

Two years ago Blaney Sumrell, farmer, living near Ayden, startled his neighbors when he built a curing house for sweet potatoes, with the announced purpose of growing a crop that would conform to prescribed rules of standardization.

the community one-crop farmers. But he did NOT fail. On the contrary, he not only sold a portion of his output of more than 500 bushels in Ayden at an average price of $1.30 per bushel, but introduced his product on the New York market with such splendid effect and good price that a regular demand has been created.

To accomplish this Sumrell WORKED and had faith in the soil of Pitt County to raise products that would rival other states in the great markets. He plans to double his acreage and gain an independent living aside from staple crops. He knows that diversified farming PAYS. His lead should inspire more farmers to follow.

OPENING OF SUNDAY SCHOOL BUILDING BRINGS OUT THROG

Methodist Church Addition Attracts Capacity Attendance

Jarvis Memorial Methodist Sunday School occupied their new building yesterday with a record attendance of nearly 1000. Never before in the history of the church has there been such an outpouring of the friends. The crowd was so large that it taxed the capacity of the new Sunday school auditorium, and its adjacent class rooms as well as the main auditorium of the church to take care of them.

The service began at 10 o'clock with a silent prayer of thanks to God for the building, and ended at noon with the vast congregation singing Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow. The benediction was pronounced by the pastor, Rev. V. P. Scoville, then the crowd filed out to the front of the building where a picture of the throng was made.

There were a number of special features connected with the occasion. Under the direction of Mrs. Marvin Blount the Sunday school orchestra rendered several special numbers, as well as accompanying all the other selections. Mrs. Blount also had charge of the vocal music. There were two male quartets composed of Messrs. Laughinghouse, Foley, Gardner and Barber. Miss Helene Higgs sang a solo. There was also a quartet by the girls from the college. This was especially good.

Mr. Wright's class of men had 152 present. Mrs. Herring's Philathea class had 167. Mrs. Will Hooker's class had every member present. Philathea No. 2, the college girls' class, taught by Mr. Fitzgerald whose president is Miss Maggie Dixon, had all 50 members and eight visitors. Rev. V. P. Scoville, the pastor in charge, made a very timely and interesting talk on the value of the Sunday school to the church bringing out the fact that the church receives 85 per cent of its membership through the Sunday school that 90 per cent of the youthful criminals of the world, according to court records have never been to Sunday school.

Mr. S. B. Underwood from Raleigh made a splendid talk. Mrs. Ada Cherry wrote a short, concise and interesting history of Methodism in Greenville. This was read by Mr. J. B. James. The finance committee of the church and the building committee composed of Messrs. Best, TP tandEm, cmfwyp cmfwyp, p Brown, Forbes, Winslow ad Garrett, were justly praised for their efficient work in connection with the erection of the building. A splendid spirit of enthusiasm marked the occasion. The Methodists in Greenville are proud of their building. If the edifice is not large enough to meet their demands, they will make a still larger one, it was stated.

Chinese Pirates Seize Ship

HONKONG, May 14.—European passengers were among those terrorized and robbed when Chinese steamer laishun was seized near Swatow Saturday by pirates who disguised as passengers overpowered the crew and sailed the ship for nearly 20 hours at night without lights and finally left her yesterday at the mouth of a small creek transferring to a junk boat valued at $60,000.

Landscape Engineer Sees Many Advantages of Community Spot

Louis L. Miller landscape engineer, of Somersville, N. J., who drew the plans for improving the site adjoining the Greenville high school into a community recreation center is in Greenville today. He made a personal survey of the site and praised the natural advantages it offered for conversion into a practical use. He also visited the Teachers College and gave many valuable suggestions to improve the landscape effect. Mr. Miller designed and laid out the landscape on the estate of J. E. Duke near Orange, N. J., and also was in charge of similar work for Duke in North Carolina. He also visited the Country Club, and was warm in commending the splendid site. He invited attention to the fact that what has been commonly accepted as lilies growing along the banks of the lake, are real specimens of the Fleur-de-Leis, the national flower of France. The excellent golf course of the club, he declared, was better than a vast number that he had seen. Miller, expressed the hope that Greenville would not delay in carrying out the plans of the community recreation center.

To Reward Savers of Lives of Animals

CHICAGO.—A movement has been inaugurated by the American Humane Society to award medals to men, women and children who risk their lives in saving the lives of animals, according to an announcement by the Illinois Humane society, a member of the national society. The idea originated following the receipt of information of two rescues from death of dogs recently. One told of two men who rowed a boat through a field of ice in the Kennebec river in Maine to reach two collie dogs who were floating down the river on a piece of ice that had been torn loose as they were sitting on it.

The inscription reads: "This stone commemorates the exploit of William Webb Ellis who with a fine disregard for the rules of football, as played in his time, first took the ball in his arms, and ran with it, thus originating the distinctive feature of the Rugby game. It is understood that he had been threatened by a band of bootleggers whom he barred from his resort. Twelve Dead, Many Missing in Tornado

COLORADO CITY, Tex., May 14.—Eight bodies of persons killed in tornado near here today have been recovered and it is reported several more are on the way here. Twelve persons have been counted dead. There is no official estimate of the number killed. Relief workers report finding dead and injured at many farm houses and ranches for miles southeast of here. Prisoner Slays Policeman

CLEVELAND, O., May 14.—With the finding of burned pieces of policeman's uniform, club and revolver holster identified as the property of Patrolman Dennis Griffin, missing since early Friday, every officer available was sent out to hunt for freshly dug grave. Every road is being watched for trace of John Whitefield, who kidnapped Griffin while the latter was taking him to jail Friday.

Negroes Shoot Up Pactolus, "Sport" Stopped By Officers

Claiming that several white men had "insulted their women," a group of negroes decided to shoot up Pactolus yesterday. Armed with shot guns, rifles, revolvers and clubs they put the determination into practice. Apparently it was immaterial upon whom their rage was visited. Several automobilists driving through the place were targets of pistol shots. Clifton Worthington, was possibly made to feel the temper of the group worst. The fender of his automobile was literally shot into pieces by a barrage of shot gun and revolver bullets. The tires of his machine were riddled and he barely escaped personal injury. Word of the disturbance was communicated to the sheriff's office. Deputies Whitehurst, Cox, Clark and Cain, lost no time in arriving at the scene. The riot spirit was quickly dispelled by them. They took into custody Isam Baker, Claude Daniels, Roland Clemens, Louis Williams and Stephen Shepherd said to be the ring leaders. They were brought to Greenville and lodged in jail. Officers say they were drunk. Williams was the only one arraigned today before Judge Cooper in the county court. He was convicted of carrying concealed weapons and given 12 months on the county roads. He appealed the judgment to the superior court. Other members of the group will be given hearings later, it was said. Other cases before Judge Cooper, today included W. J. Bryan, found guilty of buying liquor. He was fined $100 and costs. Walter Hardee, convicted of disorderly conduct was given six months on the road. He appealed from the sentence. Frank Hoggan, colored, was convicted of larceny. The evidence developed that he stole a quantity of goods from M. O. Blount, Bethel merchant. Ernest Whitehurst 15 years old, held as an accomplice in connection with the thefts, was held for the action of the superior court.

STUDENTS PRESENT SPLENDID PROGRAM

A very beautiful and effective Mother's Day program was presented by the Senior normal class, on Sunday evening, May 13. The service was opened by singing hymn number 176, the wording of which was changed to "Faith of Our Mothers." Lillian Jordan, vice president of the class, presided and read Philipians 4-8. Mabel Wooten lead in prayer. Laura Foley sang, "Little Mother of Mine," after which Arline Barber read a poem "Mother's Day." Ora Evans read two selections "That's Mother," and "Because of You." Then "Writing to Mother" was read by Clara Dowdy. The entire class sang a very touching "Lullaby," Marjorie Waite very forcibly reminded us of our Mother's love when she read "A Mother's Love," and "Dear Mother, 'Tis You." A duet, "Mother Machree," was rendered by Milda Duke and Laura Foley. Alice Penny gave "My Prayer," and hymn number 171 was sung. The association was dismissed by repeating together the 14th verse of the 19th Psalm.

QUESTIONNAIRE TELL PURPOSE AND OBJECT OF A CURB MARKET

N. O. Warren Reviews In Clear Summary Value of Project

Judging from the interest manifested last Saturday morning at Forbes and Morton's warehouse, Greenville's curb market is already an assured success. However, inasmuch as the curb market is a new venture in this section, there are doubtless a large number who are not fully acquainted with just what it really is and how it is operated. As a means of dispelling any misgivings and giving the public a clear, concise idea of a curb market, the following is presented: By N. O. Warren.

Question—What is a curb market? Answer—A place for the assembling and sale of farm produce.

Question—What items are usually brought? Answer—Garden truck, poultry products, etc.

Question—What are some of the items most in demand? Answer—Spring chickens, fresh eggs, strawberries, garden peas, string beans, honey, together with a limited quantity of onions, cabbage, sweet potatoes, rutabagas, turnips, Irish potatoes.

Question—How are the prices regulated? Answer—A suggested price committee, composed of farmers, merchants and others get a line on prevailing prices for the different items offered and then decide on what they feel would be a fair price for both consumer and producer.

Question—Who are the purchasers of the products offered? Answer—The housewives of the town in which the market is located.

Question—What other towns in North Carolina are operating Curb Markets? Answer—Kinston, New Bern, Elizabeth City, Lumberton, Fayetteville, Henderson, Durham, Greensboro, Gastonia and a large number of other places.

Question—What do the farmers and the purchasers in these various sections think of the curb market idea? Answer—The majority express unanimous approval.

Question—What will this venture mean to Pitt county? Answer—It will mean that the farmers can have spending money all a long through the summer months and not be entirely dependent on tobacco and cotton in the fall.

Question—What will it mean to the housewives of Greenville? Answer—It will mean that you can patronize the regular market days and get a fresh supply of produce for your table.

Question—What will be an additional benefit? Answer—Acquaintanceship and friendship.

"THE MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY"

The film picture "The Man Without a Country," to be shown at White's Theatre teaches an impressive lesson of Americanism. It discloses the inevitable fate that overtakes such traitors as Aaron Burr, Benedict Arnold and countless others that belong in the same category.

In a modified sense, the town knocker occupies practically the same position in our community. They are against everything and everybody that stands for progress and development of those things that mean advancement and collective interest. In brief they should be regarded as nothing more or less than traitors, in that being malcontent they do not wish to see any evidence of efforts that have for their purpose a greater and progressive community spirit.

Fortunately there is not many of this stripe in Greenville. But those who have the proclivities indicated should take notice and get out. There is no place for them in our life.

GREENVILLE'S MILK SUPPLY

Not only is the milk supply of Greenville inadequate but is relatively high in price compared to countless other cities and towns. Importance of a sufficient pure milk supply cannot be over estimated, because it is nature's food. It is absolutely necessary for nursing infants, for the reason, it is nearest LIKE MOTHERS'. The value of the pure product cannot be measured in terms of dollars and cents. On the contrary, milk that is deficient in the proper percentage of butter fat and made susceptible to contamination and impurities is the best auxiliary working for undertakers.

Sanitation and tuberculin dairy herds are the prime essentials that must obtain to insure the health of babies, children and adult milk consumers.

Farmers should know the vital importance milk has on the health of a community. Dairymen should remember also that there is no such thing as high prices for milk, when it is guaranteed against impurities. On the other hand, it should be recognized, that any price asked for the product hauled from uncertain herds without regard to sanitary methods is nothing less than an imposition that negates the health of a community.

No reflection is intended upon dairymen that supply Greenville with milk. It is to be hoped that they observe the strictest regard for cleanliness and sanitation, but at the same time if they could be brought to a realization that graded herds and eventually purebreds are what make the dairy business expand profitably the better a common interest would be served.

Scrub dairy stock is becoming as obsolete as the one-horse plow. It is a thing that will soon belong to the dead past. It is deplorable that Pitt County does not rank better in the elimination of the long horned, "hat-rack" built cow—that traverses upon intelligent farming.

When the fact becomes indelibly impressed upon farmers of this county that it costs no less to feed graded stock than scrubs, at the same time doubling production the movement will gain impetus. Other sections of North Carolina are departing from the old time worn methods. Value of raising feeds, increasing production, lowering its cost, and giving consumers the benefit of higher grades of milk is a simple business proposition that should find ready response among Pitt County farmers.

No attempt is made to dodge the truth that any person or group of persons cannot be forced to do any given thing. The best that education in any line can hope to do is pointing out paramount advantages of helping people to help themselves.

It is a sad but patent truth that farming in this county needs a BIG JOLT to be brought to a realization that diversified agriculture is the only sensible, dependable process of obtaining an all year around money turn over.

TEAM WORK PLEDGED

The unanimous declaration of the recently elected officers of the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce, directors and members of the organization to give undivided support to any movement or project having to do with the development of this county is refreshing and encouraging.

More verbal expression of faith and support sounds good. But getting down to business and giving tangible evidence of doing things, is what counts. The work of a commercial organization is not the work of a single man, or a few progressive members. It requires united thought, determination and cooperation to accomplish any worth while undertaking. Every business and professional man knows that.

If every citizen of Greenville would only reflect for a moment and analyze not only the community but individual benefits that accrue from the activities of a commercial body, possibly they would take a more active part in its functions. In any event, they would appreciate the worth of such an organization and give it passive, if not whole hearted aid.

Every project that is accomplished by a commercial group, regardless of its nature, in time, is bound to create a new money resource. Every banker, every business concern, professional man—in fact every one—in some way or other will participate in this additional money distribution. There is no argument to the contrary.

Under the new arrangement bi-monthly meetings of the chamber are to be held. Each member has promised to hold these dates open to give to the work the attention it deserves. That begins to look like business and a spirit of self sacrifice. It is an indication that previous engagements and stress of other affairs will not be pleaded as an excuse for not attending those important sessions. That is a tremendous step in the direction of active cooperation that never fails in carrying forward civic pride and improvements.

The chamber has a program chock full of projects covering the next year. All of them can be put over—all of them for the benefit of the county.

The organization is fortunate in having a secretary of vision. H. L. Smith, has studied the needs of Pitt County, he is fully conversant with the things that require first attention. He is just an ordinary human being and can only do a real man's work, which he is performing with credit.

What he must have is cooperation and vested with the authority to put into effect some of the valuable and practical things he has in mind.

It is confidently believed that the Chamber of Commerce will make good its collective promise of team work. Results will quickly follow.

Standard Farms Now Being Used by the Manufacturers

NEW YORK.—The business of life at least that portion of it having to do with the manufacture, sale and use of material things, has become so complicated in recent years that more than 200 national industrial associations and government departments are now engaged in a co-operative effort to straighten out the tangle. The straightening process has taken the form of simplification, unification, and standardization of raw materials, of manufacturing processes, and of finished products.

Their reaching proportion this work assumed during 1922 is revealed in the year book of the American engineering standards committee, a federation of the industrial, technical and governmental agencies engaged in national standardization work. The projects under way range from standardization of the proportions of bolts, nuts, and rivets to the standardization of the dimensions of motion picture films; from standardization of the methods of testing automobile headlights to standardization of methods of testing wood, steel, or portland cement; from standardization of methods of sampling coal and coke to the standardization of the methods of testing iron fabrics; from the standardization of rules concerning electricity meters to standardization of the manner in which telegraph telephone, and other electric wires cross each other at overhead intersections on the streets and roads of the United States. In all, more than 120 such projects have been completed or are now underway.

Even the language of industrial and technical men has become so complicated and confused in the rapid development of science and industry during recent years that it has become necessary to simplify and standardize words, their meanings and symbols.

MISS PARKER GOT NO REST SHE SAYS

Work Became So Burdensome She Felt Like Giving Up Completely

"The Tanlac treatment gets all the thanks for my splendid health, and I haven't the slightest doubt but what it is the best medicine made," declared Miss Sallie Parker, popular girl of Osceola Mills, Gastonia, N. C.

For a year I suffered badly with stomach trouble and nervousness, and got so run-down my work was almost too much for me. My appetite just about left me, and even the little I did manage to eat refused to stay on my stomach. At other times my food caused me misery from gas and pains, and I was so dreadfully short of breathe, I had headaches, too, and always felt tired and worn out, even after a night's sleep.

"Right after I began taking Tanlac my appetite improved and my stomach trouble, nervousness and run-down condition have all disappeared now. I never felt better and will always praise Tanlac. It is simply grand."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Take no substitute. Over 37-million bottles sold.

These companies operate 13,679

To Close Church For Deaf, Blind
LONDON—One of London's quaint-est institutions, the deaf and dumb church of St. Saviour's, is soon to disappear. So far as known, it is the only church in the world devoted exclusively to worship by the deaf, the dumb and the blind. The increased real estate value of the site upon which this unique institution is built has made it necessary to close its doors, but it is hoped to re-establish it in a more modest part of London.

The foundation for the modest church was laid by the late King Edward in 1870, and it became familiar to the hundreds of thousands of Britons and Americans who pass along one of the busiest and noisiest thoroughfares of the capital.

STOCKHOLM—The first import-to a Swedish ball bearing company.

 As a precedent and test case this agreement is arousing widespread interest in other European countries

looking toward the Russian market.
 The concession is for a term of 40 years and enables the Swedish company to carry on its activity partly under control of the Russian government. The Swedish factor in Russia, which had been nationalized by the Soviet, is temporarily returned to be the original owners, now the concessionaire, who, however, must pay 200,- 000 gold rubles for the property and the stocks. The company agrees to spend its own funds in improving the factory so that the capacity by 1925 will be 50,000-ball bearings.

So they greased
 the bottom of the ship

SMART builders of smart ships, those hardy settlers along the Atlantic Coast just after the Revolution. Many a time their sharp-built barks and brigantines showed their heels to the Mediterranean blockade and carried American goods into Marseilles. And one ingenious device for getting a knot or two of extra speed was the greasing of the vessel's bottom. So while the friction of the water held back their pursuers, they slipped onward to safety.

Friction is always a drag against progress, especially in the case of motor cars and trucks. For years this company has been aiming at the conquest of friction by means of a lubricating oil scientifically designed. We have been successful.
 Ask for Polarine, the "Standard" oil for motor lubrication—not just "a quart of oil."

BRITISH SEEK NEW SOURCES OF COTTON, TURN TO AUSTRALIA

Dependence of Great Britain upon America for the empire's cotton supply has stirred the British authorities to consideration of the further cotton growing possibilities of Australia.

In a recent debate in the House of Commons on empire resources, Sir Joseph laid emphasis upon the dangerous position in which the cotton manufacturers in Great Britain had been placed by the dependence upon America for their supply.

In 1922 there were 7,000 acres in Queensland devoted to cotton production. This class forms its own community and numbers approximately three million persons, scattered throughout the country.

NOTED SALOON NOW A PUBLIC LIBRARY

BOSTON.—"Nuf Ced" McGreevy and his Third Base saloon have turned to literature. Bottles and glasses and baseball trophies have given way to books.

Michael T. McGreevy for 30 years owned and managed the Third Base and his patrons were chiefly ball players and fans.

Even after the South End grounds had become a memory he remained faithful to baseball. Switching his interest to the American League, he followed the Red Sox at his own expense on many trips around the circuit.

Sees Mining Coal and Iron at Sea

SYDNEY, N. S. — Engineers in time will be able to take coal and iron ore from under the sea at distances of five miles or more from shore, according to F. W. Gray, an executive of the British Empire Steel Corporation.

The cost of bringing deposits to the surface rather than failure of the seams will place a limit on submarine mining operations, Mr. Gray thinks.

Many Countries Show Improved Labor Conditions

LONDON.—The unemployment situation throughout the world is favorable compared with that of a year ago, says the current issue of the International Labor Review, the monthly publication of the International Labor office of the League of Nations at Geneva.

In France and Belgium unemployment is almost non-existent. In North America employment was exceedingly good toward the close of 1922 as compared with 1921, though in Canada figures for October and November show a contraction as compared with previous years.

In the United States employment has been steadily increasing during the past year and business conditions continue to improve.

In the United Kingdom the general unemployment index numbers show little change at the end of January 1923 as compared with December 1922.

In the Scandinavian countries and in the Netherlands the situation shows improvement.

Class Discrimination Is Sought by Japan

TOKYO.—Sennosuko Yokota and other Eetuyukai members of the Diet recently introduced in the Lower House a resolution urging the abolition of class discrimination, particularly with regard to that social stratum commonly known as the "eta" class.

The term "eta" was formerly applied to the butchers of Japan, when meat eaters were outcasts, but it was abolished by government ordinance a number of years ago.

Says Public Backs Industry Platform

RANGOON.—Miss Jane Addams, American sociologist, noted as the founder and head of Hull House, Chicago, has come to the conclusion in a six weeks' tour of British India that racial feeling is still strong and that the problem of harmonizing the various antagonistic elements is not being adequately faced at present.

When interviewed here by a representative of The Associated Press, Miss Addams said: "The question of the relation of the races is very acute in India, and has not been perfectly studied. We need to approach it with an open mind as we have approached economic and other problems.

"In the larger cities," said Miss Addams, "the housing situation constitutes another difficult social problem. This is especially true of Bombay and Calcutta, where the problem has got beyond the power of the civil authorities.

Wave Allotments Reduce Interference

CHICAGO.—Elimination of the conflict of voices and music in the air, due to the number of radio broadcasting stations using the same wave length, soon will be under way as a result of measures decided upon at the recent radio conference in Washington.

The new wave lengths, which will range from 222 to 545 meters, are to be available May 15. One of the largest of the local stations, KYW, has announced it will thereafter send on 448 meters instead of 400 meters.

The higher powered stations may use wave lengths between 288 and 545 meters, while those of less power will be assigned waves from 222 to 286 meters.

The new allotments will reduce interference to a minimum. Chicago will send on 448; Davenport on 484; Des Moines, 484; Detroit, 517; Dearborn, 517; Cleveland, 390; Toledo, 390; Cincinnati, 309; Madison, 417; and Minneapolis, 417.

KENTUCKY DERBY WILL PAY $64,000

LOUISVILLE.—The forty-ninth renewal of the Kentucky Derby already has set several new records, although America's greatest race is still more than a week away. The nominees, numbering 145, far exceed all previous totals, the nearest approach being the 109 mark of 1920. With a possible 21 starters, the race will be worth $64,000 in addition to the winner's gold plate valued at $7,500.

For the first time in its history the Derby will be run on the second Saturday of the meet, instead of the opening day. This change was decided on to avoid conflict with the Preakness, another famous race, at Pimlico, Maryland.

As for the records which may be established by the horses themselves, indications are that one of the most evenly balanced fields in many years will face the barrier on the afternoon of May 19.

The possible $64,000 purse this year is quite a contrast with that of the first Derby, in 1875, when Aristides romped home ahead of the field to win $2,850.

Ancient Dead of Egypt Buried Under Noted French Shrine

PARIS, May 11.—Recent investigation has disclosed the novel fact that a number of Egypt's royal dead are interred under the famous Bastille shrine of France's freedom.

It appears that Champollion, the noted French archaeologist and inventor of the key to Egyptian hieroglyphics, years ago sent a number of mummies from Egypt to the Louvre. Egyptology was then in its infancy, and doubtless sufficient precautions had not been taken to retain the mummies in their original state. When the royal remains arrived in Paris it was found impossible to place them in the museums, as had been intended, and in 1830 they were buried in the Gardens of the Louvre.

Then followed the stormy days at the end of July, when the population of Paris rose in protest against the ordinances of King Charles X. Fighting took place near the Louvre and Tuilleries, and the bodies of those killed were buried where they fell. It is recorded that in the course of this task one of the citizens struck with his spade a skull which he thought to be that of a victim of the Massacre of St. Bartholomew, but which was in reality that of one of the Pharaohs buried a few months before.

Strange Tests Used On Children in the Schools of London

LONDON.—Strange tests that some critics say might puzzle much older children are being used at various London County Council schools to find out the mental development of juvenile pupils.

At eight the child is supposed to give an intelligent answer to such a question as:

"What are you to do if you break something that belongs to somebody else?"

Satisfactory answers included: "Pay for it," "Own up," "Buy another," "Say I was sorry."

Unsatisfactory answers included such as: "I should cry," "Hide it," "Mend it." The last answer was considered meritorious as giving some indication as to other pupils' moral disposition.

The solving of circumstantial problems is one of the tasks allotted to indicate normal development of children of 13. One of the riddles was: "My next door neighbor has had three visitors: first, a doctor called, then a lawyer, and then a clergyman. What do you think has been happening there?"

TRINITY ELECTS OFFICERS STUDENT GOVERNMENT

DURHAM, May 7.—While McLean and Bailey are concerned in getting their houses in order for the gubernatorial campaign, election day has passed at Trinity college and once more the students pursue the even tenor of their ways. Seventy-five per cent of the men students participated in the election of officers for the men's association of student government, while on hundred per cent cast ballots for councillors.

John Ballie Harris, Albemarle was named president of the association, Carl Knox, Ireland vice-president, and W. B. Barnes, Raleigh secretary-treasurer.

American Red Cross Forces Direct Successful Fight Against Disease Among Many Refugees in Greece

This is to introduce Mrs. Charlotte Heilman of Bound Brook, New Jersey, nursing director of the American Red Cross in Greece. She is the woman upon whom devolved much of the responsibility for the care of a million refugees who last fall and early last winter were unceremoniously swept into Greece from Anatolia and other Turkish-occupied territory. Moreover, it is to Mrs. Charlotte Heilman that much of the success of the American Red Cross campaign against dirt and disease in the ranks of the refugees must be attributed. The metropolitan of Athens is also shown here preaching sanitary discipline to refuges as part of the American Red Cross program. While reports from more eastern centers of refugee settlement have brought news of pestilence and epidemic, in Greece where the American Red Cross, and particularly Mrs. Heilman and her staff of American nurses, have been handling the refugee situation, enforcing bathing and making delousing one of the essential requirements for the person who sought a meal ticket, epidemics have been nipped in the bud and no contagious disease has been allowed to gain a foothold. Typhus, the most dreaded of all the winter diseases in the refugee camp, has been kept at a minimum; smallpox has been combated by an extensive vaccination campaign, and now that summer is at hand in Sunny Greece inoculation against cholera and typhoid is going forward. The American Red Cross has spent in the neighborhood of $2,600,000 in Greece in relieving distress among the refugees and in waging its war upon dirt and disease. Most of it went for food; some of it went for soap; some of it went for medicines. It all came out of the emergency disaster fund maintained by the organization through American charity. The emergency phase of the problem is rapidly passing.

Bottom of Ocean Correctly Pictured By New Process

SAN FRANCISCO.—The precise contour of the Pacific continental shelf from San Francisco Bay to Point Descanso, Mexico, revealed recently in the publication by the hydrographic office of the navy department of a bathymetric chart, shows the floor of the ocean in a detailed way which will enable mariners hereafter to determine the position of their craft when landmarks are obstructed from view by climatic conditions.

The information is based on a recent cruise made by the destroyers Hull and Corry, employing the recently invented Sonic finder.

The Sonic finder, a device which determines the depth of the ocean by recording the time required for the sound to reach the bottom and reflect to the ship, takes a 2000-foot sounding in less than a minute, supplanting a method which required six hours.

Originally undertaken at the request of the Carnegie institute to aid in finding earthquake faults in the Pacific Ocean, the results obtained by the charting cruise far exceeded the original purpose, according to Lieut-Lyman K. Swenson, of the navy department.

Steel Mills Wants Student Workers

CLEVELAND.—Students of Case School of Applied Science have been offered work in all lines this summer by the Bethlehem Steel company.

In a letter to Dr. Charles S. Howe, president of Case, Bethlehem officials offer Case freshmen, sophomores and juniors industrial occupation in the company's mills, furnaces, coke plants and repair departments during the coming vacation season. The purpose of the offer is declared to be to enable college men to aid their finances and at the same time to augment their practical experience during their summer vacations. The students are asked to come as soon as possible and remain until as late in the fall as their studies will permit. The students are offered the same wages and hours as men doing similar work.

Among the Bethlehem plants at which Case men will be employed are those at Bethlehem, Pa.; Lackawanna, N. Y.; Lebanon, Pa.; Steelton, Pa. and Sparrows Point, Md.

Adopt Rules to Govern Air Race

INDIANAPOLIS, May 11.—Definite rules governing entries, size of balloons with regard to gas capacity, and other phases of construction, have been adopted for the annual national elimination balloon race, which will start in Indianapolis July 4. It will be the first time that definite rules have governed the event, it was said.

Preliminary arrangements for the race, which will be held under the auspices of the Indianapolis chamber of commerce, were made recently. The contest is sponsored by the National Aeronautic association, of which B. Russell Shaw of Washington, D. C., is chairman of the contest committee.

The rules provide that free or spherical balloons of more than 31,000 cubic feet capacity are eligible to compete. All balloons and complete equipment must be at the Indianapolis motor speedway, where the take-off will be made, between June 20 and July 1, and they must be inflated on the ground. Each balloonist must have a recording altimeter, which will be sealed by the referee, and the necessary charts carried in the balloon during flight. No advertising balloons will be permitted to compete, and the only printing that may be displayed is the name of the balloon and the trade mark of the constructor.
