

Enterprising business concerns of Greenville are offering big inducements for the benefit of customers. They have set aside tomorrow, Saturday and next Monday as DOLLAR DAYS. This is a genuine opportunity to obtain values for a relative small price. The assortment is varied and comprises articles and commodities representing virtually every line of merchandise. Window trims are but a small fraction of practical and needful things that have been reduced in price—that make a collective unit of irresistible attraction. Merchants are to be commended for the spirit of bringing to the purchasing public a fine variety of merchandise, regardless of real intrinsic worth. The inauguration of the sale tomorrow should prove response by appreciative patronage. It is believed it will.

Public Showing Deep Interest Outdoor Sport

CHICAGO.—The 1923 crop of fans in outdoor sports bids fair to exceed all records. Baseball has started off with unparalleled patronage; reservations for the leading horse and automobile racing events indicate enormous crowds, and the prospective summer program of outdoor boxing especially among the heavyweights, doubtless will draw many thousands.

Arrangements for handling spectators have been largely expanded in every spectacle from baseball and football to horse racing and still seem inadequate.

The New York Yankees' new park was opened to 74,200 baseball fans, with 25,000 turned away. The Chicago Cubs' enlarged park April 22 inclosed 38,000 persons and thousands stood on the playing field. New baseball parks in other cities were similarly favored.

The management of Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky. has expanded seating facilities to care for some 30,000 persons for the Kentucky Derby May 19, but confidently predict that the total attendance at the historic event will approximate 100,000.

Legislative interference having been overcome, promoters of the Memorial Day auto race at Indianapolis are going ahead with preparations to handle a crowd of 150,000.

With a heavyweight championship boxing contest practically certain for this summer, and a meeting of the principal heavyweight contenders already arranged, the fan crop on the padded mitt division appears as flourishing as any. Chicago's first openly conducted boxing match for nearly 20 years drew 15,000 the utmost capacity of the Coliseum, early this spring.

Will Never Reform Prison, Will Outgrow Them, He Says

WASHINGTON, May 17.—"The cure of crime, and poverty and the reform of criminals, has been found to be, as a rule uncertain, incomplete, temporary, expensive and long. The only way of dealing with it has been proven to be relatively certain, complete, permanent, cheap and quick."

In these words, Fomer Folks of New York, summed up his estimate of social progress in America in the last two decades, in his presidential address at the opening session of the fifth anniversary meeting of the National conference of Society Work here last night.

"Two decades ago," said Folks, "The best citizens and the leading public officials were highly pleased with their hospitals, orphanages, reformatories and rescue missions. They had no misgivings as to the success of such agencies. At that time the prevention of sickness, distress, and crime, was a theory an article of faith. To substantial citizens, it was in the nature of a speculation, worth trying, probably people spoke well of it, but at best highly uncertain in its results, probably very expensive and to be realized only in the distant future."

"Twenty years has seen a complete reversal in the position of cure and prevention in these respects. We are not nearly so sure of the complete success of curative agencies as we were. We find that tuberculous patients cured in sanatoria have a bad habit of relapsing. Reformatories reform only occasionally. Not all patients leaving hospitals by the front door are cured, and the morgue is an important factor in every hospital. How often we find that some disease in middle life which diminishes usefulness and shortens life dates back to an acute illness decades before."

"As to jails and prisons, I have reached the conclusion that we shall never learn how to manage them. The demoralizing effect upon human beings of being placed in charge of other human beings, deprived of their liberty and civil rights, too great a strain. It do not think we shall ever reform our prisons, but I have every confidence that we shall outgrow them."

COLORED PEOPLE ATTEND REVIVAL

Calvin P. Dixon, known throughout Virginia, as the "Black Billy Sunday" is conducting series of evangelistic meetings at Forbes and Morton's warehouse. It was the original intention to hold the services in the York A. M. E. Zion church, but the seating capacity was found inadequate following the opening meeting Tuesday night. Services will be held each evening at 7:45, and will continue for two weeks. Musical numbers will be given by a special choir.

The evangelist has just closed a revival at Washington, N. C., resulting in 150 conversions. In order to accommodate any white persons who might care to attend the services special reservation has been set aside.

Character Record Counts in College

RIPON, Wis.—Character records, which are pronounced as of prime importance will be consulted in the future as a basis for enabling Ripon college to carry out its plan of limiting its student attendance to 500, according to an announcement by President E. S. Evans of the college.

"This character record will be kept in addition to the scholastic record" Dr. Evans says. "In addition to its consultation as a basis for limiting our attendance, it will be used as a basis of recommendation of our students in the varied activities of life. It is a constructive means of recording creditable items to the great majority of our students who are aiming to do the right thing, and to fit into the spirit of the institution."

JOHN RHODES AND DOROTHY CHAPPEL WON FIRST HONORS

Declamation Contest Proved Interesting Event Last Night

It was a difficult question to determine the winners in the declamation and recitation contest in the high school auditorium last night. Each of the participants handled their subjects with ability that evidenced study and research. Finally John Rhodes, New Bern, and Dorothy Chappel, Elizabeth City were given first honors consisting of $10 in gold, each. Superintendent Ashley, Washington, presented the prizes.

Rhodes spoke on "An Appeal to Arms." Miss Chappel, "The Last Word." Honorable mention was given to Elgin White, Elizabeth City and Louise Shelburne, Washington. The former discussed "The New South," and Miss Shelburne, "The Soul of the Violin." Other participants and the subjects presented included: Cabell D. White, Belhaven, "I am An American," Elborn Byrd, Washington, "Don't Die on Third," Mary Shephardson, Belhaven "An Afternoon in a Hotel Room," Emily Pollock, New Bern, "An Aspiring Dishwasher," Annie Shields, Vandyke, Greenville "Under the Buggy Seat," Wayland Hart, Greenville "Respect for the Flag."

Presbyterians to Ballot on Choice Moderator Today

MONTREAL, N. C. May 17.—The election of a moderator and organization was before the opening session of the sixty-third general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church today. It is expected the balloting will begin this afternoon on the choice of moderator.

While no names were advanced, it was understood, that a strong effort would be put forth to name a man from the western part of the state as head of the assembly.

Dr. H. C. Reed, retiring moderator, at the session today, spoke on "Hell," expressing the opinion there is more evidence relating to its reality than any one thing in the Bible, and urging more sermons on the subject.

Moroccans Neglect Chances for Money

ALGERS, Algeria.—Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia, those rich but undeveloped French colonial possessions bordering the southern Mediterranean, could raise sufficient wheat and cattle to make France independent of the United States and Argentina according to Major Charles E. Spratt, an American economic and corporation expert, who has just completed a 45-days' survey of these countries.

The reason is that the natives of Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia are literally without mentality, and their French masters apparently make no effort to develop any. Not only are they untutored intellectually, but they lack those ordinary aptitudes that are required to raise a potato or to cultivate a blade of grass. They are satisfied to live and to work as little as possible.

Disavow Egyptian Policy

LONDON.—No fewer than 100 members of the House of Commons signed the remarkable document disavowing the present British policy in Egypt and appealing to the government to find new measures that will restore order and confidence in that country.

MAN FORCED TO ACCEPT ALIMONY

On order from a Los Angeles Court, Frederick I. Moon must accept $15 a month alimony from his wife, Mrs. Ethel Lou Moon. If he refuses to take the money, Moon will be locked up. He cannot "see" taking money from a woman, but because he is ill, the court ordered him to take it. Mrs. Moon told the court, in fighting the alimony, that "any man who would take money from a woman ought to be tarred and feathered." But she has to pay, just the same.

Pitt County Horses Leave To Compete on Big Circuit

Eighteen trotting and pacing horses, owned by R. L. Smith and W. H. Dail, of this county have been shipped and will compete on the grand circuit tracks this season. Thirteen of the animals are the property of Mr. Smith, while Mr. Dail is the owner of the other five.

The first stop will be made at Norfolk, and entries from these two stables will be found on all the prominent courses during the next few months. Lillian T., the famous little black mare is expected to add to her laurels. She has already won trophies against some of the best horses in the country, and has set new records on several of the fastest tracks of the grand circuit.

Parker Boy is looked to put large sized crimp into the entries of several well known stables.

The records of these Pitt county horses has been no small factor in advertising this county. Performances during the season are expected to reflect more renown both upon the owners and this county.

Grimesland Girl Says Man Tried To Assault Her

Guy Elks, 22 married is under $1,000 bond charged with an attempted criminal assault upon Bessie Hunt 16 years old, living near Grimesland.

According to the testimony developed at a hearing before Magistrate Faucett, it was alleged that about a week ago Elks appeared at the Hunt home and offered indignities to the girl. When complaint was made to Grimesland authorities he was arrested.

Elks will have a hearing in county court next Monday, it is said.

New Tax Schedule Arouses Turkey's Ire

CANSTANTINOPLE.—The Grand National Assembly sits in its capital at Angora, barred from contact with the outside world, almost inaccessible even to foreign diplomats whose intercourse must be through the medium of Dr. Adnan Bey its representative in Constantinople. The government thus lives in an atmosphere of its own creation, unaffected by foreign comment on its actions and to this condition is attributed some recent governmental actions which have aroused a measurable degree of foreign criticism.

Until recently the duty on flour in Turkey was one percent. On March 1 the rate was advanced to five percent and made retroactive on all stocks still in warehouse and which had paid the old duty of one percent.

Co-Op Tobacco Association Is Flayed By Writer, Methods In Pitt County Severely Criticised

Military Battles Brigands to Save Foreign Captives

Anxiety over foreign captives held in Shantung hills by Chinese bandits heightened when word was received today at Tienstin from Thao-Chawang, of a clash between troops of the Chinese government and members of the outlaw band, when a detachment of brigands attempted to join the main body at Paotzuka, the mountain stronghold. It is said the outlaws were driven back after a sharp fight. It is feared that the incident may add fuel to the smouldering vindictiveness of the bandits, who are said to have hurled three captives over an embankment to death.

The brigands have repeatedly threatened to kill prisoners if troops are not withdrawn and bandits granted immunity and enroll in the national army.

Kills His Wife, All Husbands Do It In Time, He Declares

LONDON, May 17.—Signor Massini, noted Italian writer, shot his wife fatally after a quarrel today, and then surrendered to police.

His only reply when questioned why he had slain his wife was "all husbands do this sooner or later."

German People Resent Bureaucratic Control

BERLIN.—Economic pressure is forcing Germany to decentralize, to abolish government and municipal bureaus and turn to private management and the encouragement of private enterprise to a degree which is discouraging to the extreme Socialists.

But the Socialists, critical as they are of the change apparently have no alternative to present and are offering only feeble vocal protests. The Vorwarts and other Socialist papers admit that German cities and towns are forced to turn their public utilities over to companies in the interest of greater economy, which can be affected through putting business men in charge.

Hugo Stinnes and some of his industrial associates have offered to take over the entire railway system of Germany, which is now running with heavy losses, and operate it at such reduced cost that they will make a legitimate profit for themselves and give the public better service without increasing rates.

The public is tired of top-heavy bureaus and their burdensome and expensive systems. It has been regulated and controlled to a point where its patience is exhausted. Everything has been under control of some sort of municipal or government bureau. Housing commissions have harassed and annoyed Germans high and low until they are clamoring for release from bureaucratic control. Graft has entered into the workings of many housing commissions with the result that they operate against the interests of the very persons they were designed to protect, and play into the hands of profiteers.

LAST OF JACKSON'S STAFF SERIOUSLY ILL

GREENSBORO, May 17.—Dr. James Powers Smith, said to be the last surviving member of the staff of Gen. Stonewall Jackson and widely known as a Presbyterian clergyman, is seriously ill here, but making a gallant fight for life.

The Southern Tobacco Journal, published at Winston-Salem, in a current issue criticises the operation of the Co-Operative Tobacco association in Pitt county. Here is how the situation looks to the correspondent.

On a recent visit to Greenville, N. C., Pitt county's capital, our representative was informed that this great county produced more tobacco than any county in the entire world, and he asked why was it that such a small quantity of tobacco was delivered to the Co-Ops at Greenville, the third largest auction market in North Carolina, they having claimed a sign-up of Pitt county's tobacco of sixty-five to eighty per cent to be delivered to the association.

First of all, he was informed that no reflection was to be made against the local facilities and management of the association of Greenville for their warehouse at this point, is one of the largest in the entire state. It's manager and chief grader are men of long experience and eminently qualified. What he was told in Greenville concerning the methods used in persuading the farmers in that locality to sign the contracts differs very little if any, from the methods employed in other tobacco producing localities.

It is strange that County Farm Demonstrators, who are largely paid by taxes from the county citizens, were allowed, while hogs were dying everywhere from cholera for want of vaccination, to quit their work and spend their time and the tax-payers money, soliciting for an enterprise now sought for no desired while being promoted and has since, after a year's operation, been repudiated generally by the signers themselves, as well as those who are wise in not signing. Aaron's dream of building up small markets at the expense of the large markets was fostered by some of these so-called farm demonstrators who really worked an injury to the county in which they were employed, notwithstanding they were eating that county's bread and drawing salary from its taxes. Say, County Commissioners, how about letting Aaron pay this expense, instead of being paid out of the taxes of the county?

Say They Were Fooled.

Pitt is a rich county and its farmers are progressive, honorable and contract abiding citizens; many of them like farmers all over the tobacco belt were fooled into signing the contract, and the small amount of tobacco pooled at Greenville and elsewhere, shows they will not stand for such gross misrepresentation by slick organizers and highly paid speakers, a real expense to the tobacco farmers. A general repudiation of contracts signed, when they were secured by promising one thing and delivering another, could easily have been fore-estimated; the organizers promised bread, they delivered a stone. Is it reasonable to expect tobacco farmers to live up to their contract, which they were fooled into signing, when they were promised great things which never were or never will be fulfilled?

Now, let's see: Q. 1—Did they send slick speakers all over the county telling the tobacco farmers that if they did not sign the contracts, they would have no place to sell their tobacco?

Q. 2—Did these slick guys tell the tobacco farmers that the Imperial Tobacco Company, Export Tobacco Company, and others had turned their plants over to the Mighty Aaron?

Part of Aaron.

Q. 3—Did Aaron and others tell them they would get as much as 60 per cent first advance which advance would be more than they would receive for entire load or crop, sold on Auction Floor?

Q. 4—Did the Poison Tongue of the Mighty Aaron tell them that the Warehousemen were the bitterest enemies of the Tobacco Farmer?

Q. 5—Does anybody recall what the Mighty Aaron said about eliminating the Pin-Hookers, Speculators and independent buyers? Is it not true that

COUNTRY CHILDREN OUT OF SCHOOL

Thousands of country schools with six months terms or less closed in March, the seven months school in April and the eight months school are closing in May. The consolidated schools and schools in country villages where nine months terms prevail form a comparatively small group.

Many wide-awake teachers who are really interested in the progress of their pupils try to make up for the short terms by providing continuation work for the three to six months' vacation. The wise teacher suggests a subject which will best connect up with the individual pupil's home work. Useful to most of the boys will be problems in arithmetic relating to the farm, such as farm accounting, land measurement and the weighing and measuring of farm products. Household problems will be assigned to the girls.

Two young women who teach in adjoining districts in a Virginia county have classes in elementary agriculture. They have organized in each school a Boys' Corn Club and a Girls' Poultry Club.

MAKING A COUNTY PROSPEROUS

Bank deposits in Anson county, this state, increased from $645,000 to $2,100,000 in 10 years. The increase was due entirely to better farming for in the county there were only about 800 employed in manufacturing plants. Anson is now a county that counts. Ten years ago the farm income came almost entirely from cotton, and about 50 per cent of the improved land was devoted to that crop.

Most of the remainder was planted in corn which was used on the farms. The little live stock to be found was poorly bred and unprofitable. Clover and other soil improving crops were almost unknown. As a result of the introduction of better varieties, the use of better seed, and the adoption of improved methods of culture, the yields of these two crops have been greatly increased.

Before livestock could be grown to an extent it was necessary to sweeten the soil with lime so as to make it suitable for the growing of pasture and feed crops such as clover, cowpeas, soy beans and velvet beans. In the second year of the county agent's work a few farmers were induced to use lime on a total area of 10 acres. The succeeding 114 acres were limed, the third year 400 acres and recently lime has been shipped into the county for eight months at the rate of 100 tons a month.

Ten years ago the soy bean was a curiosity in the county. In 1921, nearly 750 acres were grown for grain and 993 for hay. Similar results are reported for a number of other crops.

When the county agent began his work the purebred animals in the county could have been numbered on the fingers of two hands. At present there are more than 20 purebred beef bulls, 30 dairy bulls, 14 rams, all of one bred, and so many purebred hogs that a census would be required to determine the number.

One farmer secured last year a pair of the once common razorback pigs and people traveled from all parts of the county to see these strange animals. A surplus of pork over the needs of the home market is being shipped out of the county and 15 farmers are now shipping cream. There are now 19 silos where a few years ago there were none, and farmers are greatly interested in feeding problems.

The sale of poultry and poultry products is also steadily increasing, and a large business is being developed by parcel post.

What all these farm and home improvements have done for improving and greatly strengthening bank resources is not the only outstanding benefit. The advantages that farmers, their wives and children are enjoying cannot be measured in the terms of momentary value. The whole county has been benefited because of the wider interests that have been created and the desire to GO AHEAD AND MAKE EVEN MORE IMPROVEMENTS IN THE NEXT DECADE.

Farmers of Pitt county can better this record. The question is: WILL THEY DO IT?

CO-OP TOBACCO ASSOCIATION IS LAYED BY WRITER, METHODS IN PITT COUNTY CRITICISED

Speculators have bought considerable tobacco direct from the association and sold it on Auction floors from 18 cents to 20 cents per pound profit, after paying for the tobacco?

Q. 6—How many fail to remember what the High Price Organizers said about handling their tobacco for less than the Auction warehouses? Have they done this, and too, have they not ought and leaved, at a big price a great many run-down warehouses, and more than they need, and employed men at fabulous prices to run them? We'd like to ask, is that economy and handling tobacco cheaper than auction warehouses? Is not all this money, together with newspaper propaganda paid for at big rates, high alaried officials, interest on money borrowed and hundreds of thousands of dollars in other expenses, deducted from the farmers' tobacco?

High Salaried Officials.

High salaried officials, paid in cash each month 100 per cent out of the money borrowed on the farmers' tobacco, may like it, but can the farmer, his wife and children stand to be paid 30 per cent on delivery of his tobacco and wait for another crop to be produced for a full settlement, while their expert's figure on another payment, money for which they expect to receive largely from the same abused independent buyers, who have already sold the tobacco and gotten their profits. Does the farmer ever know anything about these "inside operations," and does the association send out statements to its stockholders, showing the money received, from whom, and the money paid out, and to whom? Does the farmer who has raised the tobacco and taken all chances know what's going on by the "inside officials" who are bartering away the results of their labor—their tobacco?

Q. 7—Now that Carolina growers have had this method of marketing tobacco tried out right along by the side of the Auction system for an entire season, is the Italian Lawyer, drawing a big salary willing to let the farmers be governed by the merits of each method? No, but instead, they are sending lawyers and agents out, trying to enforce a penalty on the tobacco grower for his failure to deliver his tobacco to the people who secured his signature to a contract through misrepresentation, and who have not even half-way lived up to their promises.

Where Money is Going.

And these agents and lawyers reported to be getting a big share of the penalties collected, have let it out and are beating over the fact that over $50,000.00 has already been collected from the farmers of Eastern Carolina. A nice picture, a poor deceived tobacco farmer being met at some place by lawyers and agents after being summoned by threats, and then 3,000 official delegates. The coerced and scared into signing notes auditorium on the Steel Pier has been and additional papers on their next reserved for the convention sessions.

crop, wringing from them all the cash possible, and telling them they will have to go to Raleigh, if they fail to comply. Yet, these lawyers know there is no law making farmers pay this penalty, and farmers are here and now put on their guard about signing any more papers. They have signed too much already.

Q. 8—Who is left to boost Aaron's Dream? Is it the tobacco grower, who, through misrepresentation, was induced to sign the contract expecting that he would get more for his tobacco, thereby, though now sadly disappointed? No, not he, but that multitude of high salaried officials now living easy out of the farmers' tobacco, some of whom are the "Newspaper Boys," who do not print stuff for nothing. Are they thinking of themselves first, or are they thinking of the tobacco grower? The tobacco Farmer knows. The ship, drifting on Aaron's Pool, from his magic wand on which the Big Salaried boys ride, has sprung leaks everywhere, and while they cry "Don't give up the ship, boys," it goes down and down, so deep that not a bubble of praise arises to mark its resting place."

CONVENTION TO DISCUSS LUTHERAN CHURCH UNION

ST. PAUL.—Ranking as the outstanding Norwegian church convention of the country, the triennial gathering of the Norwegian Lutheran church of America will be held here June 7 to 15, with the local committee planning for 10,000 visitors.

One of the important issues to come before the convention is the proposed union of the church with three other Lutheran churches—the Lutheran Free church, the Icelandic Lutheran Synod, and the United Danish Lutheran church. Missionaries from China, India, Africa and Madagascar will address the convention.

HOMESTEAD OF ANNIE LAURIE TO PASS UNDER THE GAVEL

EDINBURGH.—Annie Laurie's home is to be sold at auction. The modest dwelling which is located near Edinburgh has been in the hands of her family of the woman around whom the famous ballad was written for many generations, but financial need compels them to dispose of it.

A relic of Annie Laurie's estate is still preserved in the beautiful Georgian garden in the rear of the house. Annie Laurie died in 1761 at the age of 79, and she lies buried in the old graveyard at Craigdarroch.

Baptists to Meet May 23.

ATLANTIC CITY.—Arrangements are being completed for the annual meeting of the Northern Baptist convention, in this city May 23-29. A record attendance is expected of more after being summoned by threats, and then 3,000 official delegates. The coerced and scared into signing notes auditorium on the Steel Pier has been and additional papers on their next reserved for the convention sessions.

ONE of the great difficulties of oil production lies in the fact that the discovery of oil immediately lifts property values in the neighborhood to exorbitant levels. Hence the pioneer producer is permitted to use up his energy and capital to his heart's content as long as he meets only dry wells and no oil. But let success crown his efforts and complications follow quickly involving the title and taxes of his land.

It is a long way from oil well to gasoline filling station, but the Standard Oil Company (N. J.), by combining the services of transporting, refining and marketing, has made Polarine and "Standard" Motor Gasoline as universally available as bread or tobacco. The steady progress of these petroleum products over a period of years is the best possible evidence of customer-satisfaction.

LOCAL BANKER PRAISES THE CURB MARKET HERE

Present indications point to a record day next Saturday morning at Forbes & Morton's warehouse, when for the second time, the doors will be thrown open for the curb market.

In speaking of this matter this morning, Mr. W. H. Wootard, the Greenville Banking and Trust Company made some significant remarks:

"This initial step points to a municipal market, which characterizes not only large cities but towns smaller than Greenville, throughout the north. The mutual satisfaction of the housewives and farmers is bound up in this enterprise.

We invite our farmer friends throughout this section to avail themselves of this splendid opportunity for adding to their spending money. The curb market, when established, will be the means of adding very materially to the wealth of this section. Make your plans now to attend this enterprise Saturday.

"The housewives of Greenville, and to be commended for the fine co-operation accorded last Saturday. Make your plans now to be present at the opening next Saturday promptly at 9 o'clock.

MUSICAL ORGANIZATION TO PLAY RETURN DATE AT STRAND ON SATURDAY

Yarborough's Broadway Melody Men, who have for some months been engaged at different places in the State, rendered one of the best orchestral programs at the Strand Theatre last night that has been heard in the city for many years. The musical organization is composed of eight men and their work in their first appearance here proved to the entire satisfaction of those that heard them that they are real melody artists.

By special request of many of the regular patrons of the theatre who were unable to hear them last night because of other engagements, the orchestra has been engaged to play here again on Saturday a matinee and night.

Is Your Name Minnie?
The Strand theatre is offering for tomorrow at both the matinee and night performances a free ticket to every woman or girl having the name of Minnie. So if you answer to that name this is your opportunity of seeing a good picture "Minnie" free.

Greece Escapes Worst Evils of Refugee Invasion By Efficient Work of American Red Cross

While reports reaching America from Constantinople of late have stressed the unsanitary conditions prevailing among the Greek refugees encamped in the former Turkish capital, where hundreds of the 25,000 who sought asylum there are said to be dying daily, conditions in Greece itself, where the refugees are numbered not by the tens of thousands but by hundreds of thousands, are in striking contrast. In Greece and its adjoining islands the American Red Cross has been and still is feeding some 500,000 of the refugees and throughout the winter such a high standard of sanitation has been maintained that in no camp did any disease reach epidemic proportions. The picture above shows a distribution of American clothing to the Red Cross refugees with which the American Red Cross met the emergency arising when, as an incident of the Greco-Turkish war, a million helpless and homeless wanderers were suddenly dropped upon the port towns of Greece, forestalled any such conditions as have been reported from centers of refugee concentration further east. There was little suffering from hunger and starvation because rations were promptly issued; there were comparatively few deaths from exposure, because ample and early shipments of clothing and blankets were rapidly distributed among those in need of them, and, most important of all, the sanitary regulations established and enforced by the American Red Cross with the cooperation of the Greek Government, the vigorous clean-up campaigns, the protection of water supplies, the disinfection and the inoculation of the refugees, the emergency hospitalization provided, combined to check any disastrous spread of smallpox, typhus, cholera or other diseases common to such indiscriminate massings of humanity.

The American Red Cross met the emergency in Greece with emergency measures effectively carried out. It cannot and will not undertake to assume the burden of permanently caring for the hundreds of thousands of refugees with which Greece finds herself burdened.

Hostesses at Linen Shower Complimentary to Miss Ione May Hooker, Bride Elect.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Graham Flanagan and Mrs. John Flanagan were hostesses at a linen shower complimentary to Miss Ione May Hooker, bride-elect.

Upon arrival the guests were given a cordial welcome by the hostesses and invited to the breakfast room where they were served punch by Miss Hannah Fulford and Mrs. Wiley Smith.

The home was beautifully decorated with spring flowers and potted plants carrying out the color scheme of pink and white.

Tables for bridge were arranged in the drawing room and library and many progressions were enjoyed.

Misses Pattie Wooten, Annie Higgs and Nancye Arthur, June brides, were presented beautiful pieces of lingerie, after which little Miss Lorraine Skinner entered with a small express wagon, decorated with pink, and containing a most beautiful linen shower, which she presented to the honoree, Miss Hooker.

An ice course, carrying out the color scheme, was served by the hostesses.

ATTENTION LADIES AND HOUSEWIVES OF GREENVILLE

Ladies and housewives, will you please give me your attention for a moment. Did you know that I am selling from two to three thousand pounds of the best hams on the market known as "Bill Allen's Selected Specials" in Wilson and Rocky Mount to the best recognized citizenship of these respective cities and that these hams are stored right here in Greenville every Saturday and you have the opportunity of visiting my place on Saturdays and selecting the best ham on the market from a display of pickled and most choice hams of the prettiest and nicest sizes before they are carried to Rocky Mount and Wilson the following week? Those who were fortunate enough to visit my store on Saturday know that I had on display the finest lot of hams ever brought to Greenville. The demand in Wilson and Rocky Mount for those left over this week was greater than the supply but I have been fortunate enough to secure another lot equal to those last Saturday and you are especially invited to visit my store the coming Saturday, May 19. We make deliveries on that date anywhere in the city. Ask those who have tried these hams about their delicious taste and quality.

Yours to serve,
W. H. ALLEN.

Weight Increased From 104 Pounds to One Fifty-Seven

"Four years ago Tanlac built me up from one hundred and four pounds to one hundred and fifty-seven, and since that time I have enjoyed perfect health," declared Mrs. Mary Louise Finmons, 60 Garnett, St. Atlanta.

"For several years I was in such an awful run-down, nervous condition I hadn't the strength to do housework. My appetite deserted me entirely. I was little more than a skeleton, and had a sickly, fallow complexion."

"But a surprising change came over me by the time I had taken six bottles of Tanlac. My appetite came back, and I gained so much weight I didn't have a single dress that fitted me any more. Tanlac has done more for me than I can express in words."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

GOOD BROODING HENS DESERVE GOOD COOPS
By Seth W. Shoemaker, Director, the School of Agriculture, International Correspondence Schools,
Scranton, Pa.

Success in brooding chicks in the natural way depends upon two things, the brood coop and the disposition of the hen. A good motherly hen will do a good job if given good quarters in which to take care of her brood. Brood coops should be built so that they will shelter the hen and her brood effectively from the weather. They should be large enough to supply ample room and should be free from dampness and insect vermin. Care should also be taken to adapt the brood coop to the weather conditions of the locality. In some sections the ground may be used as the floor of a brood coop, but this is only possible when the ground is well drained. In places where the ground is likely to be damp, particularly on low spots, an earth floor will not do.

An ample supply of fresh air is important. Cramped quarters or badly ventilated coops are unfit for the chicks because they cannot stand being cold and damp unless they have a good place to get warm, and dry out afterwards.

If there is danger from rats, cats, etc., or from birds of prey, coops with enclosed runs are essential.

A simple coop called the Apex may be used with an earth floor where the ground is dry enough, or may be supplied with a movable board floor, if desirable. Such a coop is constructed by placing boards together in the form of a tent. The coops intended for both hens and chicks are from thirty to forty inches high at the highest point and two feet square or larger. If an enclosure of a coop is constructed in to the wire screen the upper part. This ed run is to be used with this, a framework of the same shape as the coop can be built and covered with poultry netting. Such coops are usually used for only one hen and her brood.

A brood coop that will house three or four hens and their broods of chicks may be desirable and may also be used for hatching purposes. Such a coop may be built about six feet long, three feet deep and three feet high in the front with a roof sloping down to the back wall, which is about six inches lower than the front. The front should be constructed of slats and wire netting; the wire netting in the upper part being protected by a wooden hood so that the rain will not beat into the coop.

Brood coops may be built with glass and wire the lower part and ealities where the chicks need shelter from predatory animals. Such coops are usually constructed two feet square and two feet high in front. The glass window in the bottom is usually made to slide and the coop is ventilated through the wire netting. Such coops may be built thirty inches wide, thirty-three inches deep, and three feet high in front, with the roof sloping down to a rear wall twenty-one inches high. The frame, except the slits, which are two inches square and are made of strips one inch by two inches, and the siding, may be made of lumber either one-half inch or seven-eighths inch thick. The siding should extend about one and one-half inches below the bottom of the frame. The movable floor may be of one-inch lumber and should fit into this opening. The floor should rest on the two slits, leaving the air space underneath it in order to promote dryness.

Dodge Brothers Flat
Rates Plan Reduces
Service Charges
Also Improves Quality of Work, According to Local Dealer

Can Tell Definitely What Cost
Will Be and When Car
Will Be Ready

What is meant by "flat rates service?" Much discussion of this subject is heard among motor car owners, but it is evident, from the nature of these conversations, that many have only a vague idea of its real significance. As a matter of fact, flat rates service, as applied by the leading automobile dealers, is not definable in a single sentence. "In the first place, according to T. Burnette, local dealer for the Dodge Brothers, "it means that a careful study was made of the thousands of operations that might enter into the repairing of a motor car. On the basis of these time-studies, reasonable time allowances for every conceivable service job were established, and the mechanic is required to complete each job within the allotted time.

"When an owner brings his car to the service station for repairs" says Mr. Burnette, "we are able to quote him a positive figure for the work to be done. We are also enabled to give him a definite delivery promise, with the knowledge that the car will come out of the shop on time. Then the owner has no possible ground for complaint, either as to price or delivery. In short, flat rates service means that the service station is able to tell the owner exactly how long it will take to repair his car and the price of such repairs. It permits the selling of service on a business like basis.

"But there is an element of even greater importance to the car owner. The mechanic is paid by the job and contrives to get it finished on time, that he may start a new job. Naturally he is anxious to make as much money as possible, and such a plan eliminates loafing. A feature of this system is the penalty that requires each mechanic to make good without additional pay, any of his work that is returned because of inferior workmanship. This precludes any possibility of carelessness on the part of the mechanic." "We have found positively," concludes Mr. Burnette, "that this method not only reduces the charges to our car owners, but it improves the quality of our service work. It is the nearest thing to perfection that I have ever seen in the line of service efficiency."

Soft Coal Industry Suffers Equally With General Public From Drawbacks, Declare Leaders

JOHN C. BRYDON

ALFRED M. OGLE

John C. Brydon, of Somerset, Pa., chairman of the Bituminous Operators' Special Committee, and Alfred M. Ogle, of Terre Haute, Indiana, president of the National Coal Association, are two leaders in the first attempt of the bituminous coal industry to present even a partially united front in the solution of its problems.

"The operators suffer equally with the public from certain fundamental evils affecting the coal industry, and share the public's desire to solve them," Mr. Brydon recently said.

"On the one hand we have had 3,000 independent bituminous operators, with no semblance of organization. If the laws of supply and demand were given free play the 'cut-throat competition,' which is the only serious charge against us, would harm only us. The public could benefit, and, as a matter of fact, the efficient operator would also benefit.

"Over against our disorganization, however, the industry contains the startling paradox of the complete labor monopoly in the world. The United Mine Workers of America, highly organized and possessed of a $15,000,000 annual war chest through the 'check-off' system, compelling the operator to collect a tax on labor and turn the proceeds into union coffers, has secured a stranglehold on coal production. Before war emergencies gave labor the excuse to effect its present monopoly in the coal field, there was always a steady supply of the product at satisfactory prices."

Counsel for the committee of which Mr. Brydon is chairman has filed formal charges with the United States Coal Commission, asking public hearings at which to prove organized violence on the part of the union in support of destructive labor monopoly, ruthless breaking up of all labor relations, no matter how satisfactory, other than those sponsored by the United Mine Workers of America, and the use of enormous, secretly expended funds for warfare on the industry and the public. The commission has been asked to abolish or regulate the "check-off."

British Players For Hard Tennis Courts

LONDON.—Tennis like everything else in these progressive days, has to conform to altered world conditions and, following the change from old to new Wimbledon and the abolition of "world's title" therefrom, comes the news that the British Davis Cup trial matches will probably be held on hard courts. This is an order that the selected players may be used to the courts on which most of the 18 competing countries play, and also to the probability that the British team will have to go to Belgium where hard courts are used.

These forthcoming trials, so far as England is concerned, are likely to bring out very little new talent and the old country will have to rely on such old guards as King, Crawley, Gilbert, Lycett, Lowe, Max Woosnam, and Roper Barrett. The only new man mentioned with any pretensions to Davis Cup form is the young 23-year-old South African, J. D. P. Wheatley, who has been educated here and has qualifications to play for Great Britain.

Spain Honors Immortal Author.

MADRID.—To celebrate the tercentenary of the death of Cervantes, the Spanish government has issued a special edition in four volumes of "Don Quixote." The edition is limited to 25 sets, and is illustrated with about 200 drawings by the Spanish artist, Senor Don Ricardo Marin. The sets will be given only to distinguished men in Spain and to Pope Pius, King George and the King of Italy. In the case of the sets for the Pope and King George, King Alfonso has autographed the dedication.

Values One Cent at $10,000.

NEW YORK.—Junius Guttag, of this city, has a cent that he values at $10,000. "It is the first coin to bear the letters U. S.," says Mr. Guttag, "the first coin upon which the decimal system was based. The date of it is 1783. It is the size of a dime and is made of silver, worth about three cents." Howland Wood, curator of the American Numismatic society, confirms Mr. Guttag's opinion of the rarity of the coin.

COLORED LIGHTING MAY DISPLACE WALLPAPER

CLEVELAND.—A method by which the mistress of the house may completely change the mural decorations of the entire domicile in less than five minutes is being devised here in the Nela Park research laboratories of the General Electric Company.

The new device, operated entirely by electric lighting is capable of throwing as many as fifty distinct wall paper designs on the walls of the room in less than sixty seconds, with practically no human effort save the movement of a tinted glass slide on which are arranged various colored daisings.

FRENCH WASPS TO SAVE CANADA'S CROP OF CORN

WINNIPEG.—If million bug experts will import from the United States this summer a horde of parasitic wasps which they will turn loose in the Canadian corn-belt to destroy and fatten upon their hereditary enemy, the corn-boring worm.

The campaign will be waged along lines drawn by W. R. Walton, superintendent of the insect division of the United States bureau of Entomology, who offered his aid at a recent meeting of grain-growers.

Wherever corn is grown in America there lives the corn-borer taking his toll of millions of dollars from the value of crops each year. He makes his home within the green husk of the tender plant, and eats his way over the milky ear, completing his work of destruction long before the crop matures.

Importation of flint pebbles from France and Denmark for use in industries dependent on fine grinding of rock, has practically been abandoned, due to the development of steel balls for this purpose according to the Structural Materials Research Laboratory of Lewis Institute here. Some years ago there was a heavy demand for the flint stones, the bulk of which was obtained abroad.

These flint pebbles according to the announcement, were used in the cement industry in the finer grinding operations, where limestone, shale and clay are reduced to fine powder. Preliminary crushing is done by a variety of methods, but the pulverizing was the work of the pebbles. Now steel balls are used. Long cylinders, known as ball or tube mills, are half filled with steel balls, and when the raw materials are put in, the cylinder is revolved. The balls climb the side of the cylinder and fall back on the raw material, pounding and rubbing it to powder. Some of the smaller machines will contain 10 or 11 tons of balls while the largest ones need 34 to 38 tons. So thorough is the operation of the tube mills that the rock powder produced is finer than flour, and will pass through a sieve finer than silk.

Cotton Mills Reduce Output.

SHANGHAI.—The cotton mills of Shanghai have agreed to a reduced production schedule, for a period of 60 days that will cut their output by 50 percent. This was brought about under an agreement approved by the Cotton Mill Owners' association, and was caused by a weak and falling market for yarn at a time when high prices were ruling for raw cotton.

It was estimated that stocks of yarn in the hands of mills and merchants in Shanghai ran to 100,000 bales.
