inflation by the Federal Reserve System, the control by individual business men of expansion in their own business and the retardation in boom times of Governmental and large utility building and construction.

The methods of reducing the extent of the decline lie in the building up of Governmental and public utility construction in times of depression, the use of unemployment funds and the expansion of Federal, state and farm employment bureaus. The better control of credit against our expansion and speculation through the individual banks and the guidance of business itself by danger signals of over expansion are fundamental.

The committee considers that before the banks, business men and others can take constructive action in the enlightened conduct of business in this relation, there must be recruited and constantly disseminated the fundamental information on which the trends in business can be properly adjudged by each individual business man, and it strongly recommends the recruiting of enlarged and more systematic statistical information by the Department of Commerce and its wider dissemination.

The committee calls attention to the fact that the ebb and flow in demand for consumable goods is less controllable than that of construction of buildings and equipment both Governmental and private; that the tendencies of boom periods is to thrust a double burden on the community of providing for increased consumable goods and at the same time undertake the larger burdens of construction; that, therefore, the construction industries are to some extent the balance wheel on the ebb and flow of boom and depression.

The committee points out the part that Federal Reserve Banks can play in restriction of speculation and over expansion and at the same time in liberalizing credit in times of depression, and it points out that at the present moment the Federal Reserve Banks hold a larger supply of gold than is necessary to support the credit machinery of American commerce, and suggests that consideration be given to earmarking a special reserve of this gold as against probable future gold shipments from the United States and thus accomplish the double object of preventing both temptation to inflation of credits on the basis of this surplus gold supply, and at the same time the great embarrassment of possible financial credit difficulties that would arise if foreign drafts were made upon the gold which had been used as a credit basis.

The Carnegie Foundation made appropriations toward meeting the cost of the inquiry. The National Bureau of Economic Research, The Russell Sage Foundation, the Federated American Engineering Societies, the United States Chamber of Commerce, the American Federation of Labor, the American Statistical Association, the American Economic Association, the Bureau of Railway Economics and the Department of Commerce were among the bodies which contributed services. The vast compilation of fact and opinion on which the committee based its conclusions was effected under the direction of the National Bureau of Economic Research, whose director, Wesley C. Mitchell is nationally known as an authority on the business cycle.

Ten Per Cent. of Funds Mobilized By American Relief Administration For Russia Went For Medical Aid

When Herbert Hoover, chairman of the American Relief Administration, announced recently that the sum mobilized for Russian Relief by the American Relief Administration and its co-operating agencies amounted to approximately $70,000,000, few persons realized that more than ten per cent. of that sum, or more than $7,000,000, was spent for medical purposes.

In the face of the terrible famine conditions which existed and the fact that it fell to the lot of the A. R. A. to provide food for upwards of ten million people, the medical phase of the relief operations has not attracted the public attention that such a life-saving effort would otherwise have received. It is difficult to say whether more Russians are alive today because of American food which they received or because of the tremendous and costly fight which the American relief workers waged against the spread of infectious diseases, and the improvement in hospital and sanitary conditions which the American gifts made possible.

It is highly significant that with the inoculation and vaccination of some 7,000,000 persons in the areas where the Americans were carrying on their feeding operations there was an astonishing decrease in the high incidence of cholera, typhoid, paratyphoid and smallpox. For example, in the Kazan District where 350,000 men, women and children were inoculated against cholera and other enteric diseases, the cholera cases, which in the summer of 1921 had been reported throughout the season at the rate of 170 a day, in the summer of 1922 amounted to 276 cases, not daily, but for the entire season.

But the inoculation campaign, which was the most extensive single preventive medical effort ever undertaken, was only a single item in the medical program of the American Relief Administration. In addition to inoculating 7,000,000 individuals the Administration supplied more than 12,000 Russian institutions including hospitals, orphanages, dispensaries, etc. Many of these institutions were on the point of closing, their doors for lack of the most elementary necessities. Hospitals lacked medicines, syringes, clinical thermometers, hot water bags, blankets, soap, anaesthetics—some of them had to resort to newspapers for dressings because of the lack of bandages.

United States surplus army medical supplies to the extent of $4,000,000, and medical and hospital materials costing $3,500,000 were furnished by the American Red Cross to the American Relief Administration in its effort to keep the hospitals functioning in Russia when the epidemics due to the famine were threatening to depopulate the country.

VETERANS BENEFIT UNDER PROVISIONS OF NEW RELIEF ACT

Washington, April.—(By Associated Press)—Numerous benefits and before March 31, 1924, or disabled ex-service men were granted in the new relief act passed during the last days of the 67th Congress, says the United States Veterans' Bureau.

Many of the provisions of the new law are sponsored by veterans' organizations. One of the most important, it is said by the Veterans' Bureau, provides, in effect:

1. That every officer and enlisted man or any person in the active service under the War and Navy departments, who was discharged or who resigned prior to the establishment of the Veterans' Bureau, August 9, 1917, and every such person in the active service on or before August 9, 1921, who was discharged or resigned, shall be conclusively held to have been in sound condition when entering the service, except as to such disabilities as were noted of record when or prior to the date he entered the service.

2. That an ex-service man who is shown to have a mental disease or an active tubercular disease of 10 per cent or more, and such showing was made upon examination by a medical officer of the Veterans' Bureau or other qualified physician, within three years after separating from the service, shall be considered to have acquired his disability in service or to have suffered an aggravation of disability. In addition to extending this period from two years to three years in mental and tubercular cases, the provision eliminates the qualification that the tubercular condition must be pulmonary to entitle one to the benefits of the presumption.

There is also a provision extending the time in which a certificate of disability may be obtained by providing that such certificate may be obtained prior to March 3, 1924, and that such certificate, except in case of fraud shall be incontestable evidence that the injury for which it is issued was suffered in or aggravated by the military service.

Another provision of the new act which is applicable also to veterans other than World War veterans, provides that when a veteran of any war dies after his discharge or resignation from the service and does not leave an estate to meet the expenses of burial and transportation of the body, the Veterans' Bureau will pay for a flag to drape the casket, and also for burial expense not exceeding $100, the flag, after burial, to become the property of the next kin of the deceased. If death occurs while such person is receiving governmental medical, surgical or hospital treatment or vocational training, the bureau will pay in addition to burial expenses, actual and necessary cost of transportation of the body, including the preparation of the body, to place of burial within the continental limits of the United States. This provision of the new act extends the funeral expenses to a larger class of veterans than was previously provided for. There is another provision in the act which is of interest to the Spanish War Veterans, as well as to veterans of the Philippine insurrection and Boxer rebellion. It extends all hospital facilities under the control and jurisdiction of the bureau so that they are available for these veterans suffering from neuro-psychiatric or tubercular ailments.

A provision is also made that payments of premiums on yearly renewable term insurance and converted insurance may be deemed not to have lapsed in the cases of those persons, who, while mentally incompetent and for whom no legal guardian had been appointed, have heretofore allowed or may hereafter allow their insurance to lapse while so suffering, during the period for which they have been or are thereafter so rated.

THAD B. LEHER, well-known Kansas City business man, who says his recent recovery of health is entirely due to Tanlac.

"I can place only the highest estimate on the Tanlac treatment, for I have realized its wonderful merits in my own case," recently stated Thad B. Leher, proprietor of the Lehr Shirt & Underwear Co., 2722 East 26th St., Kansas City, Mo. "Before taking Tanlac I was suffering from nervousness, headaches, indigestion and loss of appetite, which had pulled me down until work was like a burden. "Tanlac measured right up to my expectations and since taking it I am enjoying a full measure of good health. I eat and sleep like a school boy and have energy and strength that make life and work a pleasure. My confidence in Tanlac was certainly well placed." Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Philatelists to Hold Contest London, April.—(By Associated Press).—Hundreds of entries have been received from all over the world, especially from America, for the world's stamp collecting championship which will be decided here in May. Many of the collections of single countries are valued at from 20,000 to 50,000 pounds, while one exhibitor's entries amount to 100,000 pounds. The exhibition is the first of its kind held since before the war. The "junior" championship for philatelists under 21 will also be contested for the first time since 1912, when Captain Victor Cazale, then an Eton boy of 15, secured it.

ISOLATED PETROGRAD Petrograd, April.—(By Associated Press).—Petrograd still appears as an isolated city and, in comparison with Moscow, business life is as dull as in a majority of Soviet provincial towns. The population of Petrograd fell to about 700,000 during the years of civil war, epidemics and evacuations, and it has risen but slightly since the coming of the new economic policy. Housing conditions, therefore, are very favorable in comparison with the congestion of Moscow, where two or more persons live in nearly every room. Here families of two and three persons may enjoy five, six or even ten or twelve room apartments, while scores of buildings are empty and nearing ruin for want of heating. Spacious warehouses are without goods. Living is fifty percent cheaper than in Moscow. There is plenty of food and very little business. Only the Nevsky Prospekt, Petrograd's chief avenue, and a few other of the principal streets show signs of life, thanks to the open shops and offices of the various state concerns. All other streets, especially in the once fashionable suburbs, look empty and deserted. Only the electric lighting of the streets, now thoroughly re-established, relieves the dullness of the once international city.

"Clean and Dry" Is Fowl Health Slogan

Care, Sunlight, Fresh Air With Roomy Quarters May Prevent Roup.

By SETH W. SHOEMAKER, Director, The School of Agriculture, International Correspondence Schools, Scranton, Pa.

The most common ailments of fowls are cold, canker, catarrh and roup, developing during the fall and winter months. The poultryman who gets the best result out of his flock will be the one who takes time by the forelock and adopts preventive measures.

All of these troubles are likely to come from exposure to damp or cold at seasons of the year when the temperature rises and falls quickly. Although fowls are just as likely to take a cold in July or August as in mid-winter, in cold weather they do not seem to recover as quickly and the results are liable to be more serious. They are especially likely to take cold on damp, rainy days when they go to roost with wet plumage. Canker and roup often are merely stages of the same disease. Canker and catarrh, which are infections of the mucous membrane, are mild forms of diphtheria, in which may occur patches on the inside of the throat and on the tongue or at the opening of the windpipe. These conditions follow one another quickly unless prompt attention is given to the first symptoms of cold. While the earlier forms of the disease do not seem to be contagious, roup is very contagious. Disease may be prevented if the fowls are provided with plenty of room and fresh air without draft, dry, clean scratching litter and an abundance of sunlight. The careful poultryman will go over the flock each day and remove all birds that show symptoms of disease.

Permanganate of Potash. Among remedies perhaps the most satisfactory is permanganate of potash in the drinking water. Just a pinch is necessary.

It will give the water a pinkish tinge. This is general treatment for any flock in case an individual seems to be getting sick.

Any fowl that shows signs of trouble, such as discharge at the nostrils and watering of the eyes, should be removed from the flock and have head, throat, face and nostrils bathed in warm water containing some antiseptic solution and should be kept in perfectly clean surroundings. Permanganate of potash in a fairly strong solution is now indicated.

Some poultry use Epsom salts as a preventive remedy. This may be given in the drinking water or in a slightly moistened mash at the rate of 10 to 12 ounces to each 100 fowls. Before the salts are administered the fowl should be kept away from all feeds and drinking water for about 12 hours.

Care With Vitrol. Other poultrymen use copper sulphate or blue vitrol at the rate of one ounce to each 10 gallons of water to prevent the spreading of the disease. If this disinfectant is used, however, great care must be taken not to get the solution too strong or the birds may be injured.

All things considered, the permanganate of potash is the most satisfactory. A handy way to administer it is to make a saturated solution and then use this to make up the drinking water. Place eight ounces of the permanganate of potash crystals in a pint bottle of water to make the stock solution. One teaspoonful of this saturated solution will be sufficient to add to one gallon of drinking water.

A warm mash containing a little ginger and red pepper may also be given to fowls that have colds or roup.

Fowls badly affected with roup should be promptly killed and their bodies either buried or burned. After this the premises should be cleaned and disinfected with cresote of some similar material.
