

A few years ago, Chief Justice said: "You've got to be an optimist to win.
And you have.
With prosperity no longer a speculation but a reality, the day of the pessimist, along with other nuisances has ceased. He had a fine time for two years, but like the drunk, he's out of style and finds no place in our commercial and social circle today.

It has been the confident faith and cheerfulness of the optimist that steered the ship of hope safely past the shoals of increasing local and national disaster.

Success always lives on the other side of a struggle, a fight, and we have conquered.
Any person in Pitt county and Eastern North Carolina who declines to pass the word of better times along, is a rank outsider.
He has no place in our optimistic spirit and confidence in the future.

America Women's Paradise, He Avers

CHICAGO, May 1.—The poorest woman in the United States is infinitely better off than the poor women of South America, Bishop W. F. Oldham, of Buenos Aires, declared at a meeting of the employees and staff of the Committee on Conservation and Advance of the Methodist Episcopal church here.

Bishop Oldham has just returned from South America and Mexico. He said: "You can rate civilization from the place that women hold in that particular country. There used to be an idea that woman had no real place in the world.

"If there are any young women here who are discontented and wishing that they were rich, think of the mass of women in the peon class in South America who are not as respected as the women of the United States. The poorest of you is rich when compared with these."

The Bishop said that the ownership of millions of acres of land by rich landlords was detrimental to the advancement of the peons. The peon women, especially in South America, he declared, live in little shacks in small villages and are degraded specimens of humanity, depressed, with absence of all hope, ambition and aspiration.

Miss Louise Fleming returned yesterday afternoon from Greensboro where she has been spending a few days.

The reopening of the Turkish railway in Lausanne, Switzerland, is expected to be marked by great hostility toward the Angora Government, because of its refusal to cancel the huge oil and railway concessions granted to Admiral Colby M. Alibi for Durham Man Held in Richmond Now for Murder Young Girl

RICHMOND, Va., May 1.—While Joseph Enoch, 22, alias "Jew Baby," formerly of Durham, N. C., was being held today without bail on the charge of murdering Celia Shevick, 16 year old school girl, by fracturing her skull with an iron bar after he had criminally assaulted her on a vacant lot under the Seaboard Air Line viaduct near Sixteenth and Broad streets, it was indicated this afternoon that members of his family will attempt to set up an alibi through witnesses who will testify that he was at home in bed at the time of the assault despite the confession which the police claim to have wrung from him last night.

In the event that they fail in this effort it was indicated that a plea of insanity might be entered in his behalf.

Over 1000 Convicts Aided to Citizenship

CHICAGO, May 1.—Two hundred men, paroled from seven state penitentiaries and federal prisons during 1922, earned $98,044, or an average of something more than $4 a day, according to a statement given out here by the Central Howard association, to whom the men were made responsible.

Essential relief was rendered 1,100 men discharged from various prisons during 1922, and 954 wayward boys were restored to homes and given a vision of thrift and wholesome companionship.

In all, 2,454 men and boys were assisted in some way by the association during last year, and 83 per cent of the men paroled to the association finished their paroles with credit.

The Central Howard association, under the direction of its founder and superintendent, F. Emory Lyon, of this city, aims to work for the prevention of crime by better supervision of offenders while on probation and parole.

Mr. Ben Edwards returned yesterday from a business trip to Danville and Greensboro.

She Couldn't Stand Boy Choir Shrieks, Animals Get Cash

NEW YORK, May 1.—"Screechings" of a boy choir of the exclusive Fifth avenue Episcopal church of Saint Thomas, caused the transfer of the entire fortune of Mrs. Sidon Michie, wealthy broker's wife, from the home of incurable children to a memorial hospital for the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

This became known when she complained to police of "choir screechings." She surprised the hospital with the announcement that the estate was to be left to the institution for animals, with this inscription over the door: "The more I saw of humans, the more I thought of dogs."

Foolish Men and Women of Today Scored at Revival

Modern and Ancient Types Compared by Rev. Entzminger

Rev. Louis Entzminger preached another strong sermon in Forbes and Morton's warehouse last night, talking for his subject, "Five Foolish Females," basing his thoughts on the story of the ten virgins who were invited to a wedding feast, and five were wise and five were foolish.

He compared the foolish-ones with the man and woman of today who are foolish enough to neglect the one great requisite—the acceptance of Jesus Christ. He appealed to the sinners to accept Christ and not wait until it was too late and then go out into the great eternity without Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler again delighted the large congregation with their singing, and Mr. Holliday at the piano, was thoroughly enjoyed.

Services will continue throughout this week, both afternoon and evening. On Thursday afternoon a service will be held in honor of the old people. A prize will be given to the oldest man and the oldest woman present. Saturday afternoon there will be a service for young people between the ages of nine and 20 years, also their parents and the officers and teachers of the Sunday schools. Tickets will be issued and no one will be admitted without one.

The public is cordially invited to all the services.
The subject for tonight's sermon will be, "One Man that could not be influenced by a woman, by money or by political power."

Russia Needs Tractors To Develop Farming

MOSCOW.—Faced on the one hand with a nation-wide need for auto trucks and tractors, and on the other with a struggling home industry in the manufacture of these machines, the government departments directing the foreign trade policy of Soviet Russia have not yet made up their minds whether they should stand for free trade or a protective tariff.

Russia has little money to spend for trucks and tractors abroad, but some day hopes to be able to supply every community with at least one farm tractor. Before the State Plan commission it was declared recently that, during the next ten years, the nation would need 220,000 twenty horsepower tractors, but only 50,000 could be purchased abroad. The remainder will have to be secured elsewhere.

Russian factories are now turning out a few tractors, and these are said to be of excellent capacity. Those favoring protection of this infant industry want a high tariff on tractors from abroad.

White Operators Taken, Big Still Destroyed At 3 O'clock In Morning

The best results from a whiskey still hunt recorded in the county for many years, was that last night when Sheriff Jackson, Deputies Whitehurst and Cox and Chief Jones returned to the city about "3 o'clock in the morning" with a still and two white operators.

The illicit "hooch" mill which was 80 gallon capacity and especially well equipped was located in Belvoir township about one mile from the Edgecombe county line. When the officers approached, the still was in full operation and corn liquor was flowing as rapidly as the coil would permit. The two operators, J. H. Pierce and Mathew May, were busily engaged in refilling the steam receptacle when to their surprise a command rang out "hands up."

Attorneys Tell Court Indictments Against Morse Are Not Sound

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Renewed efforts by the defense to have squashed the indictments charging Charles W. Morse and others with war-time ship frauds and the beginning of direct testimony, with Major General George W. Goethals, retired, as the government's first witness were developments in the Morse trial here.

The question of dismissing the indictments went over. It was raised by Attorney Lambert, who presented affidavits to support the contention that one of the grand jurors who returned the true bills was not a resident of the District of Columbia. (At the same time Lambert told Justice Stafford that information concerning two other grand jurors had been obtained, but that there had been no time to prepare it for formal presentation.)

Aid Belligerent Churches.

BERLIN.—Germany's republican government has decided to show material appreciation to the churches which permitted their bells to be turned into bullets in furtherance of the late war waged by its monarchical predecessor. Freight charges will be waived on shipments of all new bells procured to replace those given up during the war.

HOUSE BLEW DOWN WHILE THEY SLEPT

NEW BERN, May 1.—A. G. Pierce and his family at Arapahoe in the eastern end of Pamlico county had a narrow escape from death when their house was wrecked by the storm which raged through this section Sunday night, according to reports reaching here.

The family was awakened by the storm just after midnight and 30 minutes later they felt the house shake, break away from its foundation a few seconds later and while the inmates were hurled about the room beneath pieces of furniture, it crashed over on its side. Under except for slight cuts and bruises the family extricated themselves from the debris and fled to the home of a neighbor.

When morning came Pierce returned to find the house a mass of ruins. The other dwellings in the neighborhood were badly damaged. Trees and outhouses blown down but no lives were lost.

Four Killed, 3 Hurt When Negro Miner Starts Row, Stop Him With Dynamite

HELENA, ALA., May 1.—Failure of a negro miner to receive his pay resulted in three men, including the negro being killed and two others wounded here, last night, after riot calls had been sent to the county seat at Columbiana and to the sheriff's office in Birmingham.

The house in which the negro barricaded himself was dynamited and fired by a posse. John

U. S. SHIPS TO CONTINUE "BONE DRY," SAYS LASKER

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Definite indications were given by Chairman Lasker of the shipping board today, following a conference with President Harding that government owned vessels would be kept "bone dry" for some time at least.

Under the terms of the decision of the supreme court yesterday, they can legally carry and serve liquor at sea.

Trapeze Stunts Nothing to Foundling Babe

Danny

Danny, a nameless five-months-old foundling at the Mothers' Institute Jersey City, New Jersey, has strength and stamina that has been called phenomenal by physicians. His favorite exercise is "to lift himself to his feet by a swinging hold on a steelyard, on which he swings clear of his cot. He is 2 feet 3-4 inches tall and weighs 16 1-2 pounds. His chest, expanded, measures 17 1-2 inches, and he holds the non-crying record of the institute.

Two Kinston Banks Form Big Merger

KINSTON, May 1.—The Caswell Banking and Trust Company, and National Bank of Kinston, have been merged after conferences between officials of the two institutions had been in progress some days. The directors and officers of the National Bank will continue in their present positions and additional directors will be added from among those of Caswell Banking and Trust Company. T. W. Heath, former cashier of the Caswell Banking and Trust Company, will be assistant cashier of the new institution which will operate under the name of the National Bank of Kinston.

The merger creates a bank with total deposits in excess of $1,700,000 and resources of more than $2,000,000, it is said.

DEAD BABE'S BODY WAS SENT THROUGH MAILS, SHE ADMITS

High School Teacher Confesses to Charge, Authorities Say

OPELOUSA, La., May 1.—The state had taken no action today against Miss Josie Fultz, high school teacher, who is charged by federal authorities with having sent a parcel post containing the body of a new born infant from Scott to Duncan, Okla.

She is declared by authorities to have confessed, and waived preliminary examination before a federal commissioner. Subsequently she was released in $25,000 bond.

The state is contending for the custody of the woman on a murder charge. It is understood that state officials will insist that the teacher be surrendered to answer for the alleged offense.

Evans School Pupils To Present May Day Program Next Friday

Next Friday afternoon, May 4, at 6 o'clock, on the west edge of the college campus the pupils of the Evans Street School will present an outdoor May Day program. This program will be given free of charge, and the public is cordially invited to attend. Every child in every grade in Evans Street School will take part in it. There is nothing elaborate about the affair, simply an hour of out of door entertainment typifying the spirit of May. The program will begin promptly at 5 o'clock, and will last until 6. One of the features of the program will be the Evans Street School song-phone band. They will lead the parade and otherwise furnish music for the occasion.

This May day affair is the first of a number of events leading up to the close of the Greenville schools. It is the purpose of the school administration to so shape these affairs throughout the month of May that they will not be a tax on the public, nor will they overtax the pupils and the teachers. The public is requested to remember the time, Friday afternoon of this week at 5 o'clock.

Tuesday Afternoon, May 1st, 1923

A New York judge has just refused a divorce to a woman who claimed her husband "beat her up" once every three years. The court held that this did not constitute cruelty. Wonder what does?

According to federal figures the cost of strikes in the country last year was around $2,500,000,000. The loss is not all to the strikers or the employers. Every individual paid his part of it. And it is all so unnecessary. The square deal and Golden Rule has solved the question in thousand of other cases.

The Washington administration has reason to believe that conditions are getting better in Mexico every day. This is interpreted in some circles as indicating that the recognition of Mexico by the United States is drawing near. Added significance is given this prediction by information from the Mexican capital to the effect that the legislative reform project, protecting American capital has been approved.

EGYPT JOINS RANKS OF DEMOCRACY
Egypt, the ancient, is to have a republican form of government, similar to that of England. King Fuad yielded to the pressure of public opinion and signed the royal rescript which promulgates the constitution. The premier's declaration to the nation expresses the conviction that just as Egypt astonished the world by its growth of tenacity and national sentiment, similarly will it astonish the world by a speedy adaptation to a constitutional regime.

One by one the nations of the old world are breaking away from monarchical rule and adopting systems by which the people are to have a voice.

Pure democracy is but a short step further on.

SOFT DRINKS MAY COME HIGHER HERE

A mighty howl is resounding across the nation against the uncalled-for and unjustified increase in the cost of sugar. This is reflected by the indignant protests of manufacturers of drugs, soft drinks, syrups, etc., directed against the administration for what they assert is practical complicity in the recent and present profiteering in sugar.

They point out that the Fordney-McCumber law is the work of the administration; that the first maneuvers of the manipulators was to control the supply and price of sugar. This they did assisted by the Department of Commerce, when it announced in a bulletin that a prospective shortage of more than a half million tons of sugar was in sight. President Harding in effect directed the tariff commission to exculpate the tariff. That is largely to blame for the present gouging now in progress. According to reports the worst is yet to come. In the meantime, every consumer is helping to add millions to an avaricious group of licensed bandits.

Unless there is an immediate halt, soft drink and ice cream consumers of Greenville, in common with millions of others will shortly be forced to pay more for their beverages. The manufacturer will not be responsible, but the Harding administration will.

THE FARMER MUST GET FAIR RETURN FOR PRODUCTS

The United States department of agriculture has just compiled a survey of more than 6,000 representative farms in an effort to ascertain what return average the farmer gets from his invested capital.

The results are interesting and instructive. The department finds that the average capital invested in those 6,000 farms is $16,400.

The average return on this capital in cash was only $71,500—less than 4.5 per cent.

He has had, however, an increase of $202 in inventories, crops, live stock and machinery which makes his total gross earnings on his investment a little less than 6 per cent.

Estimating the value of his labor at the figures decided upon by three different surveys, as to how much is required to support a family and live decently without saving a dollar, he should be credited $1,900 per year in addition to his gross return on his invested capital. From this might be deducted $294 which the survey indicates was the value of food and fuel consumed on the farm.

It is obvious that agriculture receives less for its products than any other single industry. And this in the face of the fact that farming is the only absolute NECESSITY of our NATIONAL EXISTENCE.

Industrial and commercial interests would not long remain in business on the same basis of capital invested and return paid.

OWNERS OF TIPSY SLAVES PUNISHED UNDER FRENCH LAW

Old Louisiana Customs Show One Had to Look Sharp

NEW ORLEANS. — Even though the present-day American is so surrounded by laws that he has to watch his step at every turn he is not so bad off after all. In 1738 a person in New Orleans could not even commit suicide and go unpunished.

Someone having asserted that the sixty-seventh congress, recently adjourned, enacted 931 new laws and with many legislative bodies clearing their decks for action in order to add a few broadsides to the list of statutes, inquiring persons here have been examining musty old Spanish and French official records in New Orleans to ascertain how the people of other days fared.

A man committed suicide here in 1738 and the records show that the courts tried him for taking a life. He was found guilty, and it is set forth that "the inanimate body that held life too great a burden" was sentenced to abandonment without burial. Petty theft involved a penalty of flogging, three years' imprisonment, confiscation and a fine of fifty francs. Persons convicted of having shot or wounded an animal owned by another were sentenced to capital punishment.

As in these days, and times, a murderer was executed by hanging, but execution for wife murder was by strangulation.

There was no Volstead law, but for permitting his slaves to become intoxicated one man was forced to mount a wooden horse and was drawn through the streets while his neighbors laughed at him.

Lonely Gold Seek Returns.

WINNIPEG, May 1.—Jujuro Wada, picturesque Japanese prospector, has just returned from Herschel Island, where he has been on the trail of gold. He maintains extreme reticence regarding his 2,500-mile trip, which he made alone with his five dogs. Wada made his first journey to the Arctic region from San Francisco 32 years ago, and since then has achieved a wide reputation as a musher and prospector.

BRITISH LABOR PARTY GETS CLERGY PLEDGE

Sunday School Students of Methodist Church Total Nearly 5 Million

LONDON.—More than five hundred clergymen of the Church of England have formally pledged their support to the Labor Party. Among them are many canons. For a long time many in the church have felt keenly the reproach that the working classes were being alienated from the church, that the church showed plainly that it had no sympathy with them and their aims and aspirations, and never did anything for them. The leaders of this movement within the church are determined, it is said, that hereafter labor shall have no cause to complain that it lacks friends among the clergy.

The 500 clergymen signed a congratulatory memorial address to Ramsay MacDonald and other labor members of parliament in which they say: "We shall support actively in whatever ways are open to us the efforts you will assuredly make for the spiritual and economic emancipation of the people."

S. K. EMWRIAN CONDUCTED VESPER SERVICES AT THE TEACHERS' COLLEGE

Mr. Emwrian, an Armenian, was a welcome visitor at the College Sunday evening. Mr. W. K. Woodard, chairman of the Near East Relief, introduced him to the audience and turned the meeting over to him. Mr. Emwrian is pastor of Park Avenue Presbyterian church of Norfolk. He was put into prison and compelled to remain there for a while, for coming to an American college. First, Mr. Emwrian played and sang the Lord's Prayer to a tune composed by himself. After this he told of some of the conditions in Armenia, and of the untold hardships which the people there undergo. He also gave a few interesting and sad incidents in which the Armenians had proved their faith in Christ. He said to be a christian in Armenia meant sorrow, separation from loved ones, famine, pain, imprisonment, and death! So few of the American people know what it means to have their faith given such a strong test. He frankly stated that Armenia has much to teach us, and that she would eventually be the means of civilizing and christianizing the world. In closing, Mr. Emwrian sang the national anthem of Armenia, and one other song of his country, and the twenty-third Psalm, and then he pronounced the benediction.

MOVIES

JACKIE COOGAN PLEASURES BIG STRAND AUDIENCES

Jackie Coogan, the wonder child actor, despite his tender years has done some remarkable screen work and with each production his wide versatility becomes more highly developed. His talents have never been brought out to better advantage than in "Trouble," which was shown at Strand last night and will be continued today.

The theme of the story is wholesome and altogether refreshing. It offers splendid opportunity for Jackie to give silent expression of his fine sense of humor and appreciation of paths when necessary. Manager Adams, was the recipient of numerous felicitations from patrons in giving Greenville the chance to see this extraordinary screen presentation.

It is suggested that if you have troubles, they will be soon forgotten in the entertaining version of Jackie's "Trouble." The final showing will be tonight.

HUMOR BIG FACTOR IN "THIRD ALARM"

Humor of the fine, wholesome brand one associates with the work of such writers as Booth Tarkington and George Ade is a vital ingredient of "The Third Alarm," Emory Johnson's magnificent heart drama of firemen and their lives at White's Theatre next Thursday.

Mr. Johnson, with the keen showmanship that is a reflected in all of his productions, has provided any number of tingling thrills in his latest and greatest opus but he has not lost sight of humor and tender appeal, such as reaches the heart of all humanity.

Critics who have reviewed "The Third Alarm" are almost in agreement that the scene in which the fire horses are taken away and the department is motorized is one of the most heart touching episodes ever projected upon the smreen. The sight of the beloved equine pals leaving them forever, trotting down the road, brings tears to the eyes of the firemen who stand and watch the horses disappear in the hazy distance. There are few firemen, in fact, who have never felt this thrill—the little squeezing of the heart that always comes when they lose their four-footed friends.

There are many other such moments. The one in which Dan McDowell, the veteran fire-fighter portrayed by Ralph Lewis, is pensioned and goes into retirement is another heart-wringer, according to well grounded critics. The hands of McDowell have grown weak and his eyes have become dim from lashing winds as he drove to fires without number. And with the coming of the motor apparatus McDowell was unequal to the task of driving. His enforced retirement quickly followed and his return home to a wife and children, with the news of this loss, is a moment of momentous drama.

"MY AMERICAN WIFE" A SPLENDID PRODUCTION

"My American Wife," featuring Gloria Swanson and Antonio Moreno, which was shown in White's Theatre yesterday afternoon and last night was one of the best pictures seen here in a long time.

Miss Swanson's costumes were beyond description a they were many and beautiful. Her acting, as usual, was perfect. Antonio Moreno, as the lover, was also great and the large audiences which greeted both the performance were delighted with the production.

FAMOUS MARINE OBSERVATORY MAY BE USED AS MUSEUM

PORTLAND, Maine.—The Portland observatory from which, during the war of 1812, an anxious group watched the smoke of battle between the American frigate Enterprise and the British brig Boxer, is now closed to the public for the first time in more than a century. Whether it will be re-opened as a museum or demolished to make room for more remunerative property for its private owners, remains to be determined. The observatory, commanding a wide sweep of the sea 20 miles beyond the harbor has been one of the local points of interest to visitors ever since it was built in 1807. Famous guests of Portland have been escorted to it.

September Market Best

For Pigs; Expert Says

Raleigh, April 30.—An average of hog prices by months during the last 25 years show that highest prices are paid during the month of September, states W. W. Shay, swine extension worker for the State College and state department of agriculture.

Shay finds that the average difference between that month and the month of December is December is $1.35 per 100 pounds for similar hogs and believes that this difference is a good reason for pushing the spring farrowed pigs for sale about Sept. 1.

He says that another good reason is that when the pigs are properly handled and fed so as to be sold in September they will nearly always show a profit.

"On the other hand" says Shay "if they are turned in the soy bean or peanut fields weighing around 100 pounds, and sold during December as "oily" 200-pound hogs in competition with the heavy run of corn belt hogs which occurs at that time, they suffer a penalty of at least $2 per hundred on the score of quality, and when this is added to the seasonal drop it makes a total of $3.35 per hundred pounds or $6.70 per head.

POCAHONTAS' REAL NAME, MATOAKA, IS BELIEF E. H. LEECH

NEW YORK.—What was the name of the Indian princess of early colonial days who saved Captain John Smith from execution?

"Pocahontas" would be the answer from almost any American school child versed in American history.

And "wrong" would be the retort of E. H. Leech, of Greenville, Conn., who has started a movement to have history textbooks altered in their stories of America's most famous native princess.

Stirred by recent reports of a search in London for the Indian princess' grave for the purpose of having her body brought home after nearly three centuries, Leech made a study of old historical sources, and says he has found that "Pocahontas" was merely the nickname or "little name" coined by her father, the powerful King Powhatan in a moment of tenderness. It means "little tomboy." The princess' real name, Leech declares, was "Matoaka."

Of more than a dozen prominent educators whom Leech wrote concerning his discovery, it was news to all save one, he said. The one was Harris Hart, superintendent of public instruction of the state of Virginia, who wrote Leech that Pocahontas had been recognized by her real name of "Matoaka" in her native state, although most folk even there clung to the diminutive "Pocahontas."

Among the authorities Leech cites is a document written in the script of William Stracney, secretary of the Virginia colony, who arrived with Lord Delaware in 1610. He wrote: "Pocahontas, or Matoaka, the daughter of Powhatan, is married to a discrete English gentleman, Master Rolfe after she had renounced idolatry and been baptized."

Stracney added that Pocahontas was the "little name" given to children in accordance with an old Indian custom although she was called Matoaka "at more ripe years."

Short Course for Club Girls at Raleigh June 4, Expect Big Class

RALEIGH.—Young girls, prize winners and leaders in the club work conducted by the home demonstration workers of the State College and State department of agriculture will gather at Peace Institute in Raleigh during the week of June 4 for the annual short course and school given these girls for excellence in their work during the past year. Mrs. Jané S. McKimmon, chief of the home demonstration division, says that the great event in the life of the little club girl is the chance to attend this state short course. The school will be held at Peace Institute and only 200 girls can attend this year. By next year, however, Mrs. McKimmon plans to secure accommodations which will enable her division to care for every girl that should attend. She looks for an for this year, "includes instruction of son."

According to Mrs. McKimmon the plan of work outlined for the girls for this year, "includes instruction in clothing and canning which they are expected to carry home to their club-mates. They will be taught how to cut and fit a simple dress from selecting the pattern to basting and fitting the dress on one of their class-mates." The grading, packing and sterilizing of fruits and vegetables as well as jelly making will be popular prospects for the well instructed club girl to take back to her club-mates. As a leader will be expected to serve as an assistant to her county agent and demonstrate to a home audience, what she has learned, she is taught methods of presenting her subject as well as how to do a practice.

Vermont Village Will Honor Refuged From Justice With Tablet

BRISTOL, Vermont.—A memorial to an escaped convict is to be erected in this little town in the heart of the Green Mountains. The man who killed a neighboring farmer in Unadilla, N. Y., was John Broodt, a Dutchman. The Outlook Club, a women's organization of Bristol, is going to place a suitably inscribed stone marker on the site of his log hut at the foot of South Mountain because Broodt was the first white man known to have settled within the limits of the present town.

Broodt had a dispute with his neighbor in Unadilla over a line fence between their farms. A fight followed and the neighbor was killed. Broodt was convicted of murder but escaped, bought ammunition, fishing tackle and other necessities at Whitehall, and fled into Vermont. In the dense forest near South Mountain, a mile south of what is now Bristol village, he ended his flight. There he built a log cabin and remained in solitude with his faithful dog for twelve years without seeing another white man. When found by a surveying party in 1785 he was clad in deerskin and his dog, which he said had been black when he entered the woods, was nearly white.

A SONNET.

By Mrs. W. C. Harris.
My children are dear to me, a girl and a boy
Running and playing, bring back my own youth.
Even, if sometimes, they're a bit un-couth.

They fill me with pride, and give such wonderful joy,
That it matters not if they provoke or annoy.

So long as they're mine, young and fine—for sooth
Children, yours, mine, can't be brought from a booth!

They come to us from God, each like a divine toy,
To give us pleasure, to teach us wisdom.

Does it matter to you just what they cost?

I am better because children have come
To me, bringing back the past, I'd thought lost,

Life is just the realization of some
Child's play, when care to the wild mind has tossed.

RARE COLLECTION OF ODD COINS FOR NATIONAL MUSEUM

PHILADELPHIA.—The forthcoming removal of the Philadelphia Mint's invaluable collection of coins, tokens and medals to the National Museum in Washington has aroused a feeling of disappointment in this city.

The collection, begun when the mint was established in 1792, is said to be one of the finest in the world. It comprises 1688 coins minted and used in the United States since the coming of the colonists. There also are thousands of other coins representing more than 40 nations.

It is impossible to estimate the exact value of the collection, which includes specimens of the New England shilling, an almost plain silver disc, dating from 1651 and made in the first Colonial Mint, established at Boston without the authority of the English crown.

There are specimens of the "Franklin cent" minted in copper from 1787 on. Because of the expression, "Mind Your Business" engraved on the coin, it was thought Benjamin Franklin was responsible for the design. This has since been considered improbable. The coin was struck in New York by James Jarvis with whom congress contracted to coin 300 tons of copper.

A rare five-eagle, or $50 gold piece, minted in 1877, is included in the collection, together with Ephraim Brasher's doubloon, struck by a New York jeweler in the eighteenth century.

The greater number of coins are those from foreign countries. There are antique coins from Great Britain, France, Greece, Belgium, Norway, Sweden and other European countries. Some of these coins were minted by imperial cities, such as Augsburg and Bremen, as well as by bishoprics in Germany.

The collection contains three silver dollars minted in 1804; a half dime of 1792, bearing an eagle flying and the words, "Lib. Par. of Science and Industry—Unif. States of America" gold coins struck in Philadelphia.

99 Year Old Woman Lauds This Generation

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., May 1.—Mrs. Charlotte Bennett, 99 years old, Michigan pioneer and believed to be the only surviving mother of a Civil War veteran residing in this state, declares her opinion that "the world is no worse today than it was when I was a girl."

Mrs. Bennett, however, deplors what she calls "a lack of neighborliness" on the part of present-day Americans.

"The world has become commercialized and there no longer is the friendly attitude of one person toward another that was noticeable when I was a girl," Mrs. Bennett said. "But so far as real goodness goes, I can't see but what folks today are just as filled with virtue as they ever were. Every generation has its faults and its redeeming features."

Gasoline prices reduced

At the opening of a new motoring season, which, from all trade indications, will eclipse all previous years in the amount of gasoline consumed, the tank wagon price of "Standard" Motor Gasoline has been reduced one cent a gallon, effective April 27.

This lower price is made possible by a reduction in the cost of our crude oil supply. There is, just now, an unusually large surplus of petroleum over current requirements of the trade, which has brought about lower prices at the wells.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline is at once the most essential and least expensive item in the operation of an automobile, whether you have a truck or a passenger car. "Standard" Motor Gasoline is always and uniformly good.

AMERICAN TAKES FIRST HONORS IN ART EXHIBITION

New York Man Awarded Medal and $15,000 In Contest

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 28.—Arthur B. Davie of New York City won first place in the twenty-second international exhibition of paintings at Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh. It was announced today at the close of the Founders' Day exercises. The distinction carried with it a gold medal and $15,000, and was for his painting, "After-Thoughts of Earth."

The second prize, a silver medal and $11,000, went to Eugene Speicher, of New York, for his painting, "The Hunter," and the third prize, a bronze medal and $500, to Pierre Bonnard, of France for his painting, "Woman with Cat."

Honorable mentions were awarded to Pierre Laprade of Paris, Maurice Denis of Germain-en-Laye, Pierre Laurens of Paris, Leon Underwood and Henry Lamb of London, Henry Lee McFee of Woodstock, N. Y., and C. Foster Bailey, who reside temporarily in Paris and Anto Carte of Brussels.

The jury of award for the International were Augustus John of London, George Desvalleres of Paris, and Jonas Lie and Horatio Walker, both of New York City. The prizes were awarded in Pittsburgh April 6.

There are 293 paintings in this year's international, 126 being by Americans and 167 by Europeans.

Mr. Davie is known to art critics as a symbolist and painter of ideas. Though he paints the unusual and remote, and employs at times striking methods in his work, he has achieved a high place among painters in this country and abroad. He was born in Utica, N. Y., in 1862, and at the age of seven, his drawings attracted the attention of Dwight Williams, who gave him his first lesson in art. Some years later, while working as a civil engineer in Mexico, Mr. Davie saw for the first time the works of some of the old masters. This definitely inspired a change in his life, and in 1883 he went to New York where he made illustrations for magazines. Two of his paintings appeared in the first international at Carnegie Institute in 1896, an exceptional honor for a young and comparatively unknown artist. He exhibited in several other internationals, and at the seventeenth was awarded an honorable mention.

Faithful Four Guard Flag at Tip of World

OTTAWA, Ont. — Four lonely Canadians marooned on Wrangel Island at the top of the may, have been waiting since 1921 to have that bleak Arctic region proclaimed Canadian territory. The four are the members of a landing party left by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, on his visit to the island several years ago. While the former members of his expedition possess their souls in patience and hunt muskox and seal for a living, Stefansson is negotiating with the Canadian Government to reimburse him for the expense of his polar voyage, and accept sovereignty over Wrangel Island in payment.

When members of the Stefansson party raised the Canadian flag on Wrangel Island in 1921, there was some discussion as to the propriety of the action. The flag has remained, with three men and a boy to guard it, but no step has been taken here to assert formal sovereignty over the northern area. Stefansson, who fitted out his own expedition at a cost of $25,000, when he failed to interest the Canadian Government in his plans, now argues that his addition to the Canadian domain should be worth at least that much money.

UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM STIRS JAPAN TO ACTION

TOKIO—Since last spring nearly 20 big factories, public and private have discharged approximately 100,000 workmen, the majority of whom according to the authorities, still are without fixed employment. The number is to be further increased this summer with 3,000 workmen to be discharged from the Tokio and Osaka arsenals, and even a greater number from the different military, naval and other government offices and institutions. As the business readjustment of various other industrial establishments throughout the Empire still is in progress, the number of unemployed is expected to continue to rise steadily during the first half of the current year.

American Milk Sought By Greek Babies Who Can Scarcely Toddle; Red Cross Emergency Aid Near End

This baby is on her way to an American Red Cross milk station. The little tot is one of the million refugees from Asia Minor and Thrace for whom the American Red Cross has expended in Greece, upwards of two and a half million dollars for food and medical care. Every morning at Dourgotti, the newly-built refugee village in the very shadow of the Acropolis at Athens, some four hundred such youngsters get their daily ration of milk from the American Red Cross supplies, and altogether in all parts of Greece the American organization feeds some half million of the refugees, young and old, every day.

Since the burning of Smyrna last September the American Red Cross has devoted a large part of its disaster emergency funds to supplying food and clothing to the refugees and to fighting with a remarkable degree of success, the threatened epidemics which menaced the entire country and the surrounding islands, where the women and children, destitute and homeless, sought refuge.

Between now and June 30th, the burden of providing for this horde of dependent people must be shouldered by the Greek government. Col. William N. Haskell, American Red Cross Commissioner in Greece, has reported to Judge John Barton Payne, chairman of the organization, that by that date the emergency stage of the situation will have been passed and that the permanent solution of the problem, whatever form that solution may take, is to be reached not by American charity, but by the government responsible for their welfare. During the emergency period the Greek officials of every rank have cordially co-operated in carrying out the relief measures. The full force of the government has been placed squarely behind the sanitary and medical program inaugurated by the American Red Cross doctors and nurses. Refugee camps have been subjected to the strictest of sanitary discipline. Sanitary regulations have been enforced by both civil and military authorities and every possible facility has been extended to the Americans to stamp out typhus, smallpox and other infectious diseases whenever they threatened to become prevalent.

JAPAN TAKES TO IDEA OF U. S. NATIONAL PARK

TOKIO.—Japan is to have seven national parks, similar to those in America, if the plans of the home department are adopted.

The places suggested for reservation are the area surrounded by the seven Hakone ponds; the Japanese Alps; the O-Daigahara Terrace in Yamato Province; Mount Aso; the Unzen Spa in Kyushu; Nikko and Mount Bantai in the North-East. Most of these places already are famous and accessible, but to others new roads will have to be built.

CANADA ASKED TO HELP CREATING NATIONAL PARKS

WASHINGTON, April 30. — To benefit science and popular education during future generations, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the largest scientific body in the world, has proposed establishing an international system of museums of the original American wilderness. Its object is to preserve examples of the primitive in nature from the Arctic Ocean to the Gulf of Mexico, making a continental scientific laboratory and popular educational exhibit covering both Canada and the United States.

The basis for this international system already exists, the scientists believe, in the national parks systems of the two nations. No political or administrative union of these is advocated, but an international policy of complete conservation from industrial uses, backed by perfected laws in both countries.
